Mr. D. W. Dumble being called upon, said it was quite evident Peterborough could not expect to secure anything by sitting with folded hands, and depending upon the development of the country to accomplish that which must be brought about by our own efforts. During a recent trip to the west he had noticed that the places which had made rapid growth were those who had citizens of energy and enterprise. Peterborough was as good a town and had as good a circle of country around it as any town in Canada, and if our townspeople would but unite and put their heads together it could be doubled in size during the next two years. He had been impressed with the necessity of having something done, and had called a meeting of leading citizens to see if sufficient encouragement would be given to establish some industry of benefit to the town. At present no industry gave promise of better success than car building, and on the recommendation of Mr. Hamilton he had written to Mr. Law and brought that gentleman here to obtain information. At present there were but two such industries in Canada—one at Cobourg and the other at London. The demand for cars was great and was increasing. The works at Cobourg had started from a small foundry until it now employed between 200 and 300 men. Peterborough was much better located and had a far better chance than Cobourg, and the question now was:—Have we men amongst us who will put their capital into it, and will the community assist in the development of the enterprise? Private stock has already been taken, and it was now for the ratepayers to do their share. Such an establishment will greatly increase the value of property, develope the trade and give a boom to the growth of the town. If car works are established and are successful, they will suggest the establishment of other industries and the thing will spread; it will only be the beginning of a large development of industries. The great North-West provides an unlimited breadth of country to supply with goods. We have got the wood here, the iron here and the labor here, and we will soon have direct railway communication with that territory, so that all we will have to do is to put our productions on the railway and send them off. There was one feature with this company which should not be lost sight of. All the stockholders were residents of the town and heavy taxpayers—and besides putting in their own money they would have to bear their share of the taxes on such assistance as might be given by the town. They asked such assistance from the ratepayers as might be considered fair. Let the town either take stock or give a bonus. He favored a bonus, especially as the town's present position precluded the taking of stock. Security would be given upon the Company's property—the lands, building and plant. If this undertaking was choked off through lack of enterprise it might be that another such opportunity would never present itself. If Peterborough wishes to become a great place, such as her natural facilities would enable her, she must be up and doing. Let her make use of that great boom country in the west. Orillia, Colborne and other little towns have been represented there for years, but Peterborough has not a single representative that he could find. There was a market there for everything, and if our people would only put forward enterprise they would soon have a boom in our own town.

Mr. James Stratton was always in favor of aiding enterprises of this kind, and he felt something should now be done to aid the promotion of this scheme. We would soon become a railway centre, and it needed but enterprise and energy to make us a manufacturing centre as well. Apparently all were satisfied that this enterprise should be assisted, but the difficulty lay as to the method. Mr. Kelly's plan, while it gave assistance, did not give strength. He would suggest a free site, exemption from taxation and a small bonus. Although not a heavy taxpayer he was willing to give his share. If the enterprise succeeded and the town grew, the land would improve, and while the bonus would go to promote the interests of the stockholders more particularly, it would benefit all very largely. It was to all our interests to assist, but the question was, in what way was the assistance to be given?

Mr. Dumble said the company would not listen to any such proposal as a free site. They would not spend money in the erection of costly buildings, and have it owned by the town.

Mr. Thos. Menzies, while in favor of assisting this enterprise, thought we should not give all our money to it as other companies might come along with equally as feasible schemes and they would have to be assisted. We must look after our own interests. If a majority of the ratepayers were favorable to this scheme he would support it, and would move the following resolution, seconded by Mr. Kelly:—

"That having heard the discussion regarding the projected car works we would recommend that a By-law be prepared by this Council and submitted to the ratepayers for their approval giving the Council power to purchase any ten acres of land within the corporation of Peterborough, said land to be leased to the Car Works Co. for a period of my 21 years at a nominal rent and exemption from taxes, provided the Co y employ not less than 100 men and the works be not stopped more than 3 consecutive months, and in case the above conditions were not complied with the works, land, &c. to revert to the town."

Mr. Hatton said he had also prepared a resolution. He did not want to submit it as an amendment, but thought it would meet the feelings of the meeting perhaps better than Mr. Menzies'. He thought it quite possible that the Government would amend the general Act and allow the town to take stock instead of giving a bonus.

Mr. Dumble said the present Act would not permit of the town taking stock. If the town gave a bonus, the company would give a mortgage for $20,000 on the grounds and plant, on conditions that if all the terms were carried out and the works run for five years the mortgage was then to be cancelled. If they run for four years, have one fourth of the amount cancelled, and if for three years, two-fifths. Mr. Menzies' plan was preposterous and would not be accepted.

Mr. Carnegie could not agree with either Mr. Menzies or Mr. Dumble; one offered too little and the other asked too much. He thought Mr. Hatton's proposal the best. He was satisfied the works would pay, and felt that the town should assist, and have the Act amended so as to permit the town as a whole to go in as the private stockholders. If the town loses, the others will lose; but if, on the other hand, it pays a dividend, all will reap advantages. If the Works were successful, and he had no doubt but that they would at all events pay the interest the town would have to pay, they would lead to the establishment of other manufactures. If we found we could not get legislation to enable the town to take stock, then let a bonus be given, but he thought $10,000 bonus quite sufficient for the extent of the company.

Mr. Poussette said it was evident from the discussion that assistance by means of taking stock was preferred to bonusing, but under the present law the town could not take stock although they had legislation to enable them to bonus industries. He would suggest that a vote be taken on giving a bonus of $20,000, the company giving security, and in the meantime obtain legislation permitting the town to hold stock, when the town could then receive the stock in lieu of the amount of the bonus. By this means the work could go on at once.

Mr. Geo. M. Roger suggested the town giving half in bonus and taking the other half in stock, as apparently the stockholders were divided as to whether the assistance should be stock or bonus. He felt this work was of vital importance to the town, not only in the benefits accruing through it, but in the other industries which would follow.

After a conversational discussion, during which Mr. Hatton made several amendments to his resolution to meet the various suggestions thrown out, it was moved by Mr. Hatton, seconded by Mr. Carnegie,—That this meeting is desirous that the Council should submit a By-law to a vote of the ratepayers at as early a date as possible, to enable the Corporation to assist in the establishment of car works here by taking stock to the extent of $20,000, if the statute permit; and, if not, that a bonus of $20,000 be granted to the company on the company giving the town security that as soon as legislation can be obtained the town have the right to take the said amount in paid up stock of the company, said stock to be of the same grade as the stock now subscribed will be when paid up, and that the Council endeavor to obtain at the present session of Parliament such amendment to the Municipal Law as will enable the town to take stock in the company, and if the company prefer, when such legislation is obtained, and within three years, to repay the bonus in cash, without interest, instead of giving such paid up stock, the company shall have the right to do so; and also that the works of the company be exempted from taxation for twenty-one years.

Mr. Kelly asked to have his name withdrawn as seconder of Mr. Menzies motion, as he felt the voice of the meeting should be unanimous. No other seconder being forthcoming the resolution was dropped, and Mr. Hatton's put and carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

ARTEMUS WARD AND THE MICHIGAN REGIMENT.

In a Louisville, Ky., hotel one day, Artemus Ward was introduced to a colonel who had commanded a Mississippi regiment in the war. Artemus, in his way that was "childlike and bland," said: "What Michigan regiment did you command, Colonel?" Then it was that the Colonel spun like a top and swore like a sailor until pacified sufficiently to hear an explanation, Artemus, with surprise, observed "that he was always getting things mixed about the war." It is always unfortunate to get things mixed, but never more so, than when one is sick. Then it is that the right thing in the right place is wanted more than any other time in life, or under any other circumstances. It is a pleasure for us to note in this connection, the experience of our esteemed fellow citizen, Colonel Samuel H. Taylor, who, as is well-known, does not get things mixed. In a recent communication he writes: "I do hereby certify that I suffered very much from rheumatism and neuralgia during the fall of 1879 and tried many remedies with little if any good results. I had heard of St. Jacobs Oil, and concluded to try it, more as an experiment than with any hope of good results. I can with great pleasure recommend it to others, for the reason that I know it cured me." Such an emphatic endorsement coming from one of the very foremost lawyers of our state, well and widely known, carries with it a degree of importance and suggestiveness, which which cannot be overestimated.—Washington (Ind.) Gazette.

The Dominion Session.

The Dominion Parliament meets this week for the despatch of business, and there are abundant signs of a lively session. The Government will be placed completely on the defensive in several important matters, which will have the effect of pushing the Tilley tariff for a time into the back-ground. The interest felt in the proceedings will be greatly enhanced by the growing impression that Sir John Macdonald intends to take time by the forelock and appeal to the country next summer, instead of waiting for another year.

In one important respect the coming session will differ materially from the three which have preceded it during the present Parliament. From time to time grave charges of mal-administration have been made against the Government in general, and against Sir Charles Tupper in particular. There is a strong prima facie case against the latter in the evidence brought out by the Pacific Railway Commission, in spite of Judge Clarke's manifest desire to weaken as much as possible the case against him. There are circumstances connected with the letting of the Thunder Bay branch contracts which require explanation, and though these matters were allowed last year to go without remark in the House of Commons, it is not to be expected that they will be allowed to sink finally into oblivion without a further effort to probe them to the bottom.. The Carillon Canal contract, which was re-let by Sir Charles Tupper, will also furnish a good ground for asking some unpleasant questions, and so will the decisions by which public money has, in violation of the most ordinary rules of decency, been awarded to such men as Mr. Girouard, the "independent" member for Kent, N.B., and to Mr. S. Platt, who led the forlorn hope in Centre Huron against Sir Richard Cartwright when the latter was returned for that riding. The crop of scandals which have been springing up, as they always do spring up under Tory administration, will certainly be ventilated, and the inquisitorial process will make the session a thoroughly lively one.

One of the difficulties the Government will have to encounter is the fulfilment of the Opposition predictions as to the bad effects of the Pacific Railway contract. The hand of the Syndicate is, in railway matters, completely on the throat of the whole North-West. The disallowance of the Winnipeg South-Eastern railway charter, not only leaves the Syndicate without any competition in prospect, but it indicates that the present Government are determined to help them to maintain their present monopoly of traffic. We do not for a moment believe that this great question, which is the one of most interest to the North-West, is going to be so easily settled in favor of one gigantic corporation. Local charters will be granted by the Provincial Legislature in spite of threatened disallowance, and the Dominion Government will be dared to do its worst, as in the case of the Ontario Streams Act. The whole question cannot fail to become a subject of discussion in the Dominion Parliament, and the Liberal party will undoubtedly be found, as they have always been found, occupying the position of defenders of popular rights and local privileges.

The question of disallowance will have to be fought out also in connection with the Ontario Streams Act, and during the session the Government will be compelled to vindicate their attempt to burke a wise and necessary public measure. Even had the Streams Act been a bad one they had no right to interfere with it, since it relates to matters that are entirely within Provincial jurisdiction. But the measure was, and still is, absolutely necessary as a means of securing the Government in the receipt of timber dues, and the holder of timber licenses in the privilege of taking his timber to market. The Opposition will find it easy to compel the Government on this question to plant themselves squarely on the anti-provincial platform, just as the Conservative contingent in the Ontario Assembly have, much to their disgust, been compelled to do.

Another important issue is the boundary dispute with Ontario. Sir John's wisest course would have been to settle that dispute as soon as possible after the award was made. He chose to keep it an open question for purposes of his own, and now he must face the consequences. There is no longer any dispute as to the value of the territory, and the anxiety of the Dominion Government to get the matter settled is clearly apparent from the number of proposals it has been lately making. The Ontario Government, however, have declared their intention to stick to the award, and the Liberal party in the Dominion Parliament will no doubt stand by it also. What the immediate result will be no man can foretell, but if Sir John does not "cave in" he will find himself in a bad fix when the general election comes off.

Editorial Notes.

THE Tory heart, which always bleeds for the workingmen about election time, must be in commotion now. A lot of discharged workingmen at Ottawa have been besieging the Government for employment. This is strange. When a similar application to Mr. Mackenzie was made, the Tories were not at all surprised, for were not the Grits in power, and were they not "flies on the wheel?" But now we have Sir John Macdonald, no fly, and we have Sir Leonard Tilley, with his bag of gold, collected from the people in excess of all proper and necessary expenditures, and we have the N. P., which was to give all men full work at full wages. Yet there are idle men in Ottawa, the very seat of Government, and they clamor for employment.

DURING the summer of 1878 the people were told that commerce was a bad thing; that what was needed was not Free Trade but isolation; that if this were secured, instead of our breadstuffs going abroad they would be consumed at home. Every village would be turned into a town, and every town into a populous city. There would be a home market for everything. Our cheese would not go to England, but would be devoured at home. Our wool would not be exported to the United States, but would be spun, woven and worn out in the country. Our beef and mutton would not go to Manchester or Glasgow to feed Englishmen and Scotchmen, but Englishmen and Scotchmen would hasten across the Atlantic to devour the beef and mutton in sight of the stalls where the animals had been fed and fattened. Reformers pointed out the absurd character of these representations. A few were foolish enough to believe them, and joined the demagogues who roused them from the hustings. We have before us the census of the town of Welland, which appeared in the Tribune not long since, and this census shows how a high tariff has helped Welland. In 1878 the population was 2,466; 1879, 2,211; 1880, 1,972; 1881, 1,784. We ask our readers to compare the promises, so bright and sunny, made by the confidence men who lead the Tory party, with these results.

THAT West Northumberland was carried by outrageous corruption and intimidation is now a well ascertained fact. Without the use of these means the Tory candidate would have been badly beaten. As it is, the earnest men of the riding are determined to expose and punish the fraud that was put upon them by government agents in the town of Cobourg. The legal documents are published in full by the Cobourg World. The petition of John Henderson, David Ramsay and Henry John Snelgrove recites that Guillet, the member elect, was, by himself and by his agent or agents, and by other persons on his behalf, guilty of bribery, before, during, and after the said election. The petitioners further say that George Guillet was, by himself and by his agent or agents, and by other persons on his behalf, guilty of treating, before, during and after the said election; also that George Guillet was by himself and by his agent or agents, and by other persons on his behalf, guilty of undue influence before, during and after the election. It is further alleged that George Guillet was guilty of and did commit corrupt practices, within the meaning of, and as defined by the Dominion Elections Act of 1874 and the Dominion Controverted Elections Act of 1874; and was and is incapable of being elected or returned to the Parliament for which the election was held, and should be declared incapable of being elected to or sitting in the House of Commons of Canada during the seven years next after the date of his being proved or found guilty of the said offences.

Information for Emigrants.

In December last, the Rev. William Bennett, of this town, conceiving the idea that it would be of invaluable importance to intending emigrants from the old country to Canada to have prepared for them lists of farm lands for sale in the older provinces, with detailed information as to location, price, &c., from which they could make their selections without the expense, trouble, and annoyance of travelling in quest of farms, wrote the following letter to the Edinburgh Scotsman, with a view of opening up correspondence on the subject which might eventually lead to the successful carrying out of the scheme. The letter was written on the 23rd of December, and appeared in the Scotsman of the 13th of January. It speaks for itself:—

PETERBOROUGH, Ontario, Canada,
December 23, 1881.

SIR,—The writer of the following letter is a Presbyterian minister of the Province of Ontario. He has heard that there is likely to be a large emigration next season from Scotland to the Dominion of Canada, and that, upon good advice given, many of the emigrants propose settling in one or other of the older provinces, in preference to going to Manitoba and the North-West territory.

The writer's object is to suggest the propriety of entering upon correspondence with responsible parties on this side of the Atlantic, so as to secure for these emigrants such locations as will give them privileges—religious, educational, social, and mercantile—equal to what they have enjoyed at home, or akin to those which they would like to enjoy in their new fields.

There are many farms for sale in the older provinces which do not lie near to churches, schools, or good market towns. Left to themselves, the emigrants must sacrifice time and money in hunting up farms in localities where these advantages may be had. Something could and should be done to spare them this sacrifice. It would be easy, for instance, for any one deputed to do so, to obtain lists of farms now in the market, accompanied with statements as to number of acres, character of soil, improvements made, distances from churches, schools, towns, &c., &c. Another party in the locality from which the exodus is to be made could obtain lists of intending emigrants, showing in each case the amount of money to be invested, the religious denomination to which the intending emigrants belonge, the number of children in the family of school age, &c., &c. After corresponding with each other, parties holding these lists could act as agents in the way of directing the new settlers to the districts best suited to their wants.

The suggestion that emigrants with more or less capital should settle in the older provinces I heartily endorse. Having lived on your side of the Atlantic for some twenty-five years, and in one or other of the provinces now constituting the Dominion of Canada, for an equal length of time, I have opportunity of knowing what is best and what is not best for intending emigrants. To enter into detail would unduly extend this communication.

It will give me great pleasure to answer any letters from reliable parties bearing on the points touched on in the foregoing communication.—I am, &c.

That the scheme is an opportune one, and one which will be taken advantage of by emigrants, there can be little doubt, from the fact that on the same day on which Mr. Bennett's letter appeared in print, the three following replies were written and mailed him, a perusal of which will show with what eagerness the proposal is received. The letters are as follows:

EDINBURGH, Jan. 13th, 1882.

DEAR SIR,—I read with much pleasure your letter on the subject of "emigrants to Canada," and although not acquainted with the country can realise your statements to be trustworthy.

As I am about going to Canada this spring I should like to get a list of farms in the Province of Ontario before going the length of Manitoba or the N. W., but the difficulty with me is as you mention, how am I to receive such a list or any information desirable. If it is within your power to procure a list or lists for me I will endeavor in my own private way to distribute a few of them to parties I know who are emigrating.

HAWICK, SCOTLAND, Jan. 13th, 1882.

To the Rev. Wm. Bennett:

MY DEAR SIR,—In to-day's Scotsman I read your letter, with deep interest, on the subject of people about to emigrate. I for one am thinking of becoming an emigrant; my mind so far is fixed for Manitoba, but one's knowledge of it is so faint—how far the railways, towns, etc., etc., are off. Perhaps you can give one a hint on the subject which we can rely on.

I have a wife and four children, my father, mother, one brother and two sisters—11 in all will go. Now, you see, it is a serious job to go into a new country and no where to lay one's head. I am quite confident if you give your opinion it will be worth a good deal to us. Manitoba, its climate, etc, etc., and if possible the price per acre of land and quality, churches, schools, etc.

LEITH, Jan. 13th, 1882.

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—I have read your letter which appeared in to-day's Scotsman with much interest, as I am sure will be shared by thousands in this country who are now turning their eyes westward, seeking for a new home.

No greater boon could be conferred upon an intending emigrant, with his ignorance of the country, and his doubts of much he hears and reads regarding its resources, than to be put in the way of obtaining reliable information and advice, by a gentleman of your experience, and animated by true Christian philanthropy as you evidently are.

I have six sons. Two of them have recently gone to Cape Colony are doing well; other two, one 27 years of age and the other 18 are anxious to go in for farming, and intend going west. They are strong healthy lads, and though a merchant's sons, have not been spoiled nor unfitted to take it rough and round in a new country.

I can give them £1 000 to start with, so that they can afford to go to some older localities where some of the comforts of home can be obtained, and where the blessings of religious instructions are within reach.

I have no doubt you will be deluged with letters from the Old Country of similar tenor to mine, and thus your patience and time may be overtaxed, but God, who has put it into your heart to guide many in the right path will bless and reward you for all you do in this noble work.

The Reverend gentleman intends taking action on the matter immediately, and to test the success of the project is preparing schedules which will be be sent to reliable parties in the district contiguous to this town for filling up with reliable information. If found to work satisfactory on a small scale, the basis of operations will be extended. The schedules when filled up will be forwarded to responsible persons in the old country for free distribution among intending emigrants, and will contain the following information:—address of owner, lot, concession, township and county where property is situated, number of acres both under cultivation and in woodland, character of buildings, water supply, &c., the distance from churches of different denominations, distance from public schools, name of post office, market town and railway station, price, terms of payment, time of possession and general remarks.

THE Seed Annual of Messrs. D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich., which has been received, is not only the medium of much valuable information for gardeners, fruit-growers, florists and agriculturists, generally, but is a beautiful sample of typography. This is one of the largest and most reliable seed firms in America. Their warehouse at Detroit, erected by them in 1879, is a mammoth establishment, and their business is yearly increasing.

The Car Works Project.

The agitation for establishment in this town of the above important branch of manufacture seems likely to culminate in a successful issue. On Friday evening a meeting of citizens and a committee of the Council was held in the Council Chamber for the purpose of deciding as to the advisability of granting aid to the proposed car works, an extended report of which will be found in another column. A large number of our most influential citizens and the members of the Council were present, and spoke strongly in its favor; and at the close a resolution moved by Mr. Hatton, and seconded by Mr. Carnegie, expressing the desire that the Council submit a By-law to the vote of the ratepayers for the investing of $20,000 in company stock, was carried unanimously, with the exception of one member of the Council. At a special meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening, it was decided to send a deputation to Toronto with the view of petitioning that the clause in the statutes bearing on the privileges of the town in granting aid to manufacturers, be amended to enable the town to aid the company by taking stock to the extent of $20,0000. While we favor strongly the granting of aid in the way of stock-taking, if legislation can be obtained in the matter, we are not alone in the opinion that granting a bonus would be inadvisable. The inducement of bonuses is frequently the means of establishing manufacturers, when the market for such products is too keenly competed in for a reasonable profit to accrue from their productions. In such a case a corporation not only loses the amount voted, but other industries are to a certain extent affected by its failure or suspension. By taking stock to the extent anticipated, we do so with the prospect of gaining eventually, and should the industry not prove a success, we only lose a part of the sum voted, in proportion to the decrease in value of the shares. In the present age, when so much surplus capital is at large for investment in manufactures, a profitable industry should require no bonus, the mere fact of there being a good market for products, being sufficient to cause the investment of capital in any industry. There is no doubt but Peterborough would be benefitted by additional manufactures, and if the Legislature deem fit to change the statute in reference to granting aid to manufactures, we hope the ratepayers will respond heartily in voting the taking of $20,000 in stock for the benefit of the proposed industry.

GUITEAU TO BE HANGED.

End of the Assassin Guiteau's Trial.

Passing the Sentence of Death on the Prisoner—Friday, June 30, the Day of Execution—A Violent Retort from Guiteau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The closing scenes in the Guiteau trial were enacted to-day, that is as far as Judge Cox's court is concerned. It is not at all likely that the court in banc will reverse the sentence.

The prisoner was brought into court this morning and sat down beside his counsel. Scoville said he had some new evidence to introduce. The court overruled all his motions, and said that there was no direct evidence to show that the jurors had ever written on the margin of the newspapers as claimed, or had ever even read a newspaper, and all of these gentlemen had made affidavits that they had not. The court saw no reason to doubt these affidavits.

After some further arguments Attorney Corkhill moved for the sentence of the court. The prisoner was then put in the dock.

Judge Cox (to prisoner)—Stand up. Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon you?

Guiteau (still sitting)—I ask your honor to postpone sentence as long as possible.

Judge Cox—Stand up. Have you anything to say why sentence should not now be pronounced upon you?

The prisoner arose pale, but with lips compressed, and desperate determination stamped upon his features. In a low, deliberate tone he began, but soon his manner became wild, violent, and pounding upon the table, he delivered himself of the following harangue: I am not guilty of the charge set forth in the indictment. It was God's act, not mine, and God will take care of it and don't let the American people forget it. He will take care of it, and every officer in this government from the executive down to the marshal, taking in every man on that jury and every member on this bench, will pay for it, and the American nation will roll in blood if my body goes into the ground and I am hung. The Jews put the despised Galilean into the grave. For a time they triumphed, but at the destruction of Jerusalem forty years afterwards the Almighty got even with them. I'm not afraid of death. I am here as God's man. Kill me to-morrow if you want to, I am God's man, and I've been that from the start.

Judge Cox then proceeded to pass sentence. He said: You have been convicted of a crime so terrible in its circumstances, and so far-reaching in its results that it has drawn forth the horror of the whole world and the execration of your countrymen. The excitement produced by such an offence made it no easy task to secure for you a fair and impartial trial, but you have had the power of the United States treasury and of the government in your service to protect your person from violence, and procure evidence from all parts of the country. You have had as fair and as impartial a jury as ever assembled in a court of justice. You have been defended by counsel with zeal and a devotion that merits encomium, and I certainly have done my best to secure a fair presentation of your defence. Notwithstanding all this you have been found guilty. It would have been a comfort to many people if the verdict had established the fact that your act was that of an irresponsible man. It would have left people the satisfactory belief that the crime of political assassination was something entirely foreign to our institutions and the civilization of the country, but the result denied them that comfort. The country will accept it as a fact that crime can be committed, and the court will have to deal with it by inflicting the highest penalty known to the criminal code, to serve as an example to others. Your career has been so extraordinary that people might well at times have doubted your sanity, but one cannot but believe when the crime was committed you thoroughly understood its nature and its consequences.

Guiteau—I was acting as God's man.

Judge Cox—Then you had moral sense enough to recognise the moral iniquity of such an act.

Prisoner—That is a matter of opinion.

Judge Cox—Your own testimony shows you recoil with horror from the idea. You say you prayed against it. You say you thought it might be prevented. This shows that your conscience warned you against it, but by wretched sophistry in your own mind you worked yourself up against the protest of your own conscience. What motive could have induced you to this act must be matter of conjecture. Probably men will think some fanaticism or morbid desire for self-exaltation was the real inspiration for the act. Your own testimony seems to controvert the theories of your counsel. They maintained and thought, honestly I believe, you were driven against your own will by an insane impulse to commit the deed, but your testimony showed you deliberately resolved to do it, and your deliberate misguided will was the sole impulse. This may seem insanity to some persons, but the law looks upon it as a wilful crime. You will have the opportunity of having any errors I may have committed during the course of the trial passed upon by the court in banc, but meanwhile it is necessary for me to pronounce the sentence of the law. It is that you be taken from hence to the common gaol of the district from whence you came, and there to be kept in confinement, and that on Friday, June 30, 1882, you be taken to the place prepared for your execution, within the walls of the said gaol, and there between the hours of 12 noon and 2 p.m., you be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul.

During the reading of the sentence Guiteau stood, apparently unmoved and with his gaze rivetted upon the judge, but when the final word was spoken he struck the table violently and shouted: "And may the Lord have mercy on your soul. I would rather stand where I do than where the jury does and where your honor does. I'm not afraid to die. I stand here as God's man, and God Almighty will curse every man who has had a part in prosecuting this unrighteous verdict. Nothing but good has come from Garfield's removal, and that will be the verdict of posterity on my inspiration. I don't care a snap for the verdict of this corrupt generation. I would rather a thousand times be in my position than that of those who have hounded me to death. I shall have a glorious flight to glory, but that miserable scoundrel Corkhill will have a permanent job down below, where the devil is preparing for him. After apparently talking himself out the prisoner turned to his brother, and without the slightest trace of excitement conversed for some minutes before being taken from court to the gaol.

HIS FAMILY SATISFIED.

FREEPORT, Ill., Feb. 5.—Luther W. Guiteau, jr., a half-brother of the assassin, says all the members of the family are satisfied with his sentence. They never had any sympathy for him.

TALMAGE ON INGERSOLL.

HIS OPINION OF THE CREATION OF WOMAN AND THE PRACTICE OF POLYGAMY —ONE WIFE CERTAINLY ENOUGH.

"Ingersoll, the Champion Blasphemer of America," was the subject of Mr. Talmage's morning discourse on Sunday. An immense congregation crowded the Tabernacle, and in his prayer, Mr. Talmage said that they "came as empty pitchers to the great fountain, as unlighted torches to the great fire." After denouncing Ingersoll for questioning the truth of the Bible, Talmage said: If Moses had gone into particulars, 50,000 volumes would not have contained the sacred literature. Bible writers were not ignoramuses; they knew more than Ingersoll. Old Job knew all about evaporation and the laws of refraction thousands of years ago. Job was the first "Old Probabilities"; he knew all about the winds and their currents. What modern astronomers have just found out Isaiah knew thousands of years ago. Solomon knew all about the circulation of the blood. James Watts' application of steam and Morse's Magnetic telegraph were known to antiquated Job. All the laws of Burke, Blackstone, Curran, Choate, Everett, Webster; all the English, Roman and American law is founded on the ten sentences by that venerable lawyer, recorded in Exodus xx. Moses never imagined that the sky was a solid roof, with the stars hung up against it as ornaments. (Laughter.) Ah! at the risk of raising another laugh," said Talmage, "I must speak of Ingersoll's favorite joke. I must snatch at his bone—Adam's rib from which woman was made. There's no absurdity in this, when we know that the word, translated rib means side. But Ingersoll doesn't know it; he doesn't know a word or letter of Hebrew. Matthew Henry thinks that woman was taken from the left side of man, nearest his heart; but I say that she was taken from the right side, from under the right arm, suggesting that he should tight her battles, strike down her assailant, avenge her honor. You may cheat a man, abuse him, assault him, but he becomes livid with rage if you say anything of his wife." This point was pathetically illustrated by reference to the couple who were found in each other's embrace on the wrecked Hudson River train. "They went side by side to death," said Mr. Talmage, "and they were laid side by side in the grave. Ingersoll says the Bible favors polygamy. Does the Almighty God uphold polygamy? How many wives did He make for Adam? One. Ah! Mr. Ingersoll, it would have been just as easy for God to have given Adam five, ten or thirty wives, but He didn't; He started the business as He wanted it continued. All the great men of the Bible stood aloof from polygamy or were punished within an inch of their lives for the sin. But did not David and Solomon favor polygamy? Yes and they were punished for it. David was chased by the Bedouins, the Moabites, sickness, dethronement and death; yea, the Lord God Almighty got after him. Solomon had something to do with polygamy, but read his book of Ecclesiastes, and learn how he loathes the sin and calls it all vanity. Why, his 700 women pestered the very life out of him. (Laughter and stamping of feet.) No house is large enough to hold two women married to one man. (Renewed laughter.) My Bible does not favor polygamy, Ingersoll, and I take the ulcerous and accursed slander and hurl it back in your blasphemous teeth." After calling George Eliot a literary adulterer, and passing a eulogy upon Queen Victoria, Mr. Talmage said that before he got through with Ingersoll, he would prove to the world that the Bible was the only book fit for the household, and that it was the friend of all things pure, and that infidelity was the advocate of all things impure. "Those who go and pay 50 cents or a dollar to hear the Lord Jesus Christ insulted will come some day to need the cheer of His promises. When we come to die we shall want our choice of pillows. The pillow of regret is stuffed with nettles, the pillow of gloomy anticipation is stuffed with night-shade. What we shall need is the soothing, comforting pillow stuffed with the feathers of the Almighty!"

MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I see by the last issue of your paper that Mr. H. Davidson has really grown beyond himself in eloquence in trying to shut out the little light I was trying to throw on the above association.

He says it is unfortunate that I did not make myself acquainted with the facts and properly understand the subject before I allow my prejudice to carry me so far. Now sir, I must say, notwithstanding all the light his brilliant pen has thrown on it, I do not fully understand it yet. The whole thing appears to be in a nut-shell, and it is only by cracking it that you are led to know what it contains. Permit me here to say that I was in error when saying it was James Rennie, with others, who formed this scheme. It was William, not James Rennie. Mr. Davidson says this is false, and the insinuation mean and unworthy a member of the Grange. But, sir, there are many others in our order who hold the same opinion of it as I do, notwithstanding Mr. D's version of it. But it is hard to say who formed it, for we are at one time told that it was a lot of farmers in the west who had cut up their farms and made them so small that they could not make any provision for their families after their death, and anxious to leave something, to bury themselves at least, the; applied to some parties who were well acquainted with insurance companies, to establish a cheaper and safe system of insurance, that they might thereby provide for their families. Now Mr. Davidson, says it was formed by Squire W. Hill, consequently it must be a Grange institution, and as strictly so as the fire insurance, or my own darling Grange Trust, over which I have lost so much sleep. Now, sir, permit me to say that I never lost one hour's sleep from fear of losing my all, as he represents it, but I have lost some, reflecting on the fact that we have so few men in our order who are capable of managing such an institution, and when I see men of little or no ability, and some of them not even truthful, aspiring to the high position of directors of this great enterprise, I have grieved over poor erring humanity. But if he (Mr. D.) is not as deep in this losing affair as I am, it is not his fault. The Grange Trust and Fire Insurance were organized by the Dominion Grange, who appointed the first board of directors, but who appointed the board of the Mutual Aid? Let Mr. D. tell me if he can.

I see he does not deny that we are getting into the old rut of being fleeced by ruthless agents, and would have me consider the expense of printing, advertising, postage, &c. Now, sir, I was not aware that money paid out for advertising was lost or thrown away. I thought it was the best investment an agent could make when he had a good article to dispose of, but it appears different in the case of the Mutual Aid. As to his printing expenses he should leave that to the company to do. Other companies furnish their agents with blank forms ready to be filled up, which is very handy, but perhaps he has reference to circulars sent forth by the agents with the names of all in this county who have joined this Life Aid. In looking over these circulars I see the name of one gentleman whom I heard say when speaking of this Mutual Aid, that it was a D——d humbug; how his name got there is a mystery to me. No doubt it is there for a purpose and will pay well for its insertion. With regard to Mr. Davidson's personalities and slang, I will not come down so low as to answer it. He would not have me tell my tale in Gath lest the daughters of the Philistines should rejoice, and yet he would have the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph over the Grange Trust. Oh consistency thou art a jewel, but rarely to be found.

Again he says my figures are a miserable caricature upon their system, and goes on to show how nicely their plan of meeting death-claims works, and then tries to establish the fact that their death rate of eight is correct, and refers to twenty-three (23) companies doing new business in life insurance in Canada, and I have no doubt but that the Government reports of these companies are correct; but these are new companies and we know that for the first few years when men have just passed through the hands of the doctor, and are found healthy, they will have few deaths, but this is not a fair representation. Take the report of the United Brethren of Lebanon, organised in March, 1869, the mortality was in 1877, sixteen and one-seventh to the thousand. Then take London Masonic Mutual Benefit Association for nine years, from the first of 1872 until the first of 1881, and by the report of that year the average for the nine years were eleven and four one-hundredths to the thousand, and even that is low if you retain there membership, but there is a secret which they are building upon that they wish to keep hid, namely, that for every one who will die there will be another one who will get sick of it and give up paying. Now we come to my figures which are about right. I am somewhat surprised to see him still sticking to those $60,000 bonds, which I thought had flown away long ago, for be it remembered that those bonds in the eye of the law, or as security to the membership, are not worth the paper they are written upon and were never intended as security; and who is the custodian of these bonds? The company themselves, for I see by the Grange bulletin of January last, that the Hon. S. C. Wood, Treasurer for Ontario, to whom they were first given, has returned them as they were not bonds such as the Government could except, but were simply guarantee bonds. And what do they guarantee? To collect $11 off every member who joined their association, and $1 for every death in the company, and with it pay themselves and their agents well, and pay the balance to the families of the deceased members. Now, sir, is it any wonder I should raise the hand with the sign of caution to my brethren? This, sir, I have striven to do, and if they are simple enough to allow themselves to be deluded by designing agents they will have none but themselves to blame.

Thanking you for your kindness in allowing me so much space in your valuable paper

I remain, sir, your obedient servant,
THOMAS JOHNSTON.

All our exchanges, with the exception of the Globe and Mail, are in favor of the abolition of newspaper postage. Why they have not taken up the question seems strange, seeing that none suffer more from the imposition than they do. The Whitby Chronicle is right in saying that the abolition of newspaper postage would be a boon to the whole public. Subscribers are as much interested in the removal of the odious tax as publishers are.

LAKEFIELD.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR.—In your widely-circulating paper I frequently see irregularities in municipalities, and of persons criticised with a view to their correction and reformation, and as our corporation tinkers have got into something bordering on a grievance, I request a corner for the publicity thereof with a hope of thereby securing a change for the better. But, Sir, I am neither an allopathic nor a homeopathic, and therefore am in doubt whether to apply strong or mild remedies. The disease is of sometime's standing—almost become chronic—yet I think I will deal mildly at at first, and if the disease proves incorrigible to gentle doses, they can be increased in quantity and frequentness. One of the evils which afflict our politics is the presence of parasitic excrescence closely resembling a hornet in shape and character. Now, perhaps, I should, after closer investigation, say to a bee-hive—but as not the hive, but the bee, carries the nasty proboscis, I am inclined to compare from effects rather than appearances. For years, Sir, our little Recorder has been mesmerising the Village Council, and has succeeded to an extent far beyond his or our expectations. Through this, variously applied, he has been turning an honest penny—little blame to him—when he can. He is Treasurer and Clerk, and keeps a little bee-hive store over the way. He has become quite an adept in mesmerism. Not only has he produced a very sensible effect upon the Council, but on their officials; for instance, on the Road Master. It is an easy matter to say to the Inspector:—"You know I keep the 'Bee-hive Store,' and you employ men on the streets and sidewalks. You are a kind, tender-hearted man, not likely to do me the wrong to hint to the men, by way of orders, etc., etc., that the "Bee-hive" can supply their wants. You know I can get my pay out of the Treasurer, he lives close by, and I have some little influence over and in him—that is, in the treasury." Indeed it is hinted on our street corners, and in stores, where gossippers meet, that the one generously offers to "scratch my back" for the performance of a similar kind return of obligation. Nearly all the taxes of our village spent on streets and sidewalks thus find their way to the "Bee-hive." The men who do the work are generously informed of mutual obligations and interests, and thus the matter is reported as going on. Our little Recorder, too, has mesmerised the Janitor, and gets him to patronise the "Bee-hive." And thus nectar is extracted by the little bees, from the municipal, school and other village flowers. Our ratepayers are now asking themselves: "Is this the purpose for which we got incorporated? Does the village exist merely for W. C. Sanders—the Clerk and Treasurer and general biologist.

These one-sided manipulations are creating a spirit of dissatisfaction in the mind of almost every ratepayer in our village, and at last election an effort was made to have some of these things rectified. A demand is being made, and must be granted, that the two offices must be separated. We must have a different Treasurer—one who will not so boldly attempt his little wiles on those ready to perform the duty of the Duke of Argyle's proverbial posts. I like fair play, Sir; I do like fair play, but at present all the play is on one side—on the side of Mr. W. C. Sanders, who thinks that the village was incorporated solely for his use and benefit. I have mildly brought this matter in this way before all the ratepayers, with a hope that this parasite may be forced to live in some other way than on the taxes paid by the whole ratepayers. With your permission I will again refer to this little Recorder of ours.

I am, yours, etc.,
LAKEFIELD.

ENNISMORE.

WEATHER NOTES FOR JANUARY.—New Years morning at once ushered in a cold snap, being at sunrise 4° below zero which it with only one exception more than sustained till the morning of the 4th when the thermometer ranged 16° below but all other attempts at freezing were left in the shade on Tuesday morning the 24th when the mercury sunk to 33° below zero, a point seldom attained here. A very large number of frost bites was the result from which a good many are still suffering. The highest reached for January was on the morning of the 9th namely 40° above zero. The aggregate of the month being 17° above zero. Snow fell on 15 days to the depth of 14 inches, rain on 4 days to the depth of 4½ inches making a total depth of water by snow and rain of 6¼ inches. The people in this vicinity were more afraid than hurt by the fearful gale on Friday morning. Although fences, straw-stacks and unsecurely nailed boards were flying about, nothing serious occured only a few of the residents, as they thought, seeking more secure quarters in their neighbors' houses than their own.

On Monday last, at the shanties near Kinmount, Richard Nurse, of this township, received a severe accident, thereby breaking his shoulder. He drove to Bobcaygeon, but failing to find a doctor, proceeded home, arriving late on Tuesday night. He is now under the care of Dr. King, who set the bone and otherwise attended to the injuries, but, no doubt, it will be considerable time before he can attend to work again.

SENDING A VALENTINE.

I thought, though, "The rose is red," (Enough that is not so very new),
Or "this the boys all think is good:
"If you love me as I love you."

But seems to me—a valentine
Is nicer when you do not say
The same old thing that every one
Keeps saying, in the same old way.

And I asked Jane, the other night,
What grown-up people write about.
She would not answer me at first,
But laughed till I began to pout,
That stopped her, for she saw I meant
The question (and she will not tease),
"Why—love," she said "and shining eyes,
A kiss, soft hair—just what they please."
It can't be hard, if that is all,
So I'll begin by saying this:

"To my dear lady beautiful
I send a valentine and kiss.
The valentine, because she has
The loveliest hair and gentlest eyes,
The kiss, because I love her more
Than any one beneath the skies;
Because she is the kindest, best,
The sweetest lady ever known;
And every year I'll say the same,
The very same, to her alone!"

There! Now it's finished. Who will do?
I've thought of one and then another.
Who is there like it? Why, of course,
I'll send it right away to Mother!

The usual reduction in railroad fares will be made to parties wishing to attend, by first obtaining a railroad certificate from the Sec'y, Harford Ashley, Esq., Belleville, Ont.

The numerous friends of the Rev. Newton Hill, of Millbrook, surprised him on Monday evening, by presenting him with a beautiful racoon overcoat, valued at $40, as a token of his services as their pastor. The presentation was made by the Reeve of Millbrook, Mr. Alex. Ferguson, in a very neat speech.

The Guide says that Wm. Rundle, sr., a laborer who lives on Protestant Hill, had been sawing wood all day last Friday. On retiring to rest he knelt to say his prayers, and whilst paying his devotions to his maker his spirit took its flight. He was about seventy years of age, and has a son a conductor on the Midland Railway and another on the Toronto and Nipissing.

The Herald says that the following is the amount of grain shipped from the Campbellford railway station from the 1st of October to the 23rd of January, 1882:

Barley	60,500 "
Rye	23,600 "
Wheat	14,000 "
Oats	3,100 "
Total	104,750

Michael Brown, Oshawa, driving across the Grand Trunk track on Tuesday afternoon, with a load of wood, was run into by a mixed train going east. Brown was himself wrapped in a blanket, and did not notice the approaching train. The locomotive struck the waggon about the centre, smashed it to atoms, and carried Brown and a part of his load a distance of 200 yards. Brown escaped with a slight contusion about the head, and was able to be about a few hours after the accident.

A singular accident happened to Dr. McLaughlin, M. P. for West Durham, in the local house the other day. He lent his pen-knife to another member, who returned it to him with the blade open. Dr. McLaughlin did not happen to look at it and took it for granted that it was closed. While listening to the debate he brought down his hand holding the knife against his thigh, the blade entering the flesh, inflicting a wound two inches in depth and narrowly missing the main artery. The doctor has been quite lame from the effects.

A good deal of excitement was caused in Bobcaygeon and Kinmount on Thursday and Friday, by the suicide of Charlotte Ritchie, second daughter of Mr. Alex. Ritchie, who lives three miles south of Kinmount on the Bobcaygeon road. Miss Ritchie was a comely young woman of about twenty, and had been in Bobcaygeon during the day, where she obtained some arsenic from a druggist, stating that her mother wanted it to poison rats. She walked home and there had supper with the other members of the family. It is supposed that she took the arsenic in her tea, as she was shortly afterwards seized with all the symptoms of poisoning. Dr. Bonnel was sent for but before he arrived the poor girl was dead. She called out in her paroxysm, "not to blame Willie." Her relatives are plunged in the deepest grief by the terrible affair, and have the sympathy of the neighborhood. An inquest was held on Friday, and a verdict returned in accordance with the circumstances. There was apparently no cause for the rash deed.

HOW IRELAND BECAME PART OF GREAT BRITAIN.

To say that Ireland fell to England by conquest is neither wholly true nor wholly false. It is wholly false to say that it was conquered in the sense that Edward I. tried to conquer Scotland—conquered, that is, as a whole, the entire nation being united under one head for the purpose of resisting a common invader. It is not only doubtful whether, had the Irish been united, the Anglo-Normans who went over would ever have possessed more ground in the country than was needed to cover their bones, but it is almost certain that the subjugation of the Island would never have taken place; assuredly it would not with the force that went over. Of course, after the precedent set at Hastings, where the fate of England was decided in one pitched battle, and in view of the fact that a mob, however numerous, can avail nothing against the attack of disciplined troops, it is perhaps presumptuous to say so much; but we have only to point to the case of Scotland for justification, and to see how there the whole strength of England failed to hold in bondage a united, freedom-loving people, irregular and undisciplined though they were in comparison with the followers of the first soldier of his day.

Ireland was not conquered as a whole, for it never resisted as a whole, never acknowledged for the purpose of the common weal one supreme head or "dictator whom all men should obey." It is not, therefore, absolutely true to say that it was conquered, neither is it absolutely false. It fell like the house that was built upon the sand, because it had no foundation, and was divided against itself. Bit by bit it was subjugated by force of arms, and according to a system of warfare which aimed at preventing a repetition of resistance by means of extirpation—a system which required the constant presence of a strong military force in the conqured districts, and which provoked from time to time those outbursts of national and party anger which the system has periodically put down with bloodshed and violence. At no one period in her history has Ireland ever been united as Scotland was when she successfully resisted the invader; at no one time has the sister island been animated by the Scottish love of freedom, and dogged determination never to acknowledge a foreign yoke; and certainly, at the time of the first attempt that was made upon her independence, Ireland was split up into rival factions as bitter and hostile to one another as the worst common enemy could desire.

PERCHERON HORSES.

Harper's Monthly for Febuary has a lengthy and exhaustive article on this subject, from which we make the following extracts:

The Percheron horse is undoubtedly the most symmetrical and powerful for his size, and possesses the finest action and greatest endurance of all the large breeds in Europe. His general type is also the most ancient of any of which we have record or tradition, and this is the principal reason why he is more prepotent than others in transmitting his superior qualities to his offspring.

Tradition asserts that the first great improvement in refining the large horses of France was made by Barb stallions captured from the Moors. In 731 thousands of these fine Barb stallions were captured by the French soldiers, who, on returning to their farms, bred them to their own large native mares. The best and most uniform of this produce were then selected and coupled among themselves, the result of which, together with other well-made crosses from time to time since that period, gives us the improved Percherons of the present day, decribed as follows:

Head clean, bony and small for the size of the animal; ears short, mobile, erect and fine-pointed; eyes bright, clear, large and prominent; forehead broad; nostrils large, open.

Neck a trifle short, yet harmoniously rounding to the body and gracefully curved.

Breast broad and deep, with great muscular development; shoulders sloping; withers high; back short; body well ribbed up; rump broad, long and moderately sloping to the tail, which is attached high; quarters wide, well let down, and swelling with powerful muscles.

Legs flat and wide, with hard clean bones, and extra large, strong joints, cords and tendons; short from the hocks and knees down; pasterns upright; hoofs full size, solid, tough.

Action bold, square, free and easy.

Temper kind; disposition docile, but energetic and vigorous; hardy, enduring and long-lived; precocious; able to be put to light work at eighteen to twenty months old, possessing immense power for his size; never baulking or refusing to draw at a dead pull; stylish, elegant and attractive in appearance; easy, elastic, and graceful in motion.

No tendency to disease of any sort, and especially free from diseases of the legs and feet, such as spavin, splint, ringbone, grease and founder.

An easy keeper and quick feeder.

It is really provoking when you have elaborately and with much pains related an anecdote which to you seemed new and funny, to have your auditor preserve a stolid countenance, and, to your question, "Isn't that pretty good?" reply, "Yes; I always did like that story."

DAVID AND GOLIAH.

THE STORY AS TOLD BY A LOCAL PREACHER IN THE NORTHWEST.

Last week, my bretherin, as I was a readin' my Bible, I found a story of a big fight, (I Samuel, xvii.) It was powerful interestin,' and I studied it almost all week. There was two armies a campin' on two mountains right fornenst each other, and a holler and I reckon some good bottom land and a medder lot lyin' between 'em. In one of the armies there was a big feller—a whoppin' great big feller—and every day he went down into the medder lot and looked up the hill to t'other camp and just dared 'em. He told 'em to pick their best man and send him down and he'd fight him. And he jest strutted around there in his soger close and waited for 'em to send on their man. And such soger close I never heard tell on afore. He had a brass cap and brass trousers, and a coat made like mail bags where they are all ironed and rivited together. But the fellers in t'other camp jest clean flunked. They daren't fight the big feller, nary one on 'em. They jest all sneaked away, and the big feller he went back to the camp. But he did not quit thar, the big feller didn't. He was spilin' for a fight, and he was bound to have it. He jest went down into the bottom land, into the medder lot every day, mornin' and evenin', and dared 'em and dared 'em. I tell you he pestered 'em mightily. The old feller, Saul, the Gineral, he felt more chawed up and meaner than the sogers, and, when he couldn't stan' it no longer, he told the boys that if any on 'em would go down and lick the big feller he'd give him his gal and a right smart chance of plunder. But they was all so skeer'd that even that didn't start one of em. The big feller went down and dared 'em and pestered 'em more'n a month—forty days, the Bible says.

I don't know what they'd done if it hadn't a-been that a peart little feller had come down to camp one day to fetch some extra rations to his three big brothers that their old dad sent to 'em from home. Kind old pap he was, and sharp, too, for he sent along a big present to the boys' Ca'pen. Well, jest as the little feller drove up, they was all gwine out to fight, and the little feller left his traps with the driver, and legged it after the sogers, and told his big brothers howd'y. Right thar the old big feller came and dared 'em again, and they were all so skeer'd that they just run like mad. The little feller heard him, and then went back into camp and heerd all the sogers talk about him, and what the old Gineral would give to have him licked. He asked 'em a heap of questions about it all, and his big brother he got mad at him, and twitted him about keeping sheep, and gave him a right smart of sass. He was plucky, but you see he had to stan' it, 'cause 'twas his brothers. Big Brothers are mighty mean sometimes.

But the little feller talked a heap with the other sogers, and they told the old Gineral about him, and he told them to tell the little feller to come and see him. The little feller was mighty plucky, and he jest up and told the old Gineral Saul that he'd fight the big feller! The Gineral looked at the handsome little feller—he was real handsome—and see he, kinder softly, "I reckon," and shakin' his head, "it's too big a job; you're only a chunk of a boy, and he's an old fighter." The little feller spunked up and told the old Gineral that he'd had one b'ar fight and he had killed the b'ar. He said there was an old lion and a ba'r got among his dad's sheep, and was gwine off with a lamb. He broke for 'im, and as soon as he met up with the old ba'r, he lamm'd him till the ba'r turned on him for a hug: but he got one hand into the long ha'r under his jaw, and he lamm'd him with the other'n till he was dead. He'd killed the lion and the b'ar, and he know'd he was enough for the big feller.

Then the little feller talked real religious to the old Gineral. You see, he'd got religion afore that, and he knowed that the Lord would help a feller, if he was all right, and got into a tight place. He told Gineral Saul that the Lord had made him mighty supple, and looked out for him when the old lion and b'ar tried to get their paws into him; and he knowed He'd see him through the fight with the old big feller, for he was just darin' 'em and pesterin' 'em to make game of religion. When the old Gineral seed he was so plucky and religious, too, he told him to go in, and he made a little prayer for him hisself. Then the old Gineral put his own soger close on the little feller, and strapped his sword onto him. But they were a heap too big, and he shucked em off directly, and made for a dry branch down in the bottom. Then he hunted five little rocks, smooth as an egg, put 'em in a little bag where he carried his snack when he was a-tendin' the sheep, got his sling fixed all right, and hurried up to meet the old big feller in the medder lot. When he seed him comin' he was powerful mad they'd sent down such a little feller, and jawed awful. But the little feller just talked back religious, and kept his eyes peeled. And I reckon the big feller couldn't a been a lookin' I've studied a heap on it, and I just know the big feller couldn't a been a lookin'; for the little feller got out his sling and drew away and shied a little rock at him, and he popped him down and he tumbled. Then the little fellow rushed up and mounted him, jest as an old hunter loves to get on a b'ar after he's shot him; and he out with the big feller's long sword and off with his head. Then it was them Philistine sinners' turn to be skeer'd, and they broke for the brush, and all of them chil'en of Israel fellers jest shouted and chased 'em clean over the mountain into a valley, and then com'd back and got all their camp plunder.

My bretherin, that's the best story of a fight I ever read after, and you can't buy no better story book nor this very Bible.

GOATS TO PROTECT SHEEP.

The farmers of Hunterdon and Somerset counties, New Jersey, use goats to protect their sheep from dogs. Two goats can drive away a dozen dogs, and two are about all each farmer puts in with his sheep. As soon as a dog enters the field at night, the goats attack him, and their butting propensities are too much for the canine, who soon finds himself rolling over and over. A few repetitions of this treatment causes the dog to quit the field limping and yelling. Formerly, when a dog entered a sheep field at night, the sheep would run wildly around and cry piteously. Since the goats have been used to guard them, they form in line behind the goats and seem to enjoy the fun. The idea of utilizing goats in this way came from the West, where they are put in sheep pens to drive away wolves.—N. Y. Sun.

"And so I gave up searching for him, for it was as hopeless as looking for a needle in a bundle of hay." "Then you shouldn't have, for there is nothing easier." "Nothing easier than what?" "Than finding a needle in a bundle of hay." "Nonsense! How do you find it?" "Sit down on the bundle of hay!"

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

SANDERSON'S

MRS. PAGE'S DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

"Are we almost there, Charles?"

"Do you see that old moss-grown roof, with the huge brick chimney, peeping up among the apple-blossoms? That is the house."

Laura's heart gave an involuntary throb. Would they welcome her as a new daughter? Charles Page smiled as he read the thoughts passing through her mind.

"Do not fear, Laura; I do not know who could help loving you!"

Laura smiled a little, doubtfully; she could hardly expect the whole world to look at her with her young husband's eyes.

Old Mrs. Page stood at the farm-house door in her best black silk, with her "company cap" and white ribbons, as the stage-coach rolled up—a hard featured old lady, with silver streaked hair brushed away from her wrinkled forehead, and hands on which the network of veins stood up like knotted cord. Her welcoming kiss was like the peck of a bird of prey—so cold and hard did it seem against Laura's cheek.

"Mother!" whispered Laura, softly.

"I am very glad to see you, Mrs. Charles," said the old lady.

"So you are Charlie's new wife, hey?" said Farmer Page from the sitting-room, "and a tall, well-grown girl, too. Come in, come in! Tea's most ready, and I dare say you'll be glad of a cup."

There was something that passed like the chilled breath of an iceberg across Laura's heart as she entered, leaning on her husband's arm. It was not the welcome she expected and hoped for; and involuntarily she felt that her mother-in-law's cold, criticising eye was upon her, and with no favourable glance.

"s'pose you've been brought up to work?" said Mrs. Page, senior.

No; Laura could not say that she had.

"Can you wash and iron your husband's shirts?"

"No."

"Can you make bread?"

"I have never tried."

"Cannot you cook at all?"

"I am afraid not, ma'am."

"Humph."

At this stage, Charles, who had been watching the deepening color on Laura's cheek with some annoyance, broke in:

"But she can speak two or three different languages, mother, and paint beautifully, and I wish you could read some of the poetry she has written."

"Humph!" again enunciated the mother-in-law. Languages, painting and poetry stuff won't make the kettle boil, you'll find, young lady."

"She has been taught in a seminary, mother," the young husband interposed, "where she has had no opportunity to learn the useful things you speak of. All in good time. Rome wasn't built in a day."

But Mrs. Page, with her thin lips set close together, was busying herself about the tea table. She need not have taken the trouble—Laura's appetite was pretty effectually destroyed.

"Come, darling," said Charles, "I want to show you the path to the spring in the woods."

Old Mrs. Page looked contemptuously after them.

"That's all she's worth she muttered, "to look at pretty things and listen to honeyed speeches. I wonder where Hiram Page would be now if I had been cut out after that pattern?"

In short, it was an infinite relief all round when the short visit came to an end, and Charles took his young wife back to his home. Laura was depressed and melancholy, and Charles, though he would not have confessed it even to himself, was a little prejudiced by the strong opinions expressed by both father and mother on the subject of his matrimonial choice.

Scarcely six months had passed over the horison of their married life, however, when clouds came to darken it.

Charles Page was only a clerk in a bank, but his humble salary had proved sufficient for himself and Laura. Consequently, one night returning late from business, he slipped and broke his right ankle so badly that a severe illness followed; it brought the grim phantom poverty nearer to them than was at all pleasant.

"We won't let the old folks at home know of it, Laura," said the young clerk, trying to speak cheerfully. "I'm afraid they're in trouble themselves about that note my father endorsed for old Millman, and I dare say we shall get along nicely with a little economy."

Laura was sitting by her husband's bedside one dreary November twilight, when there was an unwonted bustle at the door below—a throwing down of trunks and shrill articulation of voices. She hastened to the head of the stairs—it was Farmer Page and his wife?

"We've no home of our own now," said Mrs. Page, senior, speaking bitterly and loud, "and we've come to stay with you and your wife, son Charles."

"No home of your own, mother."

"No—thanks to your father, who would indorse that note for old Millman, and he's lost every cent—just what he might have expected, I think—and we're as good as beggars in our old age! But, dear me, what's the matter, Charles?"

Then followed explanations and recitals, much to the relief of Farmer Page, who had instinctively slunk into the background until the violence of his wife's wrath should have subsided.

"And you're no better than we be?" sighed Mrs. Page, glancing sadly around the room. "Ah—h! that is what comes of fine ladies for wives!"

It was not exactly a logical conclusion, but it seemed to afford wondrous consolation to the old woman, who immediately untied her bonnet-strings, and prepared to "make herself at home."

"Is this money in the pocket-book, all you've got left, Charles?" demanded his mother, about ten days after their unexpected arrival.

"Yes, mother."

"Only five dollars; and the rent will come due to-morrow, and there's a bill for groceries enough to make one's hair stand on end—and as for milk, I don't see how man can sleep at night who charge ten cents a quart for milk that's half water. And nobody knows how much the doctor's bill is going to be, and Bridget's wages—but I'll discharge her to-morrow morning. If your wife can't do the housework of these few rooms I can."

Charley Page closed his eyes wearily, and pressed his hand upon his throbbing temples. It was not the best course of treatment for a feverish patient, this enumeration of domestic troubles; but old Mrs. Page had never been ill herself, and consequently made little allowance for the weak and worn-out state of her son.

"I don't know what Laura's doing up in her room," said the old lady. "She had a great deal better buy a wash-tub and a bar of soap, and do the family washing instead of putting it out and spending her time writing poetry."

"Laura has been the most tender and devoted of nurses to me, and I will listen to no aspersions of her conduct," interrupted Charles Page, indignantly.

Mrs. Page screwed her lips tightly together, as she turned the solitary note over and over, but she ventured on no more derogatory remarks down-stairs.

Creeping like a veritable puss-cat up the staircase, she entered her daughter-in-law's apartment with the stealthy movement peculiar to that quadruped.

"Painting, eh, Mrs. Charles? Let me tell you I think its your duty to attend a little more to the housework and less to your fine amusement up here. Do you see this note? it's all we've got left in the house, and if you think it's going to support you in idleness you're mistaken."

"Is Charles alone, mother?"

"Yes, he is alone; but as I was saying ——"

"I think we had better join him."

Old Mrs. Page hobbled down after Laura's graceful movements, grumbling as she went.

"Laura," said her husband, with a troubled face, "mother tells me that our funds are getting low——"

"Only a five-dollar bill left," said the old lady, clutching it greedily, as if fearful that it would take wings unto itself and vanish into thin air.

"And," resumed her son. "what are we to do?"

"Might as well ask advice of the biggest wax doll in the shop around the corner," grumbled Mrs. Page, sotto voce.

"See, Charles."

Laura had opened her little portemonnaie and was showing contents on the bed, close to Charles' hand.

"My gracious me!" ejaculated the old lady, "where did all these bills come from?"

"One hundred dollars! My dearest wife, how did you get this?"

Laura's cheeks flushed high with pride and gratification.

"My little picture of 'Spring in the Wilderness' was sold this morning Charles; and I have orders for two more at the same price."

"A hundred dollars!—for a trumpery picture!" gasped Mrs. Page, senior, under her breath, yet looking at Laura now with deference and admiration dawning in her face. She who could earn a hundred dollars by a week's work was not to be despised.

Charles Page's eyes were filled with tears; he pressed his lips lovingly to the hand whose whiteness Mrs. Page had so despised.

"My dear little wife: my helpmate indeed!" he murmured, softly.

"You must not wear that serious face any longer, Charles," she said hiding the depth of her emotion by an assumed playfulness. We shall have plenty of money now to last us until you get well, and mother"—she spoke it with an effort—"shall lay it out for us after the most economical fashion!"

But, to Laura's astonishment, the old lady jumped up, and threw her arms around her neck with a curious hysterical sob.

"Laura, I've been wrong all this time—I've been a conceited, obstinate old fool!"

"Mother!"

"I have—and there's no use making a secret of it! I've scorned and despised you, and then as ugly as Cain to you, and now——"

"Now we will forget it all and begin anew mother," said Laura, soothing the old woman's agitation with a tender kiss.

It was not until Mrs. Page the elder had had her attention called to the pre-eminent necessity of an apple-pudding for dinner, that she left off reproaching herself and crying on Laura's shoulder.

"For I've been such an old Witch of Ender to you," she remarked, most truthfully, as she went into the kitchen.

And Charles Page, smiling up in his wife's face as the door closed, said:

"You have conquered her, Laura!"

THE IRISH LAND ACT.

Another stage, and a very important one, has been reached in the working of the Irish Land Act. The sub-commission has decided about 600 cases, making an average reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rentals, and spreading consternation among the landlords, who have attacked the commission savagely, and appealed almost every case. Lord Carrington, however, who is an Irish landlord, shows that the reduction made by the commission, brings the rent to what Sir Richard Griffith's valuation made fair rent forty years ago; that English farmers are paying no higher now than they did forty years ago, and that the judicial reductions made in Ireland are no greater than have been made in England voluntarily. The first appeal has been decided, and the majority of the commission have confirmed the judgment of the sub-commission. In this case it has also been decided that the change of tenure from holding under a lease, to a tenancy at will, is not a bar to a reduction of rent on account of improvements made by the tenant on the land, which was so held to be under the Land Act of 1870. There is still one other Court to which the landlords can appeal, the regular law Court in Dublin, but the decision will probably be sustained, and lead to the settlement of many cases out of Court.

Dyspepsia and Debility, a Severe Case.—From Wm. Bentley, 24, Rodman St., Fall River, Mass.—"I was severely afflicted with general debility caused by over-exertion in working when I was not strong enough to do so. I became so nervous and debilitated that I was finally obliged to give up work and devote myself entirely to rest. This, however, did not benefit me, as I had nothing to occupy my mind, and I could not be idle. I concluded that my trouble was heart disease, and consulted a physician, who pronounced it an aggravated form of dyspepsia, and was treated accordingly. Nothing that I tried gave me any relief until Peruvian Syrup was recommended. I used three bottles of this, and could see a great improvement, as I was able to resume work. Three bottles more completely restored my health." Sold by all druggists.

CARNIVAL.

Peterboro' is noted among surrounding towns for the elegant skating and bewitching simplicity of its young ladies. When it was known that a grand carnival was to be held last Friday, expectation "stood on stilts." The weather was splendid, the ice was in excellent condition and the rink was filled with the youth, beauty and wealth of the town. Rows of chinese lanterns and jets of gas shed their pale lambent light over the scene and the beautiful music of the band assisted in enlivening the freezing spirits of the crowd. Many of the costumes were elegant but the majority were thrown together on the disjointed principle. None combined the aesthetic and the beautiful. As usual the Ethiopian fraternity had several of their nominees present. It could easily be seen what character they represented, which was not always the case with the rest. Some of those who took special characters looked about as much like the ideal original as a potato patch does a choice flower garden. This may perhaps be accounted for from the fact that appropriate costumes cannot be hired, and that reliance must be placed on personal effort alone. In the games, Mr. E. J. Hartley carried off the palm as best gentleman skater. The obstacle race was won by Master Harry Huston, while the mile and the half mile races were gained by C. Shaw and M. Orde respectively. For costumes, Miss D. Ullyott got 1st prize; Miss Annie Delaney, 2nd; Miss Clifford, 3rd. The decision no doubt was difficult to arrive at as others certainly deserved recognition. For best dressed gentleman Mr. J. C. Robertson received 1st prize. The following is an extended list of those in character:—

A lady who was recently receiving applications for a vacant position in her household was waited upon by one of those wandering specimens of female humanity who manage to stay about two weeks in a place and consider themselves family servants. "Where do you go to church?" the lady inquired. "I generally go to the same church as the family," was the reply; "where do you attend, ma'am?" The lady replied, "St Paul's," whereupon the would-be servant exclaimed, "Oh, I have always went to hear St Paul preach!"

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The first meeting of the Board of Education for 1882 was held on Tuesday evening last. Present—Messrs. Stevenson, McClelland, Rutherford, Robinson, Stratton, Wrighton, Wetr, Sproule, Best, Poussette.

The Clerk announced that as this was the inaugural meeting, the first duty was to elect a Chairman.

APPOINTING A CHAIRMAN.

Mr. McClelland moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That Mr. James Stevenson be re-elected.—Carried unanimously.

Mr. Stevenson, in accepting the position, thanked the members for their renewed confidence, and expressed the hope that he would fill it to their satisfaction. He regretted that the attendance at the Institute was not as large now as it had been last year. This he attributed in a great measure to the number of the pupils who had left for other institutions, as well as a number who were prohibited from coming through the increase of the fees. The Board had endeavored to obtain a grant from the County Council, but had failed, for, while the members of the Council were individually satisfied to vote a grant, the promise had been exacted from many of them that they should not vote anything to the Peterborough schools. This was a great mistake, and he believed it would revert on themselves, as, before long they would be unable to obtain competent teachers.

STRIKING THE STANDING COMMITTEES.

Moved by Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Wrighton,—That Messrs. McClelland, Rutherford, Poussette, Stevenson and the mover and seconder be a committee to strike the standing committees for the year.—Carried.

The committee then retired, and after a short absence returned and submitted the following report, which was presented by Mr. Stratton:

REPORT:

The Committee beg leave to report, recommending the following as committees for the current year:—

Finance.—Messrs. Poussette, Wrighton, Denne, Sproule and Burnham.

Appointments.—Poussette, Rutherford, Wrighton, Stratton, McClelland and Robinson.

Property.—McClelland, Robinson, Best, Sawers, Weir, Rutherford and Sproule.

School Supervision.—Burnham, Denne, Cox, Robinson, Wrighton, Stratton.

The Chairman of the Board to be ex-officio a member of all committees.

On motion the report was adopted.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and confirmed.

APPOINTMENT OF INSPECTOR.

On motion of Mr. McClelland, seconded by Mr. Poussette,—Mr. James Stratton was re-appointed Inspector of the Public Schools at the same salary as last year.

ENQUIRIES.

Mr. McClelland asked if the arms furnished by the Government to the school company had been returned to Kingston?

The Chairman said they had not yet been returned.

Mr. McClelland said the reason he had made the enquiry was in consequence of a letter in the Evening Review, where charges had been made against the Principal, who was accused of being adverse to the formation of a company. This was not so, but what the Principal was adverse to, was taking up school hours with drill. He knew positively that the drill had interfered with the studies of some pupils in the past, and that studious pupils had, as soon as they were appointed to office, become very dilatory.

The matter was laid over to be taken up at a later stage.

ACCOUNTS.

An account from Toker & Co., amounting to $2.30 was presented and ordered to be paid.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From C. D. Macdonald, town Clerk, stating that Robert Weir and A. P. Poussette had been elected High School Trustees for the current year by the Town Council.

From the Returning Officers of Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 Wards, announcing that Messrs. G. B. Sproule, John McClelland, T. W. Robinson and Henry Deune had been respectively elected for the several Wards.

The Secretary announced that all the newly elected Trustees had filed the necessary declarations of office.

From the Department, a circular relative to Text books.—Received.

From the Department, a letter in reference to the Meteorological grant.—Received.

From the Secretary-Treasurer, asking an increase of salary, in view of the amount of work required of him.—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

From the Head Teacher of the Public Schools, asking that a cupboard be placed in his room for holding supplies.—Referred to Property Committee.

From the Principal, giving a statement of the requisites necessary for the coming year.—Referred to School Supervision Committee.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The following is the attendance at the Public Schools during the month of December, as per the Principal's monthly report, handed in and read by the Secretary:—

	On Roll.	Average.
Central School	555	479
South Ward School	225	176
West Ward School	149	124

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

	On Roll.	Average.
December	103	80
January	126	113

The reports were received.

ADDITION TO COMMITTEE.

On motion Mr. Sproule's name was added to the Committee on Appointments.

THE CADETS' ARMS.

The Chairman asked what he was to do with the arms belonging to the Cadet Company. If not otherwise instructed he would return them to the Government.

Mr. Poussette advocated very strongly the necessity of retaining the arms, both for the physical and social welfare of the pupils, and urged that they drill at least one hour a day after school hours. He moved that the corps be reformed, and that the matter be referred to the Committee on School Supervision to take steps to that end.

The resolution was carried.

THE COUNTY GRANT.

Mr. Poussette said he thought a vote of censure should be passed upon the County Council for their refusal to assist the Institute. He thought the Board would be justified in retaliating, by raising the fees so high that county pupils could not take advantage of the schools.

The Chairman said that although the action of the Council had been very shabby, yet the Board might be cutting their own throats by adopting Mr. Poussette's suggestion. The staff of teachers had to be kept up, and if we debarred outside pupils from attending, the town would have all the more expenses to provide for.

After a short discussion, during which some of the members expressed the belief that the County Council would do something at the June session, the matter was allowed to drop.

The Board then adjourned.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening last. Present, His Worship the Mayor, and all the Councillors excepting Mr. Deane.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From John McMartin offering to supply wood, partly soft, at $1.75 a cord. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From E. Green, asking for a gas lamp on the corner of Charlotte and Water streets. Referred to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

John Hennessy	$1 00
Western Insurance Co.	5 00

PETITIONS.

A petition asking the aid of the town in memoralizing the Government in reference to proposed changes in the law regarding fire protection was read and received. No name being attached no further action was taken.

OBJECT OF THE MEETING.

The Mayor said he had called the meeting together to take action upon the resolution passed at the public meeting, on Friday night last.

Mr. Menzies asked if it would not be better to have a public meeting called by posters and have a general expression of opinion, as the meeting on Friday night had been called by circular.

Mr. Paterson thought we should find out our position first as to whether we could take stock before submitting a By-law.

Mr. Wilson asked what position the town would be in if the legislation expected could not be obtained? We would then have given our money as a bonus, and as such it would then remain.

Mr. Cahill thought the simplest way to get over the difficulty would be to send a deputation to Toronto and lay the matter before the Attorney-General, who, he thought, would not hesitate to grant the legislation asked for. He would, therefore, move, seconded by Mr. Douglas,—That the Mayor and Mr. J. R. Stratton be requested to proceed to Toronto to urge on the Attorney-General to pass such legislation as may be necessary to enable the corporation to take stock in the proposed car works, in place of granting a bonus to such works, and that they request the aid of the members for this County, and that the Town Treasurer be authorised to honor the Mayor's order for the expenses.—Carried.

Mr. Menzies objected to sending delegates to Toronto until the voice of the people was heard in the matter. He did not object to the delegation, but thought there was no use for it until we found out whether the people were willing to assist the project.

Mr. Richardson favored sending the delegation, as from conversation with numerous ratepayers he found all in favor of taking stock in the car works.

Mr. McNaughton went with his whole heart for manufactures although he might not be able to express himself so eloquently as other members of the Board. The town had not the lumbering interest now to fall back upon, and unless something was done we would go back instead of progressing.

Mr. Rutherford thought the town was stepping a little out of the way in assuming all the costs of this deputation, and would be assuming expenses which should be borne by the company. He was as anxious as any one to assist manufactures but thought we should move cautiously in the matter. We had a representative in Toronto, who he believed would be only too happy to look after the legislation asked for.

Mr. Menzies said he was not opposed to car works, but he was opposed to the system now being advocated.

Mr. Douglas thought Mr. Cahill's motion a step in the right direction. While individuals could put their hands in their pockets and pay over their money it required legislation to enable the town to get power to take stock. He thought Mr. Menzies was only trying to throw cold water on the scheme.

Mr. Paterson said he thought the matter should be referred to the Finance Committee to prepare a memorial and present it to the Attorney-General asking to have the legislation required, and would move, seconded by Mr. Menzies,—That the question of special legislation to aid car works in our town by taking stock or granting a bonus to a company be referred to the Finance Committee to prepare a memorial and have it forwarded to our member, Dr. Kincaid, to present the same and urge our claims.

Mr. Poussette wished the Council to affirm the principle as laid down by the meeting on Friday night, and with that object in view would move, seconded by Mr. Alford,—That the ratepayers of the town in public meeting assembled having requested their desire that the proposed Car Company should be aided by the town in taking stock in the said company to the extent of $20,000, it is expedient to aid the said company in that way and that all necessary steps be taken to accomplish that end as speedily as possible.

Mr. Rutherford thought $20,000 too much to give either in stock or as a bonus, and could not support the resolution as it would tie the Council's hands, and moved in amendment that $10,000 be inserted instead of $20,000.

Mr. Cahill said at the meeting on Friday night there was but one dissenting voice—that of Mr. Menzies. If the matter was kept dilly-dallying, the gentlemen now promoting the company would throw the matter up so far as Peterborough was concerned. He knew positively that other towns would only be too glad to embrace the offer made by the company.

Mr. Poussette said both Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Menzies knew perfectly well that if the town gave only $10,000 the matter would fall to the ground. The promoters of the company distinctly stated that unless $20,000 assistance was given they would not proceed with the work. Mr. Menzies wanted another meeting. The meeting on Friday night was a large one and was composed of most of the leading and influential citizens of the town, among whom there was not a dissenting voice.

Upon the question being put, Mr. Rutherford's amendment was declared lost and Mr. Poussette's motion carried.

A vote was then taken upon Mr. Paterson's amendment and Mr. Cahill's motion, resulting in the defeat of the former and the carriage of the later.

PREPARING A BY-LAW.

The matter of preparing a By-law for a vote of the people in accordance with the resolution passed at the public meeting, was referred to the Finance Committee.

SIGNING CHEQUES.

Mr. Poussette was authorised, in the absence of the Mayor, to sign all cheques.

The Council then adjourned.

TERRIBLE HOLOCAUST.

Two Women and Three Children Burned to Death.

Two Men not expected to Survive—A Scene of the Most Heartrending Description—Result of a Kerosene Explosion.

(From the Globe.)

MADOC, Feb. 10.—Probably the most frightful calamity that ever befel any family in this portion of Ontario overtook John Morland and his wife and children, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock this morning. Morland is a sober, hard working farmer, living about ten or twelve miles south-west of the village of Madoc, and in the township of Huntingdon. Yesterday he and his wife and Peter Vanallan, jr., drove down to Belleville together to make some purchases. It seems that Vanallan, who is getting out logs in the neighbourhood, was boarding at Morland's along with two youngmen in Vanallan's employ. These were Simon Rambeau, of Napanee, and Minor Hough, whose home is near Belleville. There were besides these in the household, Morland's six children, as follows:—John, aged twelve years; Henry, aged ten; Lizzie, aged eight; Sarah, aged six; Charlie, aged two; and a baby boy some six or seven months old. Mrs. Morland's sister, Miss Susanna Douglas, having come over to take care of the children in the mother's absence, was also, unfortunately, in the house at the time of the disaster. It seems that about midnight Vanallan and the Morland's came home, and found Miss Douglas and the two young men, Hough and Rambeau, still out of bed awaiting their arrival. The young men assisted to put away the horses and carry in the things out of the sleigh, and then they hurried off to bed.

HOW IT OCCURRED.

Mr. and Mrs. Morland, Mr. Vanallan, and Miss Douglas remained up, however, and waked up two of the children, Sarah and Charlie, to let them try on new boots that they had purchased for them. Among the things which they had brought from Belleville was a five-gallon glass demijohn filled with kerosene oil, and covered with the usual wicker or basket work. Charlie was walking up and down the room to try his new boots, and just as he was close to the demijohn it exploded with a report similar to that of a revolver, and immediately the oil, which had been expanded by the heat of the warm room, and the gas or vapour generated by the rapid rise in temperature began pouring through the small openings in the wicker work with a sharp hissing sound similar to that made by escaping steam. Two ordinary pots were brought, and in a few minutes about three out of the five gallons were secured in them and set aside at the back of the room, which was the full size of the house, 18 x 20 feet. As the cracks in the floor of the room were very wide and comparitively open, the greater part of the other two gallons of the oil quickly disappeared. With a view of getting rid of the last of it, however, Vanallan lit a match and ignited it. He allowed a small space to burn off, and then extinguished it with his foot. After which he lighted another spot, which was subsequently smothered, and these very dangerous operations appear to have been repeated several times. At length Morland lighted a piece of paper from the little fire which Vanallan was watching, and with it ignited several spots on the floor in rapid succession. Almost immediately after this had been done the flames began to mount higher from the floor, and waver and tremble as though they were not confined to the oil on the floor. Miss Douglas seized a pail of water to throw upon the floor, but Morland stopped her, and attempted to beat down the flames with the broom. At the first stroke more than half the broom itself became wrapped in flame, and an instant later a broad fiery column shot up to the ceiling and swept swiftly along overhead. Then all was confusion, and the survivors are not clear as to what happened. Miss Douglous opened the door, but for some reason closed it again without making her escape. Perhaps with true womanly instinct she turned to save the helpless little ones. Vanallan seized a fulled-cloth overcoat, still hoping to smother the conflagration, but before he knew what he was doing the room was literally full of blazing gas, and he was just able to stagger to the door, fainting and half suffocated.

THE SLEET OF DEATH.

All this time not a sound came from the doomed ones inside the house, and Vanallan says he only heard the wailings of Morland as he staggered out of the house, with beard and clothing both on fire, after a vain attempt to save his wife and little ones by groping wildly about in the mass of seething flames in-doors. A door at the back of the house was burst open and a window driven in, but the house was literally full of blazing gas, and it was impossible to enter. In the meantime the three boys—Johnny, Henry, and little Charlie—had managed in some way to escape, but Mrs. Morland and Miss Douglas, and Lizzie, Sarah, and baby Morland were never seen again. Meantime the young men Hough and Rambeau had not been alarmed as early as those down-stairs, though it is presumable they were not asleep. Hough sprang from the window, while Rambeau threw himself head first down the stairs. Both were still alive this afternoon when I visited the scene of the disaster, and hopes are entertained of Hough's ultimate recovery, but poor Rambeau has no chance whatever. He is frightfully burned all over. Some parts of his person is entirely burned away, his ears being so charred that they crumble to pieces when touched. He is perfectly conscious and rational, however. Hough is blackened and disfigured past recognition, but Dr. Hudson, who is attending him, thinks he will recover. How Rambeau escaped after falling headlong down-stairs he himself does not know, but from the frightful manner in which he has been burned almost to a cinder it is probable that he dragged himself out of the burning building on his hands and knees. The survivors saw nothing of him till they found him lying in a bed of blood-soaked snow outside the house.

CARING FOR THE SURVIVORS.

As soon as the survivors saw that the doomed ones were utterly beyond hope, the necessity of immediate action on behalf of some of their own number was forced upon their dazed and bewildered senses. Vanallan was clothed and unhurt, and Morland was not badly burned and was dressed at the time of the disaster, but the three little boys had only their shirts on, Charlie having his boots on of course, while Hough and Rambeau had only the charred remains of their shirts clinging to them. Morland tore off his coat, vest, trousers, socks and boots and used them to shield his three little frightened, shivering, motherless boys from the bitter north wind, while Vanallan divided his clothing with Rambeau and Hough, and hastily harnessing the horses they had stabled less than an hour before, poor Morland, barefooted, bareheaded, and clad only in his undershirt and drawers, loaded into the sleigh all that was left to him of what was an hour before a happy and hopeful family, and drove a mile and a half to the nearest neighbour's house, where the little ones and the young man were sheltered for the time being.

SEARCHING THE RUINS.

Careful search was made in the ruins this morning, but of the five unhappy victims that perished there, not a shred that is recognizable remains. Two heavy masses of cinder that have been found are supposed from their shape to be the heads and shoulders of the two women, but not a trace of the little ones is to be found. Of the three little boys that escaped only one is burned at all, and that not seriously. It is thought that the distracted father must have thrown these little fellows out of doors without knowing how or when he did it. The ruins of the little cabin are still smoking, and the suddenness with which the calamity overtook the doomed household is marked by an unusual amount of utensils and furnishings, the blackened remains of which are lying directly beneath the spot where they were used last. Both Morland and Vanallan are thoroughly sober men, and neither of them had been drinking anything yesterday. Mrs. Morland was during her girlhood a Sunday School pupil, and subsequently a Sunday School teacher. The Coroner thinks that no inquest is necessary.

OTTAWA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The fourth session of the present Dominion Parliament has been duly opened with the usual ceremonies. On the opening day the floor of the Senate Chamber was thronged with the beauty and fashion, not only of the capital, but representatively of the Dominion, for the lady visitors to the capital are very numerous this session. Many members and Senators have brought their wives and daughters with them to grace the social festivities and state ceremonies and entertainments. The toilets were rich and varied in colour, and, as a whole, the Chamber presented a scene that was decidedly worth coming a distance to see.

LADY FRANCIS BALFOUR,

the sister of the Governor-General, was, of course, present, and our local reporters described her dress as being made of white muslin, and no mention was made of any ornaments. I see that the papers at a distance, after reading the report, have taken the white muslin and the absence of ornaments as a text, and have been preaching to the Canadian ladies a sermon on the sin of extravagance in dress, and holding up the Lady Francis as a model. The fact was, however, that the Lady was dressed—as it was right and proper she should be—in very rich and expensive material, white broche velvet trimmed with satin and Flemish point lace, with diamond and pearl ornaments. To give your readers an idea of the way the Rideau Hall people are watched, let me give you a passing incident: The Sunday after their arrival, Mr. Balfour and his wife attended St. Andrews (Presbyterian) church. During the service, the Lady removed her gloves. Next day some snob writes an offensive letter, which was printed in a local paper, making comments on the new fashion, and making some disgusting allusions to kitchen maids. No names were mentioned. The next Sunday, Mrs. Russell Stevenson—a sister of Lady Dufferin—attended the same church, and during the service she removed her gloves and took occasion to adjust her hat with her ungloved hand, so that the snob, if he were present, might see it. The Lady Francis still lives, I am glad to say, and she appears to enjoy sleigh riding very much, as she is frequently seen driving through the city.

THE LEVEE ON SATURDAY EVENING

was another brilliant scene. It also took place in the Senate Chamber, and afforded the ladies from a distance a first rate opportunity to show off their good clothes and jewels, how they could manage their trains, and with what grace they could make their bow to the representative of royalty. All passed off satisfactory.

THE SOCIAL PARLIAMENTARY SESSION

may now be said to be fairly launched. Your readers can study the speech for themselves, it is pretty much like other speeches of the kind—well, no; His Honour of Ontario made a very different kind of speech, but then they manage things differently up in Toronto. The House did not think it was worth while taking up much time in discussing it, so that the debate was soon over. All scent the breeze that will be raised when the Ontario question and the disallowance of Government Acts comes up for discussion. These questions will, no doubt, furnish occasion for the most interesting debates of the session, and the principal speakers of the House are posting themselves up for the contest. That the discussion will be unpalatable to many of the Ontario members, is beyond all doubt. They have in days past had to eat a good deal of dirt at the bidding of Sir John, and will do it again. They hope, however, to belittle these questions and ride in again on the N. P. next summer. I cannot make out that the N. P. has done much for you in Peterborough. I am ever without the fear of successful contradiction that it has not done anything for Ottawa. There has not been a new enterprise started here. It is true that trade has improved, but that has arisen from the improvement in the lumber trade, and that has improved in spite of the N. P., and it has not been in any way aided by it. It appears from the speech that we are to have some

TINKERING AT THE CIVIL SERVICE.

Well, it needs it, heaven knows. I am one of those who do not feel quite sure that our system is the best—I mean better than the American system introduced by Jackson. How was it when Mr. Mackenzie came into power. He was surrounded by spies, and nothing could be done that it was not known in the Citizen office in a few hours.

MR. MACKENZIE

treated the service with a gentlemanly consideration, that was illy requitted, and when Mr. Blake comes in, as come in he will, I am confident that a little change here and there would help matters. He would from the start be served and surrounded by spies and political enemies doing all they could to aid the political enemy, by watching every move, and reporting. It may be said that that would make no difference, because the acts of a Government should be above suspicion. Great Caesar! if all the acts of Tupper could be written in a book, what a tale would be there, my countrymen. What a tale could Onderdonk tell about the harpers that flitted to and fro between him and the department, and all the manifold manipulations that went on for a week or two? Then the Carrillon dam contract, and the re-adjustment of the Grucis Point contract. Some strange stories might be told by some people about these arrangements.

Passing from matters social and political, I note that we have had a couple of

INTERESTING CASES UP IN THE POLICE COURT

one where a medical gentleman was charged with being too much married, and the other a sort of semi-prize-fight affair. It appears that the medical gentleman was married years ago in Canada West; that he lived with his wife a number of years, having several children by her; he came to Ottawa and through the influence of a former partner, who was and is an M. P., he obtained employment in the Civil Service, he contributing to the support of his wife and children in the west. It now appears that before settling here he went to New York State a short time, and now claims that while there he got a devorce. Be that as it may, he made love to a very young woman here, in fact a school girl, and on the 29th Dec. last they went from here to Ogdensburg, and got married. He has been arrested for bigamy, and his case is pending. Without going into the merits of the case, it appears to me that this matter should be gone into and the law in the case made clear. Can a subject of Her Majesty marry in this country, and then, after a year or two, go to the United States for a month or two,—never become a citizen but still remain a subject—and then come back and make love to another woman and take her away to the United States for the express purpose of marrying her, then return and take up his abode here and be guiltless of any crime. If that is the case let us understand it, and if that cannot be done it were well also that that were understood. We have what they call an Athletic Club here, and the Club have a gymnasium, attached to which is a saloon, and the man who runs the saloon is a kind of buffer. Amongst other things which he teaches is the noble art of self-defence (sic). Well, he advertised a grand sparring match, to be held in a public hall, admittance fifty and twenty-five cents. He imported another buffer from Buffalo, and they were to spar. On the evening of the exhibition the place was packed. You see, about six months before, the same party had had a similar exhibition, which was really —lots of blood and bruising. The men went at the mill, and after six rounds—one of them getting his eye in mourning and the claret being drawn from the other—the police interfered and arrested the men. A lively hubbub took place in the hall. Cries of turn out the police was raised, and things looked promising for a row; but the roughs quieted down. The men went to the station, deposited substantial bail, and then returned to the hall. The thing to be noted was that our ex-Mayor, C. H. Macintosh, was present, and when the police interfered, the boys called for Macintosh, who mounted the stage and made a speech, almost advising resistance to the blue coats. When the parties made their appearance before the Cadi our ex-Mayor was on hand to counsel and assist the buffers out of their difficulty. Our Cadi will no doubt sit on them, and he will do well. This thing should be stamped out and put down, even if the manly art has to suffer. But, I must close until next week.

GET A DEVORCE FROM HIS WIFE,

A REGULAR PRIZE FIGHT

UNEXPECTED SUCCOR.

PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE OF SHIPWRECKED VOYAGERS.

At 9 o'clock on the morning of the 30th of last December, the steamer Moravian, of the Allan line, bound for Liverpool via Halifax, while on her way from Portland to the latter place, ran ashore on the southwest point of Mud Island, some 15 miles from the town of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. A stiff breeze was blowing at the time and a heavy surf running, and the situation was one of peril. It was found that the forward compartments had filled with water and orders were given to lighten cargo while preparations were made to land the passengers on the Island, with a supply of food and clothing. The landing was safely effected, but the cold was intense and some of the party were severely frostbitten. On the ship's manifest was a consignment of St. Jacobs Oil, which the Toronto House of A. Vogeler & Co., of Baltimore, Md., had just shipped to Francis Newberry & Sons, London, to fill English orders. The part it played in the catastrophe is described in the following article, which we quote from the Yarmouth (Nova Scotia) Tribune of January 18th:

"The passengers and crew of the wrecked steamer Moravian, during the brief encampment at Mud Island, suffered severely from exposure to the weather, and some of them were severely frostbitten. Fortunately, among the lading of the ship was a package of proprietary medicines; more fortunately still, the bulk of these consisted of St. Jacobs Oil, and by the prompt and liberal use of this invaluable remedy, the parties were speedily relieved and all unpleasant after consequences averted."

ENNISMORE.

ACCIDENT.—On Sunday last, David Geary of this township, went across Pigeon Creek to the Township of Emily, and while returning home in the afternoon, his team, valued at $250, broke through on the channel of the creek and was drowned; himself escaping with great difficulty. The neighbors on Monday, recovered the buggy and mountings excepting the buffalo robe, which had got under the ice.

Russian Anti-Jewish Atrocities

The persecution of the Jews, which, in Germany, led to such terrible atrocities, has spread to Russia, and is calling forth the sympathy of both Europe and America. Ever since the time when the German Anti-Semites raised an outcry against their Jewish fellow-citizens it was feared this would be the case, and owing to the low standard of civilization in Russia, still more terrible barbarities were expected. Unhappily this expectation has been more than realized. For two years past, in both Southern and Western Russia, the sufferings of the Jews have been of the most appalling description. Shortly after the assassination of the Czar a deliberate conspiracy against the Jews was set on foot, and systematic attacks by organized mobs spread with great rapidity. We had supposed this rooted antipathy to Hebrews, which was common enough in the middle ages, had vanished out of Europe. But Germany furnished direct evidence to the contrary, and now the persecution, which was there kept within tolerable bounds, has in Russia far over-flowed such feeble limits. In Warsaw, which is garrisoned by twenty thousand Russian soldiers, on last Christmas Day, atrocities occurred, with the poor Jews as victims, which beggars all description. Over 2,000 families were ruined, and more than 1,200 houses and synagogues were destroyed. For hours, unchecked and uncontrolled, an infuriated mob rushed upon the houses and persons of the unhappy race, committing many cruelties and destroying a vast amount of property. This outrage drew attention to the matter, and now we have more complete information as regards the more remote districts. The condition of the Hebrews throughout Russia at present is most deplorable, and the consequence is that numbers of these Jewish refugees are at present on their way to America. The horrors revealed by inquiry, since the Warsaw outrage, have been hitherto quite unsuspected. The first out-break occurred at Elizabethgrad, a town in the province of Kherson, on the Black Sea. It contained 30,000 inhabitants, of whom one-third were Jews. For two whole days the Jewish quarter was in possession of a furious and excited mob, and 500 houses and 100 shops were destroyed, whole streets being razed to the ground. Not many lives seem to have been lost, but the outrages to which women were subject was one strange and terrible feature of the daily occurrences. The property destroyed and stolen was reckoned at over two million roubles. A few days later, a similar outbreak took place at Kieff, a still more important town, containing 20,000 Jews, out of a total population of 140,000. Here fuel was added to the flames by the distribution of placards, in which it was stated that the Czar had given over the property of the Jews to his faithful and orthodox subjects—thus recalling the decree of Ahasuerus in the book of Esther. Sundays and Saints' days seem to have been chosen specially for these outbreaks, the lower orders being on these days more at liberty. The Governor of Kieff, though implored to render assistance, stoutly refused, saying he would not trouble his soldiers for a pack of Jews! Over 2,000 were left homeless in this one town. From Kieff the outbreaks spread to the surrounding districts, and scarcely a day passed without an anti-Jewish riot in some town or village, until all the region extending from the foot of the Baltic to the north-west corner of the Black Sea was ravaged by the blind fury. The Times correspondent professes to have collected information from about forty-five towns and villages in Southern Russia, and he tells us that "in these alone are reported twenty-"three murders of men, women and chil-"dren, seventeen deaths caused by viola-"tion, and no fewer than 225 cases of "brutal outrages on women." It is a terrible catalogue, but it does not exhaust the sad picture of wretchedness and suffering. To it we must add an enormous destruction of property, reducing many families to penury, and expelling thousands of these unhappy individuals from their ruined homes, to face, as best they may, the rigours of a Russian winter and the blind fury of an infuriated mob. It can not be said the government is irresponsible. The authorities were lamentably inert, and yet in that country they are not very tolerant of popular commotions when they disapprove of them. Instead of repressing the outrages, the Central Government has issued a rescript, which speaks of "the sad condition of "the Christian inhabitants, brought about "by the conduct of the Jews in business "matters," and institutes inquiry into the best means of "putting into force "the former laws limiting the rights of "the Jews in the matter of buying and "farming land, the trade in intoxicants, "and usury." Doubtless these views prevailing at head-quarters suggested the outrages and provoked the popular ill-will against the unfortunate Jews. It places the Russian government on a level with the stolid ignorance of a mediæval Baron—to have such ideas put forth, and to allow such atrocities to occur, without taking decisive steps to check and ultimately repress them. Russia has striven to hide these barbarities from the eyes of foreigners, but has happily failed. She wishes to be considered on a par with other European nations, but she is not disposed to allow outside interference in her affairs. Still, if she aspires to acquire or retain a place among the governments of the world, she ought to lose no time in showing she shares the feelings of shame and horror which other nations evince as regards these atrocities, and with promptness and despatch put forth all her energies to bring the perpetrators to speedy justice.

Editorial Notes.

Stratford is endeavoring to secure the establishment of manufactures within its limits by offering free sights and exemption from taxation for a period of years.

The Ontario Government has handed a cheque for $500, to Mr. Wheler, M. P., to be distributed by him among the sufferers by the bush fires in Rama and Mara.

The Government promises to bring in a measure for winding up insolvent corporations. A measure securing an equitable distribution of the state of an insolvent debtor among his creditors is very much needed.

The mild winter will prove a serious matter to those engaged in lumbering operations. There has not been snow enough to get the logs out of the woods, and as a consequence there will not be enough water in the rivers to float them down.

Men may come and men may go, but Judge Clarke's Pacific commission goes on forever. Now that Parliament has once more assembled it will be its duty either to appoint a commission to find out what the other commission was appointed for, or to take measures to bring its sitting to a conclusion.

The finance department at Ottawa is calling in the twenty cent pieces. They will not be grieved for, and as they are an intolerable nuisance, to call them in is the best thing that could be done with them. They are a source of continual annoyance through being mistaken for twenty-five cent pieces, which are of the same size and appearance, the only difference being in the figures.

It is unlikely that the Bradlaugh case will rest where it is. Bradlaugh has again been prevented from taking his seat as one of the representatives of Northampton by the vote of the House, but judging from the remarks of leading Liberals during the Parliamentary recess, Mr. Gladstone will provide a means by which the difficulty in a case of this kind may be overcome.

So far from the territory which Sir John Macdonald's Government wishes to cheat the people of Ontario out of, being valueless and not worth the expense of governing, as some of the Tory organs endeavor to make their readers believe, the timber upon it was valued by Col. Dennis, Sir John's deputy minister, at $52,000,000, and by Mr. Miller, M. P. P., at $150,000,000. The generosity of the Ontario Tories in offering to give such a valuable property away to please their leader, is more than the people of this province can stand. It is a fortunate thing for Ontario that the Tories have not the power to carry out their intentions in this matter.

Last week there was a brief but interesting discussion in the Ontario Legislature on the admission of women to University College, Toronto. It should be borne in mind that that institution is one supported entirely by public funds and as every principle of justice requires that women as well as men should be admitted to all public educational institutions, the whole burden of proof rests upon those who refuse them admission to this particular one to justify their exercise of authority. The reason assigned by the College Council in one instance is, that the attendance of girls is not considered "combatible with due order and discipline in the institution." This is equivalent to a complete ignoring of all the teaching of experience with respect to the co-education of the sexes. On intellectual grounds, the commingling of sexes in the same hall to pursue the same courses of study may be assailed with some show of reason, but to urge the above moral objection is unspeakably absurd. Every teacher of a high school in Ontario knows from practical experience that the presence of the two sexes in the same rooms is not prejudicial to discipline but rather the reverse. We hope to hear more discussion on this question and if the girls who are anxious to obtain a good education will only continue to pour in their applications for admission they will soon force open the doors of University College. Those of Queen's College have already been opened without hesitation.

MARKET FEES.

TEXT OF THE NEW BILL RESPECTING MARKET FEES—NATURE OF THE PROPOSED RESTRICTIONS.

The following is the text of the Bill introduced into the Ontario Legislature respecting market fees:—

Her Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:—

1. Notwithstanding anything in "The Municipal Act," or the amendments thereto, or any by law, rule or regulation of any municipality, or any usage or custom, it shall not after the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, be lawful for any municipality, or the officers or servants thereof, to impose levy, or collect a market fee upon any wheat, barley, rye, corn, oats, or upon any other grain, or upon any hay or other seed, or wool, lumber, lath, or shingles, or cordwood or other firewood, or upon dressed hogs, poultry, or cheese, or upon hay, straw, or other fodder, that may be brought to market or to the market place for sale or other disposal, or upon the person bringing, or the vehicle in which the same is or shall be brought; nor shall any fee be charged, levied, or imposed upon or in respect of butter or eggs brought to market, or upon the market place, for sale, unless a convenient and fit place in which to offer or expose the same for sale, shall be provided by the municipality which shall afford shelter in summer and shelter and reasonable protection from the cold in winter.

2. When the vendor of any merchandise, article or articles brought to market for sale, in respect of which a market fee may be imposed, proceeds directly to the place of delivery thereof, without hawking the same upon the streets or elsewhere in the municipality than at such place of delivery, and without proceeding to or upon the market place with such aforesaid goods or articles, or any of them, it shall not be lawful for any municipality, or its officers or servants, to impose, levy, or collect a market fee thereon, or from or upon the person so bringing the same to market, or of or upon the vehicle in which the same shall be brought, if such articles or merchandise shall be so brought to market in pursuance of a prior or existing contract, or if the same shall not be brought into the municipality until after the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon between the first days of April and November in any year, and after the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon between the first days of November and April in any year, and shall not be taken to or upon the market place, or hawked, offered for sale, or sold, otherwise than is in this section herein before particularly specified.

3. Nothing herein contained shall prevent a purchaser of hay or other fodder before the delivery thereof, at his option, to require that the same shall be weighed when public weigh scales are provided, and the purchaser of wood may, at his option, require the same to be measured when the municipality appoints, authorizes, or empowers a person to act as measurer.

4. No person who proceeds to and upon the market place, and exposes any of the goods in this Act mentioned for sale, shall by any by-law, rule or regulation, be required to remain with the same, or keep the same upon the said market place, before proceeding to sell the same elsewhere, between the first day of April and the first day of November in any year, later than nine o'clock in the forenoon, and between the first day of November and the first day of April in any year, later than ten o'clock in the forenoon.

5. No market fees shall be imposed by any municipality higher than those contained in the following scale:—

Upon articles brought to the market place in a vehicle drawn by 2 horses, upon which fees may be imposed, not more than	Ten cts.
Upon articles brought to the market place in a vehicle drawn by one horse, not more than	Five cts.
Upon articles brought to the market place by hand or in any basket or vessel, not more than	Two cts.
Upon or in respect of any live stock driven to or upon the market place for sale: Every horse, mare, or gelding, not more than	Ten cts.
Every head of horned cattle, not more than	Five cts.
Every sheep, calf or swine, not more than	Two cts.

And no fee shall be imposed or levied by any municipality for weighing or measuring greater than as follows:—

For weighing a load of hay	Ten cts.
For weighing slaughtered meat, or grain, or other articles exposed for sale, under one hundred pounds	Two cts.
Over one hundred pounds and up to one thousand pounds	Five cts.
Over one thousand pounds	Ten cts.
For weighing live animals; other than sheep or pigs, per head	Three cts
Sheep or pigs, if more than five, per head	One cent
If less than five, for the lot	Four cts.
For measuring a load of wood	Three cts

6. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any city, town, or incorporated village from preventing or regulating the sale by retail in the public streets, or on vacant lots adjacent thereto, of any of the articles hereinbefore mentioned which may be offered for sale, or for regulating traffic in the streets, and prevent the blocking up of the same by vehicles or otherwise, as heretofore.

7. So much of any Act or Acts, law or laws, as are contrary to or as conflict with this Act, are hereby repealed.

AN EDITOR IN LUCK.

St. Jacobs Oil cures rheumatism; of this I am convinced. For years I suffered with rheumatism in my left shoulder and right arm, and last fall I was incapable of attending to my duties, and lay many a night unable to sleep on account of terrible pains. A few weeks ago a severe attack of this trouble struck me, and this time I concluded to try the St. Jacobs Oil, I must acknowledge, with but little confidence in its merits. I freely confess that the result has completely astonished me. The first application relieved the pain very materially, and the continued use of only two bottles has completely cured me of this chronic evil, and that, after the most eminent physicians and their prescriptions had been of no avail. I therefore consider it my duty to publish the above for the benefit of all sufferers with rheumatism and kindred complaints. G. A. Heilman, Editor Republican, Pittsburg, Pa.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fourth Session—Speech from the Throne.

The fourth session of the Fourth Parliament of Canada was opened on Thursday last with the usual ceremonies and with much more than usual eclat. The Governor-General read the following:

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate; Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The hope I expressed at the close of the last session, that on the reassembling of Parliament we should be able to congratulate ourselves on a season of peace and prosperity, has been fully realized. Canada has been favoured with a year of great prosperity. Her farmers have enjoyed a plentiful harvest and remunerative prices. Her manufacturing and other industries have been and continue to be developed under favourable auspices. Her trade and commerce have been steadily increasing, and peace and order prevail within her borders. For these various blessings we cannot be sufficiently thankful to the Giver of all good things.

GENERAL GARFIELD'S ASSASSINATION.

The Chief Magistrate of the United States has been cut off by the hand of an assassin, and it is fitting that the sorrow of our people for a loss which was not that of our friends and neighbours alone, should be here adverted to as another instance of the sympathy which unites in brotherhood the British Empire and the American Republic.

THE NORTH-WEST TOUR.

During the recess I had the pleasure of visiting the Province of Manitoba and of traversing the extensive prairies of the North-West, and, from personal examination, can sincerely congratulate Canada on the possession of magnificent and fertile a region, to be inhabited, I trust, in the course of years, by millions of thriving and contented subjects of Her Majesty. The immigrants have not confined themselves to Manitoba or its vicinity, but are scattered over the country westward to the base of the Rocky Mountains, and from the international boundary to the banks of the Northern Saskatchewan. It is therefore thought that the time has come for into four or more Provisional Districts with an appropriate nomenclature. This subject will be submitted for your consideration. During my journey I was met by numerous Indian tribes, all expressing confidence in the continuance of the traditional policy of kindness and justice which has hitherto governed the aborigines. I regret, however, to say that the necessity of supplementing the food supply of the Indians still exist, and is likely to continue for some years. Every exertion has been made to settle the Indian bands on reserves and to induce them to betake themselves to the raising of cattle and cultivating the soil. These efforts have met with a fair measure of success, but we can only expect by a long continuance of patient firmness to induce these children of the prairie and forest to abandon their nomadic habits, become self-supporting, and ultimately add to the industrial wealth of the country. The influx of a white population has greatly increased the danger of collision between the settler and the red man, and in my opinion renders an augmentation of the Mounted Police a matter of urgency.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The report of the Commission appointed to investigate the existing system of the Civil Service will be laid before you, and a measure on the subject will be submitted for your consideration.

REPRESENTATION BY POPULATION.

The Decennial Census having been taken last year, the duty of reconsidering and readjusting the representation in the House of Commons is disposed upon you. A measure for the purpose will be laid before you.

MINOR LEGISLATION.

Several other measures of importance will be submitted to you. Among them will be Bills for the winding up of insolvent banks, insurance companies, and trading corporations; and for the consolidation and amendment of the laws respecting the Dominion lands; for the amendment of the Acts relating to the Supreme Court of Canada; and Bills relating to the tenure of office of the Judges of the County Courts, and to fugitive offenders within the empire; and your attention will be called to the present anomalous position of the Vice-Admiralty jurisdiction.

THE CANADA PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The work of construction on that portion of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Prince Arthur's Landing and Winnipeg is being pressed to completion, and it is confidently expected that in July next railway communication will be established between these places. The section between Rat Portage and Winnipeg, one hundred and thirty-five miles in length, has been completed, and transferred under the terms of the contract to the Canada Pacific Railway Company, by whom it is now operated. Considerable progress has been made on the Eastern Section, commencing at Callender Station, and the vigorous prosecution of the work on that portion of the line during the present year provided for. In British Columbia, the work upon the section between Savona Ferry and Emory Bar is being carried on with every prospect of its completion within the time specified in the contract, and the line from the latter place to Port Moody, which has been carefully located during the past season, is now being placed under contract with a view of its completion at the same date as the section from Savona Ferry to Emory Bar. Upon the sections to be constructed by the Railway Company, the work has been most energetically carried forward. During the past summer the road has been graded for the distance of two hundred and eighteen miles and of this one hundred and sixty-one miles are completed and open for traffic. The company have in addition graded eighty-nine miles of branch lines. I am pleased to be able to state that the traffic on the Intercolonial Railway has largely increased, and that this line was, during the last fiscal year, for the first time in its history, worked without expense to the country.

THE WELLAND CANAL.

The works on the Welland Canal were so far advanced that the waters of Lake Erie were introduced for its supply in June last, and in September the new portion of the canal between Allanburg and Port Dalhousie was opened for traffic.

TRADE WITH BRAZIL.

You will be pleased to know that a monthly line of steamers, which has been subsidized under the authority of Parliament, is now plying between the Dominion and Brazil, with good hopes of a mutually profitable trade.

THE FACTORY COMMISSION.

The report of the Royal Commission issued to inquire into the question of factory labour and into the best means of promoting the comfort and well-being of the working man and his family without undue interference with the development of our manufacturing industries will be laid before you, and I invite your earnest consideration of this report.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS AND ESTIMATES.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the last year will be laid before you. It will be satisfactory to you to find that the expenditure has been less than the revenue considerable more than the estimates of last year, leaving a surplus of over four millions of dollars. A portion of this sum has been used in the reduction of the public debt by the redemption of matured debentures bearing six per cent. interest and the remainder applied to the payment for public works chargeable to capital account. The necessity of issuing the debenture loan, authorized by Parliament for those purposes has therefore been obviated.

The estimates of the ensuing year will also be submitted, and will, I trust, be found to have been framed with due regard to economy and the efficiency of the public service.

ADIEU!

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate; Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I now invite your attention to the several subjects mentioned and to the general business which will come before you, with full confidence in your ability and patriotic desire to forward the best interests of the country.

The Commons immediately returned to their Chambers. A majority of Ministers were in their places, and the benches on each side were filled.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met on January 30th, pursuant to adjournment. The Reeve, Henry Collins, Esq., in the chair, and all the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A petition from Isaac Robinson and others, asking to have the roadway across part of the 12th concession opened up, was received, and the Reeve requested to find out the parties occupying said roadway and have them notified to remove their fences. The Reeve read a communication from Mr. A. H. Dymond, Principal of the Ontario Institution for the Blind, Brantford, drawing attention of the Council to the condition of George Doig, who is at present attending that institution, and asking assistance to purchase necessary clothing for him. On motion of Mr. Brealy, seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, $20 was granted, which the Clerk was instructed to forward to Mr. Dymond. On motion of Mr. Brownscombe, seconded by Mr. Brealy, Councillors Forster and Dobbin were appointed to inquire into the case of an old man named Timlin, and if found an object of charity to give him the required relief. By-Law 296, appointing certain township officers, received its second and third readings, was passed, signed and sealed; and By-Law 297, to appoint Pound Keepers, Fence Viewers and Overseers of Highways, was read a first time. The account of Toker & Co., for printing, &c., $20.18, and that of the Trustees of School Section No. 2, for the use of school house for municipal election, $2.00, were ordered to be paid. The Clerk was instructed to write to the Clerk of Cavan, requesting a deputation of Cavan Council to meet a deputation of North Monaghan Council at one o'clock p.m., on Thursday, Feb. 9th, to examine the bridge at Douglas' Creek, and consider what repairs are necessary thereto. On motion of Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Dobbin, the Council adjourned to meet again on Friday, the third day of March, to receive and examine the Auditors' Report, to pass a By-Law for the appointment of Pound Keepers, Fence Viewers and Overseers of Highways, and for the transaction of other township business.

ALMOST CRUSHED TO DEATH.

ACCIDENT TO MRS. E. P. HAMMOND, IN NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.

Miss Lula Bonner, of Nashville, Tenn., writes to the Times, under date Feb. 7: Mrs. E. P. Hammond was thrown from a buggy in the suberbs of Nashville just in front of an engine drawing a long train of cars. She was thrown against a cross-tie close beside the track. A man standing by pulled her off, when the engine was within five feet of crushing her to death. The horse dashed across the track, but the engine struck the buggy, tore it from the horse, and threw it high in the air. Mrs. Hammond is still suffering very much, and it remains to be seen how long before she will be up again. Rev. A. S. Parson, who was driving the frightened horse, was also much injured. Mr. Hammond has been holding evangelistic meetings here for the past five weeks. He has also conducted services in the Vanderbilt and Fiske Universities, Tennessee Central College, Baptist Institute, Medical College, and at Dr. Ward's Seminary for Young ladies.

The friends of the evangelist and his wife in Peterborough will regret to hear of the mishap to Mrs. Hammond, and will be pleased to hear of her speedy recovery.

KEEP THE FEET DRY.—This is the season of sloppy weather so productive of colds and lung troubles; neglected cold or damp feet is a great source of these difficulties. Cure your cough with Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Pleasant to take and always reliable. 7-2t

VARIETIES.

You will not be sorry for hearing before judging, for thinking before speaking, for being kind to the distressed, for being patient towards everybody, for doing good to all men, for being courteous to all, nor for using Esterbrook's Steel Pens, which are adapted for all writers.

People have no more right to become dyspeptic, and remain gloomy and miserable, than they have to take poison and commit suicide. If the stomach becomes weak and fails to perform its functions, Burdock Blood Bitters will speedily remedy the trouble. 7-2t

DESERVING OF PRAISE.—Too much cannot be expressed in favor of that unsurpassed remedy for coughs, colds, asthma, croupe, sore throat, and all lung complaints. If you suffer from neglected colds, try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. The cost is trifling, only 25 cts. 7-2t

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family liniment. Immediate relief will follow its use in all cases of pain in the stomach, bowels or side, rheumatism, colic, colds, sprains and bruises. For internal and external use. It has no equal in the world for what it is recommended. For sale by all dealers at 25c. per bottle. 7-2t

Gentleman (in want of groom)—"Well, Snaffles, your late employer gives you an excellent character, but he says you left on account of some quarrel with the other servants. How was that?" Snaffles—"Well, sir, beggin' your pardon, sir, but a 'ed groom may 'ave some feelin's, sir. An, some on 'em actualy 'ad a roomer, sir, as I was wot you might call a-makin' hup to the scull'ry maid, sir?"

No article ever attained such unbounded popularity in so short a time as Burdock Blood Bitters, and that too during the existance of countless numbers of widely advertised bitters and blood puritiers. It is evident that this medicine begins its work at once, and leaves no desirable effect unattained. 7-2t

THE CAUSES OF COLDS are getting overheated in hot rooms or crowded assemblies, sitting in a draft, or cooling too rapidly after exercise, muffling up warm and changing to lighter wrappings, cold and damp feet. No matter what is the cause Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the cure for all throat and lung diseases that induce consumption. 7-2t

A country schoolmaster thus delivered himself—"If a carpenter wants to cover a roof fifteen feet wide by thirty broad with boards five broad by twelve long, how many boards will he need?" The new boy took up his hat and made for the door. "Where are you going?" asked the master. To find a carpenter," replied the boy, "he ought to know that better than any of us fellers."

GIVEN AWAY.—We cannot help noticing the liberal offer made to all invalids and sufferers by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. You are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store, and get a trial bottle free of cost, if you are suffering with Consumption, Severe Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Hoarseness, or any affection of the Throat or Lungs. It will positively cure you.

WORTHY OF PRAISE.—As a rule we do not recommend Patent Medicines, but when we know of one that really is a public benefactor, and does positively cure, then we consider it our duty to impart that information to all. Electric Bitters are truly a most valuable medicine, and will surely cure Billiousness, Fever and Ague, Stomach, Liver and Kidney Complaints, even where all other remedies fail. We know whereof we speak, and can freely recommend them to all.—Eclectic.—Sold at fifty cents a bottle, Taylor & Macdonald agents.

CALISAYA, THE PERUVIAN or Jesuit's Bark, is the best bitter tonic we have in all febrile conditions, and in neuralgia and rheumatic pains, from weak digestion and assimilation, and, as combined in Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, forms a permanent strengthening nutritive in all used-up conditions of the system from the various causes which lead to nerve prostration. This combination is made by a process peculiar to the inventor, and there is no substitute that will do its work. 7-1t.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply 48-ly

REWARD OF INDUSTRY.

A few days ago a poor friendless lad might have been seen wandering along the streets loooking for employment. He presently halted in front of a butcher shop and walking boldly up to the proprietor asked for a job. There was something in the young man's frank, earnest countenance which struck the proprietor favorably.

"Not afraid of hard work?" he asked.

"No," responded the lad, with a tremulous voice; "I have supported my mother and two sisters for five years by hard work."

He was put on trial at $5 a week, mauling leathery beef, and his sturdy frame and healthy constitution came in good play. One day an old lady came in to get some beef, and the proprietor told him to attend to the customer.

"A tenderloin steak, if you please," said she.

"Here's a cut that nobody but the best families get," responded the boy smilingly, as he sliced off four pounds of tough round and cast it with a heavy hand on the scales, jamming it down with a quick, dexterous movement, until the indicator marked six even pounds. Then he snatched it off before the delicate machinery, used to weigh beef, had time to recoil.

"Six pounds and a half, madam," he said, looking her square in the face with his clear blue eyes.

The proprietor of the stall called him in that night, and remarking that he had watched his course carefully, added that as a reward for his quick comprehensive grasp of the business he would raise his salary to $25 a week. This shows the advantage of doing everything well, and when the boy's mother in New Jersey hears of his success there will be joy in that household. Young men starting out in life should learn to adapt themselves to their surroundings and never let an opportunity pass.

Statistics of Lunatic Asylums show that nine-tenths of their patients are brought to their condition by the abuse of the generative organs. A great brain and nerve food, known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine, is sold by all druggists, and comes highly recommended as an unfailing cure in all these diseases. PETEBBOROUGH, FEB. 16, 1882.

Protestant Home.

But few know the noble work going on in this retreat for the aged, infirm and unfortunate, and but few of those who do know exert themselves towards consummating its objects by little attentions and contributions. A few sympathetic and benevolent ladies and gentlemen have the whole labour and oversight, and on them alone fall the burden of its management. There is no more worthy charity in town which the kindly disposed and wealthy could assist. Only those who are really deserving and really unfortunate are allowed to partake of its benefits and comforts, and unlike many charitable projects, people can rely on the fact that the youthful, lazy and improvident are not being assisted in idle and careless habits. The object of the Home is to take care of and alleviate as much as possible the ills and pains of the aged, who have no friends or means of support—to watch over the infirm and decrepid, and to assuage their griefs—to lend a helping hand for the time, to unfortunate and erring girls, and to assist young women who come into town without funds or money, into situations. There are at present in the home: Mrs. Lowrey, aged 88, blind; Mrs. Whytick and husband from Westwood, suffering from paralysis and old age respectively. These had no other place to go, and were it not for such a home, would be left to starve by the wayside. Ettie Stephen, ancient: John Cave, who hails from Apsley, recovering from a bad attack of Erysipelas; W. Noble, Cavan, afflicted with paralysis of the side and leg; W. Portsmouth, town. This man takes care of Noble, although not able to do any other work. The town pays for his keep. Mrs. Labare takes care of the Home, for which she receives $8 a month. She has two children and for their board pays $4 a month. Everything in the home was as clean, neat and tidy as could be expected, and everything seemed to be done which would soften the surroundings of those afflicted. Owing to lack of means and contributions, the managers are stinted in their good work, and we hope that all who can reasonably afford, will come forward with their donations, either in specie or otherwise.

THE public accounts for 1881 show the debt of the Dominion, exclusive of note circulation, to be $178,002,918, as against $173,673,929 the previous year. The total receipts for 1881 amounted to $29,635,297, and the expenditures to $25,302,554, besides $8,176,316 on capital account. A large proportion of the public debt is now bearing only 4 per cent. interest.

The Boundary Dispute.

The true reason for Sir John Macdonald's peculiar treatment of Ontario, respecting the boundary award, has now been pretty well exposed. The award of the arbitrators was made shortly before the general election of 1878, while the Mackenzie Government were in power. In the following October, Sir John was called on to form a cabinet, and he found himself unable to do so without the assistance of Mr. Masson, the real leader of the French Conservatives of Quebec. It is no secret that Mr. Masson insisted on the repudiation of the boundary award as a condition of his taking office, and Sir John was forced to succumb. The plan adopted, after a conference amongst the leaders, was to get the whole question referred to a committee, with a view to burking the settlement formerly agreed upon. A ready tool was found in the person of Mr. S. J. Dawson, the member for Algoma, who, while he was a supporter of Mr. Mowat's Government in the Ontario Legislature, never lost an opportunity of maintaining the rights of that Province. Having obtained his committee, a mass of irrelevant testimony was collected and a report adverse to the acceptance of the award was sent in.

That Sir John is in a difficult position on the question, is evident from his growuneasiness and his anxiety to procure a means of settling it. His first proposal was to refer it to a new arbitrator, Lord Cairns or Lord Selborne. This proposal was promptly and properly rejected by the Ontario Government, who have taken their stand on the former award. The proposal was absurd on the face of it, and even if Mr. Mowat had been willing to accede to it, he had no guarantee that the Dominion Government would hold themselves bound by a new award any more than by the former one, which was the result of a compact as solemn as two high contracting parties ever entered into. The next proposal was to refer it to the Supreme Court of the Dominion, a plan still more absurd in view of the notorious disposition of that body, to decide everything it can in favor of the Dominion as against any of the Provinces. Mr. Justice Gwynne, one of the Ontario Judges in the Supreme Court, the worst offender of all in this respect, is an appointee of Sir John Macdonald's, and his natural tendency to centralization in his judgements would, to say the least of it, not be corrected by his personal relations to the Premier.

Mr. Mowat and his colleagues must continue to refuse all offers to settle the question by any new reference of any kind whatsoever. What is wanted, is that they shall treat the territory as part of Ontario, and proceed to administer justice and grant titles to the land. If any holders of titles from any other authority, are found trespassing, eject them and let them look either to the Courts or to the Dominion Government for redress. The dispute will probably come eventually before the Privy Council, but the Dominion Government and not the Ontario one, should be forced to take it to that tribunal. The probability is that the Privy Council would cut the Gordian knot by declaring the award binding on the Dominion without going into the evidence on the boundary dispute, and such a solution would be the most satisfactory we could have.

Editorial Notes.

AT a Convention of West York Reformers on Friday, Mr. Henry S. Howland was unanimously nominated to contest the constituency in the Reform interest at the next Dominion election. A committee was appointed to acquaint Mr. Howland of the decision of the convention.

THE inspection of weights and measures and gas in the Dominion continues to be a serious charge on the revenue. It appears from the annual report that while the revenue from inspection of weights and measures was $34,584, or more than double the amount of the previous year, the expenses had increased from $44,623 to $59,270, or 32 per cent. The receipts for the inspection of gas were $2,210, and the expenses $14,149.

A most successful Reform meeting was held in Norwood on Monday. The surrounding country was well represented. An association under the name of the Norwood Branch Reform Association was formed, and a thorough organization affected. There was a large number present, and the greatest unanimity and good feeling prevailed. The Reformers of this section are determined upon fighting a sturdy fight for the cause during the coming election.

IN the Private Bills Committee on Thursday a bill was discussed to enable Port Hope to incur liability for extending its water-works, and to aid the establishment of manufactures. The Committee allowed the town to contract $20,000 worth of debenture debt for water-works, but refused power to bonus the manufacturers, Mr. Frazer holding that it was wrong in principle for a municipality to grant money on the chance that manufacturing establishments would settle therein.

THE total indigent prison and asylum population in Ontario last year was as follows:

Prisoners confined in jails, prisons and reformatories	10,466
Persons in insane asylums	3,665
Deaf-mutes and blind persons in the two institutes	197
Patients in hospitals aided by Government	5,267
Indigent persons in refuges aided by Government	1,503
Inmates of orphan asylums and other charities aided by the Province	3,437
Total	24,237

These institutions cost the Province $632,924, and the revenue they produced was $92,208. This accounts for a considerable portion of the expenditure of the Ontario Government.

THE OATH'S BILL.

Hon. Oliver Mowat was waited on by a deputation from Toronto a few days ago, in respect to the Bill which he intends to introduce to the Local Legislature, for the purpose of allowing agnostics to give evidence in court. In reply to their enquiries, the Attorney-General said:—

"The subject was a difficult and delicate one to deal with. They must bear in mind that Christianity was part of the common law of the country, and he was glad it was so, and hoped it would always be so. He had no doubt Freethinkers were very good men, but they might still be better if they believed in a Supreme Being. He thought that evidence should not be excluded on account of a man's belief, and it would be for the jury to determine what the evidence was worth. Many men did not hesitate, which was very sad and absurd, to speak falsely when not sworn, whereas when they were under oath they spoke the truth. It would stand against the proper administration of justice if a man, who did not believe in a Supreme Being, was not to be asked as to the reason of his belief. He had taken great trouble in the matter, and had consulted with the Superior Court judges who were unanimous that the ends of justice would be served by altering the law as in England, and such was also the opinion of prominent citizens."

THE CAR WORKS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Our town as well as others is extremely anxious to encourage munufactories, and I find a resolution brought forward by a prominent member of the council to grant twenty thousand dollars to the proposed car manufactory. You are aware that there has been a variety of schemes submitted to the council for their approval at different times, all placed in the most glowing terms. We have been very fortunate in not having been drawn into their ideas, with the exception of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, whereby the promoters of that scheme succeeded in getting two thousand dollars from us to float their scheme. We have now a similar scheme and I think it is as well that we should consider our position and not rush into a scheme without due consideration.

In the Mail of the 9th Febuary there is an article from the town of Stratford showing that that town is anxious to promote manufactories and that they offered a free site and exemption from taxation, which they considered would be sufficient inducement for manufactories to be established there.

I would propose to do more. I would give them a free site with exemption from taxation and erect buildings according to their plans and specification, not to exceed twenty thousand dollars in land and buildings. As soon as the Co. are properly organized according to the Statute for Joint Stock Companies and ten per cent. of the required capital paid into some chartered Bank, the council could execute a lease for a number of years as in their opinion would be right. Should the town and council approve of what I have stated, it would stop a great deal of unpleasant remarks which are now afloat, and I think the ratepayers would be inclined to support a plan of this description whereby their interest would not be altogether lost, that is if the Co. should be unsuccessful, which I trust will not be the case, as we have some very good men going into the Co. and one in particular who is placed in a prominent position and could introduce the manufactures of this Co. to others who are placed in a similar position to himself, who would in all probability be glad of an opportunity of purchasing from the Co. which this gentleman has an interest in.

RATEPAYER.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, Feb. 15th, 1882.

Receipts of grain have been fair considering the state of the roads—a few days the deliveries were heavy. The price of all grain, except oats, is badly off. Spring has gone down to $1.20, at which price it closes; fall brings $1.17, and arnecta $1.00 to $1.02. Peas are coming slow, selling at about 70c. Barley slow at 55c. to 75c., the top price being 75c.; mostly selling at 70c. Oats in fair demand at 40c. Rye rather dull at 70c., receipts small. Hay $8.00 to $9.00 and rather slow sale.

ON THE MARKET.

Saturday's market was only fairly attended—the basket department showing an improvement. Eggs and butter were in better supply. Eggs brought in a retail way 20c.; in lots about 18c. Fresh butter, when good, went at 20 to 21 cents—in demand. Poultry was not in excess of demand; what was offered sold at fair prices. Some fine turkeys brought $1.00; while chickens sold from 45c. to 60c. per pair. Beef brought $6.50 for mind-quarters. Some sold at something higher—not much offering. A load of apples sold quickly at firm prices, and more were wanted. Potatos brought 55c. to 60c. a bag. Wednesday's market was poorly attended, very little of anything offering. Very little butter offered. Eggs were weaker, and sold at 17c. to 18c. Other things unchanged.

News of the Neighbourhood.

SPRINGVILLE.

The missionary meeting of the Springville Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday, the first of February. The subscriptions for the missionary cause during the past year amounted to one hundred and seventy-six dollars. This is pretty fair liberality, considering the congregation have cleared the debt on a handsome new church. The erection of a new Sunday school building is being considered.

HASTINGS.

On Saturday last over forty grain-laden teams were counted awaiting their turn to discharge their loads at the elevators; many of the teams were from the neighborhood of Peterborough, the price here being in advance of that town.

We understand that Mr. John Collins, has purchased several lots opposite the site of the new tannery on which he intends to erect an extensive abattoir in the spring.

ACCIDENT.—James Doris received a severe cut in the instep from an axe while engaged in chopping cordwood for Mr. Thos. O'Shea, of Percy.

Mr. Fowlds of Hastings is purchasing the right of way from Peterborough to Omemee.—Star.

COBOURG.

Among those who recently passed the examination required for barristers in the province of Manitoba, we notice the name of our former young townsman, Mr. J. H. D. Munson, son of A. K. Munson, Esq., of Cobourg. Mr. Munson stood fourth in a class of nine. His many friends here will wish him success in the practice of law in the Prairie Province. Mr. Munson at one time studied with D. W. Dumble, Esq., of Peterboro'.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, a little girl named Adelaide Loughi, 3 years old, met with an accident by which she sustained a fracture of the left arm.

On Monday of last week a young man named John May was taken before Mr. Haines, Police Magistrate of Bowmanville, and Messrs. Spinks and Deacon, of Cartwright, charged with the assault upon and robbery of old Mr. Burke, formerly of Cobourg, which crime was committed in Cartwright about a month ago. After hearing the evidence, the magistrate committed the prisoner for trial, and he was subsequently brought to Cobourg gaol. Mr. Burke says he is perfectly certain that May is the right man.

We regret to state that Mr. Charles Thurston, whose serious injury by the fall of a bucket in a well we recorded a fortnight ago, died on Saturday morning of last week.

PORT HOPE.

All the cars that will be used by the amalgamated Midland railway are to be painted bright yellow. Three coaches have already been turned out of the workshops here, and they certainly present a fine appearance. Owing to such a large job being undertaken, there is a "boom" among the painters now.

During the last year Mr. John Elliott, Walton street, turned out of his knitting factory nearly eight thousand pairs of hose, and over six hundred suits of underclothing.

Mr. H. V. Sanders completed his twenty-fifth year of the Town Clerkship on the 17th of last month. May the shadow of "His Jolliness" never grow less.—News.

About half-past three o'clock on Thursday a number of men were engaged at Ambrose & Winslow's new brewery on Caven street, in elevating barley. There were eighteen bags placed on the elevator platform, and it seems this was the first time it had been used with such a weight. While the men were thus engaged a young man named Jas. Stevens, who was employed as teamster by Mr. Scott, brickmaker, and who had just come along with a load of bricks, was asked by his uncle, Mr. Robertson, one of the men employed at the work, to give them a hand at the rope. He cheerfully complied, and when the elevator had got about half way to the top of the building the machinery gave way and the whole mass descended on young Stevens, killing him instantly, his neck being broken and his skull fractured. It was deemed unnecessary to hold an inquest. The deceased was nearly twenty-one years of age, and second son of Mr. Wm. Stevens, who has been in the employ of Ambrose & Winslow for a long time.—Guide.

Mr. A. D. Griffin has obtained a position as Mathematical Master in Woodstock High School, at a salary of $800. He sent in his resignation immediately upon receiving notice of his appointment, and took his departure on Saturday, we understand. The members of the School Board think they have been rather shabbily treated in the matter, and the morality of the teaching profession has been considerably lowered in their estimation in consequence.

The Georgian Bay Lumber Co. intend shipping 50,000,000 feet of lumber at Port Hope next summer.—Times.

LINDSAY.

The Reform convention at Kirkfield on Saturday was of the most satisfactory and encouraging character. The attendance was representative in every respect, and it was considered the best meeting of the kind ever held in the riding. It is clear that the Reformers of North Victoria intend to give a good account of themselves in the next general election, and there is good reason to expect that the riding can be redeemed.

The classes at the institute are increasing in interest. Much more accommodation is now available, and the class rooms are large and cheerful. The number of pupils is becoming larger, and the opportunity should be taken hold of by all young people. Mr. C. E. L. Porteous leaves for Toronto to purchase materials for use in instruction, and a number of casts and models.

Mr. S. Mether-ll, of Little Britain, brought to town on Monday, and left with Mr. James Keith, a load of alskie clover, and which netted him the handsome sum of $520. He had six acres and a half in seed, which threshed out an average of seven bushels to the acre. The sample was pronounced by good judges to be the best seed ever brought to Lindsay.

On Saturday morning a fire broke out in the roofing around the smoke-stack of Mowry's foundry, caused by the heat of the smoke-stack. It had made but little progress before it was noticed, and those employed around the buildings speedily quenched it with pails of water.—Post.

At the last regular meeting of Faithful Brethren Lodge, held on Friday evening last, W. Bro. Alex. Burton, I.P.M., was presented with a handsome past master's jewel on his retiring from the chair, which he has very ably filled for the last two years. The presentation was made by W. Bro. Wm. Milne on behalf of the lodge.—Warder.

A NEW INDUSTRY.—The Warder says that a meeting of the Council and Manufacturers' Committee was held on Tuesday to consider a proposition from Robert Sylvester to establish an agricultural implement manufactory in Lindsay. Mr. Sylvester made two proposals, namely, that he would erect buildings and machinery, worth $6,000 and employ 35 men if the town gave him a cash bonus of $5,000. In lieu of a cash bonus he would accept a free site and exemption from taxes for 21 years, if they left it to his discretion how many hands he should employ. He would also agree not to establish or have a branch of his business elsewhere. The site selected was the piece of ground in rear of the drill shed A resolution in accordance with Mr. Sylvester's request was passed, to which he attached his signature and the meeting adjourned.

PRESENTATION.—Last evening the employees of the firm of Alfred Wright & Co. called at the residence of Mr. Alfred Wright, and presented him with a solid gold headed ebony cane, on the occasion of his retiring from business.

THE CONVENT.—The Post says that a report of the expenditure made by the building committee in connection with the completion of the Loretto convent was read to the congregation of St. Mary's Church on Sunday last, from which it appeared that after the contractors and their sureties had abandoned the work they had brought a suit in the Court of Chancery against the Episcopal corporation, which resulted in a decree being made under which the building was to be completed by the Building Committee at the expense of the contractors and sureties. The amount required to do this work was about $17,000, which, with the money previously paid by the committee, made the total expenditure foot up to about $9,000 more than the contract price. This amount the sureties could be called on to pay under the decree of the court. However, the building committee believed that the sureties had already suffered considerable on the work, have forborne making any effort to collect this sum or any part of it, and the pariah will bear the burden rather than inflict a further loss on the sureties.

MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I see by your last issue that friend Johnston still clings to the delusion that has possessed him regarding our Association, and complains that I am shutting out the light he is throwing on the Institution. Well, really I have not yet seen enough of his light to cast my shadow on the wall. Then, in the very next sentence he gives himself away by saying he does not understand the subject. With this admission all who know anything of the question, and have read the insipid stuff that has dribbled from his pen, will readily agree. And yet, with the air of one having authority, he assumes in this matter to teach and enlighten the children of men. Verily his lamp requireth oil. It reminds me of the introduction Artemus Ward once gave of himself when lecturing in a certain town: "Ladies and gentlemen," said he, "I have a gigantic intellect, but, unfortunately I have left it to home on this occasion." It is now pretty well understood that the secret of Mr. J.'s opposition is all in a nut-shell; and, truly, "it is only by cracking the shell we can know what it contains." "I thank him for teaching me that word." And now we will crack the shell; and lo! here is the kernel: In organizing the Association and making the appointments there was one not included—"simply that and nothing more." 'Tis evident that reasoning with him is useless until he gets this huge beam out of his eye. I observe that he still trys to leave the impression that it is not under the auspices of the Grange. If he will refer to Dominion Grange Report of annual meeting for 1881, he will find the Association received the sanction and recommendation of that body; but, as Mr. Menzies intimates, suppose it is not a Grange institution, what of that. If it is a legal institution, doing a legal business, based on sound and satisfactory principles, what is the odds whether it belongs to any particular order or creed? Is it not not right that like the Gospel (that should not only be preached but acted) it be free to bring blessings to each and all.

The Mutual Aid, like all other institutions working under the sanction of the Dominion Grange, has been incorporated under the regular statutes of the Province. Hence, if the Grange dissolved to-morrow, those institutions, although the offspring of the order, would still exist, and of course be legal and responsible associations, continuing, as no doubt they always will, to do an honorable business. Now, as to his figures, although they are intelligible this time as to arrangement, they are misleading as to intention. I would ask him is it fair to take the death rate of one year for an example, as he has done in the case of the U. B. of Lebanon? I think the proper way to do in order to arrrive at a fair conclusion as to the results of any enterprise, is to take their work for a number of years, say ten, and if we do this in the case before us the result is certainly not so unsatisfactory. Bear in mind this association admits members to the age of 65; in ours none over 60 are admitted. The average age of the membership in the U. B. is 48—the highest of 140 associations now doing business on the assessment plan in the States and Canada. It has more old men and women, too, in proportion to its membership, than any of the rest—and of course the death rate must be high, for the old die faster than the young. Yet, notwithstanding this, it shows the following record for the first ten years and two months of its existence, which was the 30th of June, 1879:—Number of members at date, 11,729; average amount paid by members deceased, $146.63; average amount paid to beneficiaries, $1,926.26; average amount carried by each member, $1,200; yearly cost to each member, $26.84; amount of assessment on death claims, $2.65. Now, let us look at the London Masonic, of which he also speaks. Why does he take from the first of 1872 instead of 1871? Ah! that would be putting it in too honest a light to answer his purpose just then. "Oh! consistency thou art a jewel, etc." We find the record thus from the date of its organization to 30th June, 1879:—Number of members, 1,550; average amount paid by deceased members, $107.50; average amount paid to beneficiaries, $1,022.00; average amount carried by each member, $1,022.00; yearly cost of insurance to each member, $15.06; amount of assessment for death claims, $1.00. Thus, even his own witnesses testify in favor of our system, which is destined yet to be the leading system of life insurance in this country. From the reports of 136 associations doing business on the assessment plan in the United States and Canada, I find the average mortality rate is less than 9 to the 1,000, and it is a well-known fact that the mortality rate is higher in the States than in Canada. Then, Mr. Johnston boldly asserts that there is a secret we want to keep hid, namely, that for every one that dies another will get sick of it and drop out. Now, this is the culminating proof, so far, of Mr. J.'s supreme ignorance of the whole thing, for we have gone back on the experience of a century and gathered up and embodied in our plan every inducement possible to devise to get our members to remain. Their share in the disbursement every tenth year is continually dangling before careless members as an inducement for them to remain. Then there is the half-assessment plan for those who are not able to pay full rates; and every assessment must wipe out all debts, so no debts can pile up to drive members away. It is possible some may leave, but it cannot be because of any fault in the association—and one thing is certain, there is no place they can go, where they will be used any better, or get cheaper or more reliable insurance. Now, if Mr. Johnston will take up his parable and analyze our system and show wherein it is unsound, unfeasible or unworthy of support, he will do what has not yet been done, nor do I think it will be. It appeals to the noblest and best sentiments of the human soul. It presents itself not in the garb of selfishness, nor yet in the form of a charity, but as an imperative duty. "He that provideth not for his own hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel." It is a plan by which the masses may unite and, without overburdening any, carry each other over the trials under which many have sunk into hopeless ruin. Truly is it said: "He must be a bold, bad man who would cast stones in the way of the workingman." But, alas! such is "poor, erring human nature." It may be there are some among many who have lately started in life with a debt on their property, who are now considering the advisability of becoming members of the Aid, in order to make certain provision for the payment of the mortgage in case of their death. But friend Johnston tells them it is a fraud—they examine no further, and so, think no more about it. Well, in two or three years the husband and father is removed, leaving a wife with a family of small children to provide for. The mortgage, too, is left—"doing its level best, working night and day" to get their little home. What satisfaction will it be to Mr. Johnston to feel that he has been the main cause of preventing this family from being entitled to the blessing of a couple of thousand dollars from the funds of the Mutual Aid. Will he not feel like the "Old king, who's name I've somehow lost,

Who went and tore his eyes out just when he need 'em most."

Now, as to the bonds Mr. J. so exultingly sneers at, they are just what they profess to be—bonds given by the officers and directors to the amount of $60,000, and are filed with the Hon. S. C. Wood, who has taken a great deal of interest in the association, and consented to act as trustee for the members. The bonds are security for the honest and faithful carrying out of the terms of our certificates, and the honest discharge of duties by the association towards its members. Does Mr. Johnston, or those whose second-hand champion he has become, think that the officers of this association are such fools as to be guilty of attempting to foist upon the public an association such as he would have it appear to be. Can he not see that if the money was gobbled up in the way he insinuates that the very first death call would forever demoralize the association, and expose its managers to ridicule and scorn. Now, Mr. Editor, notwithstanding the silly subterfuge of this weak sophist, we shall go on enrolling our members, and honestly paying death claims when they come in, it may for a time scare a few of the timid, but in the end it will return to plague and torment the author.

Thanking you very kindly,
I am, yours, &c.,
HUGH DAVIDSON.

Smith, Feb. 1882.

SECURE INVESTMENTS.—Many are looking for fields where a higher rate can be obtained that rules in the ordinary course of business at the present day. Many who felt their age to be secure in the receipt of a fixed income owing to the low rates of interest, are now forced to curtail their expenditures. To such the Great Northwest opens up a most attractive field where small investments have brought fortunes in a brief time. Thousands have been reaped from hundreds sown, and scarce a village in the country but has some one who has prospered in these ventures. The wondrous growth of Manitoba towns is sound, for it is based on the development of the agricultural resources of the country. The "boom" is yet in its infancy, and investments made with discriminating judgment can certainly calculate on doubling within a twelvemonth. Crystal City Lots have advanced over 75 per cent in the last nine weeks, as many of the residents of London and Toronto can joyfully testify. Sale on 17th.

AT HIS AUCTION ROOMS, UNDER THE TOWN CLOCK, GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH, 200 LOTS

—IN—

"CRYSTAL CITY!"

The mere announcement of lots for sale in this, the first important point settled in Southwestern Manitoba, will be sufficient to those acquainted with the country. First, also, in population, as well as in the fertility and natural advantages of its surroundings.

By far the Largest Town in the Rock Lake District.

Surveyed in 1880, it is no prospective town, but is a thriving place—a large business being done. Churches, Schools, Mills, Registry Office, Stores, and every essential to supplying the wants of a thickly populated section. The town site is the property of but one proprietor (Thos. Greenway, Esq., M.P.P.,) and his faith in the future of Crystal City is such that the proceeds of this, as well as of former sales, will be employed in fostering every legitimate industry and building up the town.

A REBATE OF FIFTY PER CENT.

of purchase money to those who construct medium-priced brick or frame buildings within twelve months from sale. Within 6 months lots have advanced over 200 per cent., and with early Railway facilities this is but an intimation.

OVER FORTY BUILDINGS NOW UNDER CONTRACT FOR EARLY SPRING COMPLETION.

As to the eligibility of investing, we refer intending purchasers to anyone acquainted with the Province, or to the shrewdness of speculators in Manitoba town property. The mere fact that over 7000 letters were posted at this office in one quarter will convey a partial idea of the volume of business done, as well as the population of the district.

No extended description of this point is required, for the merit of its natural advantages caused its survey. It has grown to its important position by its merits, and will be sold on the same.

HOLMAN LIVER PAD CO.,

DEAR SIRS,—For nearly three years I was troubled with my stomach and a torpid liver. I was almost constantly using medicine of various kinds, but received no permanent benefit whatever. After reading Dr. Fairchild's lecture in March last, I procured a Holman Liver Pad in Toronto. I found it beneficial at once, and have not taken any medicine since. I now have good health, and have no hesitancy in recommending it to all who may be similarly afflicted.

THE LOVE OF AN HONEST MAN.

There's many a thing that the maidens wish
As they journey along in life.
As they take their part in the busy world,
And share in its cares and strife;
Perhaps they wish for a cosy house,
With furniture quick and neat—
But to crown the whole they covet the most
For the love of an honest man.

Yes, pretty maidens, where'er you are,
In palace or humble cot,
Whether your life is fair and bright,
Or trial and toil your lot,
Whether your name is Flora May,
Or homely Mary Ann,
You will be in luck if you win that love
The love of an honest man.

O, a maiden may prize her diamond set,
Or dresses of latest style;
Or inhabit a house of costly build,
With carpets or velvet pile;
But the greatest blessing to woman's life—
Let her gain it while now she can—
From her golden locks, to her silver hairs,
Is the love of an honest man.

THE DAIRY CONVENTION.

SUMMARY OF THE DISCUSSION AT WOODSTOCK LAST WEEK.

As mentioned last week, the fifth annual convention of the Western Dairy association was held at woodstock on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd instant. There was a fair representation of those interested in dairying, and a good many topics of interest were discussed, of which a summary will be found below:

COST OF PRODUCING MILK.

Hon. Harris Lewis, of Herkimer county, N.Y., thought that the cost of producing milk could be reduced. The herd should be carefully weeded out by weighing the product of each animal. He believed that much could be done by liberal feeding, much by careful selection of the herd, and still more by improving the breed of cattle. He believed it was better for the dairyman to breed his own cows. Animals so raised were acquainted with the herd, acquainted with the pasture range, and thoroughly acclimated. He did not want to be understood as expressing a desire to reduce the price of butter and cheese. The prices of these products were quite low enough, but he wanted to see butter and cheese produced from cheaper milk.

THE A. B. C. OF DAIRYING.

Rev. W. F. Clarke read a paper on this subject. The great secret of success, he said, was to weed out the poor cows. He strongly advised the improvement of the native breed by the use of thoroughbred short horn bulls. The true business way of going to work was for dairymen to raise their own cows. Raising calves for veal was not profitable, but there was no way of making money faster than to raise a cow that in two or three years would be worth from $50 to $60 for beef or milk. Referring to manure, he said the only way to get a sufficient supply for our farms was to abandon grain-growing and go in for stock-raising. He condemned the reckless waste of manure now so common, and advocated the practice of more rigid economy. The exposure of manure heaps to the sun and air was a fruitful source of waste, by the evaporation of volatile gases by the sun, and the dilution and carrying away of the soluble elements by the rain. It was necessary, therefore, to house the manure, and this could be effectively done by means of a rough board shed. The better management of pasture lands, the proper seeding down of land, the making the calf an independent feeder at as early an age as possible, were all essentials in breeding stock. He advocated the seeding down of every field with clover at regular periods as the best method of keeping up the fertility of dairy farms. As to ensilage, his opinion was that it was doubtful whether it could be depended upon as the exclusive food of any animal. As an adjunct to ordinary food it was, no doubt, useful. The ensilage had been found to injure the quality of the milk.

ENSILAGE.

Mr. Tilson, of Tilsonburg, gave the result of his experience with feeding ensilage. His farm, he said, was of a sandy soil, requiring a good deal of manure yearly. He had built a silo last summer on account of his farm being so well adapted for corn. He dug a pit 9 feet deep and raised the wall to 14 feet, and made the outside measurement 24 by 34 feet; partitioned off a hall about 5 feet square, and made the walls 2 feet thick. It cost $900 altogether. He planted corn in rows for the silo, and when it was well out in silk he cut and put it in the silo. He had it well trodden down by four men, and got seventy tons in one of the compartments; he then placed boards on the top and covered the whole with clay In December last he found the ensilage in good condition, and fed it to his stock. He was feeding his young steers altogether on ensilage, and next season he would be able to calculate the result of the experiment. He found the ensilage had cost him $1.44 per ton, exclusive of interest on the land. He contended that two tons of ensilage was equal to one ton of hay. There was a slight alcoholic smell when the pit was opened but after the ensilage had been exposed to the air the smell left it. He took his ensilage from the bottom of the silo, but in future thought he would take from the top and work downwards. He gave his animals about sixty pounds of ensilage a day to each animal.

Prof Willard said some of the farmers in his vicinity merely dug pits, which cost about twenty-five dollars, and put in the corn whole. This was a cheap way of trying the experiment. This ensilage was cut a foot in length and fed to the cows.

Prof. Arnold said that careful examinations in France had shown that ensilage lost about one-half its nutritive qualities when in the silo for about six months; in the first place by the action of the air, a little of which would find its way through the silo, and by the capillary attraction through the earth of the soluble nutrition of the corn. The air was more perfectly excluded in the case of canned fruit, and there was consequently no fermentation. He could make no comparison between the feeding qualities of hay and corn, because the nutriment of the corn being in a liquid state was more readily assimilated than the dry hay. By analysis, however, one pound of hay was said to be equal to eight pounds of ensilaged corn. It was, however, said that 25 pounds of hay were equal to 125 pounds of turnips, but the results did not give anything like this proportion, because the turnip food being liquid, was so much better and quicker assimilated than the nutriment contained in a dry form in the hay.

DAIRY KNOWLEDGE.

In the course of an address on "modes of acquiring dairy knowledge," Professor Arnold advocated the visits of professors from factory to factory, or from farm to farm, as a most valuable means of imparting information; the demand for scientific knowledge would demand the establishment of technical schools, and he recommended that at future exhibitions of cheese practical dairymen should be given an opportunity of examining and testing the exhibits.

SCIENCE OF DAIRYING.

Hon. X. A. Willard delivered one of his scholarly addresses on the progress of dairy science and the methods for obtaining improved dairy products, describing at considerable length the processes of cheese and butter making in foreign countries.

FOOD FOR MILCH COWS.

Mr. L. Wetherall, Boston, read a paper on the above subject. Referring to ensilage he remarked that many who had been in the habit of boasting of the value of that kind of food really fed as much meal along with it as others who wintered their animals entirely on the latter. He strove to strongly impress upon his hearers the importance of keeping animals warm in winter. Heat was to a great extent a substitute for food. Two swarms of bees wintered in one hive would not consume nearly as much honey as they would if wintered in separate hives. That farmer who said he wintered his fat stock —comfortable looking cattle—on "pine boards" understood the value of warmth and complete shelter as a substitute for excessive feeding. To secure highly meritorious food for cattle it was necessary that the land upon which it was grown should be rich or well manured. The method of curing grass was an important element in producing cattle feed. Hay was often exposed too long after cutting and allowed to dry up and deteriorate in character. If grass was cut free from dew, as it could be with a mowing machine, one day's exposure to the drying sun was quite enough for it. Early cut grass was more nutritious than that which had been allowed to approach more nearly to maturity. Indian corn made excellent forage if cut early either for soiling, ensilage, or for curing for winter use. Ensilage was to be looked upon as a method of preserving corn fodder. Ensilage could best be fed with corn meal, but its acidity was prejudicial to its usefulness as fooder. He would put the dairy product and the poultry product together and he would not attach to them more importance than to the production of fat cattle and sheep.

MILKING QUALITIES OF DAIRY COWS.

Prof Roberts, of Cornell University, delivered the closing address to the convention. He set out with a discussion of the science of breeding and perpetuating the milking qualities of dairy cows. He thought it was easy enough to breed beef-producing animals, but it was very difficult to establish and maintain a breed of milk producing cows. After pointing out that thus far the efforts at improving the breed of our milch cows had been comparative failures, he said that farmers had been in the habit of rasing the calves of the best milking cows without reference to the character of the bull breeding. Breeding from young, immature parents could not be to strongly condemned. Another cause of failure had arisen from neglect to supply both the dam and the calf with good, succulent food at a critical period. At present the statistics showed that throughout the United States the average cow was very far from being what she should be. The balance on the ledger would be against them if the cost of everything used in handling their products were taken into account. To change this it would be necessary to improve the system of feeding and improve the character of the cows employed for dairy purposes. It could not be to strongly impressed upon dairymen that either immature or superannuated animals were unfit to produce good calves, no matter how good such parents might have been in full vigor.

The usual votes of thanks brought the Convention to a close.

FOR FARMERS.

Oats grown on clay land make the best meal, keep longest and bring the highest price.

Some dairymen estimate that buttermilk is worth one-quarter to one-half more, and others twice as much as skim milk.

Now is the time to build and paint your farm gates, so that they will be ready for immediate use when the proper time arrives.

When a farmer neglects or refuses co-operation with his brother farmers he strikes a blow at the advancement of his class, and becomes his own worst enemy.

One dollar's worth of food when the cow is dry is worth $1.50 after she comes in. An animal in poor condition cannot digest as much food as one in good condition.

Professor Riley says that the heat and drought of the past summer have killed off the Hessian fly, and that immunity from its attacks may be expected for some years to come.

If ewes suffer from an excess of milk or inflammation of the udder on account of weakness or loss of the lambs, the milk should be drawn either by hand or by substituting an orphan lamb.

Do not forget to blanket your horses when standing in the street in cold weather. Horses recently clipped and blanketed in the stable should not be allowed to stand in the street uncovered.

Merino ewes that have been to Cotswold bucks will bring forth lambs that will require copious nourishment. The Merino mother is a small sheep. Such a cross needs the watchful eye of the farmer.

California papers report the very best prospects for agricultural work during the present year. There has been a very large increase in acreage, and a revival of interest in every branch of the live stock business.

The breeder who can bring to notice a breed of fowls that will eat potato bugs has a fortune in his hands. They are a desirable want on all potato fields. Bugs are usually plenty. Where is the breed of fowls that will devour them?

The various trades and occupations depend in a greater or less degree upon the farmer for success in their different callings, and where will you find the professional man, the merchant, artisan or mechanic who can say he does not measure his success or failure, in a greater or less degree, by the prosperity or adversity of the farming community.

To make good butter in winter it is essential that the cream should not stand too long before being churned. The temperature of the cream when placed in the churn should not be lower than 60°, nor higher than 62°. Sixty degrees, when the churn is warmed by hot water in the winter, or cooled in the summer, is the proper temperature, and the result will be satisfactory.

The new idea among the farmers in the neighborhood of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, of sowing wheat and oats together, and separating the grain by means of fanning mills, has proved especially profitable this year. By the combination one protects the other, keeping off the insects and killing out the weeds, which are so annoying when the grains are grown separate.

DRY EARTH FOR BEDDING.

If any one will observe when the cows choose to lie down in the yard or pasture, it will be seen that they choose the bare ground, rather than the sod or bedding of straw. The same is true of sheep. We have taken this hint and furnished our cow stables with dry earth bedding. Leaves and straw are poor absorbents in comparison. In the pig-pens dry earth has no equal. In very cold weather we add straw or leaves; but until the weather is very cold, the animals will be very comfortable with a bed of fresh soil, or soil changed once in a fortnight or week. In the chicken-house we have learned its great value as a deodorizer. Our roosts are over a slooping floor, on which we occasionally scatter dry earth. The droppings fall down on a pile of dry earth. This is turned over with a shovel each week or oftener, and we can say the chicken-house is free from any offensive odor, and the bright combs and glossy feathers tell of the health of the fowls. Dry earth is a good preventive, too, of vermin on cattle, hogs and poultry. It must be procured in a dry time, and stored under a shed or in the stable. It not only promotes neatness or health, but saves the very elements of the manures which makes them most valuable, and most of which would evaporate if not absorbed by the dry earth. We do not like it as a bedding in the horse stables, but it should be found in every stable, to sprinkle the floor with as soon as the bedding is removed in the morning. When removed from the stables, styles and coops, it should be kept under cover for spring use, or for drilling with the wheat in the fall.

FOOD RATION FOR MILK.

Hay is not rich enough in protein for the production of good milk; the addition of roots only makes the matter worse; cornmeal, while improving the ration somewhat, cannot alone with hay make it what it should be. The best ration is not, of course, necessarily precisely the same for all cows and for all conditions; that which would be profitable feeding in one case, might not be so in another. But for a guide to work by until we have one that is proved to be better, we may as well take standard rations given on the high authority of Emil Wolff, and based on the results of careful experiments, even if we shall not in this way be led to the best results; it will be better than no guide at all, in trying new methods of feeding and supplementing the fodder produced at home, by importations without. By this standard a cow in milk should have, per day and per 1,000 pounds live weight, twenty-four pounds of organic matter or vegetable substance estimated as perfectly dry, containing two and a-half pounds of protein, four-tenths of a pound of fat, and twelve and a-half pounds carbohydrates, all reckoned as digestible, that is to say, all fodder contains some indigestible protein, fat, carbohydrates, and other matters, but these are counted out in the make-up of rations.

FORCING RHUBARD.

Outside of places where there are professional gardeners, the forcing of vegetables is very little known in this country. People in general are content with "things in their season," and do not trouble themselves to force or retard. Perhaps the easiest vegetable to force is rhubarb; and by taking a little trouble, material for pies and sauce may be had some weeks in advance of the supply from the open ground. The things needed are clumps of rhubarb roots, soil, and a dark, warm place. The roots should be dug before the ground freezes, but in most places there is usually an "open spell" this month when it may be done. As fine rhubarb as we ever saw was forced in a barrel or cask; the roots packed in on a layer of soil and surrounded by it, the cask covered tight, and set near the furnace in the cellar. A box to hold the roots, and set in a cupboard or closet in the kitchen will answer; or a box or barrel may be placed in the kitchen. Keep moderately warm, and see that the roots are sufficiently moist. A few roots will give an astonishingly abundant supply, much more tender and crisp and less violently sour than the out-door crop.

HEALTHFULNESS OF MILK.

If any one wishes to grow fleshy, a pint of milk taken on retiring at night will soon cover the scrawniest bones. Although we see a good many fleshy persons nowadays, there are a great many lean and lank ones, who sigh for the fashionable measures of plumpness, and who would be vastly inproved in health and appearance could their figures be rounded with good solid flesh. Nothing is more coveted by a thin women than a full figure, and nothing will so raise the ire and provoke the scandal of the "clipper-build" as the consciousness of plumpness in a rival. In a case of fever and summer complaints milk is now given with excellent results. The idea that milk is feverish has exploded, and it is now the physician's great reliance in bringing through typhoid patients, or those in too low a state to be nourished by solid food. It is a mistake to scrimp the milk pitcher. Take more milk and buy less meat. Look to your milk-man; have large-sized and well-filled milk pitchers on the table each meal, and you will have sound flesh and save doctors' bills.—Housekeeper.

WITHOUT CAPITAL.

It is bad beginning business without capital. It is hard marketing with empty pockets. We want a nest-egg, for hens will lay where there are eggs already. It is true you must bake with the flour you have, but if the sack is empty, it might be quite as well not to set up for a baker. Making bricks without straw is easy enough compared with making money when you have none to start with. You, young gentlemen, stay as a journeyman a little longer, till you have saved a few pounds; fly when your wings have feathers; but if you try it too soon, you will be like the young rook that broke its neck through trying to fly before it was fledged. Every minnow wants to be a whale, but it is prudent to be a little fish while you have but little water; when your pond becomes the sea, then swell as much as you like. Trading without a capital is like building a house without bricks, making a fire without sticks, burning candles without wicks; it leads men into tricks, and lands them in a fix.—"John Ploughman" (Spurgeon.)

THE SMALL-POX.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR VACCINATION

Dr. John C. Peters, of New York, has made the experiment of substituting tartar emetic for vaccine, says the Herald of that city. Some years ago a physician in Berlin claimed to have inoculated thirty persons with the lymph from tartar emetic pustules, and afterward to have exposed them to small-pox, which, in spite of such exposure, they did not contract and seemed proof against. There was then an epidemic of small-pox in New York, and good vaccine was exceedingly difficult to procure. Dr. Peters, therefore, treated fifteen or twenty persons in this manner, but, not having as much confidence in it as in vaccination, revaccinated all these persons as soon as vaccine, in the effect of which he could fully trust, could be obtained. The theory of the Berlin physician was that the resemblance between the tartar emetic and small-pox and vaccie pustules was so great that the former could be substituted for the latter. When tartar emetic is retained in contact with the skin by being mixed with fat or some adhesive substance, it first produces redness, and afterwards pustules, which closely resemble those of small-pox, and they form scabs and leave pitted scars like those following vaccination. The eruption is usually mature on the fourth or fifth day, and the lymph from it should be taken earlier, say on the third day. Persons who are very fearful of contamination, either from calves or human beings, may have a tartar emetic pustules raised upon one of their own arms and the lymph from this may be inoculated, upon the other. If there is any truth in the above theory, this would make them doubly safe against small-pox varioloid, and their own constitution would alone be the blame of any severe inflammation or accident which might arise. The tartar ametic ointment excites a characteristic eruption —first papular, that vesicular, and last pustular. The rash runs the course of the eruption of small-pox, and in each stage simulates it very closely. If used, the lymph should be taken while the eruption is vesicular and before it becomes pustular.

ORIGIN OF NAMES IN THE WEEK.

In the museum at Berlin, in the hall devoted to Northern antiquities, they have the representations from the idols from which the names of the days of the week are derived. From the idol of the suns comes Sunday. This idol is represented with his face like the sun, holding a burning wheel, with both hands on his breast, signifying his course round the world. The idol of the moon, from which comes Monday, is habited in a coat, like a man, but holding the moon in his hands. Tuisco, from which comes Tuesday, was one of the most ancient and popular gods of the Germans, and represented in his garments of skin, according to their peculiar manner of clothing; the third day of the week was dedicated to his worship. Woden, from which comes Wednesday, was a valiant prince among the saxons. His image was prayed to for victory. Thor, from whence comes Thursday, is seated in a bed with twelve stars over his head, holding a sceptre in his hand. Friga, from whence we have Friday, is represented with a drawn sword in his right hand, and a bow in his left. Seater, from whence is Saturday, has the appearance of perfect wretchedness. He is thin-visaged, long-haired, with a long beard. He carries a pail of water in his right hand, wherein are fruits and flowers.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & CO., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & CO.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,

I remain Gentlemen,

SANDERSON'S

CROOKED WAYS.

Like a good many other young men, —and women too, for that matter,—I was once badly afflicted with cacoethes scribendi. Of course greater evils might have befallen me; I might have been cursed with a passion for whiskey or gambling; but still, my cacoethes scribendi was serious enough. During my college days the symptoms showed themselves plainly; but the malady did not really assume its true and awful proportions until I had taken my degree. Then, forsooth, it fastened upon me like a leech, and before many months had elapsed it over-mastered me completely. In accordance with my mother's wish, I went to Dundas, ostensibly to read law with my uncle, but it was a mere pretence of law-reading, for the mornings that I ought to have spent over Blackstone were devoted to the composition of a novel and the afternoons to the polishing of some poems. Uncle Dick shook his head gravely and remonstrated, sometimes in sadness and sometimes in anger.

"That scribbling will never amount to anything," he would say contemptuously. This was hard to bear; but my lofty aspirations sustained me, and, firm in my belief or ultimate success, I scribbled on and ever, and bombarded all the magazines in the country with my manuscripts. The magazines did not open their columns to me, and I fell back at last upon the weekly newspapers, and especially upon the Boston Weekly Pallidium. That journal printed my essays and a certain assistant editor, whose initials were "F. B. S.," sent me polite notes from time to time. It was something to see my productions in print; it would have been more had these productions once in a while brought in a cheek. But they never did; they elicited only polite notes from F. B. S. Finally, I wrote a letter to the assistant editor upon the subject and by return post I received a reply. It was sent to my private box at the post office, but, to my great amusement, was directed to "Jane Bell," instead of "John." My handwriting was not very distinct, and perhaps a trifle feminine, and the signature, upon which I rather prided myself, certainly left it an open question whether John or Jane was meant. The note, too, began,—

"Miss Bell,—In reply to your question, I would say that this journal pays its regular corps of writers. We are glad to receive your articles, and perhaps later may make adequate compensation therefor; but as a young writer, it will be wiser for you to think at present only of securing a foothold. You have an excellent chance of success in the end; but much patience is necessary at the outset.

"Please say whether I shall direct future communications to Jane Bell, Miss Bell, or Mrs. Bell. At present I do not venture to give you any title.

"Very truly yours,

"F. B. Screven."

This letter at once amused and piqued me. It was pleasant and rather encouraging, but it was plain the writer set me down as an impecunious young woman, whereas I had a very fair income of my own and was a six-foot moustached specimen of masculinity. The idea of playing the roll of Miss Jane Bell, tickled my fancy, and therefore, giving my imagination free rein, upon the spur of the moment I sad down and wrote as follows:

F. B. Screven,—At present I also am in a quandry, for I do not know whether I ought to address you as Madame, Monsier or Mademoiselle. The last title, is mine just now, although of course I feel at liberty to change it when I choose, or rather when the proper opportunity offers itself. Perhaps matrimony would be a more profitable speculation than literature. Do not, however, suppose I am dependent upon my pen for my bread and butter. In this case, I fear the butter would be very thin indeed. No, the fates have given me the most of the luxuries of life; but those, of course, do not satisfy me. The reason why I wrote as I did about payment for my articles was simply because I thought if they were good enough to be published they were good enough to be paid for. It seems I was mistaken; but, to show you that I take your advice, I send you another essay. I will at least try to secure a foothold, and pray that greater success may follow.

"I am, dear Madame, Monsieur, or Mademoiselle Screven,

"Sincerely yours,

"Jane Bell."

Laughing in my sleeve, I sent this communication off, and planned that, if the assistant editor sent me a friendly reply, I would open a correspondence in my role of Miss Jane Bell and fool F. B. Screven as never a man had been fooled before. Judge then of my dismay when I received a letter in what I knew was Screven's writing, but not written on office paper, and signed Frances Bertram Screven. A woman, by Jove! I exclaimed there and then in the post-office, whereat a small boy who was standing nigh, nearly swallowed in astonishment the postage-stamp he was licking. I thrust the letter in my pocket and did not read it till I was safely at home. Thus the missive ran:

"Dear Miss Bell,—Your piquet letter prompts me to write you a reply, not as an assistant editor, but as a woman like yourself, who is toiling up the steep path that leads to Parnassus. I might have known you were a woman and a young one at that, because, although there is a touch of masculine strength in your essays and poems, still there is, too a sweetness that is only feminine. I think that women more often have this flavour of masculinity than men have anything of that tenderness which is purely feminine. Were I in a position of authority I should very soon dismiss the cut-and-dried hack writers, whose contributions, although smooth and polished, lack the freshness, the spontaneity, which is characteristic of the contributions we sometimes receive from unknown writers, and notably from you. But, you see I am merely an assistant editor, and a person of no consequence at all, except as I am useful to do the work, all the glory of which goes to the distinguished individuals whose names are emblazoned at the head of the paper. There! that sounds bitter, I am afraid; but my dear Miss Bell, the fates have not been so kind to me as to you, and it is not for fame I write, but for the wherewithal to keep me fed and clothed. What makes it perhaps harder is that I have known what it is to have my bread and butter fresh and sweet,—aye, and honey with it too—and therefore the thin slices that are doled out to me now taste the drier by comparison.

"Forgive me for boring you with so much about myself. Pray write to me again. Your luxurious stationery, with faint, delicate perfume pervading it, is in itself a delight.

"Sincerely yours,

"Miss Frances Bertram Screven."

As I read this letter I felt myself a scoundrel. My first impulse was to write a letter of confession to Miss Screven; but the desire to keep up the correspondence and try my hand at composing letters that should be sweetly feminine overcame my scruples, and I sent off the following reply:

"Dear Miss Screven,—Instead of boring me, the glimpse you gave me of your life interested me more than I can tell. But at the same time, the contrast between your life and mine made me envious. Perhaps your lot is a hard one, but it is at least brave and independent. Here am I, an only daughter, petted and spoiled to a shameful degree, and bound by fetters of luxury. Yes, I envy you. Sitting here this morning in my silly pink curtained boudoir, with a Dresden shepherdess simpering at me from the top of my escritoire, I feel my idle luxurious life hemming me and overpowering me, as the perfume of tube-roses make heavy and sickening the atmosphere of a room that should be flung open to the fresh air and sunshine. I would change places to-day if I could."

When I reached this point of my letter I read over approvingly what I had written. Arrived at the lines descriptive of my imaginary boudoir, I smiled as my glances fell upon a boot-jack in one corner and the shaving apparatus in another. Glancing at the place where the Dresden shepherdess ought to have been, my eye fell instead upon a pipe which I took down and filled, and then resumed my writing with considerable complacency:

"This may sound to you rather schoolgirlish, and I may as well confess that it is not many years—perhaps months would be more accurate, since I left the precints of a finishing school. Finishing school, indeed! Much I learned there besides the art of doing up hair! However, the defects of my education I must remedy myself, and try every day to devote a few hours to serious study. But it is very hard to seclude myself long enough to accomplish anything. People call; I must go to garden parties; I must drive out with my mother; I must hold solemn conclave with the milliner and dress-maker; in short, I have constant demands of a frivolous nature upon my time.

"All this you will probably laugh at; and, lest I write more foolishly, I will bring this letter to a close. If you are not quite disgusted with me, do write again soon.

"Faithfully yours,

"Jane Bell."

I may as well confess that I thought this letter a successful imitation of some of the epistles I had myself received from feminine hands. It sounded enthusiastic and very "missish," and I sent it off that afternoon with a bold heart.

"Jack," quoth my uncle, who met me as I came from the post-office. "I verily believe you are making an ass of yourself over some girl. I don't believe it is the muses you are courting; it is no muse, it is a miss. And with this he passed on chuckling at his own wit.

As the days passed on, however, my uncle's words seemed in a fair way to prove true. I thought only of Miss Screven. My novel I left untouched, and my rhymning dictionary accumulated dust slowly, but surely. Fled was my visions of astonishing the world with my genius. I lived only for the mails from Boston.

As I re-read the letters I received from Miss Screven, I can make some excuse for my infatuation. They were frank and outspoken, and sometimes, indeed, tinged with cynicism, but through them there breathed a sympathy, a tenderness that touches me even now as I read them over. Finally, at my solicitation, she sent me her photograph, which showed her to be a regular-featured, large-eyed woman, of rather a serious cast of countenance indeed, but with a lurking smile in her mouth that I could not but confess was a large one. She was not a beauty, I saw that, but she had an earnest, interesting face, that grew upon me every day.

Little by little I gave myself up to thoughts of her by day, and dreams of her by night. Her letters I awaited with a feverish impatience, and if one were delayed I was in a torment. I made no excuse for my tolly, dear sir or madam; but pray do not forget that I was only 21 then, and had fed myself plentifully with novels and poetry. And this was my first love! Coventry. Patmore says in one of his poems:

Well, heaven be thanked, my first love fail-ed,
As, heaven be thanked, all first loves do!

This was a sentiment I could not echo, for at that time it seemed to me that if I were separated from my fair unseen sweetheart my life would be stale, flat and unprofitable.

The correspondence was kept up all the summer and autumn; but in December there befell what was to me an awful calamity. Miss Screven did not write. I sent imploring letter after letter, but no response gladdened me.

"Has she jilted you?" said Uncle Dick heartlessly, when he noted my pale face. In truth, I could not eat or sleep; I was consumed with fear and anxiety. What could have befallen her.

I endured it for ten days, and then I packed my satchel and went to Boston. Bah! what a day it was when I arrived! It had snowed a little and then a thin cold rain began to drizzle down despairing. The weather suited me better than the garish splendor of the hotel, and I wandered forth that evening, half unconsciously wending my way to the street in which Miss Screven boarded. I found myself opposite the house. From an upper window a light struggled faintly between her closed shutters and thrilled me through and through. Perhaps she was there, ill and alone, unheard for save by the mercenary servant. I went up to the steps and rang the bell. A slip of a girl opened the door to me, and I handed her my card, saying mechanically, ask Miss Screven if she will see me."

I trusted that the name John Bell would perhaps lead her to suppose that I was a cousin or the father of her friend.

The slip of a servant maid looked at the card and then looked at me. "Frances Screven?" she said interrogatively.

"Yes," I replied. Then I took the card, ran my pencil through the engraved name, and scrawled my illegible signature below it. The servant took the card again and skurried away, leaving me standing there in the cold dark entry. It was several minutes before she re-appeared, and then it was only to say in a sing song tone, "Three flights up first door to the right." I went up the three flights and rapped at the first door to the right. A voice called out, "Come in." I entered a medium sized, plainly furnished room that was redolent of tobacco, with which was mingled a faint smell of whiskey. There were two arm chairs, a large table, covered with a faded cloth, and an old fashioned horse hair lounge, from which, as I entered, a young man rose. He was thin and hollow eyed, and a beard of several day's growth, made him look, to say the least, unkept. "Mr. Bell, I presume," he said, offering me his hand and then drawing up a chair for me. "I have called to see Miss Screven," said I. "Have you indeed?" he replied in a sasty, sneering way. It flashed through me at once. It was her husband. She had deceived me! May I ask if you are any relation to Miss Jane Bell, of Dundas, Washington County, New York, post office box 462?" he continued, in the same sneering way. I stattered and stammered, tried to lie, and nearly choked myself to death. I wanted to be diplomatic; I wanted to shield her from his anger. "Who the devil are you, anyway?" he exclaimed. I—I am John Bell," I answered; "and I have called to see your sister. Is she ill?" "I haven't any sister," said he nonchalantly, "that is, I am my own sister, and she has just escaped pneumonia." The truth flashed upon me. "You are an imposter, sir!" I exclaimed. "Your sister doesn't think so," said he complacently. "I haven't any sister," said I, in my turn. He wheeled sharply about: Who is Miss Bell, then?" "I am all the Miss Bell that exists," I answered grimly. "What!" he exclaimed; "You the petted darling who wanted to be a poet and an essayist and the Lord only knows what all? You the only child of wealthy parents? You the lovely creature who sits in a pink boudoir and writes verses with a gold pen and perfumed paper?" "Yes," said I desperately. Screven dropped into a chair and roared. "A sell all round!" said he, and then he laughed until he cried, while I quitely stole away back to the hotel, a sadder but a wiser man.

The symptoms increased alarmingly, and so reduced was I that I could walk but a few steps without resting to recover from the pain and fatigue which so alight an exertion occasioned. A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN

On the Loss of

MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE EXAMINER.—On and after the 1st of March next, four cents will be charged for single copies of the EXAMINER, at the office of publication and at the bookstores.

REMOVAL.—As will be noticed by a card in our advertising columns, Dr. Burnham has removed his office from Bank Street to his new and handsome residence on the corner of Water and Mcdonel Streets.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 48-tf.

PAROCHIAL ASSOCIATION.—The last of the present series of Entertainments held in St. Luke's School room, Ashburnham, took place on Monday last. The number in attendance was little short of two hundred, and the programme was as usual, very attractive. Another year this entertainment must be held in a larger place if possible.

TABLEAUX, PANTOMIME & CHARADES.—An entertainment of this nature will be held in the Opera House to-night, commencing at 8 o'clock. The programme, we understand, is an exceedingly interesting one, and as the proceeds are for St. Luke's Parsonage Fund, we hope the attendance will be large. Admission—25 cents, Reserved seats, 10 cents extra.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS.—Messrs. Foy & Campbell, ginger ale and soda water manufacturers, have disposed of their entire plant and business to Mr. C. E. Starr, a former partner of Mr. Foy's in the same business. Mr. Campbell leaves next week for Manitoba, and we understand it is Mr. Foy's intention also to follow in a short time.

INCREASE OF SALARY.—We are pleased to see that the Government, recognizing the worth of Mr. Robt. Romaine, in the position which he holds in charge of the Stationery Department of the House of Commons, Ottawa, has increased his salary from $1000 to $14000. Mr. Romaine is a thoroughly practical man, and is just the right man in the right place, and will save more to the Government than his increase amounts to, through his careful supervision. Competent officials in Government as well as private employ, are cheaper at good salaries than incompetants at a mere bagattelle.

CRYSTAL CITY LOTS. This town is located in the garden of Manitoba, and unquestionably as the railway is extended, the same increase in values will take place as at Portage and Brandon. These towns encountered the nervous timidity of capital and overcame it, and now men are paying tenfold for property that six months ago they rejected as unworthy. This constant rise in value is a source of wonderment to those but imperfectly acquainted with the country, but with knowledge comes confidence, and everyone who has invested has gained by every hand. We hear of thousands made on small investments 12 months ago, and the fact is plain that the capabilities of the Great Northwest are only becoming known to us. Sale on the 17th.

BOYS AND GIRLS.—If you want the best and cheapest young folks' paper in the United States,, subscribe for "THE YOUNG FOLKS CIRCLE," an eight page illustrated paper, published at Cleveland, O; only 35 cents a year, and you get a present of two pictures, one of which is worth more than the price of the paper for a year. The paper is published by an old and reliable Cleveland firm and you are sure to be fairly dealt with. If you send them the names and addresses of 10 children under 13 years of age they will send you a fine picture of President Garfield and family, the house where he was born and home at Mentor. Sample Copy Free. Address "THE YOUNG FOLKS CIRCLE," Cleveland, O.

THE NEW DRY GOODS FIRM of Turnbull & Gray, having got through with the confusion and hurry of opening out their new stock in the store formerly occupied by Munro & Alexander, now make their bow to the public and announce the receipt of an immense stock of new spring goods, purchased from leading houses and with the greatest care. Both members of the firm are well up in their business and thoroughly understand the requirements of the people of the town and vicinity, and have made their purchases accordingly. Their stock is very attractive, of the latest designs and textures, and having been bought on reasonable terms, will be sold at lowest living rates. Those favouring the new firm with their patronage, are promised the best value for their money, as they are determined to establish a reputation of selling on small margins. We bespeak for them a fair share of our reader's patronage.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday morning the relatives of Mr. George Fitzgerald, (formerly of the township of Smith, and well known throughout this county,) were shocked upon receiving the intelligence by telegram of his death. It is only a few weeks ago since Mr. Fitzgerald removed from Smith to the county of Essex, where it appears, from the scant information procurable, he was taken down by malaria fever, to which he succumbed on Tuesday night. His remains are expected upon the noon train to-day.

THE CAR WORKS DEPUTATION.—On Thursday last, His Worship Mayor Smith and Mr. J. R. Stratton, at the request of the Town Council, had an interview with Mr. Mowat relative to obtaining the necessary legislation to permit the town to take stock in the proposed car works. They were cordially received by the Attorney-General, who promised to give the matter his consideration, and consult with his colleagues to see if the request of the town could be complied with.

MIDLAND AMALGAMATION.—The Midland Amalgamation Bill came up before the Railway Committee on Tuesday morning, a large number of railroad men and representatives of interested municipalities being present. The measure was opposed on behalf of the interests of Lindsay and Belleville, but it was proposed to insert clauses for the regulation of freight rates by which the vested rights of localities which have bonused the various roads included, in order to secure competition, will be preserved. A number of clauses were adopted, several remaining over until yesterday, when the consideration of the Bill was resumed.

CURLING.—On Friday evening last, a friendly game took place here, between two rinks of the Lindsay and Peterboro' Clubs. Play commenced at 7.30 o'clock and lasted till midnight. At its conclusion Peterborough came off victorious by seventeen points. The following is the score:—

The lodge in general is in a very prosperous condition, both as regards membership and finance, and is progressing favorably in membership each night of meeting, so much so that the lodge will find it necessary shortly to procure more seating accommodation. As the lodge dues are low, candidates are taking advantage of the same and seeking admission.

ONTARIO DIRECTORY. We have just received a copy of Lovell's Business and Professional Directory of the Province of Ontario for 1882. It is a book of between 1,400 and 1,500 pages, containing an alphabetically arranged list of places, names, businesses and professions in Ontario, and a classified business directory of the city of Montreal. It also contains a short historical sketch of the several provinces of the Dominion, and Newfoundland; customs and excise tariff, with list of warehouseing ports; postal guide and list of post offices; railway and steamboat routes; newspaper and periodical directory; a review of the trade and commerce of the Dominion; a list of the banks, telegraph offices, educational institutions, with a variety of information regarding legal matters and the public departments. The publishers have evidently taken great care in having all the information accurate and reliable. It is work which every business man and merchant should have, and as the price is placed at the moderate figure of $6.00, we believe very few will be without it.

IN THEIR NEW PREMISES.—Through the liberal advertising done during the past few months by Messrs. Munro & Alexander, we presume there are very few in the town and county of Peterboro' who are not aware that this enterprising firm have removed to their new premises, three doors north of their old stand. The shop which was formerly occupied by Mr. George Stethem, has been entirely refitted under their own supervision, and for compactness and convenience is unsurpassed by any in town. The millinery show room is on the ground flour, at the rear of the store and is excellently lighted, and when fully furnished and fitted up, the work of which is now being pushed rapidly ahead, will bear comparison with any institution of the kind in this district. This firm by energy, enterprise and careful attention to the wants of their customers, have in the short time they have been in business worked up a trade far beyond their most sanguine expectations, and in their new premises they are determined to earn increased patronage, and shall endeavor at all times to meet the requirements of the public. They are now daily receiving large shipments of choice goods in dress material and millinery and invite all their customers and the public generally to inspect their new stock which is unusually rich, well assorted and being offered at prices as low as reliable goods can be sold at.

PERSONAL.

Mr. F. A. Hilton has been appointed a Notary Public in and for the Province of Ontario.

Messrs. Harry Long, (of Long Bros.) and R. Nimmo left on Tuesday for a trip to Manitoba.

The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Incumbent of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, officiated at St. George's Church, Oshawa, on Sunday last.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Joseph Craig, of Walkerston, for many years connected with the EXAMINER and Review offices, has passed a successful examination in the special class of excise men.

Mr. D. Tempest, an assistant in the Secretary's office of the Midland Railway here, left for Winnipeg on Friday evening last, to accept a position in the Canada Pacific Railway offices. He was entertained by a number of his friends, previous to his departure, at a supper at Darcey's Hotel.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Village Council was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday evening the 13th instant. The Reeve, R. C. Strickland, in the chair. Present,—Councillors Hill and Cox. Minutes of last regular and special meetings read and adopted. An account from the Review office of $10.55 was received, and on motion of Councillor Hill, seconded by Councillor Cox, it was ordered to be paid. There being no other business before the Council, Councillor Hill moved, seconded by Councillor Cox, —That this Council do now adjourn, to meet on the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

UPSET.

On Sunday, a young man from Peterboro, came up with his girl for a drive, and while here, the young lady invited two of her female friends to go out with her for an airing. All went well for a time, until she undertook to show how well she could drive, and as they turned the corner of the Midland House, the buggy took a swing and upset the three fair ones into the mud, the horse also going down. Fortunately, no more damage was done than to feathers and finery, and a few cuts and scratches on the unfortunate horse.

BRIDGE.

The workmen engaged on the iron bridge, are making good headway, and if this fine weather continues, will soon get it into position. The ferry continues to be well patronized, from 125 to 175 teams and 300 to 400 foot passengers are taken over every day.

COUNCIL ELECTION.

Word has been received that the Court in Toronto has ordered a mandamus to issue to the Village Clerk, to hold a new election for the vacant councillorship; it has not yet been received, but is expected every day, and the election will most likely be held on Monday, 6th March.

BUSINESS.

Business is very dull in the village; what, with no snow and the bridge being down, trade of all kinds is at a standstill. The main roads in the country are very bad as the late rain has taken the frost out and left 6 to 8 inches of mud. As long as the roads were hard, some wood, &c., was brought in on wagons, but it is useless to expect any now, and those without will have to beg, borrow or steal to keep going until snow comes, if it does again this winter.

WESTWARD HO!

"The star of empire glitters in the west," at least so think several of our citizens, as they are preparing to take their departure to the Prairie Province. Mr. C. Payton and Mr. G. Domen leave the first of next month and others will follow in April.

QUERY.

If any of the school children fall in the pond of water in front of Mr. C. Payton's residence and are drowned, who will be responsible? The council for allowing it to exist, or the children's parents for not providing them with life preservers?

LIVERY.

No less than four persons have taken out livery stable licenses this year. Our inhabitants are either developing sporting tastes or else the want of train accommodation is having its effect in the increased demand for the means of keeping up business relations with our county town.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield School Board was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening the 14th inst. Mr. G. J. Galvin in the chair. Present,—Messrs. Sanders, Isbister, Cox, Wilson and Dr. Caldwell. Minutes of last meeting read and on motion adopted. The school report for the month of January from Mr. Shearer, head master, was received. The following accounts were received and on motion of Mr. Sanders, seconded by Mr. Isbister, were ordered to be paid:—T. J. Bird, School supplies $8.21; W. H. Casement, postage, telegraphing &c., $2.60; Review, printing, $1.00; C. Payton, work at school, $5.95; W. H. Casement, Returning officer, $4.00; total $19.76.

Moved by Mr. Sanders, seconded by Mr. Wilson,—That the Managing Committee with the Chairman and Dr. Caldwell, be a committee to investigate into the conditions of the drain and well in the school ground and report at the next meeting.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Isbister, seconded by Mr. Cox,—That this board do now adjourn to meet again at the call of the Chairman.—Carried.

LAKEFIELD.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—As the correspondent of the Review has been from time to time writing of sorrowing, of excitement, of amusement, and of amazement on the part of "the people of Lakefield"; and also of "sad and painful disgust" of "many lovers of fair play" all in connection with our municipal elections, etc., it seems to me that the representations are not only silly and absurb, but that they smack strongly of one who feels more than a public interest in the affairs of our village.

As we may be considered either a very queer people, or represented by a queer correspondent, it may be well to clear away the "clouds" which "obscure the plain facts" and assert that we, "the people of Lakefield," are in most respects similar to other people. The correspondent of the Review, though assuming to speak for the people, to guard their interests and to even think for them, seems to me, judging from his correspondence, to be rather a poor specimen of a representative man, and seems, in his last effort, to have become completely muddled in the "clouds" which he discovered and therefore very much "obscured" in his explanations.

Some time since he announced that the defeat of a candidate, by a large majority, was generally regretted in the village. This may be a paradox which our esteemed friend can, without doubt, easily explain.

Then we have "considerable excitement" over the circulation of a petition, in favor of the separation of the offices of Clerk and Treasurer. As this was only a modest and reasonable request, even if an unnecessary one, and as the office of treasurer was filled at one time by a very capable gentleman for nothing, a gentleman who later only got twenty dollars a year and now only ten, it is sufficient to "amaze the people of Lakefield" that there should be any excitement unless no man else could be found, sufficiently capable and honorable, to fill this important office. It should be beneath the dignity of an interested party to become "wrathy" or even excited over ten dollars per annum, and why a disinterested party should become so, is still in the "clouds" of obscurity.

Mr. J. C. Sherin, in one issue of the Review, is represented as saying, that in a certain editorial it was stated that the frauds in Belleville and Brockville were caused by the union of the two offices. Mr. J. C. S. in the next issue denies that he said so and asserts that he was misrepresented by the said Reviewer, who now admits that Mr. J. C. S., at the Council meeting, said he did not know whether the frauds took place before or after said editorial, proving conclusively that Mr. J. C. S. did not connect the editorial with some fact that he did not know had taken place at the time the article was written. The Reviewer seems to be in the clouds, that is, if he is denying the misrepresentation.

He seems more misty than ever in explaining the contested election. Mr. Hull, being a license Commissioner, was a candidate from the 26th Dec., 1881 to the 2nd Jan., 1882 when he was elected. The Reviewer writing on the 3rd Feb, states that this is "just now the cause of a good deal of excitement." How did it take from the 26th Dec., 1881 till the 3rd Feb., 1882, to cause the excitement? I fail to comprehend that he has succeeded in placing the matter very clear to any one not conversant with the facts. "The plain facts," I believe are these:—Mr. Hull was nominated on the 26th Dec., 1881, without his knowledge; he resigned his license commissionership and had his resignation accepted on the 31st Dec. and was elected by a majority of over forty of the ratepayers, "of the people of Lakefield," on the 2nd Jan., 1882.

Now, it is quite evident he kept the spirit of the law and could only be unseated by taking advantage of a technical point of law which would be for a judge to decide. But our correspondent, who assumes to be lawyer, judge and jury, decides that the seat "legally and honestly" belongs to another. "The people of Lakefield" seem to be at a discount. One question for this would-be-judge. If the election of Mr. Hull had not been contested would he (Mr. H.) be legally or illegally a councillor to-day? I believe morally and in accordance with the spirit of the law Mr. H. was duly elected councillor.

I now come to the sad and painful part of the correspondence. A few tears here would complete the melancholy sketch of the writer. "Many lovers of fair play were sadly pained and disgusted" at Mr. H.'s conduct. We will allow Mr. H. to defend himself for creating so sad and painful a sensation, and ask how many "lovers of fair play" were sadly pained and disgusted at gentlemen sitting at the Council board, in this village, before, though they knew that they were unqualified according to law? Perhaps the "clouds" intervene just here! I would also like to know if it is in the public interest that a returning officer should act as his own deputy and pocket the fees?

And how does he know that the newly-appointed assessor is the most "fearless" man in Lakefield? Is it by experience? How does he know that he has the most "independent and sound judgment" of any one living in Lakefield? The people of L. should feel highly flattered by the compliment, and must surely feel grateful for the information. "Let equal-handed justice prevail." So be it, say we.

Mr. W. J. Wallace, in the Review of the 3rd instant, denies that there is any analogy between the office of Sec'y-Treas. of the Lakefield Skating Rink and that of Clerk and Treasurer of the village, and states that he was not aware of certain other facts, etc.

The correspondent of the Review assumes to reply, and refers to the letter as "remarkable"; then writes further on that it is "simple and straightforward." It therefore must be "truthful"; and if simple, straightforward and truthful, why is it remarkable? Does he mean that the writer "hardly ever" speaks the truth? And is this why he considers it unnecessary to answer the objection raised by Mr. W. The correspondent is here playing the lawyer again by evading the real point in question, and working up a side issue. And in speaking of the same gentleman he says that he "has only been a tool used by designing men." If so, why, in the name of common sense, does he accuse him of "vindictiveness." This seems to us more "remarkable" than logical.

We have never heard Mr. J. C. Sherin spoken of before as a man of "leisure," but on the contrary, as one who has attended closely and successfully to his own business, which is a compliment which cannot be paid to all business men. In conclusion we would like to ask what "creed" or shade of politics has been denied "equal-handed justice" at our Division Court. This is a question which concerns the public, who would, no doubt, like to assist in making the Court what it "ought to be." Hoping that the correspondent of the Review, in his own interests, in the interests of the public and of the paper he represents, may become one of the "lovers of fair play," and thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space,

I am,
Yours respectfully,
ON-LOOKER.

Feb. 13th, 1882.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM WHITLA.

Another resident of Otonabee has gone to another shore, leaving behind him a name respected by all. Wm. Whitla was the son of the late Captain Whitla, and came out from the county of Antrim, Ireland, to Canada in 1830, being then only 13 years of age. Only a few months ago he lost his two daughters and now after only a few days illness, he himself is gathered home to his forefathers. He was 65 years of age. He leaves a widow and three sons who have the sympathy of all in their sudden bereavement.

ROBERT GIRVEN.

On Sunday last, Otonabee lost another of its old landmarks in the person of Robert Girven. He died at the residence of his brother, James Girven; being 85 years old. He emigrated from Fermanagh, Ireland, in 1824, and settled in Otonabee, continuing there till his demise. His wife died prior to his coming to this country and he never again married. In religion, he was a Bible Christian; in politics, a liberal; and in ordinary life, an honest and upright man.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The Ottawa Free Press of Thursday, last says:—"Mr. A. White, General Passenger Agent of the Midland Railway, is in the city on business connected with the Grand Junction Railway postal service. Heretofore the local mail service between Belleville and Peterborough has been conducted by stage, involving delays of between six and ten hours in the delivery of mails. We understand that this morning arrangements were definitely completed to use the railway for the transmission of mails between Belleville and Peterborough and all local points on the Grand Junction Railway."

In a former issue we stated that Mr. H. J. Beemer, of Montreal, would in all probability be the party to whom the contract for the construction of the link between here and Omemee would be awarded. Since then the contract has been finally let to him, and work will be commenced at an early day. Two large steam shovels will be used where the heaviest cuts are to be made. The estimated cost of the work will be over $300,000.

OTTAWA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE GREAT SOCIAL EVENT

that has moved and agitated society people for some time past came off during the week. I, of course, allude to the state ball, or rather balls, given on Tuesday and Thursday nights of last week. As the "Vice Regal" establishment is too small to accommodate at one time all the eligibles that have been duly registered, the Aid-de-Camps, who regulate these matters, divide the company, taking the alphabet as a basis—thus all whose names commence with A. to M. were invited for Tuesday; those from N. to Z. for Thursday night. Rideau Hall is a rambling, patched-up kind of an establishment, and is altogether a mistake, and a pretty expensive mistake, too. The situation is bad, too far off, making it inconvenient, and expensive to get at. As our Governor-Generals have not, as a rule, resided in the Capital during the summer months a winter residence was what was wanted, and had that been built on the Major Hill grounds—a splendid situation—a palace might have been put up, in keeping with the other buildings, and a large sum saved to the Government besides. Even yet this change should be made. Every person here, resident, or who comes here in the winter, would vote for it. Every person? Well, hardly; the Ottawa cabmen would oppose it. These unequalled sharks—in their line, in this country—will yet make the pressure so heavy that they will help to bring about the change.

THE BALLS WERE BRILLIANT AFFAIRS,

as will be seen by the daily press. Perhaps some of your readers may be curious to know how the newspaper reporters get the exteded descriptions of the ladies' toilets that they do. Well, I suppose it will not be any harm to let out the secret, so I will tell. They first ascertain who have been invited, and then they send them a polite printed circular note, requesting a description to be sent in by the lady, herself. Of course the ladies, as a rule, respond, and the lists are made up and published.

POLITICAL.

Politics can hardly be said to have run high in the way of excitement during the week. The Parliamentary sittings have been short and principally devoted to asking questions and calling for returns, covering all manner of things done and and left undone. These are, of course, intended for the public information and as a basis of attack by the Opposition, bye-and-bye, on the Government. The question that bids fair to create the greatest discussion and the warmest feeling the question of disallowance of Provincial legislation. Each Province feels the danger, and—Ontario more especially—see that if their legislation is to be interfered with by a Government that is going to live in the future, if it lives at all, by the grace of the French Tories of the Province of Quebec, that it follows that their legislative acts must meet the approval of these said Tories or it will not be allowed. That these men are capable of doing outrageous things let the Letellier business witness, and what they have done in the past they will be ready to do again should occasion offer.

THE FINANCIAL EXHIBIT OF ONTARIO

is the source of great worry to them—the comparison between the financial position of Ontario and Quebec is so much in favor of Ontario, even after they have given away such large sums to railway enterprises, and are maintaining most efficiently educational establishments and public charities not surpassed in the world. Your Quebec Tory does not like to contemplate these things, and he is at all times ready to take down Ontario, or make his servant, Sir John, do it. Then your Quebec Tory is such a modest man, and has such clear ideas about justice—is so punctillious about asking for one jot or tittle more than he would be fairly entitled to. The prospects of the Dominion would be gloomy indeed if there was no prospect of getting rid of his dominancy. Thank heaven, there is in the North-West, if in no other way. And this is the hope of our country. There until this baneful influence is curbed. It has been pampered by Sir John Macdonald as a return for the life it gave him, and it has been felt to be very oppressive many times in the past history of Canada, and will be again if the Government are allowed to push this disallowance too far. When opportunity offers, the Quebec Tories will be ready to take advantage of any precedent that is made. Let the action and vote of every Ontario man be closely watched and measured, that justice may be meeted out to him in the time to come—next summer or fall. During the week, the

SHOULD BE NO PEACE

DOMINION TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE

Council has been in session, and the proceedings were of an interesting character. The gathering opened by a luncheon, given by the Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city to the delegates, in the basement of the Dominion Methodist Church. It was a very enjoyable affair. At the convention many subjects of interest to temperance men were ably discussed, notably the beer and light wine question, and the position that temperance men should take at election times. I was rather amused at the position taken by an ancient Senator. He said he would put the question to his political friend and ask him if he would support temperance legislation? If he said no, then he would not vote for him. The Senator was asked if he would vote for the other man—presumely a Grit—if he was sound on the temperance question. He said no, he would not vote at all. So party was paramount with the Senator. Not so with a western man, who said at once that he never had given a Grit vote in his life, but he would vote for the most rabid of Grits under such circumstances. The gathering culminated in a public meeting in the Dominion Church. The meeting was large. The platform was representative and very capable. Mr. Houghy, from the Maritime Provinces, and Senator Girard from Manitoba, were on the stand, and both made short but excellent speeches. It must be a cheering sight for temperance people to see the dignitaries of the Roman Catholic, Anglican, and other Christin churches going hand in hand in this cause. Laymen are not always safe to follow the lead of the clergy in all things, but they will endorse them fully in this movement. I kept the mention of the great "lion" that the Alliance had brought to Ottawa until the last., I allude to

GENERAL NEAL DOW,

the father of the Maine law. They called him General, but he is very far from being a bloody-minded looking man. Quite otherwise. He has a mild, benevolent look that takes you at once. You can see that he is the style of man "bon-adam" commended as being a lover of his fellow-man. At the public meeting he made a speech—in fact, the speech; in which he showed most conclusively that this cry of the enemy, that there was more drinking than ever in Maine, was utterly false. The facts given by the General were so conclusive that every intelligent man could see that the allegation made by the dram-drinking sympathisers was, as he characterised it, a "lie." He showed that the Maine law had elevated the people of Maine in every way. That from a money point of view they had gained—by saving—immensely. That in the old rum days broken-down barns and fences, with the broken glass of the farm house stopped up with an old hat, was the rule. Now it is decidedly the exception. All over the country things have improved. And as a crowning demonstration that the principles of the Maine law were fixed in the minds of the people and fully endorsed by them, he showed us that the politicians, who are keen to scent the popular sentiment, all went for the law, and it was fully recognised down there that for any party to introduce a resolution in their platform freeing the license system, or any departure from the Maine law, meant political death. Take it altogether

TEMPERANCE MEN CAN TAKE COURAGE.

They have vastly improved the habits of society, during even the past ten years. Men living, and yet young, can remember when the man that would not drink in the social circles of society was voted a bear and a bore—a kind of a "crank." Now all this is changed; and a man can even be a society man and yet not touch wine or spirits. This is making great strides, and gives good hope for the time to come.

AS LENT COMMENCES

in a few days there will be a let-up in the entertainments where dancing comes in. The heavy dinner business will be in order, with a rubber of whist to wind up for one branch of society, and tea-drinking and social chatting intercourse for another branch, commonly known as serious people. But I find I have about spoiled my compliment of paper, for this week.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FALL IN COAL OIL.

A serious fall in coal oil occurred here on Saturday last. A teamster conveyed a cargo of seven barrels to Mr. Gould here on that day from Hastings, and had reached the latter's premises, when his horses suddenly took fright, and dashed out of the yard with the seven barrels, steered down Colborne street at a tremendous pace, till the vehicle came in contact with a telegraph pole, when the load came to grief. The barrels were scattered hither and thither, one of which burst, the contents oiling the road and contaminating the sweet and placid waters of the mighty river Ouse, the fish thereof, not liking the oder of the oil, leaving for purer waters. Quite a number of gaffers, taking advantage of the unlooked for spill, hastily took up a supply of oil to last them for some time to come. However, the team was captured, and the remaining barrels conveyed to their destination without further mishap.

ORANGE MEETING.

At the annual meeting of East Peterborough County Orange Lodge, held in the True Blue Orange hall, on Tuesday, the 7th inst., the following brethren were elected officers for the current year:—D. McFarlane, County Master; R. Bonar, Dep.-Master; J. Bonar, Chaplain; A. W. Dale, Secretary; Chas. Stephenson, Treasurer; A. Smith, D. of C.; Thos. McIntyre, Lecturer,; A. R. Anderson and W. H. Stephenson, Auditors. It was decided at this meeting that each District should celebrate the coming 12th of July as each decided it was most convenient to do.

CHANGED HANDS.

The grist mill belonging to Mr. James Cummings in this village, and recently built by him, has been purchased by Mr. N. B. Gould, our pioneer merchant, who never makes a miss in any of his business transactions, and certainly will not in this one. He will run the mill to its utmost capacity, and will cause a good market to be opened here for the purchase of all kinds of grain, a mart very much needed in our community, and one which the enterprise of Mr. Gould will make good use of.

MISSIONARY SERVICES.

Very large congregations attended the Methodist church here on Sunday morning and evening, when the Rev. Mr. Shaw, of Peterborough, delivered two eloquent and impressive sermons. This being his first visit here, he was surprised to meet such large congregations in a small inland village and he carried away with him a favourable impression of the moral status of this part of his ministerial circuit.

MILITARY.

The Canada Gazette of the 4th instant, publishes the following among the Military General Order items, which will be of interest to your eastern readers:—57th Battalion of Infantry, "Peterborough Rangers." No. 4 Company, Keene. To be Captain: Lieutenant Richard Everitt Birdsall, G. S. I., from No. 5 Company, vice Marshall M. P. Dean, deceased. No. 5 Company, Norwood. To be Lieutenant, provisionally: Sergeant Frederick Holles Brennan, vice Birdsall, promoted in No. 4 Company.

POLITICAL.

On Monday afternoon last, a meeting of the Norwood Reform Association—embracing a part of Dummer, two divisions of Asphodel and the village of Norwood—was held in the Town Hall here. There was a fair attendance, and a very harmonious feeling prevailed the meeting. Of course, it was resolved that there was to be an end of Toryism in this Riding, and to put the shoulder to the wheel to reverse the verdict of '78. The following appointments were made:—Timothy Murphy, President; W. E. Roxburgh, Vice-President; John Clark, Secretary; P. W. Reynolds, Treasurer. Executive Committee.—No. 1 Ward, Dummer.—Jas. Morrison, Chas. Nicoll and W. G. Pattyson. No. 2, Asphodel.—Thos. O'Shea, L. Londrigan and H. Drain. No. 3, Asphodel.—Geo. Elliott, Chas. Buck and Thos. Rork. Norwood.—Thos. Fraser, Hiram Reynolds, M. Nicoll and Jas. Raddon.

VALENTINE DAY.

Cupid's darts were scattered broadcast here on the 14th, and gave infinite pleasure or unlimited disgust to the recipient. Some very beautiful specimens of these love-messages passed through our post office for damsels fair and blooming in our village, and it is well known that Norwood possesses not a few of these charming ones.

WEDDING BELLS

chimed on Wednesday last at the residence of Mr. John P. Brown, of Asphodel, when Miss Laura, daughter of Mr. Brown, was united by hymenial bonds to Mr. George Howson, son of Mr. Thos. Howson, also of that township. The nuptial knot was happily tied by the Rev. M. Sanderson, after which a very large number of invited guests partook of tea and enjoyed a few hours together, as time can only be enjoyed on occasions of this kind.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A Public meeting is called by the Reeve for Monday evening next, for the purpose of taking an expression of the ratepayers on the propriety of purchasing a plot of ground for a public park and for agricultural exhibition purposes. It is intended that the corporation purchase the required grounds and the agricultural societies interested provide the necessary buildings and fencing. Public opinion is pretty well decided upon this subject, and it is now to say whether the villagers will give this acquiescence.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting of the ratepayers of Norwood was held on Monday evening, to consider the advisability of purchasing a plot of ground for public and agricultural purposes. The meeting was largely attended, and considerable interest was manifested on the subject. The merits of the question was discussed pro and con at some length, and a lively debate not very parliamentary either adduced some far stretched points from some of the speakers. However, the settlement of the question hinged upon the sole idea of purchasing suitable grounds for the annual exhibitions of agricultural societies held here, as it was desirable that Norwood shows continue to receive the patronage of the Riding and local societies. The idea of providing a public park for the village is looked upon with contempt by many, as our municipal exchequer will not yet permit us to enjoy such a great luxury. The meeting however, expressed itself in favor of purchasing the ground, and resolutions were unanimously passed authorizing the council to take the necessary steps to effect this object.

MORE SNOW.

Another instalment of snow the largest of the season—fell here on Tuesday last, and was joyfully welcomed by all. It was very much needed, as travel was dangerous on account of the rough state of the roads and there was a great prospect of a wood famine in our village.

POLITICAL.

There is to be another political powwow here next Thursday, this time in the Conservative interest. The faithful are summoned from different parts of the Riding. It is expected that Mr. Burnham, M. P., of the constituency, will be present.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

The revival services continue in the Methodist church here, the meetings being nightly attended by large numbers from the village and neighborhood. Much good is no doubt resulting from those services, and the interest in them is steadily on the increase.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The ice on the lake and river is becoming somewhat dangerous for teams, although some people are foolish enough to travel over it. Fishing is rather poor as yet this season.

Mr. Joseph Elmhurst met with a serious and painful accident on Friday evening, the 17th inst. It seems that the horse which he was driving, being a young and spirited animal, gave a quick start on coming through the gate from his own residence, and broke the whiffletree of the sulky in which he was riding, and as soon as the horse became detached from the sulky it capsized backwards, and threw Mr. Elmhurst with such violence on the ground as to fracture the cap of his knee.

The Sabbath School Convention for the East Riding of the County of Peterborough took place in the Presbyterian church here, on Wednesday afternoon, the 16th inst. Owing to the state of the roads there was not as large an attendance of delegates as might have been expected, still, there was quite a number from a distance and a good spirit was manifested throughout the whole of the proceedings. On the second day a mass meeting of the Sabbath School Scholars in the afternoon, also a large gathering of those interested in Sabbath School work, until the church was filled to overflowing. The children were addressed by Mr. Pentland, of Peterborough, and Dr. Harrison, of Keene.

THE LATE MR. MARLING.

Mr. S. A. Marling, M.A., Inspector of High Schools, and whose place of residence is at Rosedale, died very suddenly on Sunday night. It is understood he attended Charles-street Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, of which he was an elder. Not feeling very well in the evening he remained at home, and the other members of the family went without him. On their return they were shocked and pained to find that Mr. Marling had died in their absence.

Mr. Marling was a gentleman widely known and much respected. He was a graduate of Toronto University, was gold medalist in classics, and was examiner in classics for several years. He has left a family to mourn his loss. He has a son a missionary in Africa. Rev. Mr. Marling, formerly of Bond-street Congregational Church here, and now of Brooklyn, is a brother of deceased, as is also Mr. Alex. Marling, Secretary Education Department.

Much sympathy is felt for the family in their sudden bereavement.

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 23, 1882.

Chili and Peru.

The recent statement as respects Chilian affairs made by ex-Secretary Blaine has drawn attention to the condition of matters between that country and unfortunate Peru. We can readily understand Mr. Blaine's pity for Peru. While he is of opinion that the seizure of its valuable and wealth-producing territory leaves the country poor and worthless, it is not because of this his regrets are utttered. To understand the sympathy of the United States we must go back and study the causes which led to the war, and contemplate the present condition of affairs. Very recently the Chilian Secretary for Foreign Affairs has issued a note to foreign governments, designed to remove misapprehensions and to set forth in an interesting way the story of the disagreement with Peru. It is spoken of as an exceedingly clever document, and though necessarily a piece of special pleading, doubtless we may gather from it a fair idea of the situation, by carefully reading between the lines. Be it remembered that Peru is, perhaps, the richest country on the globe in natural wealth. The nitrate deposits of the Province of Tarapaca are worth thirty or forty million dollars a year, while the Lobos Islands are exceedingly rich in guano deposits. Besides these great natural deposits there exists extensive gold and silver mines. These sources of wealth, and especially the nitrate, originally led to the war. The citizens of Chili, having more money and enterprise than the Peruvians, began to work the nitrate deposits. This was previous to the year 1873, when the guano deposits were somewhat exhausted. Peru, finding herself, through public extravagance and official peculation, in need of money, confiscated the works and made nitrate a government monopoly, as guano had been. This would have been all very well, had it not occurred that very valuable nitrate beds lay on the strip of sea coast owned by Bolivia, which the Peruvians also desired to control, and which were, for working purposes, in the hands of the Chilians. Now, the Bolivians have always been easily managed by Peru, so it was decided, at Peruvian instigation, that an export duty should be placed on the nitrate, and thus a large revenue would be secured to the country at the expense of the Chilian traders. But Bolivia had stupidly entered into a treaty to guarantee the possession of these deposits to Chilian citizens. When, therefore, Chili protested, the works were confiscated and sold to Peru under cover of a sale to an American contractor. Then the war began, and the result is that the deposits in Bolivia, and a large district in Peru besides, are in the hands of their enemies. Peru is plunged into a frightful debt, amounting in the aggregate to two hundred and fifty million dollars. Even her future existence as a nation is doubtful; she has been despoiled of her rich natural deposits; her President has fled the country; she has no army, no treasury, no civil service, and the general who acts as dictator supports himself and his retainers by plunder. In the days of her affluence, when her revenue was enormous, Peru spent extravagant sums on railways, and by a course of blundering and folly became steeped in corruption and debt. At this very time Chili was improving her navy going in for fighting gear instead of railways so that the opening of the war found her in possession of an excellent fleet of iron-clad vessels and other war materials of the best description, purchased in England. Her soldiers marched to Peru, clad in uniforms of English cloth, with English muskets on their shoulders, and backed, Blaine says, by English sympathy, if not by English aid. The result is that Chili's victory throws the whole Peruvian business into English channels. The export of guano and nitrate amounts to 700,000 tons per annum, and engages 800 ships in the trade. The bankers, the merchants, the ships, the traders are all controlled by English capital and influence, so that American interests, commercially and otherwise, so far as Chili is concerned, are dead and buried. This is the real cause of Blaine's ostensible sympathy for Peru, and it is this prospect of bloodless victory on England's part which he calls upon his countrymen to contemplate. Could it be shown in any way that England acted wrongfully or stepped beyond the bounds of prudence in absorbing the commerce of Chili, we would soon have a stronger manifest on the part of the United States, and a repetition, if possible, of the demand for indemnity as in the case of the Alabama. Of course we cannot as a nation uphold Chili's case altogether. Their demands, we believe, are excessive. They argue they are entitled to an indemnity, and as they cannot get money, they must take land. And so they propose to take the land which lies between the Sierras and the sea—a distance of 220 miles—the very land which contains the guano and nitrate deposits, and which would, because of its situation, command the country, forming an impregnable military frontier. But surely even a weak and conquered country has a right to its own existence and national limits. Does public or national morality recognize the right of conquest, the right of the strongest to seize the property of a weaker neighbor? Is might, right? Doubtless Chili deserves indemnity. This all will concede. But she might and ought to be content merely to occupy the territory in dispute in security for payment. Peru should certainly obtain credit for whatever difference exists between the royalty on minerals and the cost of administration, and to have this sum applied in reduction of the money indemnity claimed by Chili. In appealing to civilized nations let Chili show a just moderation in her victory, and she will have a better right to class herself among such nations in future. An opportunity now exists by which she can prove that she is merciful as well as successful, for by her treatment of her conquered foe she will be judged, not by England only, but by the world. It is proposed to have this whole question discussed at a congress of the American powers. This method is practicable and has many precedents. The very last European congress met to secure for a beaten nation just such a relaxation of the demands of the victor as this congress might secure for Peru. We see no good reason why it should not meet, although the President of the United States appears to doubt its expediency, and in no way endorses the plan.

THE QUESTIONS AT ISSUE.

At the public meeting at Harrowsmith on Monday evening of last week, Mr. Britton, Q. C., of Kingston, clearly pointed out the five great issues which will probably come before the people at the next elections. They are these:

1. How far the veto power in the hands of the Dominion Government should be exercised?

2. The Boundary Award. Shall it be ratified and shall Ontario have its rightful territory as awarded to us by an arbitration of such able and impartial men as the late Governor Wilmot, of New Brunswick, Hon. William McDougall and Sir Francis Hincks?

3. The North-West land agitation. Shall the lands of the great west be so disposed of as to enrich speculators and build up great monopolies to the detriment of the interests of the country?

4. The Pacific Railway Syndicate. Shall it be allowed to grasp the whole railway monopoly and control of the most important sections of the Dominion, and shall our great commercial and landed interests be laid helpless at its feet, and shall the taxpayers of Canada consent to pay unnecessarily, millions more for building the Pacific railway than was necessary?

5. The Tariff. Shall the great body of the people of Canada, who are consumers, be restricted and taxed heavily for years and years to come, to "encourage" the few manufacturers, who are becoming more wealthy than any other class of business men we have?

Every one of these questions is clearly defined and clearly laid before the people. The relative position of the Reform and Tory parties on these questions is clearly understood. Let every intelligent citizen thoroughly acquaint himself with the facts and we cheerfully wait the result.

BLEU DOMINATION IN ONTARIO.

The Montreal Spectator predicting that the Streams Bill will be vetoed again by Sir John, attempts to justify him beforehand by putting the following question:—"If Ontario is to be allowed "to act according to its own heart be- "cause it is mainly Grit, why should not "Quebec act upon its Bleu propensities, "and the Lower Provinces upon their "pro-American proclivities?"

"Why should not Quebec act upon its Bleu propensities?" We really do not know. It has acted very steadily on those propensities for a third of a century at least. It has been Bleu almost continuously since Confederation, it has been allowed "to act according to its own heart" in its own affairs. Why not? Who would dream of vetoing Quebec legislation because it is Bleu legislation? It would be a monstrous usurpation for the Ottawa Government to annul a Quebec Act on the ground that the Bleus should be changed. Yet the doctrine that Ontario Acts should be annulled by way of checking "the Grits" is coolly announced as quite reasonable by Sir John's apologists.

THE Unitarians are about to have a heresy trial forced upon them. The Rev. Mr. Miln, the pastor of the Unity church in Chicago, recently avowed in the most emphatic language, his disbelief in the existence of God and the immortality of the soul. This is simply blank atheism. Ingersoll even professes to believe in the existence of a Deity and hopes for a future life beyond the grave. How any man "without God and without hope in the world" can constantly retain his position as a religious teacher and pastor of a church is one of the things we do not understand.

Under the Redistribution of Seats Bill which is to be introduced at the present session, it is understood that four new seats will be added to the Province, and there will of course be ample opportunity for gerrymandering constituencies so as to aid the Tory cause. Of course, outside of Government circles, nothing definite can be learned as to the intentions of the Ministry, but it is believed that the constituencies most likely to be carved up are the Brants, the Simcoes, Bruce, Lambton, Kent, Essex and Elgin.

DUTIES OF ASSESSORS.

The following summary of the provisions of the assessment law may be useful at the present time, both to the assessor and the assessed. The assessor shall after diligent inquiry set down in his roll:

1. The names and surnames in full, if the same can be ascertained, of all taxable property residents in the municipality.

2. And of all the non-resident owners who have given notice (in writing, setting forth his full name, place of residence and post-office address, to the clerk of the municipality on or before the thirteenth day of January in each year, that he owns such land, describing it) and require their names to be enrolled on the roll.

3. When the land is owned or occupied by more persons than one, and all their names are given to the assessor, they shall be assessed therefore in the portions belonging to or occupied by each respectively.

4. Every farmer's son bona fide resident on the farm of his father or mother at the time of the making of the assessment roll and who has not been temporarily absent more than four out of the preceding twelve months, shall be entitled to be, and may be entered, rated and assessed on such roll, in respect of such farm, in manner following:

(a) If the father is living, and either the father or mother is owner of the farm, the son or sons may be entered, rated and assessed, etc.

(b) If the father is dead and the mother is owner of the farm and a widow, the son or sons may be entered, etc.

5. All residents of the municipality at the date of election, who have continuously resided therein since the completion of the last revised assessment roll therefor and are in receipt of an income of not less than $400.

CAPT. NEELON'S SPEECH.

Tory organs are making a great deal out of Mr. Neelon's speech, but they show their utter lack of honesty in suppressing the report of the most important part thereof. We give below the portions suppressed by the Review:—

"Speaking of the boundary question, he said that when the interests of Ontario were at stake the House should be a unit. There was $150,000,000 worth of timber in that country, and that showed the necessity of every member of the House standing up for the right of Ontario. If the members of the Dominion Parliament from Ontario had demanded the ratification of the award, and they should have done so, the award would have been carried out. He hoped that the members of the Dominion House from Ontario would make a demand of that kind. The Streams Bill met all the requirements of the case. To have an individual owning a slide and being in a position to say that no one else could use that slide but himself, virtually gave him the ownership of all the timber from the side up to the head of the stream, because there being no other inlet, he could buy the timber for comparatively little or nothing. The Government deserved a great deal of credit for the way in which they had dealt with that question."

ON THE RUSSIAN PERSECUTION OF THE JEWS.

O Sign of Man, by lying tongues adored,
By murderous hands of slaves with feet shod
In carnage deep as ever Christian trod;
Profaned with prayer and sacrifice abhorred
And incense from the trembling tyrant's horde,
Brute worshippers or wielders of the rod,
Most murderous even of all that call thee God,
Most treacherous even that ever called thee Lord;
Face loved of little children long ago,
Head hated of the priests and rulers then,
If thou see this, or hear these hounds of thine
Run ravening as the Gadarean swine,
Say, was not this thy passion, to foreknow
In thy death's hour the works of Christian men?

THE SONG OF POVERTY.

A jolly old fellow am I, my boys,
All seasons to me are the same;
Soft clothing and jewels are follies and toys,
Which often are purchased with shame.
Bad Luck and Miss Fortune, a long while ago,
Were wed, as good people should be;
They loved one another, I'd have you to know,
And I am their offspring, you see, ha! ha!
And I am their offspring, you see.

The Church and the State may connive at my fall,
Their prayers and their laws won't avail;
I'll have my existence in spite of them all,
And many true saints I'll small.
You needn't say prayer me, condemn me as you like,
And cover my body with sores;
Then put me in prison, that there I will smile,
And beat it twice as the bars, ha! ha!
And beneath me time, as the stars.

The greatest of prophets, in speaking of me,
Said, "The poor will be always with you;"
So make up your minds and bid brave charity
And love do the most they can do.
I'd rather be lord of the homeless and free
Than Kaiser, Pope, Czar or the King;
They're always in danger of death, don't you see?
While I in my rags dance and sing, ha! ha!
While I in my rags dance and sing.

THE PROVINCIAL GRANGE.

TEXT OF AN IMPORTANT RESOLUTION PASSED ON FRIDAY.

The proceedings of the Provincial Grange at their closing sitting on Friday were particularly interesting. The following resolution was passed unanimously:—

"Resolved, that the thanks of the Provincial Grange are due and hereby tendered to the members of the Government of Ontario for the cordial manner in which they received the deputation appointed by this Grange to confer with the Government relative to legislation for the abolition of market fees, and for the candid manner in which the subject was discussed from a Government point of view; that this Grange cannot accept on behalf of the Patrons of Ontario any measure as entirely satisfactory to that body short of the total repeal of the law empowering cities, towns, and villages to collect any market fees whatever for offering for sale any product of the farm or garden, as we consider the principle unjust and indefensible; that the proposal of the Government to introduce a Bill making it illegal to collect any fee on any agricultural product offered for sale; unless sufficient accommodation, 'well defined,' shall be provided, and for the total abolition of all market fees on grain, hay, wood, beef, pork, etc., and the provision that the people shall not be required to remain on the market in summer later than 9 a.m., and in winter 10 a.m., is one which we believe will be received by the agricultural classes as a step in the right direction, and one which will so limit the power of such corporation as practically to reduce the evil to a minimum; trusting to the future to strengthen the agricultural influence in the Legislature of Ontario, so as to make it an easy matter in future to secure such additional legislation as may be required.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A resolution was unanimously passed emphatically condemning the promoters of speculative enterprises using the names of the officers or the prestige of the Grange for forwarding their schemes.

The auditors' report showed a balance on hand of $1,076.13 at the close of the financial year, the 31st of December, 1881.

The Committee on Agricultural Improvement strongly urge the necessity of a thorough system of under-drainage and eradication of the Canada thistle, and a proper rotation of crops, which should consist largely of roots and forage crop, which should be fed to stock on the farm, as in view of the unlimited demand for fat stock and dairy products as much direct profit can be made from that branch of husbandry as any other, besides the great advantage of being better able to recuperate the soil. We recognize the necessity of frequent changes of seeds, which can be obtained through our organization, instead of purchasing through irresponsible dealers and peddlers, who in many cases charge exorbitant prices for worthless articles.

A lengthy and valuable discussion took place on this report, in which nearly all present took a part.

The Committee on Insurance reported the Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Company to be in a very prosperous condition, so much so that the Directors have been able to return a portion of the deposits on all four years, policies, amounting in the aggregate to over $600.

The Committee on House and Home submitted their report, which contained many valuable and interesting suggestions relating to the best manner of making our homes pleasant and attractive.

PRISONS AND PUBLIC CHARITIES.

THE INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

We have received from Mr. J. W. Langmuir, Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities, the fourteenth annual report for the year ending Sept. 30th, which is ably compiled, and, as regards these institutions, shows a satisfactory state of affairs. The first portion, dealing with asylums for the insane, gives the number of inmates as 2,650, as compared with 2,521 at the close of the previous year; the total number under care and treatment during the year being 3,695. At the close of the year there was only space available for 56 patients. During the year 168 were discharged recovered, 41 improved, and 24 unimproved, and the deaths numbered 168. A continued decrease in the number of commitments to the common gaols is reported. In 1877 the number of commitments reached the maximum, viz., 13,481; in 1878 it fell to 12,020; and in 1879 to 11,220: in 1880, however, a slight increase took place, the number for that year being 11,320, but during the past year it fell to 9,229, the lowest since 1873. The decrease is general throughout the Province, but greatest in city gaols. The discipline and management of the common gaols have, as a whole, greatly improved during the past few years, and instances of gross carelessness and dereliction of duty on the part of gaol officials, such as were once frequent, are now rare. The Central Prison merits a favorable report, both for the state of discipline and the results of the prison labour, which amounted to $44,332. The number of commitments was 745. The Mercer Reformatory is considered as fulfilling the objects designed in its establishment in a very satisfactory way. During the year 221 women were committed to the Reformatory, and 26 girls to the Refuge, and at the close there remained in custody 127 women and 29 girls. A growing appreciation of the value of the Penetanguishene Reformatory is indicated by the increase of commitments, which numbered 96 as compared with 80. At the close of the year there remained in confinement 250, as against 215 at the end of the year previous. The number of deaf mutes under instruction during the year at the Belleville Institution was 296, a slight increase. The number of pupils in the Blind Institutions, Brantford, 201, though the present year opens with a considerable reduction in the number. The total number of persons confined in the gaols, &c., and under care and treatment in the asylums, and public charities during the year was 24,227, as compared with 25,948 during the previous twelvemonth. The total cost to the Province of maintaining Insane Asylums was $322,971; of maintaining Institutions for the deaf, dumb and blind, 67,235; of maintaining prisons and reformatories, 164,575; aid to charities, $78,241, making a total of $632,924. The total revenue from these various classes of public institutions was $99,899. The number of official visitations made during the year was 268.

THE GRANGE AND RAILWAY MONOPOLIES.

(From the Globe.)

The Dominion Grange, acting solely in the farmers' interests and evidently intending not to interfere with politics, fired a hot shot into the Government's midship section, with its resolution against a railway monopoly. We have never read a more vigorous denunciation of railway monopolies, or one which showed less straining for the sake of effect. The drawers of the resolutions were evidently sufferers from the evils which they condemned.

What is the attitude of the Dominion Government toward railway or other monopolies? Has it destroyed a single monopoly during its three and a half years of misused power? On the contrary it has created monopolies by the score. It has handed over to monopolies every business in the country which could be possibly tied up. Worst of all, it has created the most gigantic railway monopoly in the world. It has bound an empire in chains and thrown it at the feet of the Canadian Pacific Company. In no other Anglo-Saxon country is there a railway possessing a legal monopoly. Elsewhere railway monopolies exist in defiance of the law, and earnest minds are seeking diligently for methods to curb their powers. But here our Central Government first legalizes, and then itself usurps Provincial powers in order to strengthen monopolies. Injurious as are railway monopolies to the Ontario farmer, how much worse off will his son be in the new country where it is now the organic law of the land that there shall be no competition in the business of carrying his produce to market? The eastern railways have chastised the farmers with whips, but the Canada Pacific will chastise him with scorpions.

THE WRITER OF "ROCK OF AGES CLEFT FOR ME."

In the pleasant County of Devon, in one of its sequestered passes, with a few cottages sprinkled over it, mused and sang Augustus Toplady. When a lad of 16, and on a visit to Ireland, he had strolled into a barn in which an illiterate layman was preaching—but preaching reconciliation to God through the death of His Son. The homely sermon took effect, and from that moment the gospel wielded all the power of this brilliant and active mind. During his last illness Augustus Toplady seemed to lie in the vestibule of glory. To a friend's inquiry he answered with a sparkling eye: "Oh, my dear sir, I cannot tell the comforts I feel in my soul—they are past expression. The consolations of God are so abundant that He leaves me nothing to pray for. My prayers are all converted into praise. I enjoy a heaven already within my soul." And within an hour of dying he called his friends and asked if they could give him up, and when they replied in the affirmative, tears of joy ran down his cheeks as he added, "Oh, what a blessing that you are made willing to give me over to the hands of my dear Redeemer and part with me; for no mortal can live after having seen the glories which God has manifested to my soul!" And thus died the writer of the beautiful hymn, "Rock of Ages Cleft for me."

THE "SPEAK NOW" INCIDENT.

MR. BLAKE GIVES THE SILLY LIE TO THE QUESTION.

Every little while, when any Conservative speaker is hard up for a charge against Mr. Blake, he generally falls back on the old, stale and oft repeated one of "Speak now." Sir Charles Tupper when cornered on the McLean charges, in the House, on Tuesday, for want of a better had to bring up the same old story. It is well that he did so, for it gives Mr. Blake an opportunity of giving a full and satisfactory explanation of the matter, which will now for the future set it at rest. Our readers will recollect the circumstances connected with the affair. It was in 1871, at the time of the downfall of the Sandfield Macdonald Government in Ontario, at which time Mr. Blake was in the Local Legislature. Mr Blake thus dealt with the matter:

He had been accused of corruption in connection with the change of Ministry which took place in the Ontario Legislature. The House had heard a good deal about the impropriety of bringing up the affairs of the Local Legislatures before the House—that it was a waste of time, yet no more pleasant morsel had been rolled under the tongues of hon. gentlemen opposite than the statement of what occured or what did not occur in the Legislature of Ontario. I will say as I did on a former occasion when the hon. gentleman brought forward a similar accusation that the statement he made is as I said of a former statement, utterly without foundation in fact, and I add as I added once before, that if there be any stronger, more cogent, form of denial consistent with Parliamentary usage and propriety I desire to be understood as having used that form. There are here, however, some hon. gentlemen who did not take part in those old debates, in which the circumstances to which the hon. gentleman has referred, or the letter, or rather note, which forms the basis of the charge. I will state therefore, not at all because I hope the slander will cease to be circulated because of my statement, not that I have the remotest expectation of such a thing as that, but in view of the presence here of gentlemen who were not present the last time this subject was discussed, how by a perversion of facts and dates the hon. gentleman justifies his reference to that note. The facts are these;—On a certain day, I cannot recollect the precise day of the week, the Treasurer of the Administration had declared in the Local Legislature his resignation of office. He had declared that he resigned because he was convinced, after the repeated votes that had taken place, that the Government had lost the confidence of the country, and that it was not consistent with the principles of constitutional government that they should longer protract the struggle or attempt to retain office. The Government did, however, prolong the struggle, and the debate continued on certain subsequent occasions. It was either on the following day or the day after, shortly after the House opened after dinner, that the hon. treasurer came to me, who was at the time de facto leader of the House, having control of its deliberations by having at my back a majority, and stated "Mr. Blake, I have been attacked for my announcement of my resignation, and intend to speak before this debate closes. Do you think it will close this evening? I would rather not speak until to morrow if the debate will last until then." I said "my opinion is the debate will not close to-night." At a later period, some hour or two later, I perceived signs of the debate collapsing, and having made that statement to Mr. Wood, the treasurer, he sitting in his seat apparently relying upon the idea that the debate would hold over till next day, I wrote upon a sheet of paper the lines "You had better speak now," and sent it across the floor to him. The gentleman read these words, and tore up the paper and cast it aside, but some supporter of the Government picked it up.

An hon. member—Out of the spittoon. (Laughter.)

Mr. Blake—Out of the spittoon. I believe. That is a simple statement of the facts of the case.

Mr. Mackenzie said it was perfectly well known to every one in Toronto at the time from Mr. Wood's statements, from the record of the meetings of the Committee appointed to investigate the charges made by Mr. Cameron, which charges he declined to follow up, that the narration of the circumstances now brought to light for the third or fourth time in this House by the member for Durham, were absolutely and indisputably correct.

A HUMAN BELLOWS.

A MAN SHOT IN THE CHEST BREATHES UNDER HIS ARMPIT.

There is a man in the hospital named James Dwyer, who has three bullet holes in his chest, one of which is still unhealed. Through the last-mentioned wound, which is a little way below the left armpit, he expels air from his lungs. A Tribune reporter visited the man last evening at St. Mark's Hospital. He had no hesitation in exhibiting his peculiarity, and when requested to strip, removed his shirt and showed the reporter four holes in his chest and back where two bullets had entered and another where a ball had struck his shoulder and came out under his arm. There was also a hole or two in his leg. From the wound under the armpit he breathed so loudly that the sound of air escaping through the orifice could be heard the length of the room. The reporter held his hand before the hole and felt the air rushing out. Dwyer tells his story as follows:—

"I was in Bonanza City, about three years ago. I had a mining claim, and a man named Flaxon—Charley was his first name—came at me with a sixshooter for a fight. Well, before I knew it, he had filled me up with lead, I had holes all over me, and they crossed this way and that, until I couldn't tell for a certainty which bullet made any two holes. For a while you could look into one of the holes and see my heart quite plain, but that healed up, and now there is no show to see the heart at all. If you'd been here a year or more ago I could have shown you the heart beating right along. I ain't much of an exhibition now; all I can do is to pump air out of my lungs by this hole. Once I could take it in one place and send it out another, but the other hole healed. I was all well once but the wounds opened again."

"Did you return the fire?" asked the reporter.

"Hadn't any gun; but after I was shot a few times I went for him and got him down, and the crowd pulled me off. When I got him down he began to holler murder; nice chap to be singin' out murder after the way he had acted. He shot his partner once the same way. Guess I'll be out in a few days all right."—Salt Lake Tribune.

A PATRONIZING SUBSCRIBER.

THE BENEVOLENT MAN WHO SUPPORTS THE PRESS.

The patronizing subscriber is the most exasperating man with whom the journalist has to deal. He does not hand two dollars to the editor and request that the paper be sent to his address for a year. He is not that sort of a man. When he buys a railway ticket he pays cash down to the clerk who edits the ticket with a hand stamp, and to the Chinese journalist who edites the shirt with the flat iron, he dispenses some of his wealth before he gets his shirt. But when he patronizes the editor his tactics are different. He says: "Well, I reckon you'd better take my name down for your paper. I really take more papers now than I read, but I suppose I'll have to take yours, too. We are all expected to do something towards supporting the press, you know." He says this with the air of a philanthropist subscribing for the controlling interest in a narrow-gauge railway, or a new church on which he never expects to draw a dividend, but, at the same time, he neglects to reduce his cash balance by subscribing $2 in advance. He tells the editor to call upon him for the amount when he needs it. He is careful to leave the impression that he has no possible use for the paper, and he will likely never read it; he merely wants to help the editor out with the $2 he does not pay. Although the patronising subscriber does not contribute a cent, he positively imagines he has squandered money that should have gone to the really deserving poor. In time, as the paper prospers, he comes to regard himself as the founder and proprietor of it. The only wonder is that he does not sell it out when, as is frequently the case, it fails to reflect his political and religious views. When an editor demolishes one of his pet theories, he begins to regret that he has been nourishing a serpent in his bosom, and talks of withdrawing his support from the paper. He even hints at establishing an independent organ that will properly represent the people. In return for the copy that he has not yet paid for, the exacting patron expects that the editor will attempt in some slight degree to pay off the national debt of obligation to him by bringing his name before the people as a suitable man for some prominent position. If this is not done he regards it as an evidence of base ingratitude.

He comes into the editorial room with a manuscript describing the wonderful idiosyncrasies of character displayed by his house dog, or some other such matter of importance, and wants it put into the paper, and when the editor reads it and suggests that his columns are crowded, and that he hardly thinks the matter offered would interest the subscribers anyhow, the patronizing subscriber is astonished, and says: "My heavens, man, ain't I a subscriber?" and then he goes off, determined to bestow his patronage on some live paper that will appreciate his assistance. What exasperates him most is for the editor to send him a bill for the $2 of capital stock that stands opposite his name on the books.—American Paper.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

PETERBOROUGH, FEB. 23, 1882.

The Present Position of the Boundary Question.

By the bringing down of the despatch on the boundary question, in reply to Mr. Mowat's latest review of the question, the country has been put in possession of what may fairly be regarded as the Dominion Government's ultimatum on the subject. It is, therefore worth while just at this stage to see in what position it leaves the matter. The despatch sets out with the statement, supported by several arguments, that the dispute was not one proper to be referred to arbitration at all. The point at issue was, they say, not what boundary would be convenient or even equitable, but what boundary would be legally correct. It then goes on to recount the efforts made by the men now in power to have this question settled. They were anxious, they say, to have the matter referred to the Imperial Privy Council as far back as 1872, and to the unwillingness of the Ontario Government to accede to that proposal is attributed all the subsequent delay, and whatever mischief or trouble may be traceable to it. The despatch reminds the Ontario Government, that Sir John Macdonald verbally proposed to Mr. Mowat last fall to have the dispute referred to a "high legal functionary" to be brought out from England for that purpose, the names of Lord Chancellor Selborne and ex-Lord Chancellor Cairns being mentioned as suitable referees. Having thus gone over the ground historically, it goes on to offer a new mode of settlement, which is made up of two distinct features or propositions: (1) A reference of the legal dispute about the boundary to the Supreme Court of the Dominion, and (2) an arrangement with Manitoba for the interim administration of justice, pending the final settlement of the case. The arrangement proposed is to put all the Superior Court Judges of the two Provinces in one, and the same a Commission for holding of Courts and decision of civil cases arising in the disputed territory, the laws of Ontario to prevail where the legal systems of the two Provinces may be found to conflict.

Having thus briefly but fairly stated the positions taken by the Dominion Government, we propose to very briefly examine them and show how unreasonable it would be to expect the Ontario Government to acquiesce. It is now too late to urge that the dispute is one that should not have been referred to arbitration at all, seeing that it has been so referred by common consent of both Governments, and that an award has been made in accordance with the reference. If it were worth while to go into the point it would be easy to show that the dispute was one which was peculiarly suitable for settlement in this way, and that it is quite impossible to settle it on purely legal grounds. If the Privy Council or the Supreme Court were entrusted with the task, either of these tribunals could do only what the arbitrators did—trace out from old maps and documents the legal boundaries so far as they could, and supply the missing links in the most natural and reasonable way open to them. The arbitrators fixed the western limit of Ontario on the U. S. frontier, by legal reasoning; and they fixed the eastern limit on James' Bay, in the same manner. They traced the western boundary, by legal reasoning, northward, and the northern boundary westward as far as the information submitted to them enabled them to discern it, and as that information did not enable them to follow them to a common point of intersection, it is obvious that the only course open was to connect the northern and western boundaries, as legally ascertained, by a natural link. What more could the Supreme Court or Privy Council do? If the northern and western boundaries are to be defined on purely legal lines until they meet, the dispute will never be settled, for there are not data in existence to admit of this being done. And, if there is to be arbitration at all, why re-open a case which has been disposed of by men so pre-eminently qualified for settling it in the best possible way as Sir Francis Hincks, Sir Edward Thornton and the late Chief Justice Harrison? Certainly the people of Ontario will neither ask nor accept any other reference.

The offer to refer to Privy Council as stated in the Dominion Government's despatch is said to be still open. Such a reference could be made only on a prepared case, to which Ontario and Manitoba would be parties. At best this would be costly and unsatisfactory, though nothing could be said against the personnel of the tribunal. Not so with the Dominion Supreme Court. On the bench of that Court there are two Ontario judges, one of whom never loses an opportunity of deciding a point against his own Province, if he can get any excuse for deciding in favor of the Dominion. So long as Mr. Justice Gwynne is a judge of that Court, just so long will Ontario be placed at a disadvantage, and even if the proposed reference were not inadmissible on other grounds, it would be impossible for the Ontario Government to court defeat by placing their case before such a tribunal. When the Supreme Court has fairly established its reputation for ability, impartiality and sound common sense, it may expect to gain the confidence of the people of Ontario—not till then.

It is hardly worth while to discuss the Dominion Government's proposal respecting the administration of justice. If the contention of the Ontario Government for immediate ratification of the award be proper and justifiable, there is no need for any interim arrangement at all. The Dominion Parliament should have ratified the award two years ago; it can ratify it at once, as it is now in session. If it does not, the refusal must be due either to false pride, which prevents Sir John Macdonald from retreating from a false position, or to the hold which his Quebec followers have obtained over him. In either case the matter may be safely trusted to the people of Ontario to settle. They will deal with it on the basis of ratification or non-ratification of the award, and on no other. There it stands now, and there it will stand till the general election, and no amount of sophistry about the main question will divert public attention from the reasonableness of the simple issue on which Mr. Mowat rests his case.

Queer N. P. Advocate.

Advocates of the N. P., in trying to reconcile what is so irreconcilable, land themselves in many strange dilemas. The greatest difficulty they experience is in trying to show that Protection benefits manufacturers and farmers alike. The attempt is often quite ludicrous, but for the most perfect obfuscation of ideas on the subject the Review takes the lead.

In a recent article of ours while commenting on the glee of Conservative journals in alluding to Mr. Sylvester Neelon's opinion, we copied a letter of Mr. Joseph C. Kidd's, of Cookstown, to the Globe, who enumerated a number of articles for which he had now to pay an advanced price, amongst which was a Reaping Machine bought from Haggart Bros. Falsehoods and absurdities are the gentle terms applied by our contemporary to this Conservative gentleman's statements and he is berated for daring to say that implements in this part of the country are higher than they were before. For the purpose of proving that Mr. Kidd is not speaking the truth, the Review applies, not to Messrs. Haggart Bros., but to the office of our respected townsman, Mr. Peter Hamilton, who is a manufacturer of reapers and mowers, seed drills &c., and interviewed him on the subject. Well, what is Mr. Hamilton's evidence, he says that he is now paying higher wages and that his material cost more, perhaps Mr. Hamilton was more specific in his information to the interviewer and told him that he was now paying 2 per cent per ton duty on his pig iron; 12½ per cent extra duty on bar iron; 50 cts per ton on coal and from 7½ to 15 per cent on nearly everything else, and yet, with all this additional cost, he was not able in his locality to obtain an increased price for his implements. If Mr. Hamilton was only getting a fair profit before the change in tariff he is certainly not getting a fair profit now. The incidence of taxation weighs heavily on his business and this is what is called protecting manufacturers. Agricultural Implement makers have certainly little reason to be thankful to the author of the N. P., and the Review gives away the entire case by showing that Mr. Hamilton's goods cost him more and he gets less for them. We would suggest to the N. P. Editor, as he has a penchant for interviewing, and seems to have great respect for the opinion of Mr. Hamilton, that he again visit his office and ask Mr. Hamilton the plain straight forward question, whether he considers the National Policy an advantage to his business or not, and if the interviewer gets an answer that it is a benefit, it will go a long way towards converting us to the protectionist dogma. Now, then, Mr. Review, put it to the test. No one-sided stories; don't shirk, but give us Mr. Hamilton's opinion in plain unvarnished language, and we will warrant it interesting reading.

Editorial Notes.

THE annual superannuation return for the Dominion, gives the names of eighty persons superannuated during the period since the beginning of the last session of Parliament.

ALL our contemporaries without a distinction of party, join in urging upon the government the propriety of abolishing postage on newspapers. The Irish Canadian remarks:—"It is to be hoped that the representatives of the people will have sufficient influence with the present Minister in the Post Office Department to induce him to abolish altogether the postage on newspapers."

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean makes a suggestion for the suppression of polygamy which is the best yet. It is the restoration to the Mormon wives of their right of dower. The effect of this would at once be to restrict each Morman to three wives, for the dower being one-third, there would not be enough to go around if there were more than three. Reduction once begun, it would be easy to carry it on until polygamy was wiped out.

THE Montreal Herald observes in every day's issue of the Toronto Mail endeavors made—half a dozen times on the editorial page—to belittle the Province of Ontario. We know why Sir J. A. Macdonald dislikes Ontario—a peacock dislikes peanuts because he cannot get enough of them. But why, in the name of all that is sensible, should there be any conflict between the Province such as the Mail is provoking? It has done its uppermost to show that the Provinces, each and all, are aggrieved. Would not the deduction be that Confederation has been a mistake? We do not say it has been, but the Mail, which has claimed for Sir John A. Macdonald the paternity of Confederation, is now doing its hardest to destroy it.

THE Globe says:—"The contract for the Emory-Moody section of the Pacific Railway in British Columbia has been awarded to Onderdonk & Mills, in circumstances that indicate the perpetration of another job. It is admitted that their tender was some $300,000 higher than the lowest—that of Charlebois & McDonald. It is said that the tender of this firm was "not regular," a discovery made very recently, for the Government organs were allowed to state that Charlebois & McDonald would probably get the work. Again, the work was put up for tender on the "lump sum" plan, which fact convince every practical man that jobbery was designed from the start. Lastly—Tupper is Minister of Railways, and every suspicious circumstance is therefore doubly significant of adroit fraud. It will be the duty of the Opposition to examine this contract-letting with great care."

THE CHANGE OF FRONT ON THE BOUNDARY AWARD.

Those who attentively followed the late debate on the subject in the Legislature could not but mark the decided tone adopted by Mr. Meredith and most of his colleagues on the Opposition side of the House in excusing and defending the action of the Dominion Government in refusing to sanction the Award, and to judge from the earnest way in which they came to the rescue of the Government in Ottawa one would naturally conclude that they had followed the same course all the way through. Not so, however, as the following resolution was brought up and voted on in the Ontario Legislature:

"1. That this House deeply regrets that notwithstanding the unanimous award made on the 3rd of August, 1878, by the Arbitrators appointed by the joint and concurrent action of the Government of Canada and the Government of Ontario, to determine the northerly and westerly boundaries of this Province, no legislation has been submitted by the Government of Canada to the Dominion Parliament for the purpose of confirming that award, nor has the validity of the award yet been recognized by the Government of Canada.

"2. That the omission of the Government and Parliament of Canada to confirm the award is attended with grave inconvenience, has the effect of retarding settlement and municipal organization, embarrasses the administration of laws, and interferes with the preservation of the peace, the maintenance of order, and the establishment of good Government in the northerly and north-westerly parts of the Province of Ontario.

"3. That it is the duty of the Government of Ontario to assert and maintain the just claims and rights of the Province of Ontario as determined by the award of the arbitrators, and this House hereby reaffirms its determination to give its cordial support to the Government of Ontario in any steps it may be necessary to take to sustain the award, and to assert and maintain the just claims and rights of the Province as thereby declared and determined."

Messrs. Meredith, Morris, Lauder—and in fact all the members of the Opposition—voted for this resolution except Mr. Baskerville.

FARMERS AND MECHANICS, if you wish to avoid great danger and trouble, besides a no small bill of expense, at this season of the year, you should take prompt steps to keep disease from your household. The system should be cleansed the blood purified, stomach and bowels regulated, and prevent and cure diseases arising from Spring malaria. We know of nothing that will so perfectly and surely do this as Electric Bitters, and at the trifling cost of fifty cents a bottle. Taylor and Macdonald, Agents.

DEATH OF DR. RYERSON.

Rev. Egerton Ryerson, D. D., L. L. D., has passed away, full of honors, full of years. On Sunday morning at 7 o'clock he died in Toronto, surrounded by all the members of his family. The venerable gentleman was born in the township of Charlotteville on the 24th of March 1803, and consequently had almost completed his seventy-ninth year. After being a teacher he was ordained deacon in the Methodist Church in 1825, and for four years was an itinerant minister. In 1829 he became editor of the Christian Guardian. In 1832, 1836 and 1840, he was a delegate to the British conference. In 1842 he became principal of Victoria College, at Cobourg. In 1844 he was appointed superintendent of public schools for Upper Canada, and in 1849 submitted a plan for the organization of the Public School system which was adopted. The death of the venerable Dr. takes from among us one who spent the best years of his life in promoting the educational interests of his adopted country. He lived to a good old age, being seventy-nine, and had the satisfaction of seeing the work of his life applauded and approved by all. The public school system of Ontario is mainly the work of his hands and will be a lasting monument to his memery. He wrote a history of Canada and a history of the United Empire Loyalists, besides numerous tracts and pamphlets. When the Minister of Education was established by the Ontario Government he was superannuated on full pay. For some months past his health had been declining, and now comes the end of a long life that was full of earnest labor for the good of the country and a blessing to all who came within its influence.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

The astonishing rate at which the public debt of the Dominion has been piled up is among the most alarming exhibits of government recklessness that could be given. Since confederation the debt has increased to $107,000,000 in round numbers, while the assets have only increased a little over $27,000,000. The following table shows the process year by year:

	Total Liabilities.	Total Assets.
1867	$ 93,046,061 73	$17,317,410 36
1868	96,896,608 20	21,189,521 46
1869	112,361,998 39	36,509,679 19
1870	115,898,705 76	37,785,964 31
1871	115,492,682 76	37,786,165 11
1872	122,400,179 36	40,213,107 32
1873	130,778,098 53	39,900,636 80
1874	141,163,551 33	32,838,596 91
1875	151,063,401 62	35,955,023 80
1876	161,204,687 86	36,633,173 98
1877	174,675,834 97	41,440,535 94
1878	174,967,998 98	34,595,190 65
1879	179,483,871 21	36,403,683 85
1880	194,634,446 68	43,182,852 07
1881	199,861,537 51	44,465,757 11

By this it will be seen that the increase of debt by the first Tory Government of the Dominion was over $48,000,000 in seven years. During the five years of Mr. Mackenzie's rule the increase was about $23,000,000, and for the last three years of renewed Tory Government the debt has been augmented over $25,000,000.

PARENT'S ATTENTION.

The attention of parents has frequently been called to the evil resulting of allowing young children to be out on the streets after dark, and nowhere does the bad habit exist to a greater extent than Lakefield, where young children are to be seen until 9 or 10 p.m., in place of being at home in bed, or studying their lessons. It is the parents of such children, who, as a general rule, are the loudest in their complaints, that they are not getting on in school, the teachers are not doing their duty, &c.; and if we go to the teachers and ask them to point out the most backward and troublesome pupils, we will find our little "night wanderers" are the culprits. If a lesson was required, the sad accident on Thursday night should prove one, and it is hoped that a change will be observed, which will prove better for all concerned, but more especially for our rising generation.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday morning of last week, Mr. Arch Johnston, who resides in the township of Harvey, drove across Buckhorn Lake to visit some friends on the other side; he had with him his family and a hired man named Pat Murphy. On returning after dark the same evening, they drove into open water, the ice having broken up during the day. Their calls for help brought a number of Indians to their assistance, who helped Johnston get his wife and children out and to a place of safety, but poor Murphy and the team went to the bottom. We cannot learn if the body has yet been recovered.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

On Thursday evening just at dusk, a team owned and driven by Mr. Gordon Crow of Dummer, was driven into the scow from the Smith shore, they had only been on a few moments when the horses became restive, tried to turn and began to back until they came in contact with the railing at the side, which gave way and buggy, horses, Mr. Crow and two companions who were with him, went over. The men went out, but managed to get to shore, the horses swam down stream and to shore, where they were got out, but the carriage was left in the river and proved one of the means of saving a life. Shortly after, about an hour later, Mr. Geo. Bell, who was working the ferry, took over Mr. Wm. McKibbon with his team and Mr. S. Nelson with a single rig from the village side. When they got to the Smith shore both drove off and two single rigs came on. Mr. Bell was just well started across when he heard a splash and cries for help, he soon got back to shore and found that Mr. McKibbon had by some means in the dark, backed his waggon over the bank into the river, and from the cries he knew someone was in the water, he ran down the bank into the icy water up to his neck, and by holding onto the buggy, which had been previously left in the river, he was enabled to reach out and seize one of the two objects he saw floating past, and which proved to be a little deaf and dumb son of Mr. John Isbister, the other has since proved to be a little boy, eight or ten years, of Jos. McGuire, who is at present away in a shanty. It seems the little fellows must have got onto the back of the waggon unknown to Mr. McKibbon, to get a ride home, and when it went over were thrown out into the water, or floated off, as it is about eight feet deep at the spot, and there was no box on the waggon. When it became known through the village, a large number went over with lights, and all the search possible was made, but without avail, until Friday noon, when the body was recovered a few feet below where he was last seen. Mr. Geo. Bell deserves great praise, as he cannot swim, and few would venture into the water such a dark night and with such a strong current running.

MILK.

If any of your agricultural readers who reside in the vicinity of Lakefield want to make a good thing for themselves, and at the same time confer a favor on many, they can do so by supplying the village with milk. It is next to impossible to obtain what is required at any time of the year, but more particularly in the winter. At from five to six cents per quart it ought to pay far better than selling to the factories at from two and a half to three cents, and at the same time all the butter that could be made would be taken by the same customers at good prices, in fact, better than can be obtained from stores, &c. Who will have the enterprise to try it?

ACCIDENT.

On Thursday afternoon as a Mrs. Thompson, from Julian's Landing, was attempting to cross the bridge a rotten plank gave way beneath her and she fell into one of the piers, but fortunately escaped with only a bad shaking. She had a narrow escape from a severe injury.

FORESTERS' MEETING.

MUNICIPAL.

The nomination to fill the vacant chair in the Lakefield Council will be held on Monday the 27th inst., and the election on Monday, March 6th. Messrs. Hull and Nelson are the only candidates so far in the field, but others are spoken of.

LAKEFIELD MATTERS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

SIR,—We would again adventure to trespass on your valuable space, and would first notice some of the statements of "Lakefield" made through your columns two weeks ago. As he seems to have taken up the cudgel in the interests of "fair play" he has our sympathy so far as that object is concerned. We have not heard, however, that our village council has been guilty of acting contrary to the interests of the village, and if they have been under the spell of mesmerism so long, we may conclude that the Clerk and Treasurer is not deserving of some of the epithets applied to him, nor can we believe that "Lakefield" really means to assert that he lives on the taxes of the village, even if he reaps some benefit from the funds passing through his hands. We must also take exception to the statement that the "spirit of dissatisfaction has extended to nearly every ratepayer of our village." "Fair play" we think would require a modification of these charges. Very many do not trouble themselves about these matters, while many others no doubt, fail to see the one-sided aspect described by "Lakefield."

We might also suggest that the double metaphor of the "bee" and "parasite" is not applicable to one and the same individual, we would like to see the writer's remedies applied more judiciously.

The Clerk of our Division Court, in the columns of the Review, denies in an unmistakable manner that it, (the Division Court,) is not equally available to all, irrespective of creed or politics.

If the correspondent of the Review means reform, and not "ill will and strife among neighbors," he will make good his charge or explain his insinuation.

Mr. Wallace's answer to the charge of being "easily led," appears to us to be again "straight and forward" and right to the point. He (Mr. W.) having always voted the same political ticket, we fail to conceive how even a "leader" in politics, with any liberality whatever, can consistently accuse him of being so easily led, unless Mr. W's counter charge has some truth in it, viz:—that he (Mr. W.) has refused to be whipped into the ranks in every municipal election. For we may look in vain over his correspondence to discover much love for any man that won't lead, i.e., we fail to find any compliment paid to those who differ from him in these matters.

We see by turning to his correspondence in last week's Review, that lawyers still disagree, for it is intimated that an election will take place early next month for a councillor to fill the seat that was declared by the Correspondent of the Review to be already filled by acclamation, and that belonged "by the law of the land" to the candidate that contested the election. In the Review of the 3rd inst. you can read as follows: "There being only four other candidates, requisite number, there was no legal or just poll or election, save the election by acclamation on the nomination day of these four candidates." That lawyers should disagree, however, is nothing new.

In the Review of the 17th inst we have the following: "Mr. Nelson is not and cannot be charged, in his official acts with neglecting to do his duty faithfully, fearlessly, and impartially, but he is charged, much to his credit, with refusing to carry his political feelings to the Council Board." We confess that we are quite at sea in our endeavors to comprehend this, shall we say, "remarkable" sentence. In the first part all are exonerated from making any accusation against Mr. N. in his official capacity, yet in the conclusion it is asserted that Mr. N. is accused, etc. This cannot be said to be "simple and straightforward."

In conclusion, we would say that we have no desire to detract from the high eulogium passed upon Mr. W. We have heard him highly spoken of before, and believe that his geniality, social qualities and zeal in municipal matters, have made him many friends; but, when a correspondent of a newspaper, whose reputation in municipal matters does not place him very high above "political cliques" accuses his fellow citizens of "intrigue" and "dirty work," because, so far as we can judge, they differ from him in their opinions, he must expect to be criticised when so many vulnerable points present themselves. Who can conclude that those personal allusions and insinuations are written with the object of promoting the prosperity, peace, and goodwill of our citizens one to another. Do our citizens not know both candidates as well as he—their interests in the village, their qualifications for the office? And have they not already, in an "unmistakable" manner, expressed their views?

As our object is not to assist in making or unmaking councils, it does not concern us if the people should speak differently at the "ensuing election." We are satisfied to deal with facts and wait for coming events, without predicting what they will or ought to be.

ON-LOOKER.

Lakefield, Feb. 21st 1882.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon, a party were crossing the ice from the Indian village to the township of Harvey with sleigh and team belonging to and in care of Archibald Johnston. When some distance from the village, they suddenly encountered an open stretch of water. Instead of turning back, attempted with the horses to jump it, but in doing so the horses came short of the distance, landing in the water, and their heads getting under the ice, one was drowned, although the other one was got out, it only lived about five minutes. Patrick Murphy of the township of Harvey, jumping out of the sleigh also landing in the water, sunk to the bottom and was drowned, never coming to the top. His body was recovered shortly after the accident, where he went down.

DYSPEPSIA OF THIRTY YEAR'S STANDING.—From J. T. Bowen, of East Aurora, N. Y. "I was troubled with dyspepsia for thirty years, and tried several medicines advertised for the cure of this distressing complaint without deriving any benefit from them. About a year ago I commenced taking the Peruvian Syrup, and after using altogether twelve bottles I find myself entirely cured. I consider my case one of the worst I ever heard of, and I take great pleasure in recommending the Peruvian Syrup to all dyspeptics, believing that it will be sure to cure them." All druggists sell it.

FREE OF COST.—All persons wishing to test the merits of a great remedy—one that will positively cure Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs—are requested to call at Taylor and Macdonalds Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, free of cost, which will show you what a regular dollar-size bottle will do.

SCOTTISH EMIGRATION.

We have been requested to insert the following letter:—

To the Editor of the] Scotsman.

MY DEAR SIR,—You were kind enough to publish my previous letter in reference to aid to emigrants in finding new homes in the Dominion of Canada. By the same mail which brought me the Scotsman in which said letter was contained, I received three communications from intending emigrants, expressing their interest in the subject treated of, and their deep solicitude for further correspondence. The letter above my own signature, published in your columns, together with the chief portions of the three communications referred to, have been re-produced in two of the papers of this town One of these papers, the Peterborough Review, I forwarded to you last week, in the hope that you would favor the article on "Immigration" with a short notice.

No doubt other letters of a like character are on their way westward, and probably many other intending emigrants would like to write in the same strain. This letter is intended as an answer, in part at least, to these enquirers.

"Where can I obtain a good location in that new country?" is a question which will often be asked by intending emigrants. To help to a solution of the difficulty, I have to report that it is intended that lists of farms for sale will be procured by means of schedules, now in course of preparation for the purpose. These schedules will give the following particulars, among others, viz:—address of seller, location, size of farm, and price per acre, number of acres cleared, character of buildings, distance from the churches of the leading denominations, distance from schools, market towns, railway stations, etc. It is intended that the lists, when tabulated, will be forwarded to Great Britain and Ireland for circulation, and that copies will be on hand at ports of exit and entry. A map of the district will, if possible, accompany each list.

Long lists of good farms now in the market, ranging in price from £10 to £20 per acre according to quality, locality, etc., are easily obtainable.

Several reasons can be assigned why so many farms are for sale. Loan companies have something to do with it, fathers and husbands dying intestate have something to do with it, but the great reason is the "Manitoba Fever." The majority of the tens of thousands of new settlers every year pouring into Manitoba and the North West Territory are from these older Provinces, and more especially from the best province in the Dominion, the Province of Ontario. This Manitoba fever does not seem to be a dangerous one. It is policy for a man with four or five stalwart sons, who wish to become farmers, to sell 100 acres in Ontario, and with the proceeds to buy 1,000 or 1,200 acres of as good land in one block in the North West Territory. But why should not Old Country emigrants go to these newer provinces too? Some of these, I believe, should, if they have little to invest in real estate. That little will go further there than here. Upon payment of a fee of £2 for registration purposes, any man over eighteen years of age can have a farm of 160 acres of the best land upon condition of making it his resting place. At the end of five years he gets his deed, provided he can testify truly as to certain improvements made. Settlement duties simply require residence for six months of the year, the erection of a small house and the cultivation of a few acres additional each year for five years in succession. Then the property becomes his own to dispose of as he pleases. People who have much to gain and little to lose in the matter of money, are wise in going to Manitoba and the North West Territory. It is wise for some Old Country emigrants to do it, if they have only means sufficient to carry them there. The prospect of comfort and wealth in the near future will sustain them under the many trials they will be called upon to bear. It is not wise, however, for emigrants from the Old Country who are possessed of means to go. They do not need to do it, £1,000 will give a settler a comfortable home in Ontario, where he will have churches, schools, societies, and travelling facilities equal to those which he had enjoyed at home. In the North-West the first settlers who get the cheap lands, are as a rule many years destitute of these privileges. Emigrants to Manitoba from Great Britain and those from the older provinces of the Dominion of Canada are not for one moment to be compared in point of ability to overcome the common difficulties in the new field. The climate is much more trying to the one than to the other. The Canadian is already somewhat accustomed to low registration of the thermometer. He knows again how to act when storms are at their height. He knows how to ford rivers, construct extempore bridges, battle with black flies and mosquitoes. He can with his own hands build his house, his stables, his barns and his fences. In these older provinces all this is unnecessary. Here we have a salubrious clime, comfortable homes, food, fuel, and clothing in the greatest abundance—all that you have at home you can have here.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM BENNETT.

A VOICE FROM THE BACKWOODS.

(Fenelon Falls Gazette.)

Mr. John J. McIntyre, of this village, who is wood-ranging in the township of Apsley, sends us the following flattering account of the northern part of this and the adjoining county:—

"I have had the opportunity of seeing and exploring that portion of Canada embracing the counties of Peterborough and Victoria. My time is principally spent in looking up the pine limits of lumbermen, but my attention has recently been called to very valuable mineral deposits in various sections of that portion I have gone over. In the township of Anstruther, north of Apsley, where Mr. J. B. McWilliams is advocating for a colonization road to Monmouth to connect with the Burleigh road, I saw valuable deposits of metal that were similar to that found in the Bruce Mines on Lake Superior. While in some sections there is plenty ore, there is also any quantity of good farming lands. The ore seen by me I believe to be copper. If the Government would assist Mr. McWilliams, wood ranger, to get the road through, say next season, it might astonish them to see what the country would develop. It seems strange to me that the Government should spend so much money in regions of Canada that little require it, and leave undeveloped so fine a section of country as I have mentioned. If the Government would build this road, it would in a short time be the means of having the country filled up with sturdy farmers' sons in want of land, and no doubt but Fenelon would furnish her quota. I have been a wood ranger for 20 years, and must say that it is as fine a section as I have met any where during my ranging."

CANADIANS ABROAD

To the Editor of the EXAMINER.

DEAR EXAMINER.—Appreciating your kindly interest in the affairs of Canadians abroad, as is manifested by your weekly correspondence from the West and North-West, I thought it might not be uninteresting to some of your readers to hear from the East. Princeton Theological Seminary has acquired so great a fame for itself in the past that it has attracted men from all quarters of the globe to sit at the feet of the intellects that are moulding so much of the religious belief of to-day. India, Turkey, England, and every state of the Union, are contributing students—and Canada is also furnishing her quota of persons desirous of reaping some benefit from her neighbors' superiority. There are fourteen of us here this year (several of whom hail from Peterborough,) and, true to the old proverb, "Birds of a feather flock together," we flock together occasionally; and cemented by the ties of home, and kindred and friends, and religion, give vent to our good wishes for the prosperity of the land of our birth, and our love and loyalty to our Queen. One of these meetings of our "C. I. P. Society" (Canadian Institute of Princeton) was held last night in its rooms in the old Seminary where a company of about twenty-five persons—including among the guests, Drs. Patton and McCurdy of the Seminary Staff—sat down to a well-spread table. After doing justice to the good things provided, the remainder of the evening was spent in the pleasantest manner possible—toasts, speeches, songs, &c., being heartily enjoyed by the company till a late hour. Among the toasts received most heartily were, "The Queen," responded to by Mr. Laidlaw of Barrie, and Mr. Jones of Philadelphia; "The President," to which Messrs. Ingles of Toronto, and Patton of Ohio made stirring responses; "Canadian Colleges," was acknowledged in suitable terms by Messrs. Myers of Toronto University, and McTavish of Queen's College; "The future of Canada," and "Princeton Seminary," drew forth thrilling speeches from Professors McCurdy and Patton; "The Ladies," of course, though absent were not forgotten, and gallant replies were given by Mr. W. H. Hunt and others. Music, vocal and instrumental, was freely given, and well received, and at midnight the pleasure was brought to a climax and close as well by the familiar strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

There are many items of interest associated with Princeton which I may be tempted to give you at some future date.

Yours &c., R. H. M.

GRIST MILL.—From reports, the long talked of grist mill is to be erected at last, on the mill site belonging to Col. Williams, of Port Hope. But this is a but.

THE OLD MILL.—Some time ago it was reported that a Mr. Adam Scott had purchased the old mill property, subject to Mr. John Hall, senr's life lease, but it has ended seemingly only in talk, as there is no sign of Mr. S's taking hold of it as yet.

A good, general blacksmith is much required here, and lots of business to do and pay good. Plenty good farmers in this vicinity.

EFFECTS OF EATING SNOW AND ICE.—It is stated upon the authority of a prominent medical gentleman that the practice of eating snow and ice, so common among school children, is a frightful cause of catarrh. The hard plate which forms the roof of the mouth also forms the floor of the nostrils, and is no thicker than pasteboard. The chilling effect of the snow and ice brought freely in contact with this thin partition—the upper covering of which is a sensitive membrane, made up mostly of fine blood vessels and nerves—produces congestion, often succeeded by chronic inflammation, known as catarrh.

CONSUMPTION IS CURABLE in the early stages, not by stimulants, nor poisons, which substitute one form of irritation for another, both of which nature must get rid of before rallying, but by food—the only remedy. The waste is the result of faulty nutrition, not limited to the lungs, but a systematic starvation. Here use Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya to secure digestion and assimilation, and if you have sense enough to persist until the balance of outcome and income is restored you may get well.

ARCHBISHOP LYNCH caused to be read in the Catholic churches a manifesto respecting interference in elections, but it cannot be had for publication. It is understood he cautions the clergy against such interferance and tells the parishoners to vote as they think proper.

FOR A' THAT.

Is there an honest poverty
Wha hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward-slave, we pass him by;
We dare be poor for a' that.
For a' that and a' that,
Our toils obscure, and a' that.
The rank is but the guinea's stamp—
The man's the gowd for a' that.

What tho' on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray, and a' that;
Gie fools their silks, and knaves their wine.
A man's a man for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though e'er sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

You see yon birkie ca'd a lord,
Who struts, and stares and a' that—
Tho' hundreds worship at his word,
He is but a coof for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
His ribband, star, and a' that,
The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that.

A prince can make a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that,
But an honest man's aboon his might—
Guid faith, he mauna fa' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that;
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will for a' that,
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree, and a' that:
For a' that, and a' that,
It's coming yet, for a' that—
When man to man, the world o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that.

PERMANENT PASTURES.

VIEWS OF PROFESSOR BROWN OF THE GUELPH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

At the meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, at Belleville, last week, Prof. Brown, of the Ontario Agricultural College, gave an address on permanent pastures, impressing strongly upon the Convention the theory in connection with mixed farming in Ontario, that root cultivation and permanent pasture were the making of our best agriculture. They constituted the surest foundation of future success; the one meant liberalism, the other stood for conservatism. The two were inseparable in their natural upbuilding, whatever they might be politically. In regard to pasture it had to be remembered that Ontario was not a grazing country. It had no natural or artificial runs. The Province was too rich all over to afford space for the cattle ranche or the sheep walk. Our farmers were grain growers, and therefore beef growers in that connection. It could not be said, however, that Ontario could not graze her own cattle. Farmers could do it were they willing to do it, but they did not as yet quite feel the want of it, or rather the value of being able to make all their own beef, mutton, and milk from pasture alone for one-half the year. It was a pity that farmers were not fully alive to the importance of this subject. Most of them were content to turn out their young cattle to the bush, meadow stubble, or timothy pasture, where no doubt their progress might be very good; but after all there was in this system no annual and monthly reliability, no unvarying round of plants to meet all the wants of animals that should be rushed for the market

THE KIND OF PASTURE NEEDED.

It was obvious that Ontario farmers stood in need of pasture that, first, gives several crops per annum; second, offers an early and late bite; third, cannot be destroyed by drought or frost; fourth, gives the largest quantity and best quality of dairy produce at the least possible cost; fifth, gives the largest quantity and best quality of beef and mutton at the least cost; sixth, can be used as a soiling crop; seventh, keeps animals in the best health; eighth is inexpensive to produce and maintain; ninth, is reliable at all times and permanent. In establishing a permanent pasture it was desirable that the kinds of grass selected should not all, or even many of them, ripen during one month or leave off altogether at the same time of the year. Beginning in 1877 they had had very great satisfaction in growing nine grasses and five clovers in connection with this subject at the experimental farm. The lecturer here exhibited a diagram showing all the plants mentioned in the order of precedence. He called particular attention to the which gives the pasture a start at the end of April, and continued right into the snow. Its persistent monthly reproduction of a branchy succulent giving sixteen tons per acre per annum made it the king of soiling crops, and the most reliable in permanent pasture because of its repeated annual growths and durability. It was the only safe starter in April. The common red clover was not much behind, but only good for two cuts or "bites" per season. It did not give a monthly crop like the Lucerne. The famous British-soiling grasses, Italian and perennial, followed these, and under very favorable circumstances helped from May to part of September. The people of Ontario would be surprised indeed were they able to grow these grasses as at Edinburgh, Scotland, where the annual rent by cuttings for dairy cows fetches £150 per acre.

LUCERNE CLOVER.

FAN OAT GRASS

was a 4 months crop, and a thoroughly reliable one in any weather. Indeed, along with timothy, orchard, meadow fescue, and fan oat made of themselves all the bottom and variety the most of graziers need desire. Meadow fescue was a strong plant not afraid of heat and difficulties. The common trifoil or yellow clover, while not much relished by animals, was yet of account in regard of variety, and stood well between the early red clover and the later white and alsike. The hunchy, strong, self-willed orchard was one of our standards, safe to stand, though equalled by meadow fescue and fan oat. In regard to the drought difficulty it was not necessary to say much about timothy, the American hay plant, which was certainly of immense value in the list. It was later than some other grasses, but is always present from the end of May on to winter. The

KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS

was but one of the many members of the same family common in nature all over this continent. Late grasses were not generally very valuable feeding ones, and in his list were two, red top and bent, which were not high in any part of the world for rich produce. As would be seen by the diagram the combination of grasses which have just been described would furnish one growth in April, nine in May, thirteen in June, fourteen in July and August, with ten in September, and four fresh in October. This, he thought, should meet the desires of the most fastidious of cattle and sheep. In spite of the severe drought of last summer the experimental farm permanent pasture was never bare nor wanting a fresh bite, though heavily stocked, but so close and strong was the growth that it had to be separated with the hand in order to afford an opportunity to examine the surface of the soil. The lecturer then proceeded to give the results of experiments or observations as to the comfort of some of the

PRINCIPAL GRASSES

as they stood in separate plots on August 30th, 1881. Rye grasses and perennial chiefly looks fresher, and are better as pasture than red top and timothy. Fan oat is about equal to meadow fescue, which is saying a good deal. Meadow fescue stands the drought best better than orchard and timothy. Close, rich, green, and vigorous orchard is somewhat behind meadow fescue and fan oat, but not much. Timothy is very good, but presents no bite for cattle. It is dry and somewhat withered and takes a fourth place. Kentucky blue grass is wiry and dry with a good sward. Red top, a good tough sod, is about equal to timothy, though presenting no bite. The lecturer next adverted to the fact that during the last half century the best managed old pastures of England had stood at more value per acre than the richest arable land, partly because of their permanency and the reliability of crops, and largely because of their being able to graze three cows per acre. He thought there was no reason why Ontario could not at least do one-third as well as England had done in this respect.

EXPERIMENTAL TESTS.

For three years in succession on the experimental farm, on a small scale, on comparatively old permanent pasture, as well as on that of two years' standing, they had clearly proved that seven sheep per acre could be well grazed on permanent pasture. There was therefore no other form of fodder that could do the same thing. The average timothy and clover pastures of the Province in connection with mixed farming just grazed one animal to every three acres, taking from the first of May to the middle of October. On an average of years it had been shown that 3½ cows could be kept on three acres of permanent pasture of the kind required, and as two-year-old steers and heifers preparing for the butcher eat more than ordinary milch cows, he would say one beefing animal per acre. There were at present 20,000,000 of arable acres in Ontario, possessing practically no permanent pasture, but 3,500,000 acres of rotation pastures that do, or should, maintain 1,100,000 head of beefing cattle. If there was only one-tenth of this rotation pasture under permanent form the annual gain to the Province would exceed $11,000,000. The magnitude and material value of a few acres per farm in first-class permanent pasture was thus apparent. When everything was propitious, and where no regular soiling crops were upheld, could always be had from well managed permanent pasture early and late, at ten tons per acre green weight. While it could not be maintained that there was no trouble, time, and expense incurred in establishing successfully all that was desired in this connection, nor that its permanency and value could be upheld without fertilizing materials, it was not difficult to see that once fairly afoot permanent pasturage cost a great deal less per acre each year, proportionately to the produce received, than any other crops could possibly do. The successful establishment and maintenance of such a pasture implied; first, a favourable position; second, a deep retentive, dry soil; third, a rich, fine, friable surface; fourth, early, thick, shallow feeding; fifth, no accompanying crop; sixth, no grazing during the first year, very little the second year, but heavy in after years; seventh, fertilizing every third year.

CONTINUOUS CROPS

HIGH COMMENDATION.

Hon. Harris Lewis spoke in the most complimentary terms of the lecture. The lecture and the diagrams accompanying it would, if acted upon, be of vastly more value to the Province than all that the maintenance of the Agricultural College and the experimental farm would cost in forty years. He thought that the Kentucky blue grass was indigenous to the soil of North America from the 34th parallel to the North Pole. At the same time there were some soils that were not at all well adapted for it, while others were found to produce it in great luxuriance. He did not think timothy a good pasture grass. It had a large bulbous root at the very surface of the ground, which was subject to be ousted by the hoofs of the animals or scorched by the sun in dry, hot weather. The suggestion of Prof. Brown thoroughly met his approval, and in view of the system of seeding pursued by Canadian farmers, they were particularly well-timed. Prof. Brown had given them not only thoroughly sound theory, but had very lucidly demonstrated how this theory could be put in practice.

SETTING FENCE POSTS.

It is believed by many that posts set "top end down," or the reverse of the position in which the tree grew, will last much longer than when set "top end up." Prof. W. J. Beal, of the Michigan Agricultural College, has made some experiments to test the value of this opinion. He says:—

"In the spring of 1879, I selected seasoned sticks three feet long. These were split in two and cut in two, making four pieces of each. One set was placed in well-drained sand, the other in clay soil. In every case pieces were set side by side with earth between, one as it stood in the tree, the other reversed. I tried thirteen kinds of timber. Some of these were young wood with the bark on. All contained some hard wood. Those set in sandy land have just been examined. In the case of the beach, sugar-maple, ironwood, black ash and black cherry, the piece reversed, or placed 'top end down,' was somewhat most decayed. In the case of the red maple, American elm, butternut, and red elm, the reversed piece was a trifle the soundest. In the case of basswood, white ash, white oak, and blue ash, there was no perceptable difference. I infer that where one piece was decayed more than the other, it was caused by some trifling difference in the sticks. The freshly sawed ends in each case were placed uppermost, and came an inch or so above the ground."

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply 48-ly

No article ever attained such unbounded popularity in so short a time as Burdock Blood Bitters, and that too during the existance of countless numbers of widely advertised bitters and blood purifiers. It is evident that this medicine begins its work at once, and leaves no desirable effect unattained. 7-2t

ANTEDILUVIAN AGES.

HOW LONG DID THE PATRIARCHS LIVE?—SOME STRANGE CALCULATIONS.

Chas. S. Bryant, of St. Paul, has a communication in the February issue of the Popular Science Monthly, in which he offers some considerations to show that there was no real disparity between the ages of the patriarchs and those of men of later time. He says that a very slight error in the translation of the Hebrew numbers has led to all the apparent disparity, and insists on the authority of Genisis vi 3, that the age of the antediluvian was not to exceed 120 years. That passage read: "And the lord said, my spirit shall not always strive with men, for that he also is flesh, yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years." Mr. Bryant ascribes the errors in the ages as given in the Bible to the proper rendering of concrete numerals by the translators. He says that Genisis v. 3 is properly rendered: "Adam lived an hundred and thirty years and begat a son," &c; but that if this verse had been translated as the fifth is, in the authorized version, it would read thus: "Adam lived thirty hundred years and begat a son!" This "shocked the consciousness of the Christian translator, and he was driven to the rule of the Hebrew uses in cases of concrete numerals." In the fifth verse the authorized version reads: "And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died." The true reading by the rule, Mr. Bryant says would be: "And all the days of Adam which he lived were a hundred years, and thirty and nine years, and he died," making the entire age of Adam 130 years instead of 930 years. Mr. Bryant further says that at the date of the writing of Genesis the Hebrews had no means of writing nine hundred, or any number of hundreds above one, without repetition or circumlocution. He gives the following as the ages of the patriarchs before Noachian deluge, remarking that they are subject to a few uncertainties in the numbers below one hundred:—

	Correct Age.	Age as given in the Bible.
1. Adam	130	930
2. Seth	121	912
3. Enos	114	905

DREAMS AND THEIR CONDITIONS

Dreams are night-thoughts, unchecked by the judgment and uncontrolled by the will. It is not true that we do not reason in dreams, that the exercise of the judgment is wholly suspended, and that the will is entirely powerless or ceases to act. These faculties are not altogether in abeyance, but they dose while the subordinate powers of the mind—those which play the parts of picture-carriers and record-finders—ransack the treasures of memory and mingle together in the direst confusion old things and new. Imagination is not alive, but it remains just enough awake to supply the connecting links which give seeming continuity to those parts of the phantasmagoria which we chance to remember on recovering perfect self-consciousness, on which, being remembered, we call "dreams." No one remembers more than one dream, unless he has been roused from sleep more than once. This experience has led to the inference that dreams only occur at the moment or in the act of awaking. There are dreams which take place in the process of returning to consciousness—for example, those instantaneous scenes and spectacles which are suggested by the sound or feeling that rouses the dreamer; but, in result of a long and close study of the subject with a view to discover the nature of dreams, and the laws of dreaming, for medical purposes, in connection with the treatment of sleeplessness, I am persuaded that dreams occur in the course of sleep and are wholly forgotten. That they do not and can not take plase in deep sleep is probable, because deep sleep is general sleep, and when this state prevails the subordinate faculties are sleeping, and the pictures and records which compose dreams are not disturbed. To understand dreams we must understand sleep, and it is because the two phenomena have not hitherto been studied together that so little is generally known about either.—Popular Science.

AN EFFECTIVE TEMPERANCE LECTURER.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal is responsible for the following story: At a recent local temperance meeting a speaker, in dwelling upon the degradation caused by the appetite for liquor, said he knew a man who drank to such an extent that his whole person seemed impregnated with alcohol; his lungs, even, became so charged with it that in blowing out a candle one day his breath took fire as if it were napatha. At the conclusion of these remarks a blear-eyed and ragged man staggered forward from the rear of the hall. The audience room was packed. People standing in the aisles made a passage-way for the groping inebriate. All present thought another reformation was to come, and that the trembling toper was on his way forward to sign the ironclad pledge. The people on the stage stood ready to welcome him gladly. The besotted and rum-poisoned appearance of the old fellow made a sad and quieting impression on the crowd, and the utmost silence prevailed. He pushed his way along to the place where the last speaker sat. With a tremulous voice and swaying body he said: "My frien' (hic) I want to shake hands with you. You've saved me (hic). (Applause from the audience.) I'll swar to ye (hic) stranger, that I'll never blow out another candle's long as I live."

"I'LL TURN OVER A NEW LEAF."

It is all very well to say that you will "turn over a new leaf.', But let me ask. But what about the past black leaves of guilt? The schoolboy, after spilling the ink on the page of his copy book, turns over a new leaf, resolving that in the future he will be more careful; but "turning over a new leaf" does not remove the blotted one, and soon the teacher's eye detects the blots and punishes him for his carlessness.

It may be, dear reader, at one time you were addicted to drinking or swearing, or other bad habits; but of late you have "turned over a new leaf," and are becoming what the world would call a "reformed" person. This is right and proper, but don't forget that future good conduct can never blot out past disobedience.

A WOMAN'S HEART.

(Detroit Free Press.)

"Lemme see," said the old man musing with his chin on the top of his cane and speaking in the thrill falsetto voice of age, it must be forty-seven years since Ann Maria died, yet I can remember the very gown she wore and the color of the long curls that hung down over her shoulders, and the red on her cheeks that was like a winter apple. Dear me! she has never faded a mite in all them years, but just sits there a lookin' at me, as she did when I brought her home. You see there was a kind of romance tew it, and I've often and often thought that if I had the power and could write it out it would read beautifuller than a novel; the fact was that Ann Maria had another beau, but that ain't no wonder, for she was the smartest and prettiest and best girl in the hull country-side; but what I mean, she had favoured him ever so little afore I come around, and began keepin' her company. Folks kind of coupled their names together, and some of 'em, to bother me, hinted that she cared a heap for him. Why, you'd orter tew hev seen him! He was slim and fine as a lady and wore gaiter shoes and had holler eyes as if he'd never had quite enuff to eat. 'Ann Maria care for him?' why, the girl had sense and knew the difference atween a feller as strait as a sapling with a color like new mahogony, and such a melancholy looking specimen as that. Besides, I had a mor'gage on the old homested, and Ann Maria's father owned me money, but I did right by them. I told her of she married me I'd deed the whole thing back to her, and I did. Well, we was married, and we made as purty a couple as ever you saw in your life. Ann Maria had a settin' out of china and linen, and I provided the house, and folks said I had the best wife a man ever had in the world, and I'd got everything just as I wanted it, and s'posed it would always be so; but from the day we were married my wife failed in health and spirits, and in six months I buried her; folks said it was consumptions, but it didn't run in the family. I was blind and full of pride then; but I've thought since,"—here the old man lowered his voice—"that mebbe all the time she loved that white-faced chap as I despised. A woman's heart, I've found out, is a queer thing, and Love goes where it is sent, but if she did and married me from a mistaken sense of duty, why, all I've got to say is, I've been punished, too, for I loved her. Perhaps I never felt it as much as I did when I saw her lying white and peaceful in her chints gown, with the violet on it, and somethin round her neck that I never see before—a little cheap locket with some hair in it that wasn't mine. Then I mistrusted that her heart had broke and I said solemnly as I kissed her goodbye: 'My dear, I'll never have a wife but you if I live fourscore year and ten!' and I never have, and I think mebbe she will see that I loved her truly and forgive me at last."

SANDERSON'S

THE ARTISTS LOVE.

It was just in the shade of the ruined wall, which towered above the blue waters of the river, and when the tide was high dropped down the long trailing ivy vine to kiss the laughing waves—there sat, two women! One, with her arm resting upon a broken column, her dark eyes with the memory of the long ago stirring their brilliancy into life, gazes afar out at the floating clouds, her face a sad reflection of the past; while the other, many years younger, half knelt at her feet, and with a smile upon her red lips and the light of hope in her glorious eyes, played with the light moss upon the bank beside her.

It was a perfect picture, for the twilight crept in and fell across the foreground just enough to bring the wondrous beauty into relief!

To the artist eye of Ralph Bertram, who, wandering down the river bank, came upon them, it was a perfect harmony of light and shade—an exact subject for a master piece. Then and there he sat down, and sketched until the darkness shrouded the whole and shut it from his view. He took his sketch home, and for hours sat and gazed upon it, enraptured with the glorious beauty of the faces. Who were they? Or rather, who was she? Who was the girl with the dreamy, happy face, and dark, melting eyes, with their hopefulness and trust?

When morning dawned, he went down again to the river's bank, and watched and waited for hours; but they never came. He inquired of every passer; but no one knew them. One would say: 'Ay, yes, I have seen them—two women; one old and sad, the other young and happy. I do not know their names.'

And another would declare that he was never aware of their existence; and thus Ralph found his search a vain one. He went on working day and night upon his picture, and at last it was complete; and when he went up to his studio in the city, and placed it there, his friends held up their hands in admiration and worshipped it; and before many days it found a place in the most renowned art gallery, and all the world went crazy over it.

Thus Ralph Bertram became celebrated; and orders came upon him faster than he could fill them. He became the lion of the season, and far and near his praises were sung. But to him it was as nothing when thoughts of his beloved picture came, and hour after hour he sat and gazed upon the beautiful face like one entranced.

"I believe, Mr. Bertram, that you are positively in love with that young face," said a belle, as she came upon him in the gallery. "Was it from life or your own imagination that you painted it?

"From life!"

"Impossible! It must have been a dream! No living woman was ever blessed with such beauty?"

"Yes, one!"

The lady went away, and before night half the world was jealous of his picture, and declared him crazy.

"It must be so, for no woman was ever of such rare beauty. It was a dream, a mere hallucination?"

Bertram heard it all, and laughed. Perchance the day might come when he could bring this wondrous beauty before them, and convince them; and with this hope he laboured and sought her far and wide.

It was a cold, bitter night, and round the corners the wind swept, bringing with it gusts of hard, cutting sleet, and penetrating to the bone every unfortunate being who chanced to be abroad. Bertram came briskly down the street from his studio, warmly wrapped in a heavy coat, with a vision of his pleasant room before him, and lightly humming an opera. He had turned from the principal street, and was walking along where all was quiet, when he suddenly came upon two women, who stood near the iron railing in front of a house.

"Mother," said one, "it is but a little farther! Do try to keep up! Here lean upon me. Mother, Mother!"

She was vainly trying to support the sinking form, but not all her strength could prevent her from falling. And Bertram sprang forward in time to receive her in his strong arms as she fell back.

"Mother, oh, my mother!" was the wild, despairing cry.

"Don't be alarmed, Miss. She has only fainted, my abode is here, close at hand, and if you will assist me I will take your mother there."

The young woman obeyed him without a word, and with her assistance, Ralph bore the senseless form to his elegant apartments. There was no light in the room, and after placing the inanimate form upon the sofa, he lighted the gas. As the soft radiance shone through the room, he sprang back with an exclamation of surprise and delight. His picture! The face of his idolized one! At the sound the younger one started up and looked toward him. How beautiful she was with her hat falling back and the damp waves of chestnut hair clinging to her broad, white forehead, and the great lustrous eyes fixed in wonder upon him! Bertram could not speak.

"My mother," she began with quivering lips.

"Pardon me, I forgot myself."

And he brought wine and cordials, labored until the blood stole back in little flashes and the dark eyes opened. For several moments she did not seem to understand the strange room and surroundings, but when at length she spoke, said:

"Agnes, darling!"

"Mother, you are better?"

"Yes, yes!"

Agnes? It was like her. Pure, good, beautiful, saint like.

Bertram sat in the window until they called him. The elder was standing in the room, the mantle thrown around her, and one hand resting upon the shoulder of her daughter.

"I wish to bid you good night and thank you for your kindness. If it were in my power I would—"

"Madam, I beg you sit down. I have spent months in searching for you, and I beg you, now that I have found you, to remain here. If you are willing to confer a favor upon me, remain here to-night, at least."

"Searching for us! What do you mean?"

"You will learn one day! I owe you all I possess."

She sat back seemingly petrified with astonishment.

"Who are you? I never met you! You owe me nothing."

"Will you remain here?"

"Yes, if you need us."

After a time the noble-looking woman sat in a comfortable chair near the grate, her lovely daughter sitting at her feet, and Ralph Bertram brought forth the sketch and told the story.

"And are you the great painter, Ralph Bertram?" asked Agnes.

"I am Ralph Bertram," he answered, smilingly.

"And the great picture of which we have read was only poor mamma and I, sitting upon the bank of that beautiful river in the country where we visited that summer! How strange!"

Agnes La Grange was happy and contented in the splendid room; and with her head resting on her mother's lap, heard her tell the story of her father's death, their flight from their beautiful home in France, and of their struggles and hardships, and their utter loneliness, and smiled when Ralph Bertram gave his hand and begged them to accept his friendship.

The Art Gallery was crowded, and all the fashion of London was out and promenading up and down the grand saloon, and passing before Ralph Bertram's picture to admire and comment. All at once there was a buzz, and the crowd parted on either side. Down the opening came Bertram with a lady leaning on either arm, and as he passed, a murmur went around.

"The face in his picture! How beautiful! How perfect!"

Ralph was never happier or prouder than when he stood with his fair companions and heard their words of praise, and when Agnes whispered:

"It is grand, Ralph, and I am proud of you."

"My darling your praise is worth more than all else to me," he answered, and he pressed her hand tenderly and looked into the dark eyes, worshipped her glorious beauty with all his heart.

Once more the world gathered to envy and admire, when the handsome artist and his love stood before the alter in a fashionable church and were made one.

The great picture brought him a fortune, and the original brought him comfort and peace.

A TOO TOO ROMANCE.

SOUTH SIMCOE'S CHARMING LITTLE STORY —AN EIGHT-MONTHS' BRIDE WITH TWO HUSBANDS—SHE IS SOLD FOR $1,000.

Events that have recently transpired in a town in South Simcoe have created a sensation among all ranks of society. In order to place the circumstances in a proper light before the public it is necessary to go back to events which occured two years ago. At that time the daughter of one of the wealthiest residents of the town married a young law student. The girl was fresh from boarding school, was pretty and fascinating, a charming singer and good pianist, and was in every sense of the word just the sort of girl to impress the susceptible heart of the young student of Blackstone. Her parents were opposed to the match, owing to her intended husband's poverty; but their scruples being finally overcome, they consented to the match. After marriage the young husband found his position peculiarly trying If his new relations did not directly charge him with his poverty and living at the expense of others, they at least hinted it so often that the young benedict found his position so uncomfortable that he decided upon leaving his bride of a month and going to push his fortune in California.

Six months after the husband had left his bride a handsome traveller for a Montreal house appeared in the town. He was introduced to the young wife's father, and by him to his family. The wife of the absent student of law was residing with her parents at the time, and the Montrealer became at once favorably impressed with her charms. Apparently the attachment was reciprocal. Sleigh drives, balls, and social parties found the gay commercial and the pretty young bride inseparable companions. At last rumor united their names in a manner not at all flattering to the young lady, but apparently they were indifferent about public opinion and heedless of consequences A month after they had become acquainted society became startled by the rumoured elopement of the "commercial" and the bride of eight months. The lady who signalized herself in such a notorious manner was partially restored to public favor on the often reiterated allegation of her parents that her husband had been killed in the mines of Nevada.

The "commercial" and his much-wedded wife engaged in business, and were prospering. To all appearance she was happy, and if a thought of her first husband flitted through her mind, it was not reflected in her countenance. About two weeks ago the first husband appeared upon the scene. He was aware of what had happened, and had the melancholy satisfaction of gazing through the window like a modern Enoch Arden, at the beautiful woman, once his own but now another's. He did not, like Enoch, sigh for his lost love, and leave her to her new found happiness. His was a more practical turn of mind, and as he did not desire to repossess himself of his false wife, like a true student of law, negotiated with husband No. 2, the results being that husband No. 1 received a solatium to the extent of $1,000. Strange to add, this wife of two husbands was almost indifferent as to the result of the consultation having such particular reference to herself. If they could agree about her ownership she would be satisfied with the decision. So the matter stands at present, and it is not at all likely that an appeal to law will be made.

CALISAYA, THE PERUVIAN or Jesuit's Bark, is the best bitter tonic we have in all febrile conditions, and in neuralgia and rheumatic pains, from weak digestion and assimilation, and, as combined in Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, forms a permanent strengthening nutritive in all used-up conditions of the system from the various causes which lead to nerve prostration. This combination is made by a process peculiar to the inventor, and there is no substitute that will do its work. 7-1t.

THE CAUSES OF COLDS are getting overheated in hot rooms or crowded assemblies, sitting in a draft, or cooling too rapidly after exercise, muffling up warm and changing to lighter wrappings, cold and damp feet. No matter what is the cause Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the cure for all throat and lung diseases that induce consumption. 7-2t

HAZEL KIRK'S STRATAGEM.

THE LATEST UTTERLY UTTER TALE OF KNEE-STRUNG LOVE AND CHICAGO ARTIFICE.

"Well, Hazel, don't you think you had better shift onto the other knee for a while?"

Hazel Quirk looked quickly up at Lord Traverse Bay, the love-light beaming forth from her eyes with a tender radiance that told more plainly than could any words the deep affection she bore him. but there was in the look a pleading wistfulness, a sense of trustful security, that touched his very heart. She did not speak, but placing a dimpled arm around his neck, drew his face down and kissed him with a soft, melting, three-for 50 cents kiss that she kept on tap only for him, and then her eyes shone forth again the love that her lips could not utter, while the drooping mouth quivered as if in pain.

"You are not well, darling," said Percy Hazahn (his week day name) in agonized tones, the words nearly choking him as he spoke. "Let me bring your vinagret, or a bottle of saltzer—a quaff or two of that would revive you."

But Hazel only laid her head on his shoulder, wound her white arms around his neck, and began to sob as it her heart would break.

"Hazel, what have I done to cause you this bitter anguish? Speak, my angel, speak and tell me wherein the fault lies. Demand of me any sacrifice, no matter how great, and it shall be cheerfully made. I have a large, red apple in my overcoat pocket, and it shall be yours—all yours, if you will only speak."

Slowly from the shoulder blade rose the little head with its mass of brown curls, slowly turned the pure, beautiful face of Hazel Quirk, until Percy again looked down into those eyes that had so lately beamed forth merry glances and saw once more the little nose that had so often burrowed in his vest. "You will surely keep your promise?" Hazel asked between the convulsive sobs that seemed to be breaking her heart and seriously disarranging her liver.

"Of course I will, my sweet," replied Percy. "You shall have the apple."

"And is it a really and truly red one?" asked the girl, again sobbing as if her heart would break.

"Yes, my love."

"Hope to die if it ain't?"—this between the sobs.

"Yes."

"Criss-cross?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well,"—and here she broke down afresh, but finally mastered her grief and spoke—"Papa has soaked the mill."

"What!" exclaimed Percy in tones of astonishment, "soaked the mill that has been his home so long?"

"Same mill," replied Hazel, wringing out her handkerchief and flahing up a dry one from the sleeping-car of her polonaise.

"Well, that is sad, indeed," said Percy, "but what matters it to us?"

"Ah! you do not understand," sobbed the girl, "you do not drop."

"Why, what do you mean, Hazel? You have concealed something from me, else why this juggling with words?"

"I mean, Percy," said Hazel in low, bitter tones, "that the mill is mortgaged, and that I am to pay the debt."

"What! my Hazel collateral security? It cannot, must not be!"

"But it is," was the tearful response.

"I care not," exclaimed the young man. "You shall not be sacrificed. I will marry you to-morrow and thwart this vile plan of Jim Rodney's."

"You will?" said the girl, looking at him eagerly and jumping lightly from his knee.

"I will."

The little head fell on his shirt-front with a dull thud.

Hazel had fainted.

Placing her carefully on a fautenil Lord Traverse Bay kissed the tear stained cheeks and started out to borrow a dollar and a half from his mother with which to get the marriage license. As the sound of his footsteps died away Dunstan Quirk entered the room where Hazel was lying. She rose as he opened the door and smiled faintly.

"Did you give him the racket, sis?" the old man asked.

"Yes, papa."

"And did he fall into the net?"

"I should smile."

"Suckers are pretty thick this winter, my child," said Dunstan Quirk, "and you are the girl that can land them."

We call the special attention of postmasters and subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning a paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

3. If any person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a newspaper and periodicals from the post-offic, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facia evidence of intentional fraud.

People have no more right to become dyspeptic, and remain gloomy and miserable, than they have to take poison and commit suicide. If the stomach becomes weak and fails to perform its functions, Burdock Blood Bitters will speedily remedy the trouble. 7-2t

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

POUSSETTE & ROGER, Managers.

Peterborough, January, 1881.

Application may be made to Mr. JAMES WASON, or Mr. GEORGE B. CALVERT, the Company's Valuators, Peterborough.

It's a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

LEFT OVER.—We are compelled through pressure on space to hold over two communications on the Mutcal Aid, editorial politicol news, and a quantity of other matter.

LAKEFIELD SKATING CARNIVAL.—Another masquerade skating carnival—the second of the season—will be held on the Lakefield skating rink, to-morrow (Friday) evening. It is probable a number from town will attend.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 48-tf.

PRESENTATION.—Tuesday evening, the teachers of the Baptist S. S. waited upon Miss Julia Brooke, one of their number, and presented her with an elegant China tea set as a remembrance of their labors together. The occasion was her retirement from the Sunday school, on the eve of her expected marriage.

FIRE.—On Saturday forenoon a wooden building adjacent to Calcutt's brewery, Ashburnham, and used as a storehouse by Mr. R. D. Rogers was destroyed by fire. For a time the brewery was considered in danger, but the flames were kept in subjection by those working in the neighborhood until the arrival of the steam fire engine, when they were speedily overcome. Loss about $400. No insurance.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment held in the Opera House, on Thursday last, was very well attended, considering the unpropitious state of the weather. The tableaux and pantomimes showed exceedingly good taste, originality of thought and careful preparation, and met with hearty appreciation from the audience. The performers showed much histrionic talent, and were well applauded. The proceeds were for St. Luke's Pasonage Fund.

NEW YORK POST OFFICE.—Wm. H. Wareing, Esq., Asst. General Supt. Third Division Mailing and Distributing Dept., New York Post Office, in writing concerning St. Jacobs Oil, says: The reports from the several superintendents and clerks who have used the Oil agree in praising it highly. It has been found efficacious in cuts, burns, soreness and stiffness of the joints and muscles, and affords a ready relief for rheumatic complaints. Hon. T. L. James, now Postmaster-General of the U. S., concurred in the foregoing.

CRYSTAL CITY.—At the sale of Crystal City lots last week, at Stapleton's auction rooms, between three and four hundred were disposed of, the following parties being the principal buyers:—T. Bradburn, G. Edmison, B. Shortly, W. Lee, W. Lasher, H. LeBrun, A. Clegg, J. F. Austin, E. W. Low, T. Sherin, A. Carman, J. Sawers, W. H. Hill, W. Smith, H. B. Meharry, E. Morgan, R. E. Wood, J. Mitchell, Jas. T. Stenson, E. Phelan, H. T. Strickland, Jos. Sawdye, G. S. Kingan, W. Hudson, J. Carlisle. R. White and H. Ross.

T. V. C.—On Wednesday last, in reply to a question from Mr. Hector Cameron, M. P., for North Victoria, Sir Charles Tupper said that the Engineer-in-Chief had made a careful location in reference to the Trent Valley Canal, with the view of the construction of that work. Owing to the difficulty of the work the Engineer had reported verbally that he would not be able to complete the survey during the present year, but he expected shortly to make a progress report, and on that report the question would be considered whether the work would be proceeded with in part or in whole.

A VALUABLE MOUTHFUL.—The Fenelon Falls Gazette says that last harvest time a hired man in the employ of Mr. John Kelly, of Verulam, lost a half sovereign that he had brought from the old country with him and kept with other coins in his pocket. A close search was made for it, and Mr. Kelly's children were interrogated, but to no purpose, and the owner of it never expected to see it again. But he was mistaken; for one day last week Mrs. Kelly killed a young rooster and found in his gizzard the missing gold piece. It was nearly smooth by the action of the gravel that the bird had swallowed to assist in grinding its food, but there is no doubt about its being the half sovereign, though probably somewhat depreciated in value. The supposition is that the coin slipped out of the owner's pocket while he was reclining on a bench outside the house, as he was in the habit of doing, and that the rooster snapped it up under the impression that it was good to eat.

AWNINGS.—L. Robinson has on hand a large stock of material for awnings, and can furnish all styles at reasonable figures.

"COMING EVENTS, ETC."—We have received a capital portrait of Adam Forepaugh, which we take as an indication that the original will visit Ontario next summer with his mammoth show, and the $10,000 beauty.

ARCTIC DISCOVERY.—Commander Cheyne, R. N., will this evening deliver in the Opera House, under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute, his highly interesting and instructive lecture on "Arctic Discoveries and Voyages in the Northern Seas."

MATRIMONIAL.—Mr. J. C. Howarth, of Montreal, lead to the altar on Wednesday, Miss Robinson of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Bell. We join with the numerous friends of Mr. Howarth, in tendering him our congratulations and we wish the young couple the utmost joy and happiness.

FORESTER'S ANNIVERSARY.—The anniversary entertainment of Court Peterborough No. 20, Canadian Order of Foresters, will be held this evening in their Court Room (Orange Hall) corner of George and Simcoe Streets. Tea will be served at 7.30 o'clock sharp, after which an entertaining programme is promised.

WEEKLY TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic of the Midland Railway for the week ending February 11th 1882, was as follows: Passengers and Mails, $4,702.15; Freight, $9,767.34; Total, $14,569.49 as compared with $8,005.45 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $6,464.04; and the aggregate traffic to date is $75,652.77, being an increase of $20,689.09 over 1881.

NOTICE.—Having determined on leaving Peterborough and going to Manitoba, and having disposed of my business, I require payment of all outstanding accounts on or before the 4th March. Any not settled at that time will be placed in Court for collection. Any person having an account against me, will please send it in at once. JOSEPH DANN, V. S. 8-1t

A GOOD EFFECT.—The conviction of two boys before the Police Magistrate, for making noise and otherwise disturbing the entertainment in the Opera House last Thursday evening, has evidently had a beneficial effect, as the best of order has been maintained at the performances since. A few more examples made, and we believe this intolerable nuisance would be completely removed.

NEW MAIL SERVICE.—The following Circular received from the Post Office Inspector, speaking for itself:—

POST OFFICE INSPECTOR'S OFFICE.
KINGSTON, ONT., Feb. 16, 1882.

To the Proprietor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—In all probability the Mails will be conveyed by Grand Junction Railway, commencing 1st of March, leaving Belleville at 7 a.m., and Peterborough at 3 p.m.—
Please govern yourselves accordingly.
Yours,
GILBERT GRIFFIN,
Post Office Inspector.

THE LATE SUICIDE.—The jury empannelled by Coroner Fife, to enquire into the cause of the death of the late John Phelan who cut his throat on Wednesday evening of last week, after hearing the evidence returned the following verdict:—"That John Phelan came to his death by cutting his throat with a razor while laboring under temporary derangement, and it appears from the evidence that although deceased had been in the habit of drinking, he had not been doing so for the last five or six days previous to his death."

THE WEATHER for the past week or two has been so pleasant that one would almost imagine the clerk of the weather had got a month or two out of his reckoning and given us April instead of February weather. This week, however, the temperature has considerably changed and we are once more treated to weather which reminds us that winter has not yet departed. In some sections we learn that the fall wheat has suffered considerably, especially on low wet soil where it is badly heaved and looks brown and dead. On high land and well drained soil no apparent injury is noticeable.

CARNWELL LODGE I.O.G.T.—About fifty members of Union Lodge, No. 51, fourth line of Smith, returned the visit of Carswell Lodge last Friday night, and were heartily welcomed on behalf of the Lodge by Bro. G. J. Early with a short but appropriate speech. After partaking of the refreshments provided by the members, our visiting Brothers and Sisters gave a very interesting programme, consisting of readings, songs, recitations and dialogues, and an interesting speech by Bro. Young brought the meeting to a close. Bro. Paul, Lodge Deputy, occupied the chair during the programme, after which the Worthy Chief closed the meeting in its regular form.

THE CAR WORKS.—On Thursday last, Mr. Stratton received the following telegram from Dr. Kincaid, in reference to the legislation, asked for by the Town Council, to enable them to take stock in the proposed Car Works Company:—

TOROKTO, February 16th, 1882.

To J. R. STRATTON.

DEAR SIR,—The Attorney-General declines to change the law in your case, but recommends council to proceed and he will grant you the legislation required next session, in the usual way.

R. KINCAID, M. P P.

As will be seen by a resolution passed at the meeting of council on Tuesday evening, the matter has been referred to the Finance Committe to prepare a by-law for submission to the ratepayers, granting aid by way of bonus until the special legislation required, can be obtained next session, when the town will receive stock in lieu thereof.

ABSCONDING APPRENTICES.—The Lindsay Post of last week has the following very suitable remarks in reference to a habit which is now becoming so general that master printers, to protect their own interests, must ere long stamp out. "Mr. J. B. Trayes of the Port Hope Times, had a lad named Haskill, who had been employed in that office, arrested in Toronto on a charge of violating his apprenticeship bonds. It is quite plain that something of the kind will come into fashion if there is not a radical change made in the apprenticeship of lads as it now stands. And yet publishers have only themselves to blame. The papers are inserting advertisements every day in which boys of two or three years are practically asked to leave the employer, whose material they have trifled with and whose time they have made use of to gain some knowledge of the trade, and run off to some one else who may offer a few cents more remuneration for their alleged day's work. It is surprising that members of the craft have not taken steps to try and shut off the evil, for an evil it is. It is largely responsible for letting loose upon employing printers a set of hands who are presumptions as to wages and failures as to ability. Let employers quit enticing boys away from other offices and other towns, let them refuse to profit—if profit it be by what another employer has managed to cram into some lad's head. This thing seldom occurs in Lindsay, but we can see how it must in dozens of offices in the province.

TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS.—The Port Hope Guide says the general manager of the Bell Telephone Company was in that town last week endeavouring to make arrangements to connect Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough by telephone.

CHANGED HANDS.—We understand the mill and limits of the Guelph lumber company, Parry Harbour, comprising a large area of timber, have been purchased by a new company composed of Messrs. D Ullyot, G. A. Cox, John Bertram and a gentleman from Toronto.

ALLANDALE MILLS.—An entertainment was held on Monday evening last, in the Town Hall, Allandale, in aid of the English Church in that place. Rev. Mr. Marsh, curate, acted as chairman. The first part of the programme consisted of views shown by means of a sciopticon, upon which running comments were made by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. Afterwards readings and songs were given by Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Wilson, Miss H. Graystock, Dr. Harrison, Mr. W. Dixon and Messrs. Marsh and Bradshaw. A dialogue was rendered by four young ladies, entitled "A tea party," which brought down the house. Proceeds over fifteen dollars.

THE PORT HOHE CARNIVAL.

The Masquerade Carnival at Port Hope on Monday night was, we understand from the Guide, one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in that place. The event had been looked forward to with a great deal of interest in Peterborough as it was understood a large number were going down to compete for the prizes offered. Through the enterprise of Messrs. J. E. Hawkins and F. R. Stewart a special train was secured to convey the party home the same night. Some forty or fifty left here on the 6.40 train a large number of whom were in costumes, and from the annexed list of prize winners it will be seen that in skating as in other sports and pastimes Peterborough takes a front place. The following are the names of those from Peterborough who appeared in costumes:

Best comic Costume, 3rd, Master W. Logan. Best amateur skater (gent), silver medal, Mr. E. J. Hartley. Master R. T. Hartley's skating also received honorable mention.

The party returned home about midnight well satisfied with the result of the trip.

RAILWAY NOTES.

A spur line from the vicinity of Downer's Corners, on the Grand Junction Division, to the main line of the Midland, is being located.

The Independent, in an article on the Midland amalgamation, says:—"It would be a calamity to this district if Mr. Cox should be prevented carrying out his plans."

The traffic of the Midland Railway for the week ending Feb. 18th, 1882, was $14,469.97, as compared with $8,822.68 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $5,647.29; and the aggregate traffic to date is $90,123.29, being an increase of $35,346.38 over 1881.

The Toronto World is strenuously advocating opposition to the proposed Midland amalgamation scheme, as well as other railway legislation asked for by western companies. As the Midland's Bill, with a few slight amendments, has passed the Railway Committee of the House, it is altogether improbable that it will be defeated.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"One of the first enterprises to be undertaken by the new Midland Railway is to be the erection of a large grain elevator in Belleville, the same size as the one recently erected in Midland City, at a cost of $100,000. Engineers will be here next week for the purpose of selecting a site. It is probable that Mill Island will be negotiated for. Mr. Cox, the President of the road, assured the City Solicitor yesterday that the elevator will be completed before fall.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Council was held on Tuesday evening last. Present, His Worship the Mayor and all the Councillors except Messrs. Paterson and Denne.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was disposed with.

The Mayor said he had called the council together to consider a proposition from Mr. Brodie asking for exemption from taxation for ten years on a Woollen Mill which he purposed starting here if his request was granted. He would read the following letters, one sent to the council and the other to Mr. W. Hamilton.

To the Mayor and Council of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—I have been in communication with a number of parties in regard to establishing a Woollen Mill, and visiting your town last week, arranged with the Trustees of the Dickson Estate to occupy their building, and also another one which they are to build. I would put in one set to commence running at nights, employing 25 to 30 hands, put in another sett next winter and make it equal to three setts in a year and a half. To enable me to compete successfully with other manufacturers, I beg for exemption from taxation for a term of ten years on the whole property. I may say that our trade will be entirely for the wholesale market, no local or custom trade. I will be pleased to hear from you at the earliest possible moment, and trust you will give the matter your kindest consideration.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
A. W. BRODIE.

To Wm. Hamilton, Esq.

DEAR SIR.—I send you two letters as sample to show you what we are offered. We have fine first class water powers that will compare favorably with Peterborough, viz: Elora, three different offers, nominal rent of building and ten years exemption; Paisley, bonus of $5,000 or over and ten years exemption; Guelph, ten years exemption; Stratford, free site, power and ten years exemption; Newcastle, $6,000 bonus and ten years exemption. Also good offers from Chatham, St. Catharines, London, Dundas, Walkerton, Ayr, Kingston, Durham, Colborne, Almonte, Carleton Place, Perth, Napanee, Belleville, Port Hope and some sixty other offers received in answer to our advertisement. Peterborough has perhaps the best power and we only ask for exemption, but should we not get it we can't afford to go, and will go elsewhere. This is sure.

In our letter yesterday we mean that in running one sett at night we only run cards; that the other machinery—spinning and looms, will be equal to two setts, and running two sett at night, the other machinery will be equal to four sett.

I am, yours &c.,
A. W. BRODIE.

Moved by Mr. Poussette, seconded by Mr. Menzies,—That it is expedient to grant Mr. A. Brodie's application for exemption from taxation for a period of ten years, and that it be referred to the Finance Committee to prepare the necessary by-laws for carying out this object; and that a copy of the above resolution be sent to Mr. Brodie forthwith, and that he be telegraphed to-morrow morning to the effect of this resolution, and requested to attend a meeting of the Finance Committee next Friday evening—Carried.

STEAM FIRE ENGINE.

The Mayor said he had been requested to draw the attention of the Council to the fact that the steam fire engine was greatly out of repairs, and that the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee did not feel like taking the responsibility of having them made without the sanction of the Council.

In answer to an enquiry, the Clerk said the repairs would cost about $100.

Moved by Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Richardson,—That the Engineer of the steam fire engine be instructed to have the fire engine repaired with as little delay as possible, and that Mr. Hamilton be requested to procure the flues at once.—Carried.

THE CAR WORKS.

The Mayor stated that he believed the application to the Attorney-General for legislation in favour of allowing the town to take stock in the proposed car works had been refused, but the promise was given that special legislation would be allowed next session.

Mr. Poussette said in view of the fact that legislation as asked for had been refused, the best way to accomplish what was wanted, was to follow out the suggestion at the public meeting, and apply for special legislation at next session, as Mr. Mowat had promised to allow such to be passed. He would, therefore, submit the following resolution:—

Moved by Mr. Poussette, seconded by Mr. Kelly,—That whereas it is expedient to grant a bonus of $20,000 to the proposed car works co'y, on condition that the amount of said bonus be repaid to the town upon the town taking stock in the company to the same amount, it is, therefore, referred to the Finance Committee to prepare the necessary by-law for submission to the Council at its next meeting, and to the ratepayers, in accordance with the resolution of the ratepayers passed at the meeting of the Council in Committee of the whole, held for the purpose of considering the matter.—Carried.

SIDEWALKS AND CROSSINGS.

Moved by Mr. Richardson, seconded by Mr. Douglas,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be instructed to advertise for tenders for cedar and lumber necessary for sidewalks and crossings, with power to act.—Carried.

SIDEWALKS.

The Street Inspector was instructed to lay down a temporary crossing on Smith street, opposite the house lately occupied by Mr. Blackwell.

The Council adjourned.

MUSICAL.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

DEAR SIR,—I have been wondering for some time past why advantage has not been taken of the presence in our midst of Prof. Additon, to form a large musical class, composed of the several church choirs, for the purpose of having his valuable assistance to acquire the knowledge of how to sing by note instead of by ear, as is the case,—generally speaking. Since Mr. A. has had the choir of the George St. Methodist church in training, a marked improvement in their singing on Sundays is noticeable. I believe he is a well-informed musical instructor, and I hope to see general advantage taken of his talents while here, by the lovers of music in our town. I myself have been taking private lessons and I can testity to his abilities as a teacher of music; as a violinist, he has few equals, and I trust that he will be so encouraged by our townspeople as to decide to take up his residence permanently amongst us.

Yours, &c.,
A LOVER OF MUSIC.
Peterborough, Feb. 21st, 1882.

Hon. Mr. Fraser's Bill, amending the law of libel, is a decided step in advance. Heretofore a man could make a libellous statement at a public meeting, and if it were reported the newspaper was liable for the libel. Mr. Fraser proposes that such publication shall be privileged, leaving the utterer of the libel to bear the brunt. This is decidedly a sound ground to take. A newspaper that publishes a speech does not necessarily endorse its sentiments.

A thousand dictionaries in out-of-the-way places will not instruct, while a single dictionary, mounted in a Noyes Dictionary Holder, will instruct thousands. In fact, the Holder is the great helper of the great lexicons, and in making their vast stores of learning available, is second only in importance to the lexicons themselves. The Holder is now made in five styles, but our special attention is called to the Lacquered White Holder, the finish of which is more durable and brilliant than Nickel, and has much the appearance of silver. This finish consists of a heavy metal plating, is exceedingly attractive, and will withstand any amount of rough usage. The Tilting Top Holder is meeting with great favor wherever seen. A neat attachment is now made for holding newspapers and magazines, thus bringing together the publications most constantly referred to—the Paper, the Periodical and the Dictionary. Circulars free. Send for them Now. Address L. W. NOYES, 99 and 101 West Monroe St., Chicago.

FOUR MILLIONS OF MONEY

FORCED FROM THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION.

Speech of Sir Leonard Tilley introducing his budget.

Some Trivial Changes in the Tariff. Able Reply by Sir Richard Cartwright.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—Sir Leonard Tilley rose to make the budget speech at 3.30 p. m., amid great applause on the ministerial side. The galaries were filled with the public including a large number of ladies. The members were pretty generally present. Mr. Blake was absent on account of the serious illness of his sister, and much sympathy is expressed for the leader of the opposition in his unfortunate situation.

THE SPEECH.

Sir Leonard Tilley began by stating that at no period in the history of Canada has the Government met Parliament with the financial condition of the country in the position it is to-day. (Hear, hear.) The prosperity of Canada to-day is in a great measure dependent on the fiscal policy of the Government. The policy of the last government was reviewed. That government gave the people stone when they asked for bread. The condition of all industries was depressed. Men without employment were knocking at the door of Parliament.

PAST AND PRESENT.

With that deplorable state the speaker contrasted the present prosperity. Through the stimulus given by the Government to the industries of the country the people of Canada became wealthier, and it is on account of this altered condition of affairs that the people last year were enabled to pay into the treasury over four millions of surplus, without their suffering from it.

PER CAPITA TAXATION.

If account were taken of the deficits of the Mackenzie Government, and those amounts added to what was collected under the same government, and the total amount compared with what was collected from all sources by the present government, minus the surplus, it would be found that the per capita amount collected by the present government was twenty-three cents less than that collected by the last government. (Hear, hear.) The figures in one case were $4.88 and in the other $4.65.

THE EXPENDITURE.

The average expenditure during the past three years was $1,229,000 more than the average expenditure during the Mackenzie government, but there were increased undertakings assumed by the present government which more than accounted for that difference. Among those undertakings were 401 additional miles of railway to run which cost $802,000; the expenditure on account of Indians; the census; sinking fund, etc.

THE FUTURE AND THE DEBT.

The speaker proceeded to show that there was no alarm for the future of the country on account of the increasing public debt. On the contrary there was every reason for hope. In 1867 the public debt was $39 per head. The construction of the Pacific Railway added $6 per head, which made the sum $35. In 1879 it was $34 and some cents. Now it was $35 per head. A calculation was then made to estimate what the per capita debt of Canada would be in 1890. Considering the surpluses likely to arise and the population to increase at the rate of only 18 per cent., the public debt in 1890 would be $34.27, or less than it is to-day —(hear, hear)—or if account were taken of the proceeds likely to be received for seventy-two million acres of land, that amount would be still more considerably reduced. (Applause.) Viewing this question from another standpoint the speaker showed that while the interest per capita in 1867 was $1.27, and in 1881 $1.57, in 1890, according to his best calculations, the interest per capita would be $1.37. The minister then announced the changes to be made in the tariff as follows:

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE TARIFF.

It is proposed to leave the sum collected for twists the same as it is now. It is proposed to licenses parties in different parts of the country, without payment of a fee, to buy from producers of tobacco whatever surplus they may have to sell. These parties will sell it to others who have the right to manufacture it and for the next two years the government will levy eight cents per pound on manufactured tobaccos instead of fourteen as at present. The loss of revenue by this change will be between $50,000 and $70,000.

EFFECT OF TARIFF CHANGES.

The amount of revenue lost by the repeal of the duty on tin would be $100,000. The change of duty in rice was intended to encourage a direct trade between Canada and the East Indies. The total changes in the tariff involved a reduction in customs revenue of one million.

The estimated expenditure is $27,670,000, leaving estimated surplus for next year of over three millions. (Applause.)

THE N. P. AND PROVIDENCE.

The speaker proceeded to show that the objections raised by the opposition in 1878 were groundless and had not been fulfilled. Before concluding he recounted the various industries of the country and pointed out how they had been benefitted by the national policy. The institution of that policy, said he, by which every interest has been largely benefitted and the adoption of the policy of the government in the Pacific railway, together with the blessings of providence, have placed us in the position we occupy, the proudest position that any people in my judgement occupy on the face of the earth (applause.) The fiscal policy of the government will not be repealed (hear, hear.) When the time comes for an endorsement of our policy the people will sustain us as emphatically as the house does now.

MR. CARTWRIGHT said it was not always easy to follow the hon. gentleman. What between the subtility of his grammar; what between the curious convulsions of his arguments and the curious conclusions of sentences, if he (Cartwright) should not always understand what he ment, he must not be blamed, and he (Tilley) ought to have some consideration for those willing and faithful followers who were prepared to accept any statement the hon. gentleman might be pleased to make. To-night the hon. gentleman had given a new series of kaleidoscope views of the beauties of the National Policy. If any of the hon. gentleman's followers happened to be afflicted with a sense of logic or good memory, they must be somewhat puzzled to reconcile the position occupied by the Finance Minister to-night with the position he had taken on many previous occasions. It would be well if the hon. gentleman would decide what his followers were to finally believe on some of these important questions. Were we to understand that it was a calamity for the balance of trade to be against us, or that it was a good thing for the balance to be in favor of us under certain circumstances? Or were we to understand that it was a good thing to have the balance of trade in our favor to we had a deficit, but a very bad thing to have in our favor if it would prevent us having a surplus? The hon. gentleman had said nothing about the important fact that the balance of trade was very seriously against the Dominion for the past year. The hon. gentleman had said he was pleased to report that he had an excess of several millions over the sum he expected to raise, but he felt it somewhat dubious whether an excess of several millions is to be held as a proof of the wonderful accuracy of his estimates, or as a proof that he succeeded in his leap in the dark. Were we to understand that he held it to be the best proof of prudent statesmanship that he had succeeded in quite doubling the taxes and burdens of the people, and in doubling the expenditures in three years?

The hon. gentleman alluded most gingerly to the fact that he had a very few years ago formally stated his conviction that $25,000,000 was ample to carry out the affairs of the Government; now he (Cartwright) found in the year just closed that he spent $25,000,000 or $26,000,000 if we included the sums spent in Dominion lands. He now asked for $27,750,000, without including supplementary estimates and without counting $450,000 for Dominion lands for 1882-83. When the hon. gentleman calls upon us to admire him because owing to circumstances over which he had no control, we have a surplus of about $4,000,000, he (Cartwright), in turn asked him how that was got. $1,100,000 was derived from those most odious and oppressive taxes in breadstuffs and on fuel. If the expenditure on Dominion lands was added, we would find that the surplus would shrink to $2,500,000. He was prepared to admit that there were circumstances under which a surplus was a cause for congratulation, as, for instance, when Sir Francis Hincks had a surplus without adding one penny to the burdens of the people; but at present it showed a most oppressive system of taxation.

He contended that the statements made by the Opposition had been true to the letter. They had claimed that if the tariff was to obtain revenue it would prove a total failure so long as the exports continued low and so long as there was no general improvement, but that the moment our exports increased, general improvement would take place in consequence, and the tariff would without further burdening the people, produce fully as large a surplus as was boasted of to-day. The hon. gentleman's tariff, as a revenue tariff, had been an utter failure, as our exports continued small. Comparing the revenue returns of 1879 with those for 1880, and there would be found deficits ranging from $2,000,000 to $1,500,000, and not until the exports had increased to the figure he named, was there the slightest sign of the expansion of the surplus. It was clear to a demonstration that if we had the tariff of 1878 we would have an ample revenue without adding one iota to the burdens of the people. In 1875 our exports amounted to $87,500,000; in 1881, to $81,000,000. The volume of our imports, and consequently our revenue, is necessarily regulated by the volume of our exports over that of the preceeding year or two, therefore it was clear that if in 1881 we exported $14,000,000 more than in 1875, our revenue under the old tariff would have proportionately increased. This was at a time when the volume of import was $80,000,000.

I look upon large imports ever since the Dominion was organized as one of the causes of trouble with which we have to contend—one of the difficulties which it is our duty to remedy. Our imports have been decreasing to a certain extent, but are still very large, showing clearly, in my judgement that they ought to be still further diminished.

We should turn our attention to still further reducing the volume of imports from all parts of the world That was the policy expounded by the Finance Minister in 1879, when the imports amounted to $80,000,000. Now our imports, exclusive of bullion, amount to $90,488,000. The hon. gentleman has not a word to say about it. It may be news to the hon. gentleman that in the mother country during the last twenty-five years the balance of trade against England was something like £2,000,000,000, or £10,000,000,000. The hon. gentleman has one ground only for contesting these statements. If he is prepared to show that he and his colleagues are really authors of the good crops which have increased our exports, and contrived that there should be bad crops elsewhere, then he has made out his case. The hon. gentleman has secured $4,000,000 of a surplus, but at an enormous cost to the country, he believed not less than $8,000,000 or $9,000,000. In one article alone, sugar, he has taken $4,000,000 out of the pockets of the people to put $2,500,000 into the Treasury.

He would next refer to the greatly increased cost of living. Probably the Finance Minister did not hear the complaints of the poor—of men with small fixed incomes. He had been consorting with men who are making their thousands. He (Tilley) did not know, apparently, that on every yard of coarse tweed the poor man uses the tariff compels him to pay 25 to 40 per cent.; on blankets, 60 per cent. more than it could be obtained for elsewhere. On every gallon of coal oil which the poor man consumes he has to pay 15 to 20 cents more on account of the tariff and the monopoly which its absurd regulation creates. On every barrel of sugar weighing 300 lbs. the public have to pay $9 more that if there were no taxes at all. The hon. gentleman could not understand this, but merely denied the fact. He would ask the hon. gentleman why people smuggled goods across the line? What folly it would be for a man to run the risk of the penalties of smuggling if he could obtain goods as cheaply in Canada as in the United States. He could tell the hon. gentleman, on the authority of one of the largest importers of dry goods in Canada, that there are merchants in the United States who are prepared to deliver goods in Canada at six or seven per cent. higher than the invoice price in the United States, but they do not calculate to pay a 40 or 50 per cent. duty levied by the tariff. Notwithstanding the hon. gentleman could not understand these things, his astuteness returned to him when he dealt with the coal question. According to him, sometimes the consumer pays the duty and sometimes the producer. He reminded him in this respect of the student who, when asked whether the sun went round the earth or the earth round the sun, compromised the matter by declaring that sometimes the earth went round the sun, and sometimes the sun round the earth. He (Cartwright) was prepared to admit that the consumer paid the duty just as often as the earth went round the sun, and that the produces pays the duty just as often as the sun goes round the earth. He then referred at some length to the gyrations of Tupper and his collegues on the coal duty question. He (Cartwright) would like to know what those shivering wretches who had to experience the extremity of a cold winter twenty degrees below zero have to say in regard to the Ministerial benevolence that adds to the price of each ton of coal they purchase. He could not better conclude what he had to say on this point than by quoting what the present Speaker of the Senate, a colleague of the Government, has to say on the subject, who some years ago moved in the Senate that imposing duty on breadstuffs, coal and coke, salt or any natural product, was introducing the principle partial in operation between the Provinces distributing the burden of taxation unequally and vexatiously disturbing trade and engendering sentiments of sectionalism and disunion in the minds of the people Which was right, the Speaker of the Senate, the Finance Minister or the Minister of Railways? The Minister of Finance found out what the producer thought, but what the consumer thought is a matter of indifference. He (Cartwright) would take two cases, one man earning $300 a year or $1 a day, the other $500 or $1.50 a day. They pay for say six tons of coal, six barrels of flour, 156 lbs. sugar, and for clothing, oil, and other things, they would pay $21 a year in taxes, including other articles taxes would reach $43 for a family of five. If the hon. gentleman asks the consumers they would say that taxation interfered with their comforts, with their power to better their condition, with their power to make bonuses for themselves, impedes the education of their children and deprived them of luxuries to which they were as much entitled as the hon. gentleman or any one else. The price of provisions had gone up, and evidence came from every quarter that the standard of comfort was lowered, and the proper distribution of property was arbitrarily interfered with, without adding one farthing to the national wealth.

The hon. gentlemen referred to the actual depreciation of the value of land in a large portion of Ontario, the constant and increasing exodus from our shores to the neighboring Republic, and the gigantic injustice of the Syndicate bargain.

Mr. Cartwright was listened to throughout with the closest attention, and took his seat amidst enthusiastic applause.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 2, 1882.

The General Election.

We believe there is every prospect that the general election will be brought on this year, and that the present Dominion Parliament will be dissolved at the close of the session. Those who are on the spot see indications of such a project being carried out, and openly speak of it, and that is a strong probability that their surmises are correct. The Parliament of Ontario will be dissolved next year, and will at once, doubtless, appeal to the country. This they can do with confidence, and with every prospect of receiving at the hands of the electors a new lease of power. Sir John knows very well that the feeling in Ontario is strong against the Dominion Government, and that the very issues on which Mr. Mowat must appeal to the electors would be condemnatory of the Parliament at Ottawa. He would not desire, therefore, to have the Dominion and Ontario elections simultaneously, which the Liberals would try to carry out, and which they certainly could do if they chose, should a simple adjournment of the Dominion Parliament take place this year, and the elections come off in 1883. The wily leader of the present Conservative party also knows right well that time will only increase the unpopularity of his legislation, especially as regards the Pacific Railway and the North-West, and so he will endeavor, we believe, to get a verdict in his favor without delay. Going to the country this year there is a possibility that he may succeed in retaining the reins of office, though it will be a close and determined struggle, and that with our thorough organization and determination many a constituency will be won by the Reformers, we are well convinced. Next year he would have little chance, and he knows it. Sir John fears the possibility of bad crops, or a crisis in commercial circles—either of which events may come within 12 months, and are sufficient to crush the N. P. out of existence, and to bring about an improved state of affairs by entrusting the task of governing the Dominion to Edward Blake and the party of progress. These considerations will no doubt have great force in bringing about a dissolution, and in hastening the appeal to the country, which, as we say, may take place at any time within the present year. We therefore call upon our friends to perfect their organizations in every riding, lest they should be caught napping, and to have everything in readiness for the battle. "Fore-warned is fore-armed." The issues are square and clear. The relative positions of the two great parties are well understood. The great questions at stake are:—Shall the lands of the great North-West be so disposed of as to enrich speculators and build up great monopolies to the detriment of the best interests of the country? Shall the Syndicate be allowed to grasp the whole control of the most important sections of the country, create a monopoly in railway matters and force from the taxpayers of Canada, unjustly and unnecessarily, monies far beyond the real cost of the Pacific Railroad? Shall the great body of Canadians, who are consumers, be restricted and taxed heavily for years to come, to encourage the few manufacturers who are becoming wealthy at the expense of the struggling poor? These, we believe, are the main subjects for discussion at present, and should meet with a careful and intelligent consideration at the hands of the electors, and be decided at the polls solely on their merits. We confidently await the result, and if they are so considered, we have little fear of the issue.

The following is the text of Mr. Girouard's deceased wife's sister's bill: 1, All laws prohibiting marriage between a man and the sister of his deceased wife are hereby repealed as if they had never been enacted; (2) this act shall not affect in any manner vested rights,

Editorial Notes.

A. BOULTBEE has been definitely nominated by the Tories of East York.

The life and speeches of Hon. Geo. Brown, edited by Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, will be ready for distribution in April.

MR. WATERS has presented a bill in the Local Legislature to reduce the qualification of a voter in townships, at elections of members of the Assembly, from two to one hundred dollars.

THE Dominion Government telegraph and telephone bills are assuming extraordinary proportions, as is shown by the amounts paid by the several Departments. Last year $16,183.56 was paid.

As was expected, the South Simcoe election resulted in the return of the Conservative candidate. The candidates were Col. Tyrwhitt, of Bradford, Conservative, and Mr. Lucas, of Churchill, Reformer.

With Hon A. Mackenzie, Sir W. P. Howland, and Mr W. H. Howland as the Liberal candidates in East, West and North York respectively, that glorious old county bids fair to be redeemed politically.

AND now we are told that the Syndicate contemplate running candidates of their own in every Manitoba constituency as well as in some Ontario constituencies. Truly this Canada of ours is coming to a pretty pass!

WE are glad to learn that the newspaper advertising agency of S. M. Pettengill & Co., New York, which, with all its contents, was destroyed by the late fire in that city, is again re-established, in new quarters, at 263 Broadway. We trust that this well-known and old-established agency may not permanently suffer from the effects of the disaster.

THE measure to extend the Midland Railway amalgamated system from Toronto to Hamilton and then to Buffalo, has passed the Railway Committee; also the bill for the construction of a line from Parkdale to Burlington, thus giving the Northern and Hamilton and Northwestern Railways direct entrance to Hamilton from Toronto. The bill to amalgamate the T. G. and B. with the Northern and Northwestern, was thrown out.

A BILL of some importance to farmers was introduced in the Ontario Legislature some days since by Mr. Graham. It provides that no owner or occupier of land shall erect or keep up on any division line any barbed wire fence unless it is protected by two by four inch scantling, a pole three inches in diameter, or a board six inches wide running along the top of the fence. A penalty of five dollars is imposed for infractions of this provision.

THE estimates laid on the table of the House of Commons by Sir Tilley, show that the Government contemplate spending, irrespective of what they may ask for in the Supplementary Estimates, some four millions more than Sir Tilley declared in 1878 was necessary to carry on the affairs of the country. It will not do to say that this is merely a "readjustment"—it is too decided an "increase."

Why are people so careless in sending letters? Last year there were 534,575 letters sent to the dead letter office, of which 436,155 were received from post-offices in Canada, the remainder being from other countries. Of the dead letters no fewer than 10,216 were registered. Letters are sent to the dead letter office for several reasons. Sometimes the address is imperfect, at other times the letters are not called for, at others the postage is insufficient, and so on.

ALLUDING to Mr. Mowat's reply to the Ottawa Government's document on the boundary award, the Ottawa Free Press says:—"It is an able and forcible ex-"position of the ground held by the On-"tario Government on the boundary "question. Logical in construction, de-"cisive in tone, and unanswerable in "argument, it completely exposes the "cosuistry, evasions and false reasoning "of those who would dismember Ontario "to satisfy the jealousy of a faction of "French Canadian Tories."

THE Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West, which met at Strathroy last week, elected the following officers:—G. M., Bro Major James Bennett; D.G.M., H. A. L. White; A.D.G.M., John Hoey; G.C., Rev. Rural Dean Cooper; G.S., James Norris; G.T., N. Clarke Wallace, M.P.; G. L., W. Douglas; G. D. of C., Arthur Robb; D. G. S., Dr. Burges; D. G. L.'s, W. H. Murney and Murray Nesbitt. Sarnia was decided upon as the next place of meeting.

WHAT constitutes a "respectable member" so far as Church organization is concerned has been determined incidentally by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Eighteen persons started a church and made claim to moneys left by Charles Macalister, whose will provided that $5,000 should be held in trust to be applied to the payment in part of a pastor's salary in case a respectable number of persons could be found to form the nucleus of a Presbyterian congregation in the town of Torresdale. The executors declined to hand over the money to the Board of Eighteen, and the matter went into the courts. The Supreme Court held that in the absence of evidence to the contrary, it is presumed that church dignitaries on disposing of matters within their jurisdiction act honestly and well, and ruled in favor of the claimants.

THE following are the principal provisions of Mr. Charlton's Bill relating to seduction and cognate practices. Under it adultery is to be held a misdemeanour punishable by imprisonment not exceeding two years, and not less than six months, or fine not exceeding $1,000, or both fine and imprisonment within the above limits in the discretion of the Court. Illicit sexual intercourse between two parties, one of whom is unmarried, is to be deemed adultery in each. No action for adultery shall be commenced except upon complaint of the husband or wife of the offending parties, and after two years from the time of commission every man and woman, not married, who shall lewdly cohabit, or any man or woman married or unmarried, guilty of open and gross lewdness and lascivious behaviour shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not exceeding one year. Any person enticing or assisting to entice a female of reputed virtue and chaste character shall be subject to imprisonment for three years, or fine not exceeding $2,000. The fine or any portion of the fine imposed may, upon application, be paid to the female against whom the offence was committed. Any person in the capacity of teacher who shall have intercourse with any person under the age of twenty-one years while under his instruction shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than three years. Any unmarried female may prosecute as plaintiff in an action for her own seduction, and receive such fines as may be assessed in her favour.

THE FINANCES OF ONTARIO.

The people of Ontario have good reason to feel pleased over the exhibit of the finances of Ontario, as fully explained to them by Mr. Wood in his financial statement on Tuesday. He showed that Ontario is the only Province in the Dominion that can boast of a balance in hand amounting to $5,240,988. The total liabilities of the Province for railway aid, Quebec's claims, debts to municipalities, etc., come to $731,396, leaving the surplus assets of Ontario equal to $4,509,591, not a bad showing in view of the large expenditures. The estimated receipts for 1882, including $1,333,559 from the Dominion, and $1,080,000 from Crown Lands, are put at $2,848,960, and the expenditure at $2,389,726.

The expenses of legislation and carrying on the Government were fully explained by Mr. Wood, and the comparison drawn was greatly in favor of Ontario. He showed that in Ontario legislation cost 5 4-5ths cents per head against 13 6-10ths cents in Quebec: civil government, 9 cents a head against 11½ cents in Quebec; administration of justice, 13½ cents against 26 cents in Quebec. In referring to the increased expenditure for public institutions, he mentioned the large sums paid out for meat and coal in excess of what was formerly paid. On 1,000,000 pounds of meat and nearly 9,000 tons of coal, the augmentation of price soon figures up to a large sum, especially as regards coal, which has been increased in price by the duty imposed by the Dominion Government. He also touched at some length on the work done by the Agricultural Commission, showing the extent and importance of the several crops and productions of this Province. If, as he believed would be the case, the report of the Commission should be instrumental in increasing the value of farm produce 10 per cent., the result would be a gain of more than $5,000,000 to the wealth of the Province, which, he might have added, is more than the N. P. will add to Canada's wealth during its existence. He also pointed out that the expenditure of the Province on agriculture is less per head of the population than is that of some of the sister Provinces. Our expenditure on this account is 5½ cents per head; in Quebec it is a little over 6 cents, and in New Brunswick 8 cents; but in Nova Scotia it is only 2 cents. As regards the per capita expenditure of Ontario compared with that of other Provinces, he called attention to the fact that Ontario gets from the Dominion only 62 cents per head of the population, while the other Provinces range from 70 cents to $3.46. The cost of education is increased, as also the expenditure for maintenance of public institutions, the cost of which stands now at $579,245 against $510,949 for education. These two items make up fully half of the current expenditure of the year, and there is little likelihood of a reduction under either head, unless a portion of the burden is shifted from the Ontario Legislature to the municipalities. The appropriation for immigration has been reduced; that for agriculture and the arts is unchanged. The largest item of expenditure on public buildings is an appropriation of $28,175 for work upon Kingston insane asylum. The Government has laid out a lot of work on colonization roads in the northern portions of the Province, the total expenditure under this head being $105,650.

MODEL WOMEN.

THE PRETTY MAIDENS AND MATRONS THAT A TORONTO MAN SAW IN SCOTLAND.

An American traveller, writing from Glasgow, Scotland, says: I saw that the girls, and women, too, for that matter, all had red cheeks, and that they walked just as though they knew nothing of tight lacing and tight shoes. I noticed also that all the women who were not wives and daughters of the very wealthy, seemed to take it as a matter of course that they, as well as the men, were bound to work for their daily bread. The majority of the small shops (stores) were conducted exclusively by women. Young women acted as clerks in the hotels and in the large stores of all kinds, groceries, boot and shoe stores, and in fact, everywhere. They stand behind all the cigar stands and many of the drinking bars. One place where I stopped to buy grapes, (imported from America), a large confectionary store, I lingered and chatted with the proprietress, a comely, matronly-looking person of about 40 years. "Yes," said she, "I am married. My husband is in the coal and iron business—yes, it is his own business. We, Scotch women, you see, believe in helping our husbands, I'll tell you what I do. I get up every morning before my husband, make the fire, clean and blacken his boots, brush his clothes, cook his breakfast and then call him to eat it. After he has eaten and gone out to his business, I eat my breakfast, and then come down here and open up. Yes, most Scotch women who are wives and have more money than we, do about the same. Why, you don't say that in your country a women would let her husband clean his own boots? Come now! and make the fire in the morning? Oh, what lazy things!"

I recommend the above portion of this letter to the attention of the suffering thousands of young married men who will read this paper. I advise them to show it to their wives—that is if they are not afraid of getting their hair pulled.

THE GRANGE (?) MUTUAL.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I see by the last issue of your paper that Mr. Davidson still maintains that the Mutual Aid stands on the same footing as do the other institutions of the Grange. So far as incorporation goes there is no difference, but in the broad and liberal principles on which they they are carried out they differ very materially. The other institutions were got up by the Dominion Grange, who appointed the first or provisional board of directors, and when the company was completed the members of the association were called together for to appoint a board of directors out of their own numbers, and to frame by-laws for the governing of said company. But the Mutual Aid was not formed in this way, but by designing men who have made all the rules and regulations to suit their own selfish ends; and, Sir, it appears that they have not even a by-law to govern their proceedings, or to bind the to anything, for Mr. S. W. Hill was asked, through the December number of the Grange Bulletin, if there was such a by-law, and the January and February numbers have arrived, but no answer. I also asked one of the agents myself, and he told me he did not think they had any. He also said it was not an institution that he could recommend; neither would he take an application for membership, although some of his friends urged upon him to take theirs. But Mr. Davidson refers me to the report of the Dominion Grange for 1881, wherein the Mutual Aid was sanctioned and recommended. Well, we have not that report before us, but if it is so it is certainly the greatest bungled job they ever put through their hands, and it is strange we never heard of it in any other Grange, either Provincial or Division, though there is a Committee on Insurance appointed at every one of them. Indeed, a member of the Dominion Grange said to me on one occasion that it was a bad thing, and that both he and his brother were in it, but they were sorry they ever had anything to do with it. He is evidently very much dissatisfied with it. Next, Mr. D. says it is not fair to take the death rate of one year of any association. Well, then, I gave the report of one for nine years, and then he says I ought to take ten years. Now, Sir, I give it as I have it by report of January, 1881:—

Year.	No. of Members.	No. of Deaths.	Deaths per 1,000.	Assurance Held Each.	Cost per 1,000.
1871	1,115	5	4.5	$264.30	$4.41
1872	1,177	11	9.3	1,272.40	8.65
1873	1,188	11	9.2	1,344.54	8.65
1874	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65
1875	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65
1876	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65
1877	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65
1878	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65
1879	1,252	11	8.7	1,378.53	8.65

Sir, it will be seen by the above figures that I gave a correct report of the London Masonic Mutual; but, I ask Mr. D. if it is fair for him to take the yearly cost of this association (which is $15.06) to prove the cheapness of his Mutual Aid, when the managers of the L. M. Mutual would not accept even the smallest remuneration for their services. It is quite different with the officers of the Mutual Aid. They pay themselves and their agents well, and also warn their agents not to tell what they get. Of course, if it was known it would spoil all. But, Mr. D. says that when they have 6,000 members, at the death rate of 8 to the 1,000, that an assessment of one dollar each on 6,000 members, for say 48 deaths, would pay 18 claims, or a cost of $27.42 per year. Now, if $27.42 will meet these claims, why do the company collect $48? But, Mr. D. says this will not be assessed more than is really needed. Do those bonds spoken of bind them not to. I think not. Will Mr. Davidson give bonds to the effect that they will not be called on to pay more than $27.42 in any year when they have a membership of 6,000 and not more than 1,000? or, will the agent get or give bonds to that effect. I fear not. And, Sir, if they did give such bonds they would be as spurious as those they say were deposited with the Government, and not worth the paper they were written on. Now, Sir, just fancy a company not responsible to any one, neither to the government nor yet to its members, for any money coming into their hands. And yet, in the face of all this, they are collecting now off their members three-fourths more than is required. Ah, Sir! I would rather be the king who pulled out his own eyes, than the man who would pull the eyes out of his brethren, and then have him leave his fatherless children and widowed wife to be taken care of by such a company. Oh, consistency! &c. Mr. D. asks me if those whose second-hand man I am think "are the officers of this association such fools as to be guilty of attempting to foist upon the public such an association as I am trying to make it out to be." As to that, we will leave the public to judge for themselves. But, when we see unscrupulous and gassy agents employed by this company, and who are doing everything in their power to hoodwink the people, is it not time to cry aloud and spare not? Mr. Menzies says I don't fully understand the matter. Now, Sir, let us see if he understands it. He says he has looked into this company very carefully—oh, how carefully!—and that the company had deposited with the Government $20,000—not bonds, but hard cash. When asked where they got it he did not know, but it could be all paid in by the members as their investment. But this could not be, for I have shown that the head agent got $4 out of it, and the head agent $1. I should have said more, but I want to give them credit for all I can. Then, the doctor gets one—I might have said three, for that is the amount paid by other companies. Now, where is the $60,000 to come from? But, Mr. Menzies says: "Suppose it is not a Grange institution, what of that; if it is a legal institution, doing a legal business, and based on sound and satisfactory principles?" That's the point—that little word if spoils the whole thing. We contend it is not a legal institution, therefore, it cannot be doing a legal business, nor based on sound and satisfactory principles, and, therefore, not in a position to give proper security to its members. Now, Sir, I think I can prove this to the satisfaction of all concerned. Let me quote what Mr. D. says about those bonds. He says:—"They are just what they profess to be—bonds given by the officers and directors of the company to the amount of $60,000, and are filed with the Hon. S. C. Wood, who has taken a great deal of interest in the association, and consented to act as trustee for the members. The bonds are security for the honest and faithful carrying out of the terms of our certificates, and the honest discharge of duties by the association towards its members." Therefore you will see, Sir, that the bonds are the only and the principal security that the members have, and if there are no bonds, there is no security. Now, let us see what the Hon. S. C. Wood says about them. You will find in the January number of the Grange Bulletin the hon. gentleman's reply to the Editor of the Budget, Toronto, viz.:—

"To the Editor of the Budget, Toronto:

"SIR,—I have to acknowledge yours of the 14th instant, with reference to the Canadian Mutual Aid Association. The bonds deposited by the officers of said association are not negotiable bonds, but are guarantee bonds for the proper fulfilment of the duties of said officers. As there seems to have been some misunderstanding regarding the character of these bonds, I have returned them to the President of the Association, as while there is no doubt that they are good for the purpose for which they were deposited, still it is questionable whether the Provincial Treasurer should, in the case of any bonds save and except those deposited in accordance with the Insurance Act.

"Your Obed't Serv't,
"S. C. WOOD."

Therefore, since the Government cannot recognize this company as a legally constituted insurance company from the fact that its bonds are not in accordance with the Insurance Act, is it not quite evident that the whole thing is a sham and a snare. And, now, to the second-hand part that I have been accused of taking: permit me to say that I have not been influenced in any way, by any one, either directly or indirectly, to pursue the course I have taken, other than a desire to keep the Grange from getting back into the old rut—the agency system—that we have had cause to complain so bitterly of; and also, to save it from getting into trouble by taking into its ranks designing men who have no sympathy with it whatever, only that of a selfish nature. We have had trouble already by members—thinking themselves the Grange—taking such men into it and making them members of some of our institutional board. Nor is the trouble got over yet, and it is well if it does not cause us more trouble before it is settled. I could point out to Mr. D. more than one case wherein we have suffered from such or similar causes, and I think he should have learned by this time to avoid trouble from such a quarter again. And, now, Mr. Editor, I must thank you most sincerely for your kindness in allowing me to take up so much space in your valuable paper, and if Mr. Davidson does not see his shadow on the wall it is because there is not manhood enough in him to make one; and, Sir, notwithstanding all that has been said on this matter, I still feel inclined to give Mr. D. some good advice, and that is: to cease being the cats-paw for any party, and let those who are making a tool of him pull their own chestnuts out of the fire, and if there is not too much of the monkey about them let them come out over their own names. I will now leave the matter with him, and if he can bring good out of evil I will only be too glad.

I remain, yours truly,
THOS. JOHNSTON.

CO-OPERATIVE LIFE INSURANCE.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—For some time past my attention has been drawn to several articles appearing in your paper over the signature of a gentleman whom I will not insult by accrediting him with the authorship. From the unseemly remarks and the illogical reasoning therein, I believe him to be the instrument of a more designing person, who has been instrumental in the organizing of those institutions, which the combined experience of thoughtful, honest and intelligent minds have proved them to be such a falsity, that the more they are investigated the deeper are their mysteries and the blacker they appear. I would ask my friend, for a time, to lay aside prejudice and financial influence and calmly peruse the figures I propose laying before him, and in doing so I do not want him to understand that anything I may say is with a spirit of ill-feeling, and on certain conditions I am prepared to argue the point with him before 25 of his policy-holders living in the neighborhood of Peterborough, Mr. Menzies included, and I will guarantee to prove satisfactory to them that the co-operative system is also co-dupuative. The interested advocates of those concerns entirely ignore the safe-guards of life insurance on which successful companies have based their calculations and raised a solid foundation. No co-operator will deny that there is a Divine law governing the term of human life, and that as age advances the risk of dying becomes greater. No society can exercise or have any control over the death rate of its members, other than the benefits of a good selection. The laws bearing on human life have been a study by eminent actuaries, and he cannot but admit that their testimony is worthy of some investigation. Mr. Milne is the author of some extensive statistics collected in and around Carlisle, England, in the year 1787, called the Carlisle Table, and used by many companies in basing their calculations, and he shews the expectancy of life to be as follows:—

At age of	20 to be	41-5 years.
"	25 "	37-9 "
"	30 "	34-3 "
"	35 "	31-0 "
"	40 "	27-6 "
"	45 "	23-5 "
"	50 "	21-1 "
"	55 "	17-6 "
"	60 "	14-3 "
	9	249-8

A total of 9 lives to live 249-8 years, or an average of 27¾ each. In the year 1837 seventeen British life companies formed a table known as the "Actual Mortality Table," giving on 9 lives of the same ages as above an average of 27½ years each. In 1869 twenty British life companies compiled a similar table, called "The New Actuaries' Table," shewing the average on the same number of lives and ages to be 27¾. Mr. Homans, actuary for the largest life company in the world, calculates the average to be 28 years. Taking the above indisputable testimony, given by able men, on both English and American lives, the co-operative will not, or dare not, deny their correctness; and knowing them to be so, will not make use of those tables, as being fatal to his selfish financial operations.

Now, the above tables shew most conclusively that at the age of 20,	$ 7	29 per $1.000

25	7	77 "
30	8	29 "
40	12	25 "
45	16	21 "
50	15	94 "
55	21	66 "
60	30	34 "

is the per centage of risk—that $7.29 will cover the risk on $1,000 on each member expected to die in that year, while at 60 $30.34 is required. This is a priciple co-operatives ignore, that is: assess their members at each death according to age and risk, and thus violate equity.

Of course all the members will not die the first year, and the first years of a company are generally its most profitable. Future deaths must increase as the organization grows older, and some provision must be made for increased obligations. Do the co-operatives prepare for this? No—they neglect and, willfully, too, violate another principle of safety; and I have so far failed to find in my esteemed friend's co-operative creed stability, equity or prudence.

No. 6, in the articles of his belief, is economy. For evidence of this among co-operatives I will refer him to the Reports of the State of Penyslvania official returns for 1877, where 10 of those Benevolent Institutions shewed a total income of $481,807. The expense account was $124,212, or over 25 per cent., (he has an evidence of this in his own Fire Insurance Company, where salaries and directors' fees were, as published in last week's EXAMINER, over 25% of the income) the lowest expenses in the State Returns being 10%, and the highest 291. The 10 being on a grand revenue of $438.80, expended $45; the 291 ("economy") was on $180 income, expense $525. Where does article 6 come in here? I may add that the security held by those 10 was $216,-551 to meet liabilities of fifteen millions. Where does article 8 of my friend's creed find a resting place, except it is among the nice alluring stories of the co-operative agent to the unsophisticated and unwary. The average death rate for 25 years past in Canada and the States, of all ages, in the different insurance companies, is about six in every thousand. How will this compare with the Brotherhood. $6 for every 1,000 at risk. No more. Sometimes less. This sounds like No. 3 of the creed—uniform assessment, and not large. But my figures below shew the delusiveness of this dream. One is reported by the Auditor of Iowa:

Year.	Members.	Losses Paid.	Losses and Expenses.	Cost per $1,000.
1871	338	$ 4,000	$ 4,000	$ 11 83

Seven others shewed the cost to be $16.30 per $1,000. Six of the above societies only paid $6,162 between them to 37 widows, or $166 to each. All the above were for deaths only, without expenses, which would be 25% more. The United Brethren, organized in 1868, showed their mortality to be 16 1/7 to the one thousand members in 1877. The above being all American, in my next I will treat of Canadian of the same class.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

(Bobcaygeon Independent.)

Mr. Hector Cameron, from his seat in the House, recently inquired whether the location survey of the Trent Valley canal had been completed, to which Sir Charles Tupper made the following reply:—

"I beg leave to say in reply to the hon. gentleman, the appropriation having been made for the purpose, an able engineer was detailed to make a careful location survey of the Trent Valley navigation, with a view to the consideration of the cost and the feasibility of the construction of that work. Owing to the very extended nature of the country to be gone over, and the arduous duty connected with the task, the engineer has verbally reported to me that he has not been able to complete the survey at present, but he expects very shortly to make a progress report, on receipt of which the question will be considered whether that work shall be proceeded with in part or in whole."

This is satisfactory as far as it goes; but there is an under-current through the matter that is not satisfactory. In a letter to Mr. Cameron, Sir Charles says:

"I sent for Mr. Rubidge, the engineer, and was sorry to find that the difficulties and arduous character of the work were such as to make it impossible to complete it this season."

All we have to say to this, is Fiddlesticks. Where are the difficulties, and how many years does this respectable old gentleman require to make out a bit of a report? The fact of the matter is, the under current is caused by the deputy officers. It is well understood that the deputy heads under which this matter comes are bound up in the Welland Canal, and from the botch they have made of that work, they certainly have reason for being wary of getting into any similar undertaking. This department urgently needs to be rejuvenated. Science is making such rapid strides that this department really belongs to a past age, and is next to useless for the present moment. We are not aware of the instructions given to Mr. Rubidge regarding calibre of locks he is to estimate on, but locks 150 feet long and 20 feet wide with 5 feet of water on the mitre sills, which are capable of passing a barge, carrying 15,-000 bushels of wheat at least, are required, and an estimate made for larger locks than these will be looked upon as useless, and as an intention on the part of the engineer or some others, to make the project cost too much. Estimates have been made on this calibre of canal by Mr. Baird, Mr. Samuel Keefer, and Mr. Lyons, either of whom has had such experience in canal works as to place their estimates beyond all doubt. Mr. Baird made the most accurate location survey that has ever been made of the project, and things have not altered since. If any alteration has taken place it is towards lessening the expense of construction, as supplies can be got in easier, and steam shovels can excavate in earth or clay for 12½ cents per cubic yard. When Mr. Baird made his estimate it was worth 20 cents per yard, and his total for the completion of the canal was about $3,000,000. Mr. Lyons estimated that the portion from Rice Lake to the Bay of Quinte could be completed for £255,304, and this is the most expensive part of the route.

Mr. Keefer estimated the same half, but followed a different route, at £399,000 say $2,000,000. So that the entire has not at any time been estimated to cost more than three or four millions at the very outside, for a calibre of canal which is capable of passing barges carrying 15,-000 bushels of wheat. We now await the estimate of Mr. Rubidge, or rather the partial one, and shall expect it to be for a canal of the same calibre as that proposed by Messrs. Baird, Keefer, Lyons, and Stark, and that required by the carrying trade, viz. 150 x 30, with 5 feet in miter sills of lock..

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, mode o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 2, 1882.

Prisons and Public Charities.

The fourteenth annual report of the Inspector of prisons and public charities in Ontario, has reached us, and contains a large amount of interesting information regarding the management of these institutions. The first part deals with the Asylums for the insane, and shows that our province is entitled to a high rank among the countries of the world for the care it takes of its insane population. There are four Provincial Lunatic Asylums, one at Toronto, a second at London, and the others at Kingston and Hamilton. There is also an asylum for idiots at Orillia. During the year, 544 persons of unsound mind were admitted to these asylums; 166 were discharged recovered, 41 improved and 34 unimproved; and 166 died. During the past year, according to the report of the Inspector, no less than 3,065 lunatics were under public accommodation in the Province, at a total cost of $322,971.67 from which, however, is to be deducted the amount received from paying patients, $41,006.54. The number of patients remaining in the asylums at the close of the year was 2,650, as compared with 2,521 in 1880. As the accommodation of the five asylums aggregates 2,708 beds, there was at the close of the year, only space available for 58 additional patients. The rate of mortality was only equal to a fraction over five per cent. of the total number under care. The number of patients who recovered under asylum treatment, was about equal to 33 per cent. of the year's admission, and the number of deaths, it will be noticed, was exactly the same. From the statistics furnished, it would seem that the population of our asylums increases steadily every year, being to-day almost double what it was ten years ago. There is now one insane person under public treatment, to every 710 of the population; while in 1871 the ratio was one to every 1,185. This large increase is due not so much to the increase of insanity, but rather to the great lack of accommodation for lunatics in the past. At the time of Confederation, the supply of asylum accommodation was entirely inadequate, and the consequence was, many patient were confined in private families and in gaols. Numbers of these have now been transferred to the Asylums, and the government has been endeavouring to meet the demands for increased accommodation, by enlarging and extending our asylums. The Inspector states that notwithstanding this large increase, the ratio in Ontario is still much less than in England, Scotland, or Ireland.

It may be there are few lunatics at present in private houses. This fact we may ascertain when the census returns have been issued. But in the meantime it must be remembered there is little additional accommodation and as the population increases provision must be made for these unfortunates. In another year there will be no vacancies left so that further asylum extension is absolutely necessary. The Inspector advocates the erection of a wing to the asylum at Kingston and Orillia, and cottages at Hamilton and Kingston. For this purpose we notice in the estimates a sum of $52,000 is asked for, but this is far below the amount required. It is sad to think that fully ninety per cent of the present asylum population are absolutely incapable, while only a little over five per cent of those under treatment are discharged as cured. Remedial measures, medical attendance, care and all the appliances of skill and knowledge are here set at defiance and prove conclusively that as yet the curative art is still in its infancy. Indeed, Dr. Backe, the Superintendent of the London asylum says, that as regards insanity and other diseases, "cure means spontaneous recovery, more or less aided by management, but seldom, if ever, actually brought about by medical interference."

The Inspector reports a continued decrease in the number of commitments to the common gaols. In 1877 the number of commitments reached the maximum, namely, 13,481; in 1878 it fell to 12,030: and in 1879 to 11,220; in 1880 however a slight increase took place, the number for that year being 11,300 but during the past year it fell to 9,229 the lowest since 1873. The decrease is very general throughout the province, but is greatest in the city gaols, and it extends to every class of prisoners except girls under 16 years of age, in which there is a slight increase.

The discipline and management of our common gaols have with few exceptions, much improved during the past few years; and during the twelve months just ended instances of gross carelessness and dereliction of duty on the part of gaol officials which in former years were of constant occurrence, were extremely few.

In the reformatory for boys at Penetanguishene the number in confinement at the close of the year was 250. There are 296 inmates in the deaf and dumb institute at Belleville, and about 200 pupils are under instruction in the blind asylum at Brantford. The total indigent prison and asylum population is now 24,227. These institutions cost the province $632,924 and the revenue they produced was $92,208.

Were we Wrong?

The Review, in criticising an alleged "false and absurd statement" of the EXAMINER'S in regard to N. P. prosperity, presumptuously says: "The farmers, his "customers, are getting cheaper implements, so they are pleased; his employees are getting better wages, so "they are pleased; he, himself, is doing "a better business, so he is pleased; the "storekeepers find better customers in "the more higly paid mechanics, so they "are pleased; and the country is getting "a larger revenue, so it is pleased." In reply, we would say, that against the farmers all admit that this iniquituous and unstatemanlike tariff presses most heavily and outrageously, and they certainly are not pleased; that whilst the cost of living of our employees is largely increased, and although many printers have gone to Manitoba and the States, where there is a demand for their services, yet, owing to the fallacy of the N. P. and owing to the increased cost of printing and other materials, we are and have been unable to raise the deserved wages of our employees, and they, undoubtedly, are not pleased. Even the Review itself has allowed men to leave its employ under the pretence that they could not afford to pay higher wages. Where are the N. P. tall chimneys, from under whose shadow the highly paid workmen issue who cause such delight to the storekeepers? Why is it that on the banks of the Otonabee there rests in calmest, unworked peace, a brick monument to the N. P.? Glorious success? Why should the present Government boast a revenue which has been abstracted, under false pretences, from the pockets of an over-taxed people? Why should the Government organs glory in a tax, rotten in principle to the core, which bears on its face its disgraceful origin? The country is not pleased; and at the next elections they will show a pleasure and independence which will work dismay in the present Government ranks.

BRIDGENORTH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PARLOR SOCIAL.—On Tuesday evening, February 28th, a social was held at the residence of Mrs. J. Mann, Bridgenorth. Considering the state of the roads and wet night an unusually large number were present, from both town and country; and I am safe in saying that all spent an exceedingly pleasant and enjoyable evening. The entertainment given was of a high order. Amongst the readings was one by Miss M. Mann, of Selwyn deserving the highest commendation. The music was all that could be desired It is not too much to say that the choir of the Line Church acquitted itself with marked distinction, and I'm sure that the Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe must have listened with pride to the many pieces of such nicely selected music. The instrumental music by the organist was above praise. The hostess did all that could be done to make every one feel that such gatherings are worthy of imitation. Nothing, whatever, during the whole evening occurred to mar the pleasures of the occasions. There is to be another social, under the auspices of the Methodist Choir, of Bridgenorth, on Friday evening, March the 3rd, when a very pleasant evening is expected.

The Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature threw out the Orange Incorporation Bill on Thursday.

THE Scott Act has been defeated in the city of St. John, the vote having resulted in a tie. At first it was supposed that it had been carried by a majority of one, but this was found to be a mistake.

EVERY TUB SHOULD STAND ON ITS OWN BOTTOM.

While the Peterborough Review boasts of what the N. P. Government have done for the poor of Canada by the Protection tariff, the best minds of other countries are outspoken in their condemnation of such quack remedies. The New York Herald, arguing for tariff reform, says:—

A tariff for protection in the United States to-day, under the pretence that it is in the interest of the workingman, is the monumental crime of the century. It is pure downright robbery. It does not, as its supporters pretend, mean higher wages than are paid in Europe. It does not mean more comfortable homes. Under the Morrill tariff New England, which it was supposed was specially favored by it, is losing its legislative importance. The struggle for life becomes harder and harder the longer it remains on our statute books. It is a grinding despotism under which the poor are constantly becoming poorer, and the rich richer. New England fought to emancipate the black, and, in doing so, has built up an economic system which has enslaved black and white alike. The present tariff, all well enough when it was framed in the hour of the nation's peril as a "war measure," extracts annually from the labor of the country one hundred and thirty million dollars more than the legitimate expenses of the Government, extravagant as they are, require. And what is the result? The doors of Congress are darkened by a mob of schemers and plunderers devising ways and means to fasten this terrible burden on the people and at the same time make away with its proceeds for their own benefit. A full treasury means a rich, insolent, arrogant, corrupt lobby, and that is the spectacle which the capital presents to-day. On the one hand we have corporate power, wealth influence, clamoring for the imposition of still greater burdens on the people and the still deeper debasement of their unfortunate boadmen, and on the other the working men and women of the country begging a chance to live

In England Mr. Mundella said in a speech at Sheffield:

For myself, I renounce the protection devil and all his works. I will have nothing to do with him, either as protection, "fair trade," or reciprocity, in any shape or form. You know now where to reckon upon me on this issue.

Lord Lytton delivered a speech to the Manchester Conservative Club, in which he said:

I do not wish to sail under false colors. I feel bound to say, at once and frankly, that I am not a "fair trader," or an advocate of "fair trade." So far as my own opinions are concerned, they are strongly opposed to every programme that I have yet seen put forward in the name of "fair trade." I myself as strongly deprecate any legislative interference with the freedom of commerce as I do any legislative interference with the freedom of contract; and I may say that, in my own administrative capacity, I have always endeavored to carry out the principles of free trade.

Mr. Robert Bourke, a member of the Beaconsfield Government, said to his constituents at Lynn:

"I know that some of my friends here are protectionists, and, although I am, I hope, on the most friendly terms with them, they and you know I have sacrificed their votes rather than deceive them as to my opinions on free trade. Every day I live, every book I read, every practical fact I become acquainted with, connected with the commerce and the manufactures of the world, makes me more and more sure that the principles of free trade are sound, and, more than that, that even onesided free trade is better than protection in the mildest form."

Senator Coke stated the Democratic doctrine of free trade in the United States Senate in a very clear and comprehensive way when he said:

I favor a revision of the tariff, a reduction of all import duties to a strictly revenue standard, and an enlargement of the free list by placing upon it every article of commerce not necessary to be taxed to raise revenue for the Government.

Can it be that all these authorities are wrong and that the Review alone is right?

FOR SEVERE COUGHS AND HOARSENESS.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1, 1876.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons:

GENTLEMEN—Miss S. Burns, of Seventeenth and Coates Streets, has long been a sufferer from a severe cough and hoarseness, which I considered chronic. She was treated by some of our most eminent physicians, but they were only able to afford her temporary relief. I prescribed Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, the use of four bottles of which entirely cured her, as it is now four months since she took the last of it, during which time she has had no return of the complaint. For the good of suffering humanity, Miss Burns has requested me to lay the case before the public. Yours truly, T. D. MCGRATH, M. D., Druggist and Chemist, S. E. corner, Seventh and Wharton Streets. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

IN IRRITABILITY, restlessnes, want of sleep, invalids will profit by contrasting the physiological nutritive method of furnishing the nervous system elements of repair as in Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, with the practice of exhibiting stimulants and anodynes to spur up the tired nerves. The nutrative method is restorative and permanent, while stimulants and anodynes are temporary in effect, contribute nothing to build up, and are mischievous in inducing a train of habits that may wreck the general health. 9-1t

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere. 42-26ins.

FINANCE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Mr. Paterson, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read and presented the following report:

The Finance Committee, to whom was referred the matter of By-law No. 395, begs to report:—

(1) That clause 36 of the said By-law be repealed and the following substituted therefor:

(36.) "That no person shall, without first having obtained leave of the Council, and until he or she has deposited with the Town Clerk his or her bond to indemnify the town against any action that may be brought against it by reason of the same maintain, continue, construct, place or make any moveable traps or doors for the purpose of entrance to any cellars or premises under any building, or place or make any steps, or porticoes, which shall in any wise encroach upon the sidewalks or streets of the said town, and whenever any such traps or doors are maintained or continued, as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the owner of the building for which the said traps or doors have been made to keep the same in good and sufficient repair at their own expense, and whenever the said traps or doors are raised for the purpose of entering such cellars or premises, said traps or doors shall be fastened in an erect position, so as to guard against pedestrians falling in."

(2.) That clause 37 of the said By-law be repealed and the following substituted therefor:

(a.) "That no person shall erect or continue any sign, sign post, handing or swinging sign, which shall in any way extend over any street or sidewalk, more than eighteen inches beyond the face of the building, and less than twelve feet above the sidewalk, and unless a plan thereof shall be first submitted to and approved of by the Council.

(b.) "That no awning or shed of a permanent character shall be continued, erected, or maintained, but movable cloth awnings, (properly secured by iron fastenings), the lowest point of which shall not be less than seven feet above the sidewalk, may be used during the hours of the day when the sun is shining against the windows covered by said awnings.

(3.) The following accounts are correct, and their payment is recommended:—

Gas Co., Council Chamber, etc.	12 30

J. English	3 00
J. Bertram	2 36
R. B. Edwards	103 60
Dennistoun Bros. & Hall	39 35
J. Ryerson	3 00

(4.) That the claim of George McCombe for expenses re the fire inquest cannot be entertained.

(5.) That Mr. W. Loch's application for remission of taxes cannot be entertained, as the same reason would apply to a great number of cases.

(6.) That the petition of W. J. Riordan for remission of arrears of taxes be not granted.

(7.) That the application of Mr. R. Croft cannot be entertained.

(8.) Charity. That the sum of $3.54 be granted to Mrs. M. Crowley, to enable her to pay her taxes.

(9.) (10.) (11.) That sums of $3.54, $1.13 and $4.17 be granted respectively to Mrs. M. Ritchie, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. J. Trotter for the same purpose.

(12.) (13.) That $3 00, statute labor tax, paid by James A. Martin, and $2.00 by George Louden, be refunded, as both pay other taxes.

(14.) (15.) That $8.25 arrears of taxes be refunded to Robert Duncan, and $13.82 arrears of taxes be refunded to William Toole.

(16.) Your Committee, to whom was referred the petition of A. W. Brodie, asking exemption on a proposed woollen mill, and the question of granting a bonus of $4,000 to the proposed car works on certain conditions, have considered the matters referred to fully, and have instructed the Town Solicitor to prepare By-laws, which will be submitted to you this evening for your approval.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Sd.) W. PATERSON, Jr., Chairman.

Peterborough, Feb. 27, 1882.

Mr. Paterson moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. Rutherford asked to have the report amended so as to show that Mr. Toole's arrears of taxes were remitted because they were paid in 1879. As to the clause referring to projecting signs, he thought two feet should be allowed instead of eighteen inches. Mr. Bradburn's sign, "Golden Lion," which was an ornament to the street, would have to be removed if the report was adopted, but could remain if the signs were allowed to project two feet. He moved a resolution accordingly.

Mr. Menzies seconded the amendment. He thought two feet little enough. Mr. Bradburn's sign was an ornament to the town, and should be allowed to remain up. While speaking he drew the Mayor's attention to the fact that at each meeting of the Council he was being insulted by Mr. McNaughton, who was continually indulging in personalities, and asked that in future such conduct be prevented.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Mr. Rutherford, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, submitted a report recommending the erection of gas lamps at the following places:—

1. One on Brock street between Reid and Park streets.
2. One on Dalhousie street between George and Aylmer streets.
3. One on Brock street, near the Court House, providing the County Council pays one-half the expense.
4. One on the corner of Reid and Simcoe streets.
5. One on McDonald street between George and Aylmer streets.
6. One at the north-west corner of Charlotte and Water streets.
7. One at the corner of King and Stewart streets.
8. One on Smith street near the bridge.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) A. RUTHERFORD, Chairman.

Peterborough, Feb. 27th, 1882.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Richardson,—That the report be received and adopted.

In amendment, moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the report be only received.

The amendment on being put was declared lost, and on the original motion being put Mr. Cahill raised a point of order on the ground that the matter had been previously disposed of, and that except on a majority vote of the Council it could not now be entertained.

A protracted discussion ensued. After several of the members had spoken, Mr. Rutherford, as mover of the resolution, replied, after which Mr. Paterson took the floor, but was called to order by Mr. Poussette, who called the Mayor's attention to the Rule of Order relating to the governing of debates, which provides that after those who wish have spoken the mover is entitled to reply, when the question shall be decided without debate. Mr. Paterson submitted to the Rule. The amendment was then put and declared lost, and the original motion on being put was declared carried.

LICENSE REPORT.

Mr. Rutherford, Chairman of the License Committee, submitted a report: recommending the establishment of a carters' stand on the corner of Hunter and Water streets, and that the licenses be placed at the same figures as last year. He announced that he could not move the adoption of the report, as he did not agree with that part of it referring to liquor licenses.

Mr. Kelly moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Mr. Macnaughton.

Mr. Rutherford moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Richardson,—That in the opinion of this Council the liquor licenses for the year 1882 should be increased to the sum of $180 for shops and $200 for hotels, and for the following reasons, viz:—That the number of licenses is limited, thus giving a monopoly to the business; 2nd, that the licenses were only reduced to the present sum by the cry of hard times; 3rd, that on account of the return of better times, therefore the license should be increased.

Mr. Paterson was willing to leave the shop licenses at $160, and raise the hotel licenses to $200, as he believed the hotel-keepers made larger profits than the shop-keepers.

Mr. McNaughton thought the present figures fair ones.

Mr. Richardson favoured the amendment.

Mr. Alfords thought the hotel-keepers were as well entitled to consideration as the shop-keepers.

Mr. Poussette supported the amendment. He believed $180 for shop-keepers and $200 for hotels, a fair figure. The dealers had a monopoly of the trade; besides, the necessity of police protection was mainly due to the results of liquor-selling and drinking.

Mr. Menzies coincided with what Mr. Poussette had said. He believed all the liquor sellers were making money, and thought it would not be unfair to ask them to pay the figures named in the amendment.

Mr. Denne thought if some of the hotel-keepers had made money there was no reason why they should be imposed upon by extorting money from them for licenses.

Mr. Rutherford asked if all the members had spoken, as did also the Mayor, and no one rising to speak, he as mover of the amendment rose to close the debate. He said he believed if the Council had the power to put up the licenses for sale by auction, the prices would run much higher than those he wished to impose. He instanced one hotel keeper, who at the time the Crook's Act came into force offered $500 for a license. If the licenses were not raised, the temperance people were determined that next year a By-law should be submitted to raise them to $300, which he felt certain would be carried.

As the Mayor was proceeding to put the question, Mr. Cahill rose to speak when His Worship called him to order, as Mr. Rutherford had closed the debate.

Mr. Cahill said if that was the ruling of the chair, and that if he was debarred from speaking he would leave the Council. Upon receiving an affirmative answer he left his seat and proceeded to the ante-room, but immediately returned to question the meaning of the rule.

After some discussion, the Mayor said he had given his decision as he understood the Rule of order to mean, but as this was the first time a question of this kind had arisen he thought, perhaps, the easiest way to get over the difficulty was to allow Mr. Cahill to speak if he wished and then give Mr. Rutherford the privilege of replying.

This view was acceeded in by the Council, but Mr. Cahill refused to comply with it, and declined to speak.

The amendment was then put. Six of the Councillors voted for its adoption and five against it. The Mayor voted nay which made it a tie, and then gave his casting vote, declaring it lost. On the original motion being put, a similar course was pursued, and His Worship also declared it lost.

BANKS AND DOLAN'S REBATE.

On motion of Mr. Poussettee, the Treasurer was instructed to grant a pro rata remission of the town's share of Messrs. Banks & Dolan's license, as soon as the license money was received.

ANOTHER MOVE IN THE LICENSE QUESTION.

Mr. Menzies rose to move that a By-law be submitted to the people to determine the amount at which the licenses should be placed, when the Mayor informed him it was out of order, as the question had been settled for this year, and that until last year's By-law was repealed the license would be the same as last year.

THE WOOLLEN MILL EXEMPTION.

A By-law to exempt the woollen mill to be located in Peterborough from taxation for a term of ten years, was introduced by Mr. Poussette, and read a first time.

On motion, the Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading of the By-law. Mr. Richardson in the chair.

Upon the reading of the first clause the Committee arose and asked leave to sit again, as they were unable to determine whether the name to be inserted in the By-law should be "Robert Brodie" or "A. W. Brodie."

THE CAR WORKS BY-LAW.

Mr. Poussette introduced a By-law granting aid to the proposed car works company, and moved for its first reading. In doing so he noticed in detail the several provisions contained in the By-law.

After the first reading, Mr. Poussette moved that the Council go into Committe of the whole on the second reading of the By-law.

Mr. Rutherford said he understood the By-law was only to be read a first time to-night, and then it could come before the ratepayers for discussion through the press. He favored the calling of a public meeting to hear the views of the ratepayers.

Mr. Denne believed this money, if voted, would be like that voted to the Toronto & Ottawa Railway—when once given that would be the last of it; we would never see a cent of it again.

Mr. Richardson thought that when one of the chief citizens of the town was willing to take one-tenth of the whole stock, the town should not hesitate to assist to a like amount.

Mr. Menzies said he understood the by-law was only to be read a first time to-night. He thought the amount asked for altogether too large. He would support $10,000 but not $20,000.

After considerable talk, the debate was adjourned until Tuesday evening.

DISTRAINING FOR TAXES.

On motion of Mr. Rutherford, the Collector was instructed to stay proceedings in the collection of taxes from Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Portsmouth and Joseph Langton.

THAT GAS LAMP.

On motion of Mr. Kelly, the gas lamp asked for at Hill's corner was ordered to be located.

SOME QUESTIONS.

Mr. Poussette asked if it was the intention of the Street and Bridge Committee to have the crossings cleaned, as they were in many cases disgraceful. He thought in laying them, they should be raised much higher. Besides keeping pedestrians from wading in mud, they would have a salutary effect upon furious driving on the streets. He also asked if it was the intention of the committee to undertake this year any steps towards providing a system of sewerage for the town.

The chairman said the committees had neither subjects under consideration.

DANGER AHEAD.

Mr. Poussette drew the attention of the Council to the danger to be apprehended to citizens by the extension of the Midland Railway, at the curve near the corner of Brock and Bethune Streets. He moved for a committee to wait on Mr. Cox and see if the danger could not be averted.

After passing a resolution endorsing the petition now being circulated for the commutation of John Dugan's sentence, the Council adjourned until Tuesday evening.

TUESDAY EVENING SESSION.

Council met pursuant to adjournment. Present—His Worship the Mayor and all the councillors, except Mr. Kelly.

The Mayor read a letter from E. B. Osler, President of the Ontario & Quebec Railway Company, stating that three lines had been surveyed, but before coming to any conclusion as to which should be adopted, as one of them entails the purchase of expensive right of way and the construction of an expensive bridge over the river at Peterborough, they wished to lay before the Council, the question of assisting by way of bonus in the construction of the line, which would secure to the town a good location in it for station buildings, &c. Referred to Finance Committee.

On motion the Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading of the by-law. Mr. Menzies in the chair.

The clerk read the by-law over for the information of the council after which W. Claxton, Esq., W. Mills, Esq., and E. C. Hill, Esq. addressed the council, upon invitation.

Mr. Denne objected to any further reading of the by-law, until it had been submitted to the ratepayers.

Mr. Rutherford wanted the matter stayed until a public meeting was held and moved a resolution accordingly.

The Mayor thought it was but right to go on and read the by-law, and put it into shape, after which it might then be advisable to refer it to a public meeting, before submitting it to the people for voting upon.

Mr. Poussette while anxious to have public feeling expressed upon it, felt certain that no public meeting ever held in this town, gave a true expression to the feeling of the public.

Mr. Denne felt confident that if this money were paid over to the Company, the town would never see a cent of it again.

Mr. Richardson wondered why it was that whenever anything came forward, we were referred to those $2000 which had been advanced to the Toronto & Ottawa Railway. If the town had made a mistake in its existence, have not individuals done the same. He referred to the bonus given to the Auburn Woollen Co., and held that not a ratepayer in the town regretted the grant.

Mr. Cahill advocated the proposed assistance and showed that when in working order, about $2,000 a week would be paid out in wages.

The By-law was then read over clause by clause, and the clerk instructed to take the necessary steps for the holding of the election.

Council then adjourned for a month.

Manitoba! Manitoba!
Is the talk from morn till eve—
The foremost word in greeting,
And the last in taking leave.
Now the tonic of "good chances"
There, ring o'er the frosty way,
With a finale of unshaken
Confidence in—"so they say"—
How Messrs. Luck and Luckier
Have made their fortunes there,
And Mr. Luckiest will soon
Be quite a millionaire.

"Just the place" for young men ent'ring
On the verge of manhood's prime,
Where their energies will meet with Due reward, in little time.
"Just the place" for those oppress'd with Business, toils and cares, so rife,
Where with timely, shrewd investments
They may lead an easy life.
"Just the place" where all-subduing
Kindness, in its gentle sway,
Might lead the weak and erring
In true wisdom's happy way.

'Manitoba! Manitoba!
Tell it o'er and o'er again—
Of resources undeveloped
In its limitless domain.
Talking with a zest unfail'ing
All the six days of the week—
Surely men, one day in seven,
Will of something sacred speak.
Were this found alone 'mong manimon
Worshippers, 'twere sad, indeed;
For they never from the bondage
Of false lucre have been freed.

Ah! 'tis sad that those professing
They are living for the Lord
Let their heart-strings twine more fondly
Round the dollar than His Word—
Listen to a conversation
Week and Sabbath day as well—
In barter's keen discussions,
Which a Christian can you tell?
Surely those who've found the pearl
Of great price, will long to tell
How its peerless worth and beauty
Rarest gems of earth excel.

There are souls in Manitoba
Bound for an eternal shore;
Each one, in itself, more precious
Than the world and all its store.
Who are thinking? Are there any?
Yes! we're glad to know there's some
Who are seeking now to gather
These into a heavenly home.
Who are willing, who are ready
To assist them in their good
Efforts to supply the needy
With the Gospel's gracious food.

Are they not our friends and neighbors—
Brothers, sisters all so dear?
Shall we revel in the blessings
Of the Saviour's kingdom here,
And in careless manner answer:
To excuse our meagre aid—
They might have had like privileges
In Ontario, had they stayed?
Most have gone for worthy reasons,
And perchance the Lord's command
Was to them like as to Israel:
"Go ye up; possess the land!"

Oh! if Christians were as earnest
As the worldling, in his haste
To secure time's fleeting treasures,
Manitoba soon would taste,
From remotest end to farthest,
Of the "living water" free;
Many soul's now dead, might lively
Stones in God's temple be;
And among those now deploring
"That there' none who care for them."
Jewels won to shine forever
In the Saviour's diadem.

Manitoba! Mount of Zion!
One of earth, one in the skies
Which—oh, which!—of these most fully Minds of Christians occupies?
Manitoba! earthly, transient
Zion's city: God did lay
Its foundations; and how dazzling
The prospect we survey.
There, perpetual hills and blissful
Fields, all measureless extend,
Cloth'd in never-fading verdure,
While immortal groves ascend:

And vales harmonious echo
To the angels' song; and flowers
Amaranthine bloom forever
In sweet Elysian bowers.
There the voice of joy and triumph
Is forever heard; and there,
In His glory—in his beauty,
Reigns the fairest of the fair
He who is the King of Zion,
Whom all nations shall adore,
In whose presence there is fulness
Of pleasures evermore.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Manitoba Mountaineer says it could fill its columns with the names of men who have sold their farms in that province and gone to Dakota, because of the wretched government land policy.

When the Boundary Award was made known, the Toronto Mail declared that Ontario was "undoubtedly right" in her contentions, and that she received less territory than she should by the award. Now the Mail turns around and declares that Ontario is not entitled to the territory at all.

The protective policy of Bismarck in Germany has been demonstrated a failure. The annual report of one of the oldest trade associations in Berlin describes many branches of trade in Germany as hampered by the rise in import duties. The home market suffers through the increased prices, and consumption is checked by increased taxes and higher prices on articles of food, while the export trade is injured by the increased cost of raw materials and half-manufactured articles which enter largely into production.

The farmer cannot be protected, unless the Government gives him a money bonus on every acre he cultivates. To no class have the promises of the N. P. been carried out. One may say that prices are better and the N. P. has done it. Not so. What has made the times good? He (Mr. P.) found in 1880 they exported $3,869,000 worth more timber than in 1879; of animals, $3,876,000 more than in 1879; of agricultural produce, $6,416,000 more than in 1879. nearly $14,000,000 more exports in those articles. There's the secret of success. Did the N. P. give us the extra amount? Can the N. P. raise the price of timber $2 in Albany? Unless it can it cannot get the credit. Nor does the N. P. enable a cow to have two calves instead of one. It has nothing to do with the increase of stock, nor does it raise the price of butter and cheese in England. It cannot cause heaven's rain to fall and sun to shine, giving larger crops, and it is blasphemy to attribute to the N. P. the gifts of Providence. (Applause.) (Mr. W. Paterson, M.P.

The Canada Pacific Syndicate has become so accustomed to good bargains and special favors of all sorts that its members cannot get down to honest business. The Victoria (B. C.) Colonist tells the following story: "American railway men, it is said, appreciate the importance of the coal lands of this island. These lands have gone abegging for the past eight years because no company could be found willing to build a short piece of railway between Esquimalt and Nanaimo. Now, while the Canadian Syndicate are 'dickering' with the agent of the Province at Ottawa over a few additional thousand acres of land, in return for which they propose only to lay 65 miles of rails, it is said that an American company have stepped into the field and offer to lay 144 miles of rails for the same quantity of land for which the Canadian company propose to build only 65 miles of road." Of course every Ontario Tory believes that it will pay better to get 65 miles of road from Stephens & Co. than to get 144 miles from the hatred Yankees at the same price.

THE WORK OF THE AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION.

In the course of his financial speech on Wednesday, Mr. Wood thus spoke of the work and result of the Agricultural Commission:—

The next item to which I come is the vote of concurrence with reference to the Agricultural Commission. I take the liberty now of stating that I feel I have the right to claim the assent of members on the other side of the House to the statement that the pledges given by myself, some two years ago, on behalf of the Government, have been carried out to the letter. I said then that the vote we were asking for was to defray the expenses of a Commission in the character of which there should be nothing of a political or party nature, and I pledged the Government that so far as they were concerned such considerations would not even be an element in any of the work of the Commission. The report of the Commission has been in the hands of the public over a year, it has been largely circulated, and I claim that whether you take the composition of the Commission, the witnesses examined, or the report itself, the pledge that the whole affair has been non-political has been fully redeemed. (Cheers.) The amount may seem large by itself, but when you consider the quantity and quality of the work, when you consider the magnitude of the interests that it was intended to serve, it sinks into insignificance. I will now, if the House will bear with me, proceed to notice a few of the interests which this Agricultural Commission's report was expected to serve and advance. We have in this Province some 11,000,000 acres of cleared land. If by reclaiming our worn-out lands and a judicious system of rotation of crops, or by scientific application of manures, we are able to increase the capacity of those lands and to make them worth only $2 per acre more, we have added to the wealth of this Province some $22,000,000. (Applause.) In the old country—I am speaking now of England and Ireland, and some parts of Europe—the land has been fairly developed, while in Ontario a large portion of land is equal to any in Europe, it has only been very impartially developed. In England the average yield of wheat per acre for a number of years past has been 29½ bush., in Ireland 25 bush., in Denmark 27 bush., in Holland 23 bush., in Belgium 22 bush., and in Sweden 19 bush., while in Ontario the yield has been between 15 and 16 bush. In many of the other crops the same remarks will hold good. We grow nearly 18,000,000 bushels of wheat per year, 12,000,000 bushels of barley, 10,000,000 of peas, 25,000,000 of oats, 4,000,000 of corn, 81,000,000 of potatoes, 25,000,000 of turnips, 3,000,000 of carrots and mangolds, 500,000 of rye, and 125,000 of beans, the total value of which, exclusive of any other crops, is about $50,000,000. I ask the agricultural members of this House, and those interested in agriculture, whether in regard to these crops there is not room for improvement. I ask them if they can name any one of the crops which I have mentioned that is grown as successfully as it is in the better developed and better cultivated countries of Europe? I ask them whether the rule in even the best of our townships is not that there is a lack of scientific cultivation? I say it is a fair assumption that the Agriculture Commission report, with its wide circulation, being sought after as it is by the farmers more eagerly than the most popular work of the most popular authors—(applause)—and finding its way into every homestead, will increase the products of the country by 10 per cent., and will consequently add $5,000,000 to the wealth of the Province. (Cheers.) Take the cattle trade. This is a trade of very recent development, and a very important one it is. It has much, very much, to do with the future prosperity of our Province. In 1877 we shipped cattle to the extent only of 1,400 head; in 1878 we shipped 18,655 head; in 1879, 28,176; 1880, 50,817; and in 1881, 46,885. Of sheep we shipped in 1877, 9,509 head; in 1878, 41,250; in 1879, 78,780; in 1880, 81,547; and in 1881, 62,822. The United States, so far as cattle are concerned, shipped 46,885 more than we did in 1881, while on the other hand our exports of sheep in that year were 62,822 head to their 29,185. (Applause.) Now we have over 1,700,000 head of cattle, worth at a low valuation $30,000,000, and I ask members of this House whether, so far as these cattle are concerned, there is not room for improvement? Our sheep number 1,750,000, worth say $5,000,000, and we clip annually say 7,000,000 pounds of wool, which at the average value of the last few years is worth about $2,000,000. Any person, even though not a farmer, on reading the report of the Agricultural Commission can see the very great room there is for improvement as regards the quality of our wool. I may add that we have 875,000 pigs, worth at a low estimate $3,000,000. I come now perhaps to a more interesting class of our products. We make in Ontario, over 45,000,000 lbs. of butter annually. I regret to say, as Minister of Agriculture, that it is 45,000,000 of a very inferior character. That is the verdict upon it in England and other foreign markets, and there is no evading the unpleasant fact. It is very evident that with our large annual product, a very small percentage of increase in quality would add a very large sum to the total value. We also make in this country over 50,000,000 lbs. of cheese. I was not myself at all prepared for this large quantity yearly, but I have verified these figures as far as possible, not having the returns contained in the census of 1881; I have consulted with some of the eminent authorities on this question, and have come to the conclusion that 50,000,000 lbs. of cheese is a low estimate. To get an idea of the advance that has been made in the cheese trade, you have only to glance at the difference between the exports for 1871 and those of 1881. There were exported from Quebec in the former year 8,283,273 lbs., and in the letter year 40,317,911 lbs. Much the larger proportion of these quantities came from Ontario, so that I think I am quite safe in saying, taking into account the amount consumed within the Province, that we make annually 50,000,000 lbs. of cheese. I call the attention of the House to these figures to show the importance of the interests which the Agriculture Commission was intended to serve and advance. I admit that I have merely touched upon the defects in connection with these matters, and that it would take more time than is now at the disposal of the House or could be given to an ordinary speech to indicate fairly the interests for the furtherance of which that important Commission was intended. But I have said enough to show, that so far as expenses are concerned, when it is compared with the results that have been achieved it sinks into insignificance. (Cheers.)

"WHAT EVERY ONE SAYS MUST BE TRUE."—And every one who has tested its merits speaks warmly in praise of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam as a positive cure for all throat and lung complaints, coughs and colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and incipient consumption. 9-2t.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR-SHOP.

PASTE THIS UP FOR REFERENCE IN CASE OF EMERGENCY.

Nearly every person knows what to do in case of injury or sudden sickness, but it often happens that under the excitement attending such circumstances they become confused, and forget all they know about it. The following suggestions might be pasted up on the inside of the closet or book-case door where they could be referred to promptly:

For stomach cramps, ginger ale, or a half-teaspoonful of the tincture of ginger in a half-glass of water in which half a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved.

Swallowing saliva often relieves sour stomach.

Hot, dry flannel, applied as hot as possible, for neuralgia.

Whooping cough paroxysms are relieved by breathing the fumes of turpentine or carbolic acid.

For cold in the head nothing is better than powdered borax snuffed up the nostrils.

A strong solution of bicarbonate of soda (baking soda) taken frequently is a reliable remedy for diarrhœal troubles, particularly those arising from acid in the stomach.

A standing antidote for poison by dew, poison ak, ivy, etc., is to take a handful of quicklime dissolve in water, let it stand half an hour, then paint the poisoned parts with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated cases.

If children do not thrive on fresh milk, it should be boiled.

Powdered rosin is the best thing to stop bleeding from cuts. After the powder is sprinkled on, wrap the wound with a soft cotton cloth. As soon as the wound begins to feel feverish, keep the cloth wet with cold water.

For burns, sweet oil and cotton are the standard remedies. If they are not at hand sprinkle the burned part with flour, and wrap loosely with a soft cloth. Don't remove the dressing until the inflammation subsides, as it will break the new skin that is forming.

For nose-bleeding, bathe the face and neck with cold water.

If an artery is severed, tie a small cord or a handkerchief above it.

For billious colic, soda and ginger in hot water. It may be taken freely.

Broken limbs should be placed in natural positions and the patient kept quiet until the surgeon arrives.

Nervous spasms are usually relieved by a little salt taken into the mouth and allowed to dissolve.

Hemorrhages of the lungs or stomach are promptly checked by small doses of salt. The patient should be kept as quiet as possible.

Sleeplessness caused by too much blood in the head may be overcome by applying a cloth wet with cold water to the back of the neck.

For pains in the chest or stomach, as much Dover's powder as will lie on a silver five cent piece.

Wind colic is promptly relieved by peppermint essence taken in a little warm water. For small children it may be sweetened. Paregoric is also good.

Indigestion is the prolific cause of colics, diarrhœa, headaches, constipation and many diseases of the bladder. Food that is not digested, ferments and becomes powerfully acid, causing irritation and inflammation wherever it touches. Many fevers are caused by it. Pepsin is the best remedy, if taken immediately after eating. If pepsin is not taken, the acidity should be controlled by bicarbonate of soda or potash.

Sickness of the stomach is most promptly relieved by drinking a teacupful of hot soda and water. If it brings the offending matter up all the better.

A teaspoonful of ground mustard in a cup of warm water is a prompt and reliable emetic and should be resorted to in cases of poisoning or cramps of the stomach from over eating.

Pains in the sides are most promptly relieved by the application of mustard.

Sprains and bruises call for an application of the tincture of arnica.

Avoid purgatives and strong physics, as they not only do no good, but are positively hurtful. Pills may relieve for the time, but they seldom cure. The pill-taker's bitter end is always worse than his first condition. Stomach bitters are a snare, and only create a desire for stimulants.

Eat only such things as agree with you, and not too much at a time. By heeding the warnings of your stomach many doctor's bills, and even undertakers' too, may be avoided. Shun feasts and big feeds. Give children plenty of milk and bread, grahame or oatmeal crackers, and good, ripe fruit. They will not only thrive on this diet but keep healthy.

In every house there should be a little nook in which a few simple remedies are kept. Among them should be extract of ginger, Dover's powder, peppermint, chlorate of potash, bicarbonate of soda, sweet oil, paragoric, camphor, arnica, cotton, old muslin for bandages, some sticking-plaster, a box of ground mustard and some ready made mustard plasters. Always strike a light when you go to get any of these in the dark, and be sure you have the right one.

An observance of these suggestions will pay well for the trouble

CHARGING THE JURY.

In a country place in North Carolina some time after the war, they elected as justice of the peace an old white haired negro, ignorant, but honest, and well liked. His first case was a jury trial. After the pleading was over, the counsel informed his honor that he would charge the jury.

"Hun'. Charge de jury?"

"Yes, your honor."

"Wal, gemmen ob de jury, it 'pears de case am trew, an' I got to close it wid de charge. Considr in' de 'sperience you hab got, I tink I will charge you two dollar an' haf piece."—Detroit Free Press.

GOLDEN INFORMATION

A while ago, said Mrs. Dr. A. A. Jordan, 51 Lincoln street, Worcester, Mass., one of my friends from the South spoke to me very highly of St. Jacobs Oil. I resolved to try it on my patients, and I must confess that I was surprised at the results. It has never failed to cure all that it claims to, and I prescribe it willingly and confidently to those of my patients who suffer with rheumatism, sprains and all bodily pains. It is certainly a wonderful remedy, and I can highly recommend it

A VEXED CLERGYMAN.—Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by using Dr. Kings' New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial bottles given away at Taylor & Macdonalds Drug Store.

HUMOROUS GLEANINGS.

Makes a bolt for business—the blacksmith.

The industrious miner succeeds by vein efforts.

Why is a Zulu belle like a prophet of old? Because she has not much on'er in her own country.

It is certainly a reflection on the appreciative taste of the bride that the best man at a wedding is not the bridegroom.

"How could you think of calling auntie stupid? Go to her immediately and tell her you are sorry." Freddy goes to auntie, and says, "Aunty, I am sorry you are stupid."

"Kaiser" Machine Oil is the standard for quality, warranted not to clog or gum. Ask your dealer for it. Manufactured by Clarke & Huggart, Woodstock, Ont. 5-38t.

Marrying by telegraph and telephone has become very popular. It prevents the preacher from kissing the bride. Now, this is the way of the world. Always begin retrenchment with the church.

"One pint of kerosene has made eighty families homeless in Kokomo, Col., assisted by the bad judgment of one who is now an angel," is the pathetic way in which a western paper records a sad item.

"No man," said a wealthy but weak-minded barrister, "should be admitted to the bar who has not an independent landed property." "May I ask," said Curran, "how many acres make a wise-acre?"

A news item says that a Scranton lady kisses all the tramps who call at her gate, for their mother's sake. She seems to have solved the tramp question. Tramps never call at her gate the second time. They prefer ten days in the county jail.

A country poet, after looking about over life, has come to the following rhyming conclusion:—

"Oh, I wouldn't live for ever—I wouldn't if I could;
But I needn't fret about it, for I couldn't if I would."

DYSPEPSIA, that all prevalent disease of civilized life, is always attended with a disordered sympathetic system and bad secretions, and no remedy is better adapted to its cure than Burdock Blood Bitters taken according to special directions found on every bottle. 9-2t.

"Well, Andrew," a gentleman remarked to a Scotchman who, with his brother, was the only remnant of a narrow sect, "I suppose you and Sandy are the only bodies who will get to heaven, now?" "'Deed, Sir," replied Andrew, shaking his head, "an' I'm no so sure about Sandy."

An Irishman who had been vaunting his bravery, was observed to run away before an engagement. Questioned as to how this came to pass, he replied:—"Shure, an' me heart's as brave as a lion, it is; but I've the misfortin' to possess one cowardly leg, an' it won't stand fire."

A stout, jolly-looking mendicant recently entered a shop in Dublin, and asked the owner for charity. He shook his head and said—"I am not able to give you anything." The woman, in quite a cheerful tone, promptly replied—"Thank you, Sir, and may you long be in the same position."

A REAL NECESSITY.—No house should be without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, in case of accident. There is no preparation offered to suffering humanity that has made so many permanent cures, or relieved so much pain and misery. It is called by some the Good Samaritan, by others the Cure-all, and by the afflicted an Angel of Mercy. 9-2t.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply. 48-ly

THE LAST HYMN.

The Sabbath day was ending in a village by the sea—
The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly;
And they rose to face the sunset in the glowing lighted west,
And then hastened to their dwellings for God's blessed boon of rest.

But they looked across the waters, and a storm was raging there.
A fierce spirit moved above them—the wild spirit of the air;
And it lashed, and shook and tore them, 'till they thundered, groaned and boomed;
And alas! for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed.

Very anxious were the people on that rocky coast of Wales,
Lest the coming of the morrow should be telling awful tales;
When the sea had spent its passion and had cast upon the shore
Bits of wreck, and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough wind blowing round her, a brave woman strained her eyes,
And she saw along the billows a large vessel fall and rise;
Oh! it did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be!
For no ship could ride in safety near that shore on such a sea.

Then the pitying people hurried from their homes and thronged the beach,
Oh! for power to cross the waters, and the perishing to reach!
Helpless hands were wrung for sorrow, tender hearts grew cold with dread,
And the ship, urged by tempest, to the fatal rock-shore sped.

She has parted in the middle! Oh! the half of her goes down;
God have mercy! is life's heaven far to seek for those who drown?
Lo! when next the white shocked faces looked with terror on the sea,
Only one last clinging figure on a spar was seen to be.

Nearer the trembling watchers came the wreck tossed by the wave,
And the man still clung and floated, though no earthly power could save.
Could we send him a short message? Here, a trumpet shout away!
'Twas the preacher's hand that took it, and he wondered what to say

Any memory of his sermon? Firstly? Secondly? Ah, no!
There was but one thing to utter in that awful hour of woe.
So he shouted through the trumpet: "Look to Jesus! can you hear?"
And "Aye, aye, sir!" rang the answer o'er the waters loud and clear.

Then they listened—he is singing: "Jesus, lover of my soul!"
And the winds brought back the echo, "while the nearer waters roll!"
Strange, indeed, it was to hear him, till the storm of life was past,
Singing bravely from the waters, "Oh, receive my soul at last."

He could have no other refuge! "Hangs my helpless soul on Thee;
Leave, O leave me not" the singer dropped at last into the sea;
And the watchers, looking homeward, through their eyes by tears made dim,
Said he passed, to be with Jesus, in the singing of that hymn.

IN MEMORIAM OF TWO DEAR FRIENDS GONE HOME.

BY MRS. W. DOBBIN.

For the EXAMINER.

They are only gone home, gone home, to that blissful retreat,
Gone home to Jesus, prince of peace, bright Celestial Star,
Gone home to meet dear friends, in recognition sweet,
Gone home to him that holds the keys of life and death ajar.)

They are only gone home, where flowers eternally bloom,
Gone home to hear the angels say, "behold the risen star."
Gone home to see that pleasant land, where pilgrims rest at noon,
Gone home to Christ the living way, to (Christ the door ajar.)

They are only gone home to peace and pastures green,
Gone home to taste the fruit, faith saw shining from afar,
Gone home to drink from the fountain, that life-giving stream,
Gone home to the shepherd's tender notes, (come the gates ajar.)

They are only gone home, freed from sorrow, pain and care,
Gone home to him they loved, though dimly from afar,
Gone home to one of the many mansions, Jesus went to prepare,
Gone home to that everlasting love, (Christ the door ajar.)

TALKING TO THE PURPOSE.

A SWEETLY ASTHETIC YOUNG MAID CANDIES AND PEANUTS.

"Does your father keep a dog?"

These words, uttered with a simple earnestness that showed how deeply their full meaning was felt by him who spoke them, fell from the lips of Ethelbert Dooley as he looked tenderly into the fair, spirituelle face of Rosalind Mahaffy.

They were at the matinee, and a dull pain stole into the girl's heart as she shifted the last caramel in the box over to the starboard side of her pretty mouth.

"Ethelbert does not love me," she said so softly to herself, with a look of pain whitened for an instant with a deathly pallor the pure ingenue face and the shapely hand grasped more tightly the dainty silk parasol that served alike to keep off sun and wind from the little form.

"All gone," she murmured sadly, "every blamed one," feeling earnestly with her taper fingers in every corner of the empty box, and then a look of sweet content o'erspread her features as she placed a hand in the pocket of her sealskin sacque, only to be succeeded by a dull, dazed expression of grief and anguish.

She had lost her chewing-gum.

"You look ill, darling" whispered Ethelbert, as the curtain went down at the close of the first act; "try some of these," holding out a paper of peanuts.

With a glad look of love in her beautiful brown eyes, Rosalind turned to him and said: "I can never doubt you again, darling. I would follow you to the end of the world"

INBIBING SWEETNESS;

Or, Tit for Tat.

I confess I was very angry. Well, I may as well begin at the beginning, and tell you the whole story. When I married Tom Watkins all my friends said I made a fool of myself—flatly thrown myself away—and my circumstances, too, I should have done so myself better; and what other excuse does a woman need for an act of folly? But Tom had one fault that troubled me greatly—he was a most inveterate kisser. Before we were married he used to kiss all the girls who visited his sister, and afterwards he kissed all my old school friends who came to the house, and even kissed my mother; and you must concede that a man is a great kisser who would kiss his mother-in-law. Well, all this I bore in silence, if not in patience, till one morning, coming out of my room, what should I see but Tom at the head of the stairs actually kissing Sarah Ann, the hired girl. That was a little more than human nature could bear. I sat down till I had recovered a little and allowed Tom to reach the dining-room. When at last I went down, he advanced with his usual smile to kiss me, but I drew back, angrily.

"Why, Jessie, what's the matter?" he asked, looking surprised.

"As you have already had the pleasure of kissing Sarah Ann, I think you will do for this morning. I should not fancy the flavor of you kiss after that."

Tom actually blushed. "Oh, you saw that, did you Jessie? Where's the great harm in that? Its my motto to imbibe sweetness wherever I find it."

"Well, I fancy you did not imbibe a great deal from that source; and the harm is that it lowers your dignity as the head of the family, besides giving the servants an exaggerated opinion of their own importance."

"What nonsense! I don't suppose that Sarah Ann will ever think of it again any more than I should if you had not taken me to task about it."

"You seem to forget, Tom, that persons in her position are not so intelligent as those in ours. They judge almost by actions, and I am quite sure Sarah Ann thinks you are in love with her."

"Don't make a mountain out of a mole hill, my dear."

"Well, Tom, would you like to see me kissing old Eben?"

"Well, really, if you have any desire to kiss old Eben, I don't think I should find it in my heart to object," laughed Tom as he closed the door and went away.

Old Eben had come from my neighborhood and was our man of all work, and the ugliest mortal that I ever set eyes on. So I could not but acknowledge that there might be a difference between me kissing him and Sarah Ann who was really good looking.

Well, I felt so bad that I could not help sitting down and having a good cry. In the midst of it I saw some one coming up the walk who was smiling and beckoning to me, as though well assured of a welcome. It proved to be my brother John, who had been away for years. We had been expecting him, but not so soon. After the greetings were over and we were a little quieted, he questioned me about my tears and at length drew from me the whole story.

"So they were not far from wrong in saying you made a fool of yourself in by marrying him, eh, Jessie? Well, why don't you make him put himself in your place?"

"Oh, John, you don't mean for me to—"

"Kiss old Eben?—hardly," said John, drily, "but you can put me in his place for a few days."

"Oh, John, that's just the thing! He was to have gone home last week for a few days, but his nephew who was coming to take his place, was taken ill, and he was obliged to give up going.

"Well, tell him you have some one to take his place, and get him off this afternoon. And now, before anyone sees me, I'll go back to the hotel where I left my baggage, and disguise myself a little."

In a very short time John came back, changed beyond recognition, with a blue shirt and overalls, and his hair combed back behind his ears and plastered smoothly down to his head. He looked very funny; but he went about his work in such a stoical, indifferent way, that one would have thought it the life he always led.

When Tom came home, I casually remarked that Eben's nephew, Teddy O'Brien, had come to take his place, and that he had at last gone home to pay his visit; and I was so pleased and chatty that Tom thought I had quite forgotten the occurrances of the morning, and he was very amiable and sweet in consequence.

In the morning I was up betimes, Tom likes his morning nap; and while apparently solicitous that he should not be disturbed, I at the same time took care to make noise enough to keep him wide awake, though he lay with his eyes closed, pretending to sleep.

At last I heard a step in the hall, and opening the door cautiously, called Sarah Ann, but it was Teddy O'Brien who answered.

"The top o' the mornin' to you, mussus; it's as fresh and swate as a rose you are lookin', an' what can I do for you, mum?"

"Ah, Teddy, is it you?" I'd like some hot water, if you'd tell Sarah Ann to bring it."

"I'll bring it myself in a jiffy," said Teddy, disappearing down the stairway, in an incredibly short time he returned with it.

"Why, Teddy, how quick you are."

"Sure, mam, and who wouldn't bestir himself for as swate a leddy as you?"

"Ah, Teddy, like all your countrymen, you have kissed the blarney stone."

"Niver a stone, mum; but I mind well when we were children together, many's the time I've kissed your swate lips; ah, and I would I were a boy again."

"Why do wish that, Teddy?"

"Sure, and wouldn't I be doin' the same again? Ah, mum, this is for the sake of old time?" and there he kissed me with a noise a little less than clap of thunder.

"Why, Teddy, have you taken leave of your senses. Do you forget I'm a married woman?"

"More's the pity, mum; but where's the harm? You'll never miss the swateness I stole."

"Suppose my husband should hear you?"

"He! never fear; he's sleeping like an elephant."

"Oh, you naughty Teddy, begone."

"Going, mum." And repeating the smack, he disappeared down the stairway, just as Tom called out to know who was there.

"It is I, Tom, dear," I answered sweetly.

"And who else?"

"Oh, only Teddy, bringing up the hot water. Will you get up now, before it gets cold?"

Tom said no more, but I saw he was furtively watching me all the time I was present. At length he said:

"What sort of a fellow is this Teddy O'Brien?"

"Oh, Tom," I exclaimed, "the nicest fellow! I'm sure when you see him you'll agree with me that it is better to dismiss Eben and keep him instead. You know we were children together."

"My dear," he said, "ain't you a little—I—I thought I heard—"

"Ah, yes," I interrupted, "that door does squeak dreadfully. I'm sorry that it awoke you; but it won't make much difference, for it's time to get up anyway. There, I'm dressed before you've begun, so I'll go down and get some flowers."

When Tom came down, I was in the dining room arranging the flowers. Teddy was standing by me, and as Tom came in, pretending not to see him he remarked:

"Well, to my thinking there's not a flower among them half so swate as you."

Then, perceiving Tom, he pulled his forelock and scraped his foot in regular servant style.

"Mornin', sir. It's the master I s'pose you are. Foine weather for this time o' the year."

Tom looked just furious.

"It seems to me, young man, you don't know your place very well. In future confine yourself to your quarters, and speak when your spoken to."

"Sure I mean no offence, sir."

"Will you go and without replying?" Tom stormed.

"Why, my dear Tom," I remarked smiling sweetly, "what a strange dislike you seem to have taken to poor Teddy I was so in hopes that you would like him as I do, and take him in Eben's place."

"If he don't mind what he's about I'll kick him out of doors!"

The breakfast passed in absolute silence. As we were passing the pantry on our way to the parlour, we heard Teddy's voice, and I made Tom stop to listen.

"It's a foine lookin' girl that you are Sarah Ann; an' I'd give you a kiss, I would indade, if your breath didn't smell so of ingyuns."

"Ingyuns, indeed! And who axed ye for a kiss! Do you suppose I'd be wantin' one from the likes of you when I can get them from your better?"

"My betters!—and who do you call my betters?"

"Sure, and isn't the master himself that kisses me every blessed mornin' of his life; and does he speak of ingyuns?—not much."

"The master! Now, it's jokin' you are, Sarah Ann. Do you s'pose I'm fool enough to believe that?"

"Believe it or not its the blessed truth I'm tellin' you. Sure, if anything should happen the missus, it's not long I'd be the servant here."

"And it's kissin you, you say he does! Well, it's quare creatures you wimmin are, anyway. Now, men think it disgraceful to kiss and tell anybody, and here you boast of it.

We waited to hear no more; but Tom's face was in a blaze, and he took his hat and left without a word or look.

The next morning Teddy and I managed to be in the same place on the stairs where I had seen Tom kiss Sarah Ann, and as he opened the door Teddy kissed me loud enough to be heard all over the house, and then hurried away, while I went on to the dinning room.

Tom came in presently with an awful frown, which I pretended not to see, and held up my face to be kissed; but he pushed me away from him.

"Why, Tom, are you not going to kiss me?"

"Do you think I'm blind, Mrs. Wilkins? I saw Teddy kiss you just now, and it's not the first time, either Do you think I'll stand such things? No—I'll break every bone in the rascal's body, if I hang for it; and you shall go home to your mother until you learn how to behave yourself!"

"Now, my dear Tom, where's the harm in that? I believe in imbibing sweetness whenever I find it, so don't make a mountain over a molehill."

You should have seen Tom's face when he heard me repeat his own words.

"Look here, Jessie," he said at length, "you have got the best of me though it was a very hard way of giving me my lesson."

"Not more severe than the case required, Tom. I only made you put yourself in my place."

"Well, Jessie, if it filled you with such intense disgust to see me kiss Sarah Ann as it did me to see you kiss that confounded Teddy, I don't wonder you were angry."

Well, we talked the matter over at length, and agreed to dismiss both Teddy and Sarah Ann, giving them a month's wages instead of a warning.

I heard Sarah Ann mutter to Teddy: "Sure, I believe the missus suspects the master is swate on me."

"Niver you fool yourself that way," Teddy. It's himself as is sending us away."

Well, at length they were off, and the next day Eben came back, and I had a new girl; but all this time Tom had not kissed me, but treated me with aversion, as though my sins were too great for forgiveness.

While we were at dinner, brother John arrived. I was a little curious to see if Tom would recognize him. He looked at him with a puzzled expression, but said nothing, but presently he became immoderately gay, and, indeed, almost brilliant. Later, when we were alone, he took me, in his arms and kissed me, and whispered.

"Well, darling Jessie, I see you have got Teddy back after all. Oh, if you know the relief it give me to see that you had not degraded yourself!"

"Oh, you foolish Tom! Do you think I could ever dared to descend to that even to give you a much needed lesson! But see how inconsistent you are: you have no forgiveness for the least false step a woman makes, even when she is following your example to the very letter."

OLD LOVERS.

(Little Rock Gazette.)

Several years before the war, a young man came to Little Rock and fell desperately in love with a young lady. The lady's parents were rich. The young man was poor. A union was impossible. The girl prayed and the young man implored, but the ruthless parents remained firm. The young man went away. The war came on. The parents of the girl died. Her uncle squandered the estate. The other day the lover came back and inquired for the young lady. Age and poverty had visited her, but she had remained true. They met and embraced.

"You were away so very long," she said leaning her tired head on his shoulder.

"But you won't leave me again. Those who kept us apart are sleeping now."

"I will never leave my brave darling. I have been trying for years to see you."

But they did not marry. The man got her to wash six shirts for him, and ran away without paying the bill.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

ORANGE GRAND LODGE.—The annual meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario was held in Millbrook, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The lodges from the town and county are well represented. The delegates were banquetted on Wednesday night.

DEBATING SOCIETY.—The regular meeting of this society was held last Monday. There were ten members present. In the absence of the secretary, Mr. Dixon was appointed to act in his place pro tem. A motion that the meeting stand adjourned till the next annual meeting was lost. A reading entitled "Can a cow joke," was given by Mr. Toole, after which the question "is it better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all" was wittily and ingeniously debated by Messrs. G. W. Hatton and F. W. Haultain for the affirmative, and G. W. Orr for the negative. On a division, the decision was given to the affirmative. After the critic's report the meeting adjourned.

RECENTLY in Toronto over 1,000 physicians and sufferers visited Dr. M. Souvielle, of Montreal, and ex-Aide Surgeon of the French army. He will be at the Huffman House, Peterborough, on March 17th, for five days, and will have with him a supply of Spirometers for the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Disease. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. 9-3t

ANOTHER NEW LUMBERING FIRM.—By the Canada Gazette we learn that Messrs. D. Ullyott, Geo. A. Cox, A. P. Poussette, of Peterborough, R. C. Smith, of Port Hope, and John A. Barron, of Lindsay, have been incorporated under the name of "The Midland and North Shore Lumbering Company," with a capital stock of one million dollars, divided into ten thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, for the purpose of carrying on a general lumbering, mining and manufacturing business.

QUESTION.—Our citizens would like to know whether it is by the orders of the Council that the majority of the street-crossings are buried in the mud, and whether the object of the Council in thus planting the crossings is to preserve the timber or to have a huge joke on the public? If they wish to enjoy a little "dry humor" all would be well and no one would cry, but when such a mode of doing work causes serious inconvenience, it is time they would drop their fiendish fun, elevate both their common sense and the crossings and abolish the profanity of foot-passengers, which is now so common.

THE CONCERT OF THE SEASON will be held in Bradburn's Hall, on Friday evening, March 10th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church. The committee have set themselves out to provide a rich treat for those who attend, and have arranged for the following taking part in the programme:—The Cobourg Glee Club, in College Glees, Solos, &c., the celebrated Burn Trio, of Port Hope, Mr. A. L. Jewel, Whitby's popular Tenor, the Peterborough Orchestra and the best of local talent. No doubt the efforts of the committee will be appreciated, and a bumper house repay them for their exertions in providing so interesting a programme.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—Mr. Thos. Bradburn having decided upon retiring from the mercantile business, has disposed of the whole of his stock to his son, Mr. T. Evans Bradburn of Lindsay, who will continue to carry on the same. Mr. Bradburn, junior, has now taken possession, and as will be seen by advertisement in another column, has commenced a sweeping cash clearing sale for the next thirty days, during which time goods will be offered at and below cost to effect a clearance. It is unnecessary for us to say anything in reference to the extent and variety of the stock, as the business has been so long established and has become so well known that almost everyone in the town and county are familiar with it. By the infusion of young blood and enterprise into the management, and the change from a credit to a cash basis, (which the present proprietor has decided upon,) we have no doubt but that the already large business done will be greatly increased. During the past two weeks the shop has undergone quite a change—new plate glass fronts have been put in, and the premises generally overhauled and renovated.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A grand Masquerade Carnival is to be held in the Keene skating rink on Friday evening, March 3rd. A string band will be in attendance, admission 15 cents. No doubt a good time is expected if weather permits. The carnival held two weeks ago was a success, there being no less than thirty-six masqueraders present.

Quite a number of our blonds and brunelles have been led to Hymen's altar lately. At one of the residences no fewer than 150 being present at the wedding.

The public of this vicinity are beginning to feel the want of some kind of shelter at the Grand Junction Railway, there being not even a shed for the protection of passengers from cold winds and storms. If the trains were on time the public would not feel so dissatisfied, as they could meet at or near the time. A week or so ago, there was no less than 50 passengers waiting upwards of an hour and a half at the crossing in the cold biting wind. We think something ought to be done in the way of shelter. Another thing we might mention, is that the employees might be a little more obliging than they are, instead of using harsh or abusive language to people receiving goods or freight from the train, especially to ladies, as was the case on Wednesday of last week, one would be led to think they would be kind and courteous to all. We would say, however, that this is not always the case, as they are gentlemanly at times. We hope to see an improvement before long.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The friends of Temperance and good order will be pleased to learn that on Wednesday the 22nd inst. the By-law virtually putting and end to intoxicating liquors being sold in this township, was carried by a sweeping majority of 79 to 15. Great praise is due to all those who assisted in carrying the By-law, but more especially to the Rev. Father Keilty who has been unceasing in his endeavors to promote the carrying of the By-law. We heartily congratulate him on the success which has crowned his exertions with victory. May it be long before the electors reverse their present decision.

ACCIDENT.—A man by the name of Angelo on Saturday evening went across Pigeon Lake from the township of Harvey to Bobcaygeon for medicine to his wife who was sick and on returning broke through the ice and was drowned. The body was recovered on Sunday and passed through here on Monday morning in charge of his father to be interred in Cobourg, his native place.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—On Monday, while James Cahill of this township was returning from Bobcaygeon he fell off the sleigh and broke his leg.

Robert Calvert has now taken the oaths, as required by law, and his seat at the Council Board in place of Jeremiah McCarthy, unseated.

The municipality of Ennismore through the exertions of the Rev. Father Kelly, submitted a By-law to the ratepayers, fixing the licenses for the sale of liquor in the Townships, at the sum of $600. The polling took place on Wednesday last, and the vote stood in favor of the by-law seventy-nine; against the by-law fifteen.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FROM CALIFORNIA.

By the kind permission of Mr. J. A. Butterfield, our postmaster, your correspondent has taken the following extract from a letter he has received from his aunt, Mrs. Jas. Foley, who is now visiting many places in the great gold-digging district of California. The letter is dated Los Angelos, and the extract will be read with interest by the many friends of Mr. Fotheringham here. It is as follows:—

"Mr. Fotheringham is very comfortably situated, and the climate agrees with Mrs. Fotheringham better than any other place he has been in. Around him are orange groves. We attended his church—a small but respectable congregation. No singing in it, not any collection taken up; do you see, this is remarkable in more ways than one. Mr. Fotheringham took me to his home to see his delicate wife, and then he drove me to San Bernardine, where we heard him preach. On my return I called at his residence again. They seem to be living with very kind people, and I ate a comfortable meal there twice. So they seem to have plenty, and their host urging me to partake of their hospitality was proof to me that they were well liked by them."

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

On Saturday afternoon last an amusing trial took place here before Magistrate Drain, and before an audience of nearly all the gaffers of the village. The litigants were Nicholas Robinson and Joseph Woodcock, who was arraigned for castigating a son of the complainant—young Nick—who was trounced by the defendant for insulting and assaulting his wife. Woodcock pleaded guilty. The Magistrate stated that the case was an aggravating one, and had no doubt that the boy deserved punishment, but that he (deft.) did wrong in inflicting it, and should have allowed the law to do so. Mr. Drain also delivered a deserved homily to boys generally here, stating that he thought there were some very bad boys in the village, and had heard frequent complaints of them, and if ever any of them came before him on any offence he would inflict severe punishment. Woodcock was fined 50 cents and $2.25 costs, to be paid in a week's time, or thirty days in the county boarding house.

FALL IN FLOUR.

Since the grist mill has fallen into the hands of Mr. Gould flour has had a downward tendency, showing the decided benefits of a healthy competition in trade. He is now selling flour at $2.75 per hundred, and says he is making money at that figure. Query—How is it that as soon as flour advances the least trifle in price, the price of bread immediately jumps also; but no matter when the price of wheat declines per hundred, bakers are very reluctant in reducing the price of bread? How is this?

BURGLARY.

On Tuesday night of last week a bold, but unsuccessful attempt was made to burglarize the store of Mr. W. H. Stephenson, and the burglars were only thwarted in their midnight escapade by the appearance of Arthur Sanderson, who at the time was on his way to Brennan's hotel for Mr. Stevenson, V.S., to attend a sick horse. Young Sanderson heard the grating of a key in Mr. Stephenson's store, and went there to see what was the matter, when he was met near the door by the strong light of a "bulls-eye" lantern, thrust within an inch of his nose, thus preventing him being able to recognize the parties so industriously occupied in obtaining an entrance into the store. The burglars, two in number, finding that their game was up for that night, at any rate, hastily beat a retreat, fleeing towards Hastings.

ON THE SURVEY.

Our people were very much gratified to have in our midst, on Wednesday of last week, the advance guard of the proposed Ontario and Quebec Railway, who had inspected, on foot, the old line formerly surveyed by Mr. Stewart. He did not give much information concerning his movements, but stated to interviewers—of whom he had many—that he had to pass through a rough country; that the line he recommended would be the one finally surveyed and located by the staff of surveyors and engineers who would shortly follow him; and that the work of construction would be proceeded with as soon as the road was surveyed and the right of way purchased. Still, people in this vicinity are yet incredulous regarding the completion of this railway, and, like unbelieving Thomas of old, will only believe in the reality when they are able to put their hands upon it.

SCHOOL DISPUTE.

There is another little dispute between teacher and pupil in our Public School; but as the School Board has promptly taken the matter under their consideration, it is likely this little difficulty will be amicably settled.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CURLING.

On Friday afternoon, some of the knights of the "broom and stanes," arrived from Peterboro, to have a friendly game with the members of a newly formed club in Lakefield. As the village club are new at the game, as yet, they divided up and spent a couple of hours with the following result:—

John Clarin	R. Graham
R. C. Strickland	Dr. Caldwell
J. Cameron	R. Roddy
J. Ludgate, skip 10	J. Brown, skip.....15

Feeling refreshed by supper and reinforced by Mr. Jas. Dinwoodie of Campbellford, and John Dinwoodie of the village, the evening was spent with another friendly game:

R. C. Strickland	R. N. Roddy
R. Graham	J. Cameron
J. Clarin	John Dinwoodie
Jas. Dinwoodie, skip..12	J. Brown, skip.....7

BRIDGE.

The work on the new iron bridge is receiving the finishing touches and will be open for travel by Thursday of this week, a circumstance which will be regretted by none of our business men and the travelling public at large.

MASONIC.

The regular meeting of Clementi Lodge No. 313, A. F. & A. M., will be held in the Masonic Hall next Tuesday evening. Brethern from Peterboro and elsewhere are always welcome.

ORANGE.

W. C. Sanders, District Master, Lakefield District, and Richard Waram, Sen., W. M. No. 122, left on Tuesday to attend the Provincial Grand Lodge for Ontario East, which meets at Millbrook this week.

NOMINATION.

In respond to the notice calling the village ratepayers to attend in the council chamber on Monday the 27th inst., for the purpose of nominating a fit and proper person to fill the seat, rendered vacant by Mr. Hull, quite a number assembled by noon, when Mr. W. C. Sanders announced himself as ready to receive nominations. For a time no one responded, but at last it was moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. John Richardson,—That Mr. John Hull be councillor for the remainder of the year 1882. Moved by Mr. Geo. McIlmoyl, seconded by Mr. John Dinwoodie,—That Mr. T. J. Nelson be councillor for the remainder of the year 1882. A poll was demanded on the part of both candidates, and the hour having closed, the Returning Officer notified the electors that a poll would be opened on Monday the 6th March. It was then moved and adopted, that W. C. Sanders take the chair. The Chairman called on Messrs. Graham, Richard McIlmoyal and Dinwoodie to address the ratepayers and then on Mr. Hull, who went over the circumstances connected with the late election; and his being unseated. Mr. Nelson followed and gave the facts and views from his stand point, numerous questions were asked and more or less recrimination indulged in. Next Monday, however, will decide the question, and then let us hope for peace for some months to come.

SKATING.

A number of our village matrons, who have been so impressed with the amount of pleasure derived by the young people at the rink, have almost decided to don the skates and let the rising generation see what they can do in that line. Let us give them a word of warning:

Don't try to cut the figure eight,
Which needs an active muscle;
Or else the boys will laugh to see
You sliding on your bustle.

LAKEFIELD AND SMITH ATTENTION.

The Reeve has called a meeting of the ratepayers of the village, to be held on Saturday evening next in the council chamber, at 8 p.m., to take into consideration and discuss the best means to encourage manufacturing industries to locate in the village, and also to urge on our members the necessity of impressing on the government, immediate actions in regard to the Lakefield dam, and keeping up navigation so that the rapidly developing trade with the back country will not be destroyed. We will be glad to see all from Smith and Douro interested in the welfare of the village and keeping up of navigation, present at the meeting.

According to invitations sent out a few days since, by "The Bachelors of Millbrook," there was a gay assemblage in the town hall last night, when the lively dance was kept up from about nine o'clock to three in the morning, with the exception of about an hour, which was spent in consuming the many delicacies so liberally provided by the lady friends of ye aforesaid Bachelors. Amongst those present were a few from Port Hope, Peterborough, Lindsay, Bethany and South Monaghan. A pleasant evening was passed, and "The Bachelors were complimented on their arrangements.

QUEEN VICTORIA SHOT AT.

An Attempt to take Her Majesty's Life.

The would-be Assassin in custody.

WINDSOR, March 2.—As the Queen was entering her carriage this morning, a man in the station yard deliberately fired a pistol at her. The man, who was a miserable-looking object, was immediately seized by several policemen and taken to the Windsor Police Station. No one was hurt.

John Brown had already ascended to a seat behind the carriage, when a man standing at the entrance of the station-yard, among a number of spectators,

POINTED A PISTOL

at the carriage and fired. To judge from the report, the pistol was not heavily loaded. The Queen, who was probably not aware of what had happened, was immediately driven to the castle; but before she passed the man had been seized by the Superintendent of the Borough Police, who was standing near. He was also violently and only rescued from them when three or four policemen came to the Superintendent's assistance. The pistol was captured by one of the crowd. Maclean, who was miserably clad, was taken in High-street, and thence conveyed to the police station in the cab.

SEIZED BY THE CROWD,

THE WOULD-BE ASSASSIN.

The man who fired at the Queen gives the name of Roderick Maclean, and is said to be an inhabitant of Southsea. The general opinion is that the act was the result of lunacy. The miscreant was with difficulty rescued from the crowd. The affair caused much sensation. The Queen drove to the castle immediately after being fired at. Maclean was followed to the station by a large crowd of people.

Maclean is twenty-seven years old. He states that he is a grocer's assistant. The doctors pronounce him sane.

Maclean says that hunger actuated the crime.

THE REVOLVER

is a six-chambered Colts' American make. Two chambers were loaded and two have been recently discharged. Fourteen ball cartridges were found on the prisoner. No bullet marks were found on the Queen's carriage.

THE QUEEN'S MOVEMENTS.

The Queen arrived at Windsor at 5:25 p.m. She had been in London since Tuesday, where she gave a drawing-room on Wednesday in honor of Princess Helena of Waldeck, who is to marry Prince Leopold. A crowd of people assembled at Buckingham Palace this morning in hopes that the Queen would drive out. The demeanor of the people was cordial as usual. There was a large crowd of spectators awaiting the Queen's arrival at Windsor. The Queen walked across the platform of the railway station to a carriage which was in waiting to take her to the Castle.

THE QUEEN MAKING ENQUIRIES.

As soon as the Queen arrived at the Castle she ordered an equerry to proceed to the depot to enquire if any one was hurt. The report of the pistol was sharp but not loud. Maclean apparently intended firing again when the revolver, which seemed to be a new one, was knocked from his hand by a bystander and handed to the police.

ETON SCHOLARS TO THE FRONT.

Eton scholars were prominent in the attempt to lynch Maclean.

GLADSTONE INFORMED.

Sir Henry Ponsonby, the Queen's Secretary, telegraphed to Gladstone the facts of the assault.

QUEEN SUSTAINS NO SHOCK.

It is understood that the Queen has not sustained any shock.

NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE is attached to the outrage.

THE QUEEN HOLDS A DINNER PARTY.

The Queen held a dinner party as usual.

IMPERIAL COMMONS.

In the Commons, Sir Wm. Harcourt stated that the man who shot at the Queen this afternoon was a clerk by occupation and a native of London. The Queen was not alarmed at the event.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The Cabinet sent a despatch to Windsor, expressing gratification at the failure of the attempted assassination.

Resolutions expressing horror at the attempt to assassinate the Queen were passed at various meetings to-night here and in the Provinces, including a meeting of Irishmen. The Czar, Empress of Austria, and Emperor William telegraphed messages of sympathy.

LONDON, March 3.—It is officially announced that the Queen passed a good night, and is in no way affected by the attempt on her life. The Queen and Princess Beatrice walked on the Castle terrace as usual early this morning.

The Queen drove through Windsor today and was welcomed with indescribable enthusiasm.

THE PRISONER.

Maclean's antecedents show that he is eccentric and addicted to drink.

The person who fired at the Queen is believed to be McLean, who lived at Southsea in a wretched and singular style. He was addicted to drink and was always regarded as a crank. His peculiarities were accentuated by unfortunate domestic relations.

The police have ascertained that the prisoner McLean was formerly in Well's Lunatic Asylum, and only discharged in September last. A solicitor has written to the Mayor of Windsor stating that he defended a man named Roderick McLean at Maidstone in 1874 charged with attempting to upset a train. The News says it may be pretty safely concluded McLean is insane. Since his discharge from Wells' Asylum he had been confined in the Weston Super-mere Asylum.

The police have received information that he was incarcerated in the Dublin Asylum for many months.

THE SCENE AT THE SHOOTING.

From latest accounts it appears McLean fired the shot after the carriage was in motion. The Princess Beatrice and John Brown saw him point the pistol at the carriage. He was exactly thirty paces distant when he fired. Two of the four loaded chambers of the revolver contained only blank cartridges. McLean walked from Portsmouth to London a week ago. Upon his person was found a purse containing a penny and three farthings, and a pocket book containing the following entries:—"4th path, a novel by McLean" and "Reynold's newspaper gives as correct an idea of the wide difference that divides the people of England as any newspaper in the world. I venerate the free, outspoken principles of an unbiased thinker."

McLean roughly endeavoured to force his way through the Eton College scholars at the station to a good position to await the passage of the Queen. The consequent hustling prevented his having an opportunity to fire when he might have done so with a worse result. There are various accounts as to whether his arm was struck while firing or after he fired.

Each witness of the shooting states that McLean was observed fumbling in his pocket while the Queen was being helped into her carriage, but the pressure of the crowd prevented him raising his arm till the carriage was in motion. Some cause made him aim very wide. The bullet was found in the station yard, and weighs about a third of an ounce. It corresponds with others found on McLean. Before the revolver was seized the prisoner brought another loaded chamber opposite the hammer.

It appears that an Eton boy saw McLean raise the pistol and instantly gave the cry of alarm. He and two other Eton boys who were bigger than himself threw themselves on the man, causing him to lower his aim. The bullet struck the flagstones of the yard, and ricochetted on the luggage waggon.

THE BULLET FOUND.

After searching the yard at the railway station this morning the police found a small bullet imbedded in the ground. It bore marks of having first struck some other object. It was right in the direction of the spot over which the Queen's carriage was passing, having probably passed over the horses' heads.

THE TRIAL.

McLean now under examination before the magistrates, was hooted at by the crowd while on his way to the Court.

The charge brought against McLean before the Windsor magistrates to-day was that of shooting at the Queen with intent to murder. The prisoner was remanded for a week.

Formal evidence was taken concerning the prisoner's arrest and the finding of the bullet.

McLean closely cross-examined several witnesses. He did not seem impressed with the seriousness of his position.

At the examination of McLean two letters written by the prisoner were read. In the first, written before the shooting, he said he was compelled to commit the crime against the bloated aristocracy because of insufficient relief offered him. In the second, written after the arrest, he said his only object was to cause public alarm and get his pecuniary grievances redressed. He did not mean to hurt the Queen, but only fired at the wheels of her carriage.

The evidence which the prisoner tried to shake by his cross-examination went to prove that he fired straight at the carriage and not at the wheels.

When McLean left the Town Hall after the examination twenty men endeavoured to overturn the carriage containing him.

LONDON, March 6.—McLean has been removed to Reading gaol. It is stated certificates of the eminent physicians Maudesley and Goderich that there is mental aberration in the prisoner's case of long standing.

McLean's solicitor states that it is true that the prisoner is the same person who attempted to wreck a railway train in 1874, and that he was formerly confined in Wells' asylum, but untrue that two doctors of Windsor declared him sane.

THE VISIT OF THE EMPRESS OF AUSTRIA.

The Empress of Austria visited the Queen at Windsor to-day, and was received with a Royal salute.

THE MARKET FEES BILL.

The following is a copy of the Market Fees Bill, with all the amendments:—

1. Notwithstanding anything in "The Municipal Act," or the amendments thereto, or any by-law, rule, or regulation of any municipality, or any usage or custom, it shall not after the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, be lawful for any municipality, or the officers or servants thereof, to impose, levy or collect a market fee upon any wheat, barley, rye, corn, oats, or upon any other grain, or upon any hay or other seed, or wool, lumber, lath or shingles, or cordwood or other firewood, or upon dressed hogs, or cheese, or upon hay, straw, or other fodder, that may be brought to market or to the market place for sale or other disposal, or upon the person bringing, or the vehicle in which the same is or shall be brought.

(1) No Market fee shall be charged, levied, or imposed upon or in respect of butter, eggs or poultry brought to market, or upon the market place, for sale, unless a convenient and fit place in which to offer or expose the same for sale shall be provided by the municipality, which shall afford shelter in summer, and shelter and reasonable protection from the cold in winter.

2. When the vendor of any article brought within the municipality in pursuance of a prior contract for the sale thereof, proceeds directly to the place of delivery thereof, under such contract, without hawking the same upon the streets or elsewhere in the municipality, it shall not be lawful to impose, levy or collect a market fee thereon, or in respect thereof or on the vehicle in which the same is so brought.

(1) Where there is no prior contract as mentioned in the previous section, no market fee shall be imposed, levied or collected upon or in respect of any article brought into any municipality after the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, nor on or in respect of any vehicle in which such article is brought, unless such article is offered or exposed for sale upon the market place of such municipality.

3. No by-law shall require hay, straw or other fooder to be weighed, or wood to be measured, where neither the vendor nor purchaser desires to have the same so weighed or measured.

4. After nine o'clock in the forenoon, between the first day of April and the first day of November, and after ten o'clock in the forenoon, between the first day of Nov. and the first day of April, no person shall be compelled to remain on any market place with any article which they may have been exposing or offering for sale in such market place, but may, after the expiration of such hour, proceed to sell such article elsewhere than in or on said market place: Provided that such person has paid the market fee on or in respect of such article, or the vehicle in which the same is contained.

5. No market fees shall be imposed by any municipality higher than those contained in the following scale:—

6. No fee shall be imposed or levied by any municipality for weighing or measuring greater than as follows:—

For weighing a load of hay fifteen cents.

Over one hundred pounds, and up to one thousand pounds, five cents.

Over one thousand pounds, ten cents.

For weighing live animals, other than sheep or pigs, per head, three cents.

Sheep or pigs if more than five, per head, one cent.

If less than five, for the lot, four cents.

For measuring a load of wood five, cents.

7. Subject to the other provisions of this Act, the municipality may regulate the sale by retail in the public streets, or on vacant lots adjacent thereto, of any of the articles hereinbefore mentioned, and may regulate traffic in the streets, and prevent the blocking up of the same by vechicles or otherwise.

8. The foregoing sections of this Act, from one to seven inclusive, shall not apply to any municipality which shall pass, and so long as it shall keep in force a by-law providing that the vendors of any articles in respect of which a market fee may, under the Municipal Acts, be lawfully imposed, may, without paying market fees, offer for sale, and sell or otherwise dispose of any such articles, at any place within the municipality, excepting only at and upon the market place or places thereof.

(1) Such by-laws may, nevertheless, provide for the imposition and collection of market fees from such vendors of articles in respect of which a market fee may now be imposed, under the said Municipal Acts, as shall voluntarily use the market place for the selling of such articles;

(2) And such by-law may also provide for the imposition upon, and collection of, market fees from any person who shall remain, or cause his vehicle to remain upon that part of any street immediately adjoining or surrounding or being within one hundred yards of the market place, for the purpose of selling upon such street or streets such articles, so as to obtain the advantages of the said market place.

(3) But such by-law shall not prevent persons from selling such articles, or impose a fee in respect thereof for or on account of the sale thereof, to persons carrying on business and having an actual and bona fide store, shop or other similar place of business, on those portions of the street in the next preceding sub-section mentioned.

(4) It shall not be lawful for any municipality passing such by-laws to impose a higher tariff or greater fee upon any articles or vehicles than was in force or imposed by any municipality on the first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

(5) No market fee shall be levied, collected or imposed by any municipality in respect of any market place or market, or any portion of any such market place or market hereafter established, declared or made in, on or out of any street or part of any street within said municipality: Provided always that this sub-section shall not apply to so much of any street as immediately adjoins and abuts upon any market square, either now or hereafter established as a market place.

9. Section eight of this Act shall not apply to any municipality where no market fees are now charged or imposed, but the other parts of this Act shall apply to such municipality in the event of market fees being hereafter charged or imposed therein.

10. When and so long as the first seven sections of this Act shall be in force and apply to any municipality, so much of any Act or law as may be contrary to, and as shall conflict with, the same, shall not be in force or apply to such municipality; and when and so long as section eight of this Act shall be in force in and apply to any municipality, so much of any Act or law as may be contary to, and as shall conflict with the same, shall not be in force in or apply to such municipality.

11. This Act shall take effect on the second day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

BRIDGENORTH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PARLOR SOCIAL.—We congratulate the people of Bridgenorth and the surrounding community on having carried out with such magnificent success the two socials of the past week, whilst they withstood the inclemency of the weather and the state of the roads. The one held on Friday evening, March 3rd, like its predecessor of Tuesday evening, was both financially and friendly a prosperous meeting. The Town Hall was arranged so as to seat a large number, while a long table extended across one side. After the company had partaken of the various kinds of food, the programme was commenced, which consisted of different forms of entertainment. Music by the choir occurred frequently, which was aided by the solos sung by Miss Coates, of Lakefield. Among the many readings and recitations were some choice selections. The dialogue was the principle given. The Rev's Messrs. Washington and Ratcliffe were present and added much to the entertainment. The former occupied the chair, and by his agreeable remarks occasionally kept up the interest of the meeting. The best of order prevailed, and the meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem; and all joined heartily in singing this on account of the late attempt to take the life of the Queen.

The Toronto Telegram is endeavoring to discover editorially "what becomes of a woman's other foot when she sits down." The writer calls it a great mystery. Some of the local literary and debating societies might find profitable employment in applying their powerful minds to the solution of this great problem of the age.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 9, 1882.

Colonization Companies.

There was a time, doubtless, when an association of persons of one nationality or country, for the purposes of colonization, was not only feasible, but, perhaps, the best method by which to secure success and to get the greatest good for the greatest number. In the olden time the drawbacks, deficiencies and disadvantages of settlement almost compelled such a course. This country had then no railways, no telegraphs, no civilizing agencies, no towns or mills, or schools or churches. It is easy to see, an association of settlers from one country and with one aim, would, under such conditions, at least be happy, and could the better further their special work. Then a colony had to exist for years before any one thought of sending them the iron horse or any other humanizing or civilizing agency. Now all this is changed. The newspaper, the railway, schools and churches follow immediately in the wake of the settler, if indeed, they do not precede him. The spirit of determination and go-aheadativeness is abundantly manifest in this new world. So much so, indeed, that a colony of Germans or Celts or Saxons cannot comprehend it. Besides, it is injurious that old world prejudices should be transplanted in our free soil. We have plenty of testimony that a colony of Irishmen or Scotchmen or Englishmen when left to themselves make miserable settlers. Assimilating with our own people they are obliged to enter into the spirit of enterprise and industry which prevades America. Left to themselves they become failures or fossils. Take the case of the Rugby colony in Tennessee as an example. The swells who came there under Mr. Thomas Hughes, to play at colonizing, had for a while a gay time. They established hotels, co-operative stores, a newspaper, lawn-tennis and other similar institutions. They expected to live on the air, for they did nothing but shoot, or read, or play tennis. It was charming—as long as the money lasted. But now the model colony, with all that Mr. Hughes did for it, has collapsed. Large tracts of land has been sold for taxes, and a very questionable effort to raise $60,000, to meet outstanding liabilities, is being made by the London board. Official mismanagement, laziness and lawn tennis are alleged as the causes of the failure, but we must look deeper than this for the real reasons. Such a colony could be nothing but a failure anywhere. Men from the old country must assimilate with the population here if they would be prosperous. Colonial life is quite different from old world habits, and our methods of working are the very opposite, in some instances, of those with which settlers from Europe are familiar. Apart from the people here, men—whether they be Irish, German or Scotch—cannot grasp the requirements of this new world, or the need that exists for adapting themselves to the circumstances, and of learning a lesson from our bustling, busy ways.

Most certainly we do not want such companies in Canada or the North-West. Owing to the stupid land regulations of the Government they are springing up there, however, on all sides. Indeed it is averred that over two hundred colonization companies have been organized within the last two months. We have appeals made to sectarian feeling, race prejudice, temperance sentiment, and almost every other local or national characteristic. We have a Temperance Colony scheme, a Primitive Methodist Colony scheme, an Ottawa Press Gallery Colonization scheme, and, we believe, a Methodist Colony in full blast. No one would be surprised to hear of a Free Thinkers' or Foresters' or Barbers' Colonization scheme, nor anything else equally absurd or amusing. Now, the reason for all this scheme is, undoubtedly, that these D. D.'s (as many of them are) and lumber merchants, and farmers and capitalists, may make money by getting the lands of the North-West at wholesale rates and selling them at retail prices. Settlement is not the point aimed at, but even if it were, we should as strongly object to such companies. Incalculable injury must result to Canada from these foolish schemes. Colonization companies must bring evil to the settlers, to the speculators and to the country at large. Their is absolutely no excuse that they should exist at all—their existence can only retard settlement, increase the price of land to the actual settler, and multiply the evils which always ensue where an association of persons of one nationality or one creed band themselves together.

Vaccination.

Hamilton, Toronto and Halifax have had very recently some severe cases of small pox. In the former city one had died after a few days illness, and his father was cruel enough to keep his business open, after the terrible scourge had shown itself, until the health authorities compelled him to suspend for a time and put up the shutters. Two new cases are reported from Hannah street in the same city. A pest house has been established, and other precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. The case in Toronto, and also those in Halifax, occurred through infection carried from the steamer Peruvian. Fears exist that in the coming summer the disease may be epidemic. At any rate it is the part of wisdom to take proper precautions. Everybody should be vaccinated, and thus reduce the danger of catching the horrible disease to a minimum. We know there is an Anti-Vaccination Society, which is pushing its peculiar agitation vigorously. Of course it must be admitted that small pox is less prevalent now than it was a generation ago. But the anti-vaccinationists argue that the disease has died away—not that it is prevented or reduced by vaccination. They assert that whereas statistics show fifty-three per cent. of small pox cases had been vaccinated, only one per cent. appeared in those who had previously suffered from small pox. Therefore, it is argued, small pox is a greater protection than vaccination. But why denounce vaccination then? Of its efficacy there can be no doubt, as the following figures will show:—Previous to its use there died annually of small pox out of every million in Westphalia during the years 1776-80, 2,643; and during thirty-five years, that is, from 1816 to 1850, after vaccination was adopted, the annual death rate from the same disease was only 114. In Copenhagen the deaths by small pox were 3,128 annually. For every million for many years, and after vaccination, it was only 286. In Berlin, for twenty-five years previous to the general use of vaccination, the annual death rate by small pox was 3,422; and for forty years subsequently it has only been 876. In Sweden, for twenty-eight years preceding the use of vaccination, out of every million of the population there died from small pox annually 2,050, and for forty years after the use of vaccination the annual death rate by small pox was only 158 out of every million. During the month of January last there were admitted to the small pox hospital, in New York, 166 cases; and during the same period 48 deaths occurred. Of the whole number of patients 85, or just about one-half, had been vaccinated; but of the 48 persons who died only one had been vaccinated, as far as was known. The report of the New York Surgeons concludes thus:—"With such statistics, "derived from our daily experience, it "seems to us as unnecessary to quote "figures from the past history of the "disease to prove what has been repeated-"ly shown regarding the efficacy of vac-"cination."

Political Notes.

The Conservatives in Cardwell met in Convention, and again nominated Mr. Thomas White of Montreal, as their candidate.

The Conservatives of East Northumberland have nominated Mr. Cochrane, of Brighton, and Mr. John Clarke, of Seymour, as their candidates for the House of Commons and Local Legislature, respectively.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—It will be observed in another column that the Warden of Kingston Penitentiary reports an increase in the cost of prisoners' keep on account of "advance in prices." This, of course, must not be attributed to the N.P., but rather to the unpatriotic conduct of the Opposition.

Mr. H. H. Cook, M. P. P., has been nominated by the Reformers of North Simcoe as their candidate for the approaching Dominion election, and has accepted the nomination. At the convention at which the nomination was made, several resolutions were passed, one giving expression to the farmers' opinion of the National Policy.

A MEETING of South Wentworth Reformers was held on Thursday, when Mr. James Somerville, of the Dundas Banner, was nominated as the candidate of the party for the Commons, and Mr. Awrey was re-nominated as candidate for the Local House. Mr. Rymal's name, at his own request, was not placed before the convention, as ill-health and advancing years prevent his accepting another term of office. His retirement from public life will be a matter of general regret. He has continuously represented South Wentworth in Parliament since 1857, a period of twenty-five years.

The Lindsay Post says:—The generally amiable and stately Peterborough Review declares that the Post and the EXAMINER sacrifice truth and reason in persistent attacks on the N.P. This is very unfair and absolutely untrue. We challenge the Review to bring one scintilla of evidence to prove its charge, and call upon it to make a proper amends. The Review then goes on to quote from the Post two paragraphs concerning the enlargement of Mr. James Hamilton's carriage works, with the view of supplying the Manitoba trade, and jubilantly calls upon the Post to explain if all this is not due to the N.P., and if it were not for the N. P. the people of Manitoba would purchase from the United States. Don't go so fast, Mr. Review. Give us the old tariff, honest and economical administration, cheap lands in the North-West for the actual settler, proper guarantee for reasonably cheap freights over the people's railways and the Ontario manufacturer would be in a far better position to supply the North-West than he is now.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY ON COAL?

Among other matters of importance touched upon by Mr. Wood in his financial statement, in the Local Legislature on Tuesday, was the enchanced cost of coal, as illustrated in the increased expenditure in the maintenance of the public institutions of Ontario. In referring to this subject Mr. Wood said:—The price of provisions generally has been considerably higher, and I may refer particularly to the item of coal. I have taken the cost the result of our purchases for some years past and as it is now. Hon. members know that we advertise liberally for public tenders, and that we purchase in large quantities, so that so far as the dealer is concerned it is an object to tender at the lowest figure. The average price of coal from 1874 to 1879—Mr. Meredith—Why do you fix 1879? Mr. Wood—Because a change, a marked change—took place in that year. From 1874 to 1879 the average price of soft coal was $4.18, and during the years 1880 and 1881, the price was $4.79, or an increase of 71 cents per ton. (Hear, hear.) The average price of hard coal from 1874 to 1879 was $5.05; but during the year 1880 and 1881 it was $5.55, or an increase of fifty cents per ton. In this calculation I have not included the Blind Asylum, the Hamilton Asylum not completed in 1874, or the Kingston Asylum in the hands of the Dominion Government up to 1876; but if you include from the time of erection of the Blind Asylum and the Hamilton Asylum, and from the period at which the Kingston Asylum came into our hands, you will find that up to 1879 the average price of hard coal was $5.12 per ton, but for 1880 and 1881 the price was $5.31, or an increase of 69 cents per ton. The average price for soft coal, including those former exceptions, was up to 1879 $4.25, but in 1880 and 1881 it was $5.09, or an increase of 84 cents per ton. The quantity of coal used last year in the public institutions was:—Of soft coal, 6,250 tons, which at an increase of 71 cents made an increase of $4,437.50; of hard coal, 2,039 tons, which at an increased price of 50 cents made $1,019.50, or a total increased cost on that one article alone of $5,457.

In the face of such a statement, in which the figures are given without any chance of cavill, who will say that the consumer does not pay duty? We wonder that the Review has not yet referred to this part of Mr. Wood's speech, but we suppose it is unanswerable, and therefore thinks it wise not to touch it.

MANUFACTURERS AND THE N. P.

The way the N.P. benefits manufacturers who have not a monopoly may be seen from the experience of the Waterous Engine Company, whose works are located at Brantford. The Telegram of that town recently contained the following paragraph;—

Mr. Wm. Paterson, Brantford's own Distorter, says that the duties on material entering into the construction of saw mills, etc., take over $6,000 yearly out of the pockets of the Waterous Engine Works Co. When Sir Hector Langevin visited these works last fall, the head book-keeper placed the amount at $800. How figures do grow under Mr. Paterson's manipulation, to be sure!

The following letter was sent to the Telegram, which with the unfairness of its class refused its publication:—

BRANTFORD, Feb. 18th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

SIR,—Will you please correct the erroneous statement published in your issue of Friday last. Mr. Paterson was quite right in his statement in the House that we are paying $6,000 more duties than before the N. P.

Sir Hector Langevin did not see our book-keeper at the time of his visit here, nor was he told by any of our officials that $800 covered our extra duties since the N.P. He was informed, however, that his Government refused to pay us $800 of drawback duties that we claimed on exported machinery since the introduction of the N. P.

His promise that he would see that the matter was put right has never been fulfilled. Promises at such a time are readily given, but are often never thought of again.—Yours, etc.

SIR JOHN AND GENERAL HEWSON.

The feud between Sir John Macdonald and that gallant soldier, General Hewson, has broken out afresh. The General has entered an action against Sir John and claims heavy damages.

It will be remembered that prior to the last general elections, Sir John, according to the General, agreed to pay him $15,000 for writing up the Conservative cause in the Irish Canadian, and also guaranteed to give him a good position should Sir John regain power. After the Conservative victory the General called on the Knight for his prize money, but it was not forthcoming. He threatened an action-at-law and the result was that the matter was left to arbitrators who decided that Sir John was to pay the General $2,000, and within six months to give him a good position in the civil service. Accordingly the action was withdrawn, the money was paid, but now at the end of the six months the office is not forthcoming. Accordingly the General has again become bellicose and has entered a second action, or revived the old record, and Messrs. McDonald and Marah as representing Sir John have been served with the papers. The World of last December, which contained a letter from General Hewson, will form part of the case for the defence. The affair promises to be a celebrated case.

WISHES.

"Give me the bracelets that your warriors wear!"
The Roman traitress to the Sabine cried,
"Give me but them and I will be your guide,
And to your hosts the city's gates unbar."
Then to the walls each eager warrior rushed,
And on the base Tarpeia as he passed
Each from his arm the massive circlet cast,
Till her slight form beneath the weight was crushed.
Thus are our idle wishes. Thus we sigh
For what (granted) good yet unattained;
For wealth, or fame, or love, find which, once gained,
May like a curse clog all our future lie.
Then in our blindness do we ask of fate
The gifts that, once bestowed, may crush us with their weight.

"A FARCE."

(Toronto Tribune.)

Why did Mr. Meredith, leader of the Opposition, and Mr. Bell, member for West Toronto, stray out of their way to make a wanton attack on the Catholic priests of Ontario? "Inspection of the Catholic schools by a priest would be a "farce." Why? Do those gentlemen speak from experience? How many Catholic priests have at any time within the last fifty years been inspectors? Ministers by the score of all denominations have been inspectors under Dr. Ryerson's reign—but of priests not two, not even one.

Then it is not from experience that Mr. Meredith and Mr. Bell speak. It must then be from their personal knowledge of the unfitness of priests for the position—either because they have not the necessary education—or having the education they have not the honesty or firmness of purpose necessary for the duties of that office. Will Mr. Meredith and Mr. Bell assert that the priests of the Catholic Church in Ontario are not well-educated men—or will they say they are not honest men? Conscientious men? Honourable men? Trustworthy and reliable? Will Mr. Meredith and Bell please rise and explain?

THE CANADIAN MILITIA.

In the annual report concerning the Canadian militia, presented to Parliament, Major-General Luard makes various recommendations. He suggests that the number of days of annual drill in camp should be increased from twelve to sixteen. The city militia corps, says the Montreal Herald, in noticing the report, are said to be in a very satisfactory state of proficiency. Many articles of equipment in the stores of the Dominion are said to be old, obsolete, and unservicable. These, General Luard remarks, should be condemned at once and replaced by a sufficiency of the newest and most improved patterns. For the infantry, the pattern of equipment invented by Surgeon-Major Oliver, Army Medical Department, is recommended. A modification of the present uniform in the direction of economy and utility is said to be required. The recent alterations of the uniform of the Imperial militia to gold lace, renders it necessary that a decision should be arrived at as to what the uniform of the militia of Canada is to be, and General Luard is of opinion that while it is wise to decide on a uniform which, at a distance, shall resemble that of the troops of the mother country, it is inadvisable—while so much of the expense of a corps of militia in Canada is left to be defrayed by its officers—to follow the costliness of the present uniform of the Imperial forces, it being sufficient to establish an inexpensive, neat and soldier-like uniform bearing distinct indications of rank on the arm (as in the Royal Navy), and that this can be done without the expense of a quantity of gold or silver lace. As regards the result of last season's inspection, the report says:

"The militiamen of Canada appears to have one sterling merit—regularity of conduct. From all the reports made to me, I gather that he is eminently sober, willing and intelligent. It follows, therefore, that all the militia of Canada wants is sufficient instruction, under properly qualified teachers, and for a sufficient period, to become most valuable troops. I, therefore, trust that the want which is fully felt by all—officers, non-commissioned officers and men—viz., the want of instruction, may be supplied, ere long, by the establishment of permanent infantry schools. The migratory nature of the employment of many of the men also make it difficult to arrive at efficiency, but this might perhaps be somewhat lessened if the men felt assured of annual, instead of only biennial drill. Another method of inducing men to remain in the force, would be to let the pay for the first year be 25 cents per day; for the second year 50 cents; for the third year 75 cents, instead of as at present, 50 per diem for the whole of the period of enrolment. Taken as a whole, I think I may say that the endeavors towards proficiency have, during the drill season of 1881, been praiseworthy."

The commandant recommends that permanent infantry schools should be established, where officers and non-commissioned infantry officers could obtain those advantages already granted with such marked success to the artillery. General Luard thinks there should be no less than three schools, viz.: one for Ontario, for which the unoccupied barricks at Toronto be used; one for Quebec Province, at Montreal, on St. Helen's Island, where the magazine, the stores and the fortifications should have the protection such a school would afford, and one for the Maritime Provinces, at some central point at which railroads converge.

THE SHORT-HORNS.

The Drover's Journal discourses thus: In Iowa the demand for short-horn bulls is much greater than the supply. Fairly bred young bulls readily bring $100, white males good enough to place at the head of herds are quotable at $400 to $600. The indications points strongly to a profitable season for fine stock breeders.

THE GROWTH OF THE GUN.

(From the Sport and Stream.)

Hunting for game was practised with bow and arrow only, until in the sixteenth century the Spaniards contrived the arquebus or matchlock. Here the match was fitted to serpentine cock, hung upon a pivot, and brought into contact with the priming by a working substantially the same as that of the modern hammer and trigger. This was further improved by the German invention of a steel wheel with serrated edge, fitted to a spring, and made to revolve rapidly, the edge coming in contact with a piece of pyrites, and by this friction producing the sparks to ignite the priming. The use of the wheel lock for sporting purposes was very general in the middle of the sixteenth century, and for a long time it was not improved upon.

But necessity is the mother of invention. A band of Dutch chicken stealers, or of Spanish marauders—it is disputed which—being too poor to provide themselves with the high-priced wheellock and afraid to use the matchlock because its light revealed their whereabouts to the minions of the law, abstained from their evil practices long enough to devise a weapon better adapted to the needs of roost robbers. The result was the flintlock, and the pot-hunting fraternity scored a long credit mark.

The flintlock reached its perfection in the hands of "that king of gunmakers," Joseph Manton, in the early part of the present century, and it gave way only to a worthy superior in the modern gun exploded by percussion.

The discovery of fulminating powders and their application to gunnery marks a most important epoch in the manufacture and employment of firearms. The charge in the gun was at first placed above the fulminating powder, which was ignited by the concussion of an iron plunger struck by a cock. Then this plunger was dispensed with, and the fulminate was simply placed in the flashpan. The successive steps are familiar to almost all gunners; the priming was between two bits of paper, and called percussion pellets; the fulminate was affixed to the breech by the newly invented cartridge, and fired by a penetrating needle; then came the copper cap, and then the culminating improvement of the cartridge, containing both the charge and the priming, ignited at first by the bin and afterward rim fire and central fire principal.

"SEND FOR MOTHER."

"Dear me! It wasn't enough for me to nurse and raise a family of my own, but now when I'm old and expect to take a little comfort here, it's all the time 'send for mother.'" And the dear old soul growls and grumbles, but dresses herself as fast as she can, notwithstanding. After you have trotted her off and got her safely in your house and she flies around administering her remedies and rebukes by turns, you feel easier. It is right now, or soon will be—mother's come! In sickness, no matter who is there or how many doctors quarrel over your case, everything goes wrong, somehow, till you send for mother. In trouble the first thing is "Send for mother." But this has its ludicrous as well as its touching aspect. The verdant young couple, to whom baby's extraordinary grimaces and alarming yawns, which threatens the dislocation of its chin; its wonderful sleeps, which it accomplishes with its eyes half open, and no perceptable flutter of breath on its lips, causing the young mother to imagine it's dead this time, and to shriek out "send for mother!" in tones of anguish—this young couple in the light of experience which three or four babies bring, find they have been ridiculous and given mother a good many trots for nothing. Did any one ever send for mother and she fail to come? Never, unless sickness or the infirmities of age prevented her. As when, in your childhood, those willing feet responded to your call, so they still do, and will continue to do so as long as they are able. And when the summons comes which none yet disregarded, though it will be a happy day for her, it will be a dark, sad one for you, when God, too, will send for your mother.

DUTIES OF THE PULPIT OF TO DAY,

The third lecture of the present course before the Yale Theological School, by President Robinson, of Brown University, was devoted to a consideration of the relations of the church to the State. The need of the pulpit at the present time, said the speaker, is to teach man to be a citizen, to be a father, to be a voter. "What is the duty of the Christian preacher? It is something else than to enable men to reach heaven; it is to make them well-rounded, enlarged and ideal men. There are, of course, other worlds to prepare for, but it is possible that we shall be so intent on the future as to neglect the duties of the present. It is not advisable that preachers shall preach politics, but they should preach, earnestly and without fear, of the relations of Christianity to the political movements of the hour. Certain it is that if our country was worth the sacrifices and suffering and blood shedding which the fathers shared in its foundation, and worth the blood and treasure poured out for its perpetuity twenty years ago, it is worthy of the serious, candid and prayerful charge of the Christian preacher."

WHEN SHALL A CHILD BEGIN SCHOOL?

This question is discussed by Dr. Wm. Pepper, a provost of the University of Pennsylvania and professor of the practice of medicine in its medical department, in a brief but pointed article in Our Continent. The professor concludes his discussion with these words: "Many cases of indigestion, of nervousness, of general weakness, even of apparent backwardness of intellect, are due to insufficient outdoor exercise and premature study. Children vary greatly as to the age at which they can begin to bear restraint on the freedom of their movements, and strain upon their attention and memory. Will may have begun Greek at 4, but Hunter did not know his alphabet at 7. The one thing certain is that any study or any attendance at school before the child can bear it without effort or fatigue is not only useless but hurtful, and will surely retard the education and lessen the future vigor and capacity of mind."

THE FALL WHEAT.

The open weather experienced so far this winter has led many to believe that the fall wheat must have received serious injury from the absence of the usual coverings of show, and alternate freezings and thawings. From enquiries made, however, we are pleased to learn that so far the plant has to a great extent escaped injury, and that it is only on heavy and low-lying lands that it appears any the worse. Of course the most dangerous time has yet to come, as the heat of the sun increases.

A CHANGE OF BRIDES.

SHOWING THE IMPORTANCE OF TURNING ON THE GAS.

One summer evening, just as the sun was setting behind the Hip tops, and making a golden pathway across the limpid water, the steamer Accomack, plying between the local wharves of the James River and Old Point, set on shore four persons, or, to speak to the card, two couples, and just married, as any one could see with half an eye. Blushes and clinging helplessness, so to speak, on the women's part, and great nervousness, added to a self-protecting air, on the man's side, and an appearance, badly acted, of indifference in both, told the tale.

The genial Phœbus appears on the scene. He takes in the situation at a glance, and he walks, or rather rolls, up to the quarter.

"Walk up to my hotel, gentlemen and ladies. My name's Phœbus, and I'm owner here. What might yours be?"

One murmurs Jones, the other Smith, and then, both stuttering, presented Mrs. J. and Mrs. S.

"Just married, I see," said the genial proprietor, "Walk right up, and I'll give you the best rooms in the house. I like bridal couples, I do; reminds me of the time when me and my old woman did the tender racket and cleaned our teeth with the same toothbrush."

After waiting in the reception-room half an hour the two couples were shown their respective rooms, they being marked on the register as 100 and 101, and were side by side. After supper they adjourned to the ball-room, and sat listening to the music. Then the brides got fidgety and disappeared to their rooms. One was a short, sprightly brunette, all fire and sparkle, and as plump as a partridge; the other a tall, Juno-limbed blonde, with complexion of cream and rose, sleepy, sensuous—just such a type as Rubens loved to paint. The grooms were alike in stature; both had beardless faces, with an adolescent mustache growing, and it is needless to add that they were from the country, and taking their first dip into fashionable life.

After the departure of their wives the two incipient fathers, all unknown to each other, and too much engrossed in their own blissful thoughts to notice other people, passed an hour or two in looking on the billiard-players, and varying the monotony by going up to the bar every five minutes and taking a drink.

Now it happened that a gentleman, I dare not mention his name, had watched the whole proceedings with an amazed and observant eye, and, having looked at the register, a most sinful and thoughtless idea came into his head. Gazing around cautiously he saw that the clerk's attention was called elsewhere, so he slyly takes the pen and changes the nought to one and the one to nought. It is a very simple thing to do, but very wicked. So the rooms were transposed..

By and by Mr. Jones, getting tired of lounging around, went to the book to see the number of his room; it read 101, and he goes along the dimly-lighted passage, with the joker stealing behind. Arriving at the door, he scanned the number to see if he was right, and then walked boldly in, for the door was unlocked, and the skylight showed that the room was wrapped in cimmerian darkness. Mr. Jones now being comfortably installed in Mrs. Smith's room, it was not ten minutes after that Mr. Smith, the husband of the plump brunette, having also looked at the register, came timidly and expectantly stealing, like a shadow, down the half-lighted aisle, counting for the magic number. Arriving at No. 100, he walked into the chamber where the grand-looking blonde lay, and the door closed.

An hour at least passed, and our joker waited in vain for some sign. All was silent and dark, and so he turned in himself, but not to sleep. Imagination played strange freaks, and the earliest dawn found him still wandering. Getting up he resumed his watch, and just as the lamps were beginning to pale Mr. Jones, looking like Tarquin, emerged from his room and disappeared. Mr. Smith, by a coincidence, followed suit.

At breakfast time both brides appeared and were joined by their leige lords.

One thing was evident to the joker, the brides had not found out the trick; their freedom from a burning embarrassment, barring a little maiden-bashfullness showed this; but the grooms! From his vantage place Mr. Practical J. saw the young Benedicts sitting by themselves in a brown study. Every now and then they would laugh silently until the tears would run down their cheeks, and they would fairly hug themselves in an ecstasy of mirth; then they would become grave, only to break out into grins a moment after; and so the long day passed away, and they took the steamer to New York.

Now, what was the upshot of all this the joker never knew, but remorse tortured his soul. He took to drinking: then falling steadily downward, he became a politician until, reaching the very depths of the pit, an indignant public sentenced him to pay penance, and he is now serving out a term in the Virginia legislature, and he never gets a letter but what in derision an "Hon." is put before his name.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

(Milwaukee Sun.)

Come here, sis, and sit beside me, and let me give you a little talking to. I wish to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you have noticed a careworn look upon her face lately. Of course it has not been brought there by any act of yours, still it is your duty to drive it away. I don't mean for you to run at it and shake your skirts and tell it to "shoo" as you would a hen, nor do I expect you to get on the other side of the fence and throw old oyster cans and pieces of barrel staves at it. But I want you to get up to-morrow morning and get breakfast, and when your mother comes down and begins to express her surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear old face. Her face has more wrinkles than yours, far more, and yet if you were sick that face would appear to be more beautiful to you than an angel's as it hovered over you, watching every opportunity to minister to your comfort, and every one of those wrinkles of sunshine chasing each other over the dear old face, she will leave you one of those days. Those burdens, if not lifted from her shoulders, will break her down. There, there, don't cry, she has not left yet. She is down in the kitchen stringing beans for dinner, and if you feel so badly you might go down and finish them and let her change her dress and rest an hour before dinner. And after dinner take down her hair and do it up for her. You need not wind it over your fingers and fuss to make spit curls as she used to with yours, but give it a good brushing, and wind it up gently and tenderly, as though you enjoyed doing it for her. The young man down in the parlor can wait until you have performed these duties. If he expresses any impatience you may explain to him that you feel under more obligations to your mother than you do to him.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 9, 1882.

The General Election.

It has been openly asserted by leading Liberal journals that the Dominion Government have come to the determination to dissolve Parliament after the close of the present session. Though the leading Conservative organs have not openly admitted the truth of this assertion, they have tacitly done so by allowing the statement to go uncontradicted. Our own opinion is that the matter has not yet been definitely settled, either as to the year in which the election will be held, or the season of the year at which it will be held. At the same time we believe that while a large number of the supporters of the Government in the House of Commons would like to enjoy the tenure of their seats for another year, they will ultimately be forced to yield to the wishes of their leaders, who have evidently calculated the risks, and are seeking to force the issue. We believe, therefore, that the chances are at present strongly in favor of the general election being held during the present year, and that it is more likely to come off in the early part of summer than later in the season.

Assuming this prognostication to be correct, the first consideration it suggests is the unjustifiableness of such a premature dissolution. The Government have a very large majority in both Houses of Parliament. They can carry through any measure they please to submit. They have in their own hands the moulding of the financial policy of the country, and they profess to believe that their policy has been abundantly successful—more successful than they themselves expected it to be. They profess to be delighted with the bargain they made with the Canada Pacific Syndicate, and taunt the Opposition with the non-fulfilment of their predictions of evil results from such a contract. They claim that the country was never so prosperous or in so good a condition financially as it is just now, and they profess to have no fear that this excellent condition will not prove enduring. They do not pretend that they have any new policy to submit, or that any new issue has arisen which requires an appeal to the people. Such an issue arose last year when the Syndicate contract was made, and the right of the people to be consulted was ignored. Why should they be appealed to now when there is no great question to be determined, and the country be thrown into the turmoil and put to the expense of a general election twelve or fifteen months before the proper time?

The answer is perfectly obvious. The present prosperous condition of the country, the Government and their supporters claim, is due to the operation of the Tilley tariff. If the election is postponed till next year it is just possible that some derangement may take place which will show how impossible it is to protect the country by any such artificial means against commercial disaster. Such an education of the people by experience is exactly what the Government are afraid of, and that is their main reason for hurrying on the elections. Another reason is their dread of the consequences of the Syndicate contract. The worst features of that bargain require some time to develope, and though its true inwardness is becoming known by 'actual experience, time alone can show the amount of mischief it is capable of inflicting, not merely on the North-West, but on the whole Dominion. Things that look bad this year will look very much worse next, while the condition of the country, both commercially and industrially, may be a less soothing picture to contemplate.

The Liberal party have a right to protest against this hastening of an election before its time, but they have no reason to fear the result. The Government and their supporters are determined to have the battle fought on the tariff alone, but they will not have their wish gratified. They cannot escape the Syndicate bargain, which affects the whole Dominion; or, the winter terminus question in connection with the Canada Pacific, which is a matter of interest to the Maritime Provinces; or, the disallowance of the South Eastern Railway, which affects Manitoba and the North-West. They will be called sternly to account in Ontario for their manner of dealing with the disputed boundary. They will be arraigned on their financial record, which shows that they have increased the expenditure from a little over 23 to a little less than 28 millions in their four years of office. And they will have to face their own bad administrative record, over which is the trail of the serpent—corruption. Flagrant acts of mal-administration, such as the letting of the Carillon Canal and the Pacific Railway contracts, have sank deep into the minds of the people, who turned the same men out for their misdeeds in 1874, and will turn them out again at the first opportunity. What is wanted to achieve a Liberal triumph is a few weeks of active organization and energetic work. The short time between this and June, in which month the elections may be held, should be devoted as much as possible to the work of preparation; and if this is well and thoroughly done there can be no reasonable doubt of the result.

Coffee Houses.

The friends of the temperance movement have acted wisely in providing means by which the public may, in the cities, procure refreshments at low rates, and in places where the evils of the bar and drinking saloon will be unknown. The history of coffee houses in Great Britain and in the United States shows that such establishments are most useful in lessening the evils of intemperance, in elevating the moral tone of the workmen who frequent them, and most of all things to be desired, in the prevention of crime. It has been proven, also, that these coffee houses can be carried on as paying projects, so that apart from the great good they are capable of accomplishing, they form a very fair means of investment. The plan is an excellent one. You cannot legislate men into temperate habits. They will congregate together, and advantage should be taken of their gregarious habits. Put in their way a cheap plan of procuring good refreshments; supply them with rational means of recreation and amusement, and you give the death-blow to the evils that often follow intemperate habits. Human nature is not so very depraved, we believe, as it is often painted. Companionship has more to do with drinking habits than anything else. The most inveterate toper will readily acknowledge it isn't the love of liquor leads him astray. A; he says truly, when he confesses—"Company does it." The coffee house should be well conducted to prove successful. A cheap, trashy substitute for tea, or mouldy cakes and pies and bad bread will not make men forsake the tavern and give their money cheerfully without receiving an equivalent. Love of the cause won't bring in many supporters. The coffee house should be kept scrupulously neat and clean, and the very best refreshments should be provided at moderate rates. It should be conducted like a first-class hotel, and no matter who enters it, let him be treated as a guest whose comfort and convenience are to be first consulted. We believe the first of the Toronto coffee houses has secured an excellent manager in the person of Mr. Robert Lawson. Lately he has made a tour through the States for the purpose of examining such institutions, and doubtless he will spare no pains to make the house attractive and successful. The opening of this establishment took place recently with great eclat. We understand the promoters are anxious to open three others in various parts of the city, and we believe the movement has extended to Hamilton. We most heartily wish the Toronto Coffee House Association abundant prosperity and success. We look upon the method as one of the best practical correctives for the abundant evils that spring from drinking, and we trust the movement will in the near future extend to our towns and villages.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday evening. Present—Jas. Stevenson, Esq., Chairman, and Messrs. McClelland, Rutherford, Weir, Sproule, Stratton, Sawers, Wrighton, Poussette, Barnham and Cox.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Bell Telephone Co., offering to put in three instruments and connect the Ward schools and Central schools with the central office for $90 a year.—Received.

From E. B. Edwards, stating that on a recent visit to the school he had enrolled 24 of the boys for the Cadet Corps, and recommended the purchase of tunics by the Board, so that the company could be re-organized.—Received.

The Secretary read a letter from the Deputy-Adjutant General, permitting the retention of the Cadet Company's arms, pending its re-organization.—Received.

From the Chairman of the Board of Education, Lindsay, asking for a statement of salaries paid to teachers.—Received.

An account from T. Menzies, amounting to $1 for paper, was presented and ordered to be paid.

ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOL.

A report of the attendance at the Schools during the month of February was read, as follows:

	On Roll	Av. At.
Collegiate Institute	129	116
Central School	505	426
South Ward School	227	197
Third Ward School	151	131

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

Mr Poussette, Chairman of the committee on appointments, reported recommending an increase of $25 to the Secretary Treasurer's present salary, making it altogether $265.

In moving the adoption of the report Mr. Poussette spoke in the highest praise of the manner in which the books are now kept, and from the attention given to school matters by the Secretary, he believed him well entitled to the increase.

Mr. McClelland while not wishing to undervalue the services of the Secretary Treasurer, thought the salaries for the present year had been fixed by last year's Board, and should not be taken up now, as it would in all probability open up the whole question of salaries.

Upon consulting the report referred to by Mr. McClelland, it was found to refer only to teachers salaries, whereupon the report was adopted.

SCHOOL SUPERVISION.

Mr. Stratton, Chairman of the committee on School Supervision, read the following report and moved for its adoption:

(1.) That in accordance with a resolution passed at the late meeting of the Board, your Committee fully considered the re-organization of Cadet corps, and after the fullest investigation possible by your Committee, and after conversation with parents, guardians and others, your Committee are of opinion that the existence of such corps is determinal to the best interests, both of the school and of the boys who might join it, as it would lead to idleness, indifference and neglect to studies, and would be attended with costs for uniform and things necessary, which the majority of parents object to. Your Committee cannot, therefore, recommend the re-organization, but on the contrary desire that the arms be returned to the Government with as little delay as possible.

(2.) That in accordance with instructions from the Board, your Committee asked for tenders for the necessary supply of stationery, ink, &c., for the use of the school for the year. Three tenders were received, and on comparison of quality of material and prices, your Committee accepted that of Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co., which was most favourable.

Your Committee would also ask the Secretary of the Board to request the Principals of the Public and High schools to be as economical in the use of furnishing of the stationery, &c., as is consistent with the requirements of the schools.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. R. STRATTON,
Chairman.

Messrs. Rutherford, Poussette, Weir and Sproule took exception to the recommendation contained in the first clause and advocated strongly the resuscitation of the corps.

The other members present supported the report, and held that the revival of the company would not be in the interest of the schools.

After a lengthy and irregular discussion, Mr. Poussette raised a point of order as to the power the Committee had in reporting as they did, the Board having at the last meeting, by resolution, affirmed the advisability of having the company re-organized.

The Chairman held the objection good, when, after some further discussion, the first clause was allowed to remain over till next meeting, and the remainder of the report was adopted.

BORROWING MONEY.

A By-law was passed authorizing and empowering the Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer to borrow such sum of money, not to exceed $8,000, as they may require for carrying on the work of the schools.

EASTER HOLIDAYS.

Mr. M. Hamilton, representing a deputation from the pupils of the Institute and Public Schools, addressed the Board, asking that the Easter Holidays be extended from three days to one week, and that they commence the Monday previous to Easter.

The request was granted.

GRANT FROM ASHBURNHAM.

On motion, the Chairman and Messrs. Poussettes and Stratton were appointed a committee to wait on the Ashburnham Council with a view of a continuance of their annual grant to the Institute.

The Board then adjourned.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FISHING AT BURLEIGH.

We understand that the Indians and others are having great success in fishing for bass and salmon through the ice in Burleigh Bay and Stony Lake. Several of our sportsmen are intending to go up if the present fine weather continues.

MIDLAND R. R. STATION.

We would like to draw the attention of M. R. R. officials to the condition of the approaches to their new station. Passengers or any one having business at the station have either got to wade through the mud—up to their boot tops—or else go a long way around and walk up the track on the ties. If the Company would build a sidewalk through their property to Church street we are sure the Village Council would meet them, and widen and extend the present one, which would enable all to reach the station with some degree of comfort.

SKATING RINK.

The Skating Rink is almost finished, only requiring a few finishing touches. The Company have secured a splendid sheet of ice, which, no doubt, will be appreciated by ticket-holders. A comfortable dressing-room for ladies and one for gentlemen are at one end of the Rink, and nothing is being left undone to make it deserving of patronage. Capt. Secret has charge, which is a guarantee that all will be well looked after.

A STRICKEN SETTLEMENT.

A little more than a mile beyond the Burleigh rocks is a small settlement of three families, whose farms adjoin—Harvey, Bolton and Stone. Some two months since Diphtheria was brought by a visitor, and in six weeks 9 children were buried —3 of Harvey's, 3 of Stone's, and 3 of Bolton's. This week Mrs. Bolton has passed away, making the tenth out of that little community in two months, her death being indirectly caused by the same disease. Mr. Bolton has the sympathy of the people of Lakefield, where he formerly resided.

LAKEFIELD BRIDGE.

Last Thursday the Warden of the County, the ex-Warden, the Reeve of Douro and the County Engineer arrived in the village for the purpose of inspecting the new iron bridge and, we understand, were quite satisfied with it. While here Mr. Wynne pulled down the last of the old bridge, and they were enabled to see the rotten condition it had been in. Since their visit the approaches to the sidewalk have been finished, and it now presents an appearance alike creditable to the builders and the village. And here we would say a word or two in praise of the men from Toronto, and Mr. Wynne, of Peterborough. They did all in their power to oblige the public and to lessen the inconvenience caused by the bridge being down, so that everyone has a good word to say for them. During the 28 days the bridge was down the scow ferry took over 2,430 team and 7,654 passengers, which proves that Messrs. Bell and Gordon were not idle during the time.

PUBLIC MEETING.

On Saturday evening the Council Chamber was crowded with village ratepayers, as well as a number from the adjoining townships of Smith and Douro, for the purpose of discussing the best means of encouraging manufacturers to locate here, and to urge on the Local Government the immediate necessity of assuming control of the Lakefield Dam and waters between here and Julien's Landing

Isaac Garbutt, sen., was voted into the chair, and in a brief address drew the attention of those present to the importance of the subjects for which the meeting was called, and advised that the subject of the dam should first be taken up, as the Local House would adjourn in a few days and we must act at once. Our representatives had been told that the Dominion Government were the ones to take up the matter; yet the Local Government had spent large sums every year on these waters, and this year had placed the sum of $9,000 in the estimates to renew the dam at Young's Point, etc. He did not grudge the money being spent at the Point, but thought it useless if they allowed the dam at Lakefield to be lowered. He then called on a number present to give their views, and Messrs. Urquhart, Sherin, Dr. Bell, Hall, R. C. Strickland, Galvin and a number of others spoke on the subject.

Mr. Hall gave the result of an interview with the Minister of Public Works a few days previous, and expressed an opinion that if the claims for damages was not too large the Government would assume control.

Mr. R. C. Strickland had offered the dam to the Government for nothing if they would keep it up, but would not do so now, as he had been put to the expense of building a new mill, owing to the action of the Court in Chancery; but he would be willing to leave his claim to the decision of the three Judges of this and the adjoining counties, and accept what they considered to be right.

A long and somewhat irregular discussion now followed as to the manner in which the views of the meeting should be laid before the Government and was brought to an end by Dr. Bell moving a resolution, which after being slightly amended was passed unanimously, and is as follows:—

Moved by Dr. Bell, seconded by John Isbister, and adopted,—That whereas the members of the County Council, at the January session, after hearing a deputation of influential ratepayers from Lakefield relative to the regulation of the waters between Lakefield and Julien's Landing, carried unanimously a resolution calling upon the representatives of the east and west ridings of this county in the Local House to urge upon their Government the immediate necessity of assuming control of these waters, so as to regulate navigation; that this meeting fully endorse the action of said County Council, and regret that the Local Government have not placed in their estimates a sum of money sufficient to carry out the wishes of the ratepayers of this county, expressed through their Council in this matter; and that the plea that these waters are not under the control of the Local Government is unsound and cannot be accepted by the said ratepayers on this meeting, as the said Government have from year to year spent large sums of money on the same waters, and have this year placed a further large sum in the estimates for expenditure at Young's Point.

Moved by R. C. Strickland, seconded by John C. Sherin, and adopted,—That it is desirable to urge on the Local Government the importance of appointing a commissioner or commission to investigate all claims arising from assuming and keeping up the Lakefield Dam, with a view of settling the matter and keeping up navigation, which is a necessity on account of steamboat and other interests being involved, and from the deleterious influence it will have on the health of the people in the vicinity if the water is lowered and the drowned land exposed to the sun.

Moved by W. C. Sanders, seconded by Wm. Harper, and adopted,—That Messrs. J. C. Sherin, R. Graham and Dr. Caldwell be appointed a deputation to go to Toronto next Tuesday and urge on the Government the views contained in the foregoing resolutions, and that the Village Council pay all expenses.

After passing a vote of thanks to the Chairman, and cheers for the Queen, the meeting dispersed.

COUNCIL ELECTION.

On Monday, the 6th inst., the election for the "vacant chair" in the Village Council took place. The day being fine brought many out, and all day, groups of the "free and independent" could be seen on the street corners, discussing the merits of their favorite candidates, or making vain surmises as to who would win the day. At 5 p.m., when the poll closed, a large crowd had collected, and as soon as the ballots had been counted a rush was made for the Council Chamber, which was soon filled, and the state of the poll was announced as follows:—Hull, 90; Nelson, 75. "Speechifying," to coin a Yankeeism, was next in order, but the less said about it the better.

"Oh, what a quare looking scene it was—
Kape me from such for the rest of my life;
Sure what a burning disgrace it is,
Neighbors and friends engaged in such strife."

SAD BEREAVEMENT.

On Monday evening, a cablegram was received from Moville, Ireland, announcing the death at sea of Frederick Barlee, Esq., one of our oldest citizens, who has for the last 20 years been Mail Clerk on the Allan line of steamers, and was well-known to nearly everyone in Lakefield, and to many in Peterborough, who will learn of his death with deep feelings of regret. More especially in Lakefield will he be missed and regretted, and Mrs. Barlee and family have the heartfelt sympathies of our citizens in her hour of trouble.

MILLBROOK.

AN OLD SETALER GONE.—The Messenger says that on Tuesday, Feb. 28, peacefully passed away, one of Cavan's oldest settlers, Mr. Richard Staples, who had reached the ripe old age of ninety years. Sixty-three years ago he left his native land, County Wexford, Ireland, to find a home in the New World. After living at the front for three years, he located in the Township of Cavan, and has resided in this Township for over sixty years. He was one of the first settlers, and, for some years, had to carry his grists to Port Hope on his back. The first house he put up on his lot was just long enough for him to lie down in. During his long life, he ever commanded the respect of his neighbours. Of ten children—eight sons and two daughters—one daughter and seven sons survive him. His remains was buried in the 9th Concession Cemetary, (on his own farm) on Thursday, March 2nd. His brother-in-law, Mr. Wm. Swain, who came to this country with the deceased, is still living, and is some month his senior.

SUDDEN FLOOD.—The Messenger says that owing to the warm wind and the strength of the sun, on Tuesday, what little snow was left, rapidly disappeared, and filled the small streams. Towards evening, rain set in, with a south-westerly wind. About 9 o'clock the creek that is fed from Needler's dam, became much swollen, yet there was little expectation of a much further rise. About 3 a. m. this morning, an alarm was given that the dam was overflowing, although the water-gates had been open all the afternoon and evening. This must have been caused by the water of the large pond to the head. In an incredible short time the main part of the village was under water, from one to four or five feet. Some of the sidewalks are badly washed away, and the cellars were filled with water. The worst sufferer that we hear of is Mr. A. Fee, the drainage from his cellar into the sewage was stopped up. Besides considerable groceries, his bake shop, which is in a corner of the cellar, is wrecked. This flood was quite unexpected, and was a surprise to every one.

THE GRANGE (?) MUTUAL.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—Will you be good enough to insert the following editorial, which I have taken from the Toronto Daily World of the 3rd of March. It proves conclusively that what I stated with reference to the bonds of this company was and is correct:—

"The Budget for February comes athwart Hon. S.C. Wood, Provincial Treasurer, and as such the head of the Ontario Insurance Department. It appears that Mr. Wood has for some time held bonds to the amount of $20,000 from the Canadian Mutual Aid Association, an assessment life concern, which has openly, by its advertisements and circulars, claimed that the said bonds were in security for the proper fulfilment of the provisions of the certificates and the terms upon which the membership was taken. The article in the Budget, however, shows that the bonds are simply personal bonds, guaranteeing the fidelity of the officers to the members of the society, and cannot be availed to pay a death claim nor any portion of it, and that for such a purpose they are entirely unassessable and inaccessible."

If my agricultural friends allow themselves to be duped by representatives of such concerns as I have pictured the Grange (?) Mutual to be, and take into their confidence men who have abused the confidence that we had at one time in them, they can blame themselves for it. The statements that I have made can all be satisfactorily proven. I have no axe to grind, and I had only the welfare of the community at heart when I undertook to expose the Grange (?) Mutual.

Yours very truly,
THOS. JOHNSTON.

MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I notice a communication from one by a cognomen of "Experience," who, in a rather amusing way, tries to say something against the Canada Mutual Aid Association.

First of all he would like to say something personal, but is rather a little afraid lest it might recoil upon himself in a rather humbling manner; and if his remarks did not come from one whos bread and butter depends in some degree upon the downfall of the Mutual Aid he could not reasonably be excused.

His first statistics are sound; but unfortunately for the strength of his argument there are some English His tories even in this backward community.

In order to get a very high death rate he goes back to the time when England was involved in a long-continued bloody war with a number of the European powers, besides her American colonies and also with India. There is no doubt whatever that he selected one of the best periods in the history of the world from which to select a high death rate; but why, in the name of common sense, did he not go back to the time of the "Flood" for a high death rate? It would not have been a particle more ridiculous and would have served his purpose much better.

His next statistics he likely made himself, as he does not give the companies for fear he might be caught.

In the next case he gives the name of some unknown company that existed in Iowa, compiled by some unknown man.

This is an original way of quoting figures, and is a very safe plan and shows a good deal of cunning on the part of the writer, who wants to keep himself safe, like the woodchuck that eat the farmer's peas and then went into his hole, and for fear the farmer might get him it is said he pulled the hole in after him. Why did he not quote the average death rate as published by our own Government, or else that given by the United States Government? Is the truth too strange for him? Why did he not say what was the average death rate in the Canada Life? Did he think that we might smell "a mice"? Certainly!!!

He then offers to argue the point before the policy-holders "on certain conditions." We would like to know what those conditions are. Will one of them be that no one shall be allowed to speak but "Experience" until he is gone home for at least half-an-hour, and then that the policy-holders shall hold a pantomime and go home too?

Also, we would like to know where he would like to meet us? In Bradburn's Hall, Cox's office, or in the Long Swamp? or where?

Will he make us very sorry that we have thought so highly of the Canada Mutual Aid as to take certificates of membership in it?

Sir, we are prepared to meet "Experience" any where that the public can hear what he has to say, provided we are allowed the privilege of replying; and further, we are prepared to pay half of the expense of procuring a suitable place in which to hear both sides of the question fully discussed.

I had not taken much interest in the Mutual Aid until I saw the slim arguments which are being brought against it by designing office-seekers and those likewise interested, but when I compared it with other companies, I at once took a policy, and have no cause to regret it.

Meantime, I remain,
Yours, &c.,
POLICY-HOLDER.

NORWOOD.

The Liberal-Conservatives of East Peterborough held a meeting at Norwood on the 2nd inst. Mr. John Burnham, the representative of the constituency for the Commons, was present, and addressed the meeting at length on the policy of the Government. Other gentlemen present also addressed the meeting, expressing their approval of the fiscal policy and railway policy of the Government. A motion pledging continued support to the Administration of Sir John Macdonald was unanimously passed. The following officers were elected:—J. B. Pearce, Reeve of Norwood, President; Thomas Burke, Norwood, Secretary; Alex. Campbell, Keene, Treasurer. Vice-Presidents from the different municipalities of the riding were also appointed. The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, Sir John A. Macdonald, and Mr. Burnham.

WEATHER NOTES FOR FEBRUARY.—The month of February of 1882, will long be remembered as one of the mildest on record, while January averages 17° 7' above zero, February has averaged 21° 13'. The highest reached was on the evening of the 12th, when the thermometer rose to 46° above zero and the lowest on the mornings of the 18th and 24th, when it fell to 1° below zero respectively. Snow fell on 7 days to the depth of 7 inches, and rain on 6 days to the depth of 2⅜ inches, making a total depth of water of 4¼ inches. Although the month has been mild, the downfall has been small, especially in snow.

What we Value

The reputation of keeping reliable goods.
The name of fair and honourable dealers.
The character of always doing what we profess.
And the paying patronage of a satisfied public.

WHAT THE PUBLIC VALUE

Is the supply of their wants at the very lowest cost. This is commendable and the endeavour to meet the demand is the mainspring of our business. From the inception of our trade we were THE FIRST who adopted the basis of selling for cash. The amount of our sales has shewn most decidedly that this line of dealing has been appreciated. Another lever in lifting our trade into prominence has been our buying our goods in LARGE LOTS, not by the piece. This in addition to our invariable practice of constantly receiving goods, instead of at two seasons in the year, gives the public a constant opportunity to get what is fresh, what is fashionable, and what must be the best value. Our standing in the markets has an effect in the direction of decent legitimate trade that the public value.

We believe in giving a good article, putting the price at a thoroughly reasonable living profit, and then stamping the article with our recommendation.

We have experience as to what goods to buy and where to procure them, both to our own and to our customers advantage.

We employ so many hands that orders are filled with a promptitude that is gratifying to customers.

We consider that our facilities for handling and showing goods are such as to distance all competitors. We have many assurances to this effect.

Our prices are invariably the same, one to all buyers. In the case of large buyers we shall be happy to allow a liberal discount in keeping with the extent of the order. This is what we have been doing and shall continue to do during the coming season.

All goods marked in plain selling figures and children can buy from our counters at the same prices as the keenest bargainer may look for.

Come and see us, examine our goods and prices, and be convinced of our merits.

LACHINE, QUEBEC, P. Q., July 12, 1877.
HOLMAN LIVER PAD CO.,
DEAR SIRS.—I, the undersigned, having been troubled with Dyspepsia for a number of years back, I have tried different prescription from several eminent physicians, but without obtaining much perceptible relief; about one month ago I commenced the application of Holman's Liver Pad, and am happy to say that since then I do feel a great relief, and that I can now digest a few articles of food which I did not dare to touch before.

O. P. ROBERTS.

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, July 25, 1877.
GENTS.—I feel it my duty to give you the result of the Holman Liver Pad which I bought of you about a month ago. I have been troubled with severe dyspepsia and indigestion accompanied with sharp pain in region of the kidneys for about a year, and it finally became so troublesome that I could eat nothing without great suffering. I had tried most of the popular medicines of the day, but with only temporary relief. I bought the Pad with little or no faith in it, but I am happy to say it has I believe ENTIRELY CURED me after wearing it 26 days, so that I can once more eat anything without feeling any ill effects. It is worn without any inconvenience and cannot be too strongly recommended.

Yours truly,

THE FARMER FEEDETH ALL.

My Lord rides through his palace gate,
My Lady sweeps along in state,
The page thinks long on empty a thing,
And the maiden muses on marrying;
The minstrel harpeth merrily,
The sailor ploughs the foaming sea,
The huntsman kills the good red deer,
And the soldier is without a fear;
But fail to each whate'er befall,
The farmer he must feed them all.

Smith hammereth cheerily the sword,
Priest preacheth pure and holy word,
Dame Alice worketh brightly wool,
Clerk Richard tales of love can tell;
The tap-wife sells her foaming beer,
Dan Fisher fishes in the mere,
And courtiers ruffle, strut and shine,
While pages bring the Gascon wine;
But fail to each whate'er befall,
The farmer he must feed them all.

Man builds his castles far and high,
Whatever river runneth by,
Great cities rise in every land,
Great churches show the builder's hand;
Great arches, monuments and towers,
Fair palaces and pleasing bowers,
Great work is done, by't here and there,
And well man worketh everywhere;
But work or rest, whate'er befall,
The farmer he must feed them all.

FROZEN KISSES.

I came at dawn from out the silent house,
(The last night's kisses warm upon my lips)
Wearied the dance, and stilled the revel's rouse;
Done the long joys, where these joys found eclipse,
(The last night's kisses warm upon my lips.)

I mind the street; it runneth broad and straight,
(The last night's pressure warm upon my throat)
River to river, dawn's to sunset's gate;
Trees arched it; one bird waked—I heard its note,
(The last night's pressure warm upon my throat.)

I mind the wharf—a wharf diseased and lone,
(The last night's whispers sighing in my ears)
Gray waters weltered 'round each slimy stone;
Gray waters weltered through its crazy piers,
(The last night's whispers sighing in my ears.)

The tide went out. I marked its ebb desist,
(The last night's glances graven on my brain)
I heard, below, great horns shriek from the mist,
Saw ghosts of ships dim drifting from the main,
(The last night's glances graven on my brain.)

The city woke. I heard its hum and stir,
(The last night's odors in my nostrils quick)
I said: Thank God, this is no grief to her;
This path she led she strewed with raptures thick,
(The last night's odors in my nostrils quick.)

Small travail mine; long-planned and picked my way,
(The last night's kisses warm upon my lips)
I stare at noontide from the glassy bay;
Beneath my head the long swell lazy slips,
(The last night's kisses frozen on my lips.)

DRAFT HORSES.

EXPERIENCE OF HORSE DEALERS WHO HANDLE 40,000 ANNUALLY.

The Chicago Tribune has of late interested itself to a considerable extent in the subject of Draft Horses, and to enlighten its readers in this direction, published July 16th, a three-column article, in which it appears that it had detailed reporters to interview the leading horse dealers of New York City and Chicago, who buy and sell, in the aggregate, some 40,000 horses annually, as to the following points.

If they handled the several breeds of heavy draft horses known as French or Percheon-Norman, the Clydesdales, the English and Belgian, of which breed they handle most? Why most of a particular breed? What were the particular merits that made this breed more desirable, than the others, etc.? The result shown by the detailed interviews gives overwhelming evidence that the Percheron-Normans eclipse all the other breeds as favorites among the dealers, owing to their vastly superior selling qualities. The evidence condensed briefly from this mass of testimony is that those who by their horses to wear out, greatly prefer the Percheron-Normans to any other breed, because they are more compactly and powerfully built; are more enduring, have better feet to stand the hard wear of the city pavements; have better dispositions and are willing workers; are easier keepers, and generally give the best satisfaction. The Clydesdales were frequently criticized as being slim-waisted coarsely coupled, and generally having bad feet.

The general advice of the dealers to farmers was to breed to Percheron-Norman horses in preference to any other breed. With reference to raising horses to sell on the city horse markets. it was also gathered that these grade Percheron-Normans bring from $50 to $75 more than any of the other breeds of same weight and condition.

The large dealers interviewed in Chicago, with the number of horses they handle annually, were: James D. Beckett, No. 377 W. Randolph st., 3,000; M. Newgrass, No, 17 Morgan st., 2,000; J. S. Cooper, No. 174 Michigan ave., 1,500; F. J. Berry, No. 2 Monroe st., 1,500; Joseph Lamb, No. 133 Michigan ave., 1,800. At Mansfield, O., A. J. Heineman, 2,500. In New York City, Isaac H. Dahlman, No. 209 E. Twenty-fourth st., 10,000; A. S. Chamberlin, No. 147 E. Twenty-fourth st., 3,500; Oakely & Smith, No. 160 E. Twenty-fourth st., 3,500; Jacob Dahlman, No. 207 E. Twenty-fourth st., 2,000; and C. & H. Hayman, No. 213 E. Twenty-fourth st., 3,000. In Brooklyn, N. Y., S. Richy, No. 331 Rutledge st., 1,500; Henry Newman, No. 328 Rutledge st., 1,500; and A. M. Stein & Co., No. 229 Washington st., 3,000.

We extract from interview with Mr. I. H. Dahliman, who is the most extensive horse dealer in America. all space will permit. It is but a reflex of the other dealers' testimony. He said: "I handle between 9,000 and 10,000 horses annually on my own account. Of the draft horses I handle, nearly all are Norman-Percheron horses. These Norman-Percheron horses are docile, intelligent, broad between the eyes, and have some brain. They are easily broken, and are steady in harness,—meaning that they don't fret when they do their work. They are powerful horses, and compactly built,—short in the back.—deep in the body, and broad in the chest. This gives them what we call 'a good dinner-basket.'

They have the best feet of any horse in America. They have a high cup foot Their feet will stand work on the pavement better than those of any other breed. They are short-coated and thin-skinned and stand the hot weather the best of any breed. The Norman-Percheron generally give the best satisfaction to the people who buy them to wear out. They are very finely developed for their ages. I put them into the harvest work when four years old, and they stand it. Am buying them as old as I can get them, but cannot get them over four years old. I buy these horses because they give best satisfaction to my customers."

Being asked about the Clydesdale horses, Mr. Dahlman said: "I will not give you any criticism on the Clydesdales. I buy very few of them. I prefer to pass their stable and say nothing about them."

SUCCESS IN FARMING.

VALUABLE ADDRESS BY MR. JAMES DRYDEN, M. P. P.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Farmers' Club, held at Oshawa, a few days ago to hear an address by Mr. Dryden, M.P.P., on "Success in Farming." Mr. Dryden, after some general remarks, said it was unfortunate that a rule could not be laid down which would suit every farmer, the reason being the difference of soils, climate and other surroundings. It would be found that if a rule were laid down for one farmer it would be unsuitable for another; so a farmer must be a man of thought and judgment to make the best of his circumstances. Their fathers could scatter the seed in a rude manner upon the virgin soil and look forward to a good crop, but they could not do that now, the circumstances being changed, and they must adapt themselves to those circumstances if they would attain the highest success. The FARMER MUST BE A MAN OF THOUGHT,

so as to lay his plans, and having laid his plans, must work to them day by day if he would accomplish the best results He had no sympathy with the man who would plod on and toil in the same paths in which his father had toiled, without stopping to consider whether he was taking the best course. It would be important to stop and consider whether some other plan would not be better. It had been said there were ten ways of doing a thing—a right way and a wrong way, an easy way and a hard way, a skilful way and an awkward way, a neat way and a slovenly way, a cheap way and an expensive way. He advised the farmer to stop and consider, and choose the first of each of the ways mentioned. Again the FARMER MUST BE A MAN OF LABOR.

His business did not differ from any other business. The laboring man in every department of life was the man who succeeded. The man who would do great things must labor. He did not mean to say that in every case it would be to the advantage of the farmer to labor with his hands upon the farm. Perhaps it mingbt not be expedient. But the farmer must have control of the labor. He ought to have a practical knowledge of all its details. It would be better if he could handle the plow, and fork and spade, so that he could the better direct his men. Again the successful farmer should be a nor ashamed to be found giving attention to it. He made a strong point of this. The man who was ashamed of being found in the shop or soiling his hands had better turn his attention to something else, as he would never succeed. He would find that obstacles would present themselves, and that man would not succeed as a farmer. They could not expect to carry on farming in Canada as they did in England. There were three classes in England—first, the landlord; second, the farmer; and third, the laborer—all distinct. In Canada they found all these combined in one, the farmer, the proprietor of the land which he tilled, giving directions. and having to put himself alongside of the laborer in accomplishing the work to which he gave his attention. The farmer should be a man who could

MAN THAT IS NOT ABOVE HIS BUSINESS,

MAKE THE BEST USE OF THE LABOR

at his hand, and especially so if he were undertaking to manage a large farm. It was a very easy thing to accomplish as much work by proper manipulation as another man would by improper manipulation with nine men. That was a point which needed some attention. Another element of success in farming was to KEEP THE WORK WELL AHEAD.

There was an old adage which they had often heard, and which was perfectly true: "Drive the work, or the work will drive you." If they got behind they were working at a disadvantage, and the work was driving them. To be sure they labored under disadvantages, for instance. they could not control the weather. That was the time when the farmer must use his best judgment, and bring the work into the position in which he desired it should be. The Canadian farmer could not go along in the way the farmer did in countries where they had longer seasons, but the work in Canada had to be done in a limited period, or not done at all. They must be on the alert. He would not advise a man to crowd his workmen. The chances are that on a well-regulated farm the men would be inspired with sufficient enthusiasm to make a "spurt" when it was required, but because they could do so occasionally, he would not ask them to do so every day; because the men would get disheartened and would not work as well. He condemned the practice of racing at work, as it formed a habit of working irregularly. He made a strong point of working regular hours on the farm, as he did not see why a man working on a farm should not have regular hours of labor as well as the man who worked in a manufacturing establishment. He was among the first in his own neighborhood to commence the practice. They ought to follow the golden rule in this matter, and put themselves in the places of their servants, and consider how they would wish to be treated. He not only put the matter on that ground, but he guranteed that more work would be done in regular hours than when work was done irregularly.

IMPORTANCE OF DRAINAGE.

He knew of nothing that would pay better than tile drainage. He wished he could impress upon farmers the importance of paying more attention to this matter. He saw farm after farm whose value could be doubled, and in some cases trebled, by a proper system of drainage. While he said this he wished to impress upon them the necessity of doing it properly, as a great deal of money had been wasted in draining because the work had been improperly done. In draining he would advise them to have as few outlets as possible, but to pay strict attention to those outlets. The farmers had no settled purpose in this matter. The work also could not be done in a year. For twenty years he had been constructing drains on his own farm, and he had not got through yet. There was scarcely a field without a drain in it. No matter how skilfully a farm was managed if the soil were wet the result would not be such as their skill and industry would achieve if the land were properly drained. The next point to which he referred was the necessity for a THOROUGH TILLAGE OF THE SOIL.

Some farmers studied to see how little labor they could expend upon the land and get a crop, instead of studying how much labor they could bestow upon it with the certainty of getting an ample return. They required to plow and harrow and pulverize the land a great deal more, as they had not the same virgin soil to deal with as their fathers had fifty years ago. They should take an example from the gardener, who raked and pulverized the ground so that every seed that he put down grew. By following the last two points they would be able to carry out what he considered another element of success in farming, viz.:

EARLY SOWING.

He knew that some would not agree with him, but he was very decided upon it. He did not care what kind of ground it was, he wanted it sown early—as early as they could get the seed into the ground. Of course if the land was not drained it could not be done. He also showed the necessity of more thorough tillage. But it might be said that they were afraid of the frosts, that last season early barley was nipped. He did not believe in it. Farmers would say that it was no use sowing early as there was no growth in the ground, but he knew that this was not true. To bear out his contention Dr. Dryden cited a couple of instances in his own experience, in which, after sowing, the ground had been frozen, but the seed in both instances was uninjured, and yielded good crops. There was more risk run by sowing late than early. Early sowing was a decided element of success in farming. The next matter was

ROTATION OF CROPS.

The successful farmer would be able to tell not only what he would sow this year but for several years to come, because he would have in his mind a regular rotation of crops. A great deal was said about this matter, but a cast iron rule could not be laid down, because of the difference of the soil and circumstances. He did not follow the same rotation in every field himself, but changed them to circumstances. He spoke of what he conceived to be the foundation of any rotation—viz.: —Successful grass-growing and especially that of clover. If the rotation would not permit of the growing of a good crop of grass, no matter what the rotation was, it would not be successful. He considered this to be one of the pillars of successful grass-growing. This was a matter which baffled him more than anything else. The usual plan he found to be a complete failure, but it was when he attempted to seed down a field freshly manured that he had better success. He grew his roots on a field like that after grass, plowed the seed under late in the fall, or early in the spring, followed that with barley, then manure and wheat, and then seeded down if it needed rest. They should bear in mind that when the grass was seeded down the ground got the benefit. Of course the number of years depended upon circumstances, but three years was his aim. The ideas that farmers had, of barley this year, wheat next year, and something else the following year, was all wrong, and did more to ruin farms than anything else. If they nursed their farms more, and were not so hasty in attempting to get rich they would find that in ten years they had made more money. The plan of growing all of one article in a year to the exclusion of other things left them always a year behind the high-priced product. When barley would be a good price this year they would have all wheat, and so with other things. If they would work without paying so much attention to making money they would find that they had something that would pay well, and they would make more money in the long run. For he depended almost entirely upon two things, plaster and barnyard manure, as he need not look for anything better. A great many had the idea that the plaster ought to be scattered upon the leaves when damp, but that was a mistake. It ought to be got into the ground before it would have its effect. It should be sowed early in the spring, so as to get the benefit of the spring rain. As to barnyard manure, the best was required and stock would have to be fed pretty well in order to produce the best. He would not call him a successful farmer who devoted his attention entirely to grain growing and kept a few cattle just to consume his straw or the man who could show some grand specimens of live stock and at the same time have a field full of rubbish. Every department should receive due attention, and in this way they would be most likely to reach the success which they desire. If they kept stock they should endeavor to keep the best. They could not all go into fancy stock raising, but it was profitable to secure good stock by using the male of those different varieties which made the best kind of animals. In this way they should endeavor to produce the best meat with which to get their share of the trade in the markets which are opening up to them in the Old World. A requisite to was the care of the animals during their first year. The importance of this he could not urge too strongly. And while taking good care of them if they got a pound of flesh on the animal they should not let it off, for they would only have to put it on again, which would add to the cost of the animal. Mr. Dryden then gave some practical advise as to the manner in which all farm work ought to be done. Whatever was worth doing at all was worth doing well, and should be done in the best manner possible. If anyone supposed that a lazy, brainless fellow could make a successful farmer he was mistaken. He did not know of any industry which required more judgement, thought, wisdom and discretion. The last element of success in a farmer to which he called attention he did not think would be readily assented to. It was past failures. They were very inconvenient and embarrassing when one had a certain sum of money to raise, but they forced people to stop and think whether they were upon the right path, and discuss things with their neighbors, and to make comparisons. People said that there was not so much advancement made in agriculture as in other pursuits, but they must remember that it took a year to make an experiment, and almost a lifetime to come to a right conclusion in connection with every matter. And this could be remedied to a great extent by meeting and comparing notes and thus saving themselves the trouble and expense of going through experiments themselves. He concluded by urging the members of the club to realise the nobility of their calling, and to strive to elevate it to the position which it ought to occupy among the industries of the country; and thus they would be able to do their part in raising Canada to her proper position as first among the nations.

MANURE IN THE GROWING OF CLOVER,

SUCCESSFUL STOCK RAISING

PLANT GOOD SEED.

It is always highly important that more but good, reliable seed corn be planted, but a time when so great a number of farmer's cribs are extremely low as at the present time, the importance of having none but reliable seed is greatly increased. When the selection of seed has not been attended to at the proper time, that of gathering the crop from the field, it may be much better done before the hurrying, pushing work of spring opens than afterwards.

"Twenty-four Years' Experience," says an eminent physician, convinces me that the only way to cure nervous exhaustion, and weakness of the sexual organs, is to repair the waste by giving brain and nerve foods, and of all the remedies compounded, Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, mode adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

SANDERSON'S

TENNYSON'S LAST POEM.

"THE CHARGE OF THE HEAVY BRIGADE" AT BALAKLAVA.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The following is Tennyson's new poem, "The Charge of the Heavy Brigade," cabled from London to-day:

I.

Down the hill, down the hill, thousands of Russians
Thousands of horsemen, flew to the valley, and stayed.
For Scarlett and Scarlett's three hundred [illegible]
[illegible]
Then he looked at the host that had halted, he knew not why,
And he turned half round, and he bade his trumpeter sound
"The charge," and he rode on ahead as he waved his blade
To the gallant three hundred, whose glory will never die.
"Follow, and up the hill!" up the hill, up the hill followed the heavy brigade.

II.

The trumpet, the gallop, the charge, and the might of the fight!
Down the hill cleverly, thousands of Russians
Drew to the valley and halted on the last height,
With a wing pushed out to the left, and a wing to the right;
But Scarlett was far on ahead, and he dashed up alone
Through the great gray slope of men;
And he whirled his sabre and held his own
Like a knight in the old Crusades and then
All the three that were nearest him followed with force,
Wedged themselves in between horse and horse,
Fought for their lives in the narrow gap they had made;
Four amid thousands; and up the hill, up the hill
Galloped the gallant three hundred; the heavy brigade.

III.

Fell like a cannon shot,
Burst like a thunder-bolt,
Crashed like a hurricane,
Broke through the mass from below,
Drove through the midst of the foe,
Plunged up and down, to and fro,
Rode flashing blow upon blow,
Brave Englishmen and Greys,
Wielding their sabres in circles of light;
And some of them all in a maze
Wheeled to the left for awhile from the fight,
And rode one standing at gaze
When the dark muffled Russian crowd
Folded its wings from the left and the right,
And rolled them around like a cloud;
Oh, mad for the charge and battle were we
When our good red coats sank from sight
Like drops of blood in a dark gray sea,
And we turned to each other muttering, all dismayed,
Lost are the gallant three hundred, the heavy brigade.

IV.

But they rode like victors and lords
Through the forests of lances and swords
In the heart of the Russian hordes;
They rode or they stood at bay,
Struck with the sword-hand and slew,
Down with the bridle-hand drew
Their foe from the saddle and threw
Underfoot there in the fray;
Reared like a storm or stood like a rock
In the wave of a stormy day;
Till suddenly shook upon shook,
Staggered the mass from without,
For our men galloped up with a cheer and a shout,
And the Russians surged and wavered and reeled,
Up the hill, up the hill, out of the field,
Over the brow and away.

V.

Glory to each and to all and the charge that they made;
Glory to all the three hundred, the heavy brigade.

The three hundred of the heavy brigade who made the famous charge d'Balaklava were the Scots Greys and the second squadron of the Enniskillens. The remainder of the heavy brigade subsequently dashed up to their support.

THE TATTLER.

BY FANNIE E JUDD.

After the toils of earth were done,
And the poor old tattler her race had run,
Since the God of Heaven would kindly permit
Such a poor old creature to enter it,
The angels of Heaven shrank far away,
For this old harpy, all her days,
Found nothing on God's green earth to praise;
The peace of Heaven such a creature will mar,
If we stay where she is there will surely be war.

So to regions of darkness the tattler subsided.
But not very long had she there abided
Ere there arose on the air a furious din,
The sound of a fight and struggle within,
And out she came flying, by Satan pursued,
Who could not endure a creature so rude,
For she told a Gleour, who stood near the throne,
That Satan was careless in the use of his brimstone.
In the matter of fire she raised his ire
By whispering a neighbor the blaze was higher Than his means would allow;
And altogether she raised such a row
That Satan arose in his power and might,
And sent her a-flying after into night.
As they could not endure her in Heaven or Hell,
It's a puzzle to know where the tattler will dwell.

HIS REASONS.

A GILDED YOUTH EXPLAINS HIS CONDUCT.

What sort of a fellow is Harry?
He's splendid! You can't find his match,
The man, of all others, I'd marry.
If I were a girl, He's a catch!
He's young, handsome, witty as can be,
He's rich and a gentleman true.
Pray tell me what more can a man be!
Yes, he's a friend of mine, too.
That's what I told Nelly Mackenzie—
To whom I'm engaged, understand.
She sets all the boys in a frenzy.
The way I am envied is grand—
We saw him drive by in a carriage.
While at the window. He bowed.
And she stopped discussing our marriage
To ask who he was. Did him proud!
I told her. I spoke of him highly
She promptly responded that all
My friends should be hers, and then
Remarked I might bring him to call.
I answered "I will." The occasion
When I next fell in with him, he Just hinted in tones of persuasion
That he'd like to call there with me.
I answered, to have him would please me
Extremely—perhaps the next day.
But, since then, whenever he sees me,
I've been there and just come away.
And, truly, the days will be many,
Ere I introduce him to Nell—
Afraid she'd not like him! Not any!
Egad she might like him too well!

HE GOT THE DOLLAR.

He lectured on "Tobacco and Its Pernicious Effects." He told of the discovery of tobacco—how Sir Walter Raleigh had water thrown on him by his servant who imagined his master was on fire when he saw the smoke coming from his mouth. All this and more he told in graphic terms. He then went on:

"Tobacco in its ordinary state—the plug—is a powerful poison. It will do what few others poisons will do."

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, let me show you an experiment. I will call from this audience a boy. We will take one who looks as though he never smoked. John, come up here," he called to a small boy, who looked the picture of innocent health, as though the foul weed had never touched his lips.

"John, did you never smoke?"

"No, sir," John replied with a smile that was "childlike and bland."

"Now, John, you say you have never smoked. I'll give you a dollar if you will take this piece of tobacco as large as a pea, put it in your mouth, and chew it. Don't let one drop go down your throat; spit every drop in the spittoon, but keep chewing—don't stop, but chew steadily."

"Now, gentlemen, before he is done with that piece of tobacco as large as a pea, simply squeezing the juice out of it, without swallowing one drop, he will lie there in a cold, death-like perspiration. You will put your fingers on his wrist, and find no pulse; and so he will seem for five or three hours.

Innocent-looking John took a seat in a chair, and having the spittoon placed near him, put the piece of tobacco in his mouth and began to chew.

The audience by this time was very much interested. They craned their necks forward to get a glimpse of the boy lying there "in a cold, death-like perspiration," but they didn't. Not much.

He sat there with a calm and solemn smile, and chewed and spit, and spit and chewed. The lecturer at length said:

"Ah, that was a mistake! I gave him a piece that was too mild; it should have been stronger," and he handed the boy another pill.

The boy took it contentedly. In fact, he seemed to enjoy it as much as though it had been strawberries and cream or green apples. His jaws worked like a stone breaker.

The lecturer was dumbfounded. "John," said he "are you sure you never smoked?"

"Yes sir, I never smoked; but I kin chaw more tobacco than you kin shake a stick at."

The lecturer concluded that it was best to give his prodigal illustration the dollar he promised and let him slide.

Ask some men for an advertisement or some locals, they answer they do not believe in advertising—a paper is never read—Let a man be caught kissing his neighbor's wife, or trying to hold up the side of a building some dark night, and his tune changes instantly, and if the printing office is the garret of a seventeen-story building he will climb to the top to beg the editor to keep quiet—don't publish it in your paper, you know.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

HAMILIMENT HALL.—Where is it? Read advertisement on 4th page and the conundrum is easily solved.

FOR THE WEST.—On Tuesday morning a party of ten or twelve left Peterborough for the North-West. Almost every week Peterborough sends a contingent to the great lone land.

Port Hope is to have a Director on the Midland Railway after all, Mr. Cox informing us it was not at any time the intention to deprive that town of representation.

VITAL STATISTICS.—During the month of February the number of births, marriages and deaths registered with C. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk and Division Registrar were as follows:—Births, 10; Marriages, 9; Deaths, 5.

WHO'S YOUR HATTER? Loch, of course! for he has just opened out a very extensive stock of hats of all styles and qualities for the Spring trade. You cannot fail to make a choice after inspecting his stock, at either his upper or lower stores.

LOYALTY.—At the conclusion of Divine service in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Sunday evening last, the Organist played the National Anthem as a token of thanksgiving for the Queen's recent escape from assassination.

THE "BOOM."—The boom in real estate is not altogether confined to Manitoba, for we learn from the Port Hope News that a lot in Midland was sold the other day for $3,400, which two years ago was purchased for $200.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 48-tf.

We have received "Our Little Ones and the Nursery," for March, and it is, as usual, filled to overflowing with interesting stories and amusing illustrations for the little folks. Send $1.50 to the Russell Publishing Co., Boston and receive the magazine a year.

MISS PAFFARD'S CONCERT.—The complimentary benefit concert, given to Miss Paffard, in Bradburn's Hall on Tuesday evening, was decidedly a success both so far as attendance and entertainment went. The hall was well filled and each piece on the programme was rendered in such a satisfactory manner as to elicit repeated applause.

RECENTLY in Toronto over 1,000 physicians and sufferers visited Dr. M. Souvielle, of Montreal, and ex-Aide Surgeon of the French army. He will be at the Huffman House, Peterborough, on March 17th, for five days, and will have with him a supply of Spirometers for the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Disease. Physicians and sufferers can try it free. 9-3t

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic returns of the Midland Railway for the week ending February 25th 1882, was as follows: Passengers and Mails, $4,605.96; Freight, $8,759.99, Total, $13,365.95 as compared with $9,907.87 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an Increase of $3,558.08; and the aggregate traffic to date is $103,494.94, being an Increase of $38,844.46 over 1881.

PREPARING FOR NAVIGATION.—We understand that Mr. Calcutt has during the past winter had both the Golden-Eye and King-Fisher refitted and put in a thorough state of repair. The prospects of a splendid season's business are very assuring. Already the Messrs. Rathbun have contracted for the King-Fisher for towing from Healey's Falls to Hastings a large quantity of telegraph poles, hop poles and other timber.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE—At the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East, held in Millbrook last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Mr. George Wheeler, M. P., is rapidly pushing the work ahead on the Wick and Manilla section of the Midland. A large number of men are getting out ties and fencing material, and some thirty men are chopping out the five miles of bush on the line. Forty men are at work grading on the heavy cuts near Manilla and at the Wick end. In all over a hundred men are engaged. All ties, culvert, cattle-guard and bridge timber will be got out this winter, and the heavy earthwork will be completed by spring, when additional men and teams will be added, so as to complete the line ready for traffic early in the coming summer.

STEADY PROGRESS.—A former resident of Peterborough, now in San Francisco, writes us as follows:—

J. B. STRATTON,

MY DEAR SIR,—Enclosed you will find $3. subscription for the EXAMINER for the years 1881 and 1882. I am glad to see the EXAMINER making such steady progress, and its arrival here each week comes as if an old friend calls upon me to give me the Peterborough News. I must say that your journal is both a credit to yourself and to the good old town of Peterborough."

THE WEATHER.—People may well be asking themselves whether this is the first week in March or the last week in April. The ethereal mildness of the past few days has taken most of the frost out of the ground and farmers are talking of plowing a month ahead of the usual time. The weather prophets may be excused for having failed in their forecast, for Ontario has not seen such a winter for over thirty years. The probabilities are that we shall have a cold and wet spring.

THE KENNEDY FAMILY.—On Tuesday evening next Mr. David Kennedy, the celebrated Scottish vocalist, and his family will give their farewell entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House prior to their return to Scotland in the early part of summer. Upon each appearance in Peterboro of this talented family they have drawn crowded houses, and all that is necessary to ensure a similar reception for them now, is to acquaint the public of the fact that they are again to appear.

ENTERTAINMENT.—During the next week our readers will have no reason to complain of the lack of entertainments, as will be seen from the following list:—

To-night, (Thursday)—The Peterboro' Temple's Penny Readings, in Orange Hall.

Friday, (to morrow) night—The Concert of the season, under the patronage of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church, in Bradburn's Hall. Read the programme and we feel bound to say the purchase of a ticket will follow.

Tuesday, March 14th—The Kennedy Family. See advertisement in another column.

Thursday, March 16th—The Boston Opera Company in one of their choice entertainments.

Friday, March 17th—The Hibernian Minstrels, under the auspices of the Peterborough Emerald Dramatic Association.

THE YOUNG FOLK'S CIRCLE.—This is the title of a new eight page monthly published in Cleveland, Ohio, and sent to subscribers at 25 cents a year. It contains matter, original and selected, which must prove interesting and attractive to the little folks, in whose behalf it is issued. It claims, while unsectarian, to be healthful in tone and unimpeachable in morals, as the publishers say "nothing of a doubtful tendency or of impure sentiment or thought will ever be allowed to appear in its pages." Verily the younger generation of the present day have a right to be thankful that they live in this century. Juvenile literature of all kinds teems from the printing press and hundreds of publishers throughout the length and breadth of the land vie with each other for the privilege of catering for their benefit, instruction or amusement. Fifty years ago it was not so, and the young folks should be grateful accordingly.

THE PHILADELPHIA MUSICIAL JOURNAL, for Febuary, has been received it presents a remarkably handsome and prosperous look. It is crowded with musicial news and bright, cheery musicial gossip, while the able editorials cover a wide field, and the various departments are full of information and entertainment. A capital Russian story, called "The Jewess of Roudnia," showing the feeling of the Russian peasants against the Jews, is also given. It was written by Henery Greville, the celebrated Paris novelist. Besides the excellent literary features, the following choice selections of sheet-music is given: Diamonds and Dew Drops," a pretty polka; "Young Life Gallop," a lively composition; and Mendelssohn's grand "Wedding March," a masterwork of unsurpassed grandeur and beauty; as well as "Tell Me that You'll not Forget Me;" "May Morning," and "Were I a Violet," all exceedingly beautiful and captivating ballads, the last named composed by the famous Franz Abt. As the price of the Philadelphia Musical Journal is only ten cents per copy, it will be seen at once that for the small sum, the purchaser of the current number, gets not only all the musicial news of the day, but also, some of the best and most admired songs and instrumental compositions which alone are worth several dollars. Published by Wm Nuneviller, No. 1300 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa, Subscription, one dollar a year.

WINNIPEG AND HER INDUSTRIES, is the title of an interesting pamphlet of 132 papes, sent us from the Prairie Province, devoted to a review of the principal industries of the city. In it we find the following notices which will be interesting to many of our readers:—

CALCUTT'S BREWERY.—"This brewery was built in 1871, and after a series of changes is now owned and operated by H. Calcutt, who manufactures large quantities of ale, porter and lager beer. The capacity of the establishment is 400 barrels of ale per week and same of porter, and sufficient evidence of the superior quality of the production lies in the fact he is unable to produce a sufficient quantity to supply the great demand for his make of ale and porter. In the manufacture of older they drive a thriving trade, making about sixty barrels per week. The dimensions of these works are 60 by 100 feet in area, with three flats and commodious cellars and vaults, where the sparkling beverages are produced. The barley of the North-West is far famed for its richness, and the quality of the ale and porter produced from the same is correspondingly excellent, and by manufacturing his own malt, Mr. Calcutt enjoys many advantages. In conducting this extensive establishment employment is given to fifteen hands, and the management is entrusted to Mr. M Y. Calcutt, a young gentleman of ten years experience, who is a practical brewer. Mr. Calcutt is making many improvements and is at present constructing another brewery in St. Boniface, with the same capacity as his Silver Heights establishment, and will continue to increase his capacity with the growth of the country."

CHANNEN BROS.—This firm operate a biscuit and candy factory at 166 Main street, which they established in 1876. They now employ over twenty hands, and have a manufacturing capacity of three tons of biscuits, and one and a half tons of candies per day. Their trade extends all over Manitoba.

THE GRAND JUNCTION SUIT.—The suit of the Grand Junction against the County of Peterborough came before the Supreme Court, at Ottawa, on Monday. The Globe, in its report of the proceedings of the Court, says:—

"The case of the Grand Junction v. Corporation of the County of Peterborough was next taken up. Mr. Cameron and Mr. Robinson, Q.C., of Toronto, appeared for the appellants, and Mr. Bethune, Q.C., of Toronto, and Mr. E. B. Edwards, of Peterborough, for the respondents. This is an action for a mandamus to compel the Corporation of the County of Peterborough to issue, and hand over to the Grand Junction Railway, debentures to the amount of $75,000, with accrued interest amounting to $60,000. They claim these debentures by virtue of a by-law passed by that corporation, which was submitted to the ratepayers, but did not receive its third reading. Subsequently the Grand Junction and other charters were purchased by the Grand Trunk, forming an amalgamation of several different lines. The Grand Trunk failing to build the line the charter was restored and revested in the promoters of the Grand Junction. All legislation thus far had been by the Dominion Parliament, but in 1871 the Ontario Legislature passed an Act declaring that the by-law passed by the County Council of Peterborough should be valid and binding, although it had not received a third reading. The Council subsequently constituted the by-law, and the debentures were never called for until 1878, when an action at law was brought by the Grand Junction Railway Company. The Council repudiated the by-law on the ground that the charter having been given to the Grand Trunk it had never been invested in the Grand Junction, and even assuming it had been restored to them the Ontario Legislature had no jurisdiction to pass an Act declaring valid the by-law of the municipality granting a bonus to a company which had been incorporated by the Dominion Parliament.

"The Grand Junction succeeded in the Ontario Court of Queen's Bench, Justice Cameron dissenting. The Court of Appeal subsequently unanimously reversed that decision, against which the Grand Junction are now appealing."

NEW TIME TABLE.—The new Time Table of the Midland Railway will be issued in a few days and will come into operation probably about the 15th instant. Under it Peterborough will have the best train service she has ever enjoyed. Five trains on the Midland Division will leave and arrive daily, and three on the Grand Junction. Trains will leave the Midland Station as follows—Midland Division, going South, at 7.00 a.m., 10.10 a.m., 4.45 p.m., 6.45 p.m. and 7.40 p.m.; arriving from Port Hope, &c., at 8.25 a.m., 11.50 a.m., 6.20 p.m., 9.55 p.m., and 9.00 p.m. Leave for Lakefield, at 8.25 a.m. and 12.05 p.m.; and, arriving from that place at 10.10 a.m. and 2.45 p.m. On the Grand Junction, trains leave for Belleville at 6.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.; arriving at Peterborough from Belleville and intermediate stations at 10.35 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. The 7.00 a.m., 10.10 a.m. and 4.45 p.m. trains on the Midland Division will connect at Millbrook with trains going north which will make connections at Lindsay with trains on the Victoria and Whitby Division, and at Lorneville Junction with trains on the Nipissing for Toronto.

THE BUSINESS BOOM.—By advertisement in another part of this paper it will be seen that Peterborough is to have another dry goods store, Mr. Thomas Kelly announcing that he will open out on Wednesday next in the store lately occupied by T. Dolan & Co., corner of George and Simcoe streets with an entirely fresh new stock of staple and fancy dry goods, and will enter into a brisk contest with the older established merchants of Peterborough for a share of the business of this district. Mr. Kelly is one of the oldest Dry Goods Clerks in Peterborough, having had experience of over twenty-three years in the employ of such well-known firms as Messrs. Hartys of Kingston, the Messrs. O'Neils of Port Hope, and Messrs. Fairweather & Co. of this town. We will venture to say that there is few merchants better known in town or county than Mr. Kelly. He is civil and obliging and is very highly spoken of by everyone, and his extended and varied experience and thorough knowledge of the wants of the trade combined ought to draw to him a large share of the public patronage. The store has been generally overhauled, and his stock is now daily arriving. Mr. Kelly purposes keeping only the best quality of goods—such as dress goods, staple and fancy goods. He will not keep cheap trashy goods as he says they neither pay the merchant nor give satisfaction to the customer. What he will offer can be relied upon as good, and always as represented and sold at as low prices as is possible to secure a safe profit. We, in conjunction with his many friends wish him every success.

PERSONAL.

Mr. R. B. Rogers and H. Carver have left for Winnipeg.

Mr. John Porter of South Monaghan, has been appointed issuer of Marriage Licenses.

Mr. Robert Bird, of the firm of Walton & Bird, Emerson, an old Peterborough boy, is in town on a visit to his friends. We understand he intends placing the town plot of Silver Spring, in which he is a large owner, upon the market here.

The Belleville Ontario of Saturday last says:—Rev. E. J. Stobo of Peterboro', will preach in the Baptist Church to-morrow, in the absence of the pastor, and will also conduct the services on Monday evening; and the Rev. C. A. Cook of Kingston, is expected to preach on Tuesday evening.

The many friends of Mr. W. Edington, formerly of the steamer Fairy, but latterly connected with the Victoria Railway Shops, Lindsay, will learn with pleasure that he has received the appointment of Engineer of the Cobourg Steam Fire Engine. Mr. Edington's courteous and obliging disposition while connected with the "Fairy" won for him a host of friends and we cannot refrain from complimenting the Cobourg council on securing the services of so thoroughly competent and reliable an official.

Mrs. Kerr, wife of Mr. J. K. Kerr, Q. C., Toronto, and sister of Hon. E. Blake, died Thursday night at the family residence in the Queen's Park. The immediate cause of death, we learn from the Toronto World, was effusion of the brain. For the thirty-four hours previous she was unconscious. For more than two months she has been confined to her room with inflammation of the ear, and this was aggravated on New Year's Day, by the lady herself inadvertently pouring into the ear a few drops of carbolic acid, instead of the lotion left by the doctor. All that medical skill could suggest was secured, but to no purpose. Mrs. Kerr was known throughout the country for her womanly, christian, virtues.

AN EPISTLE TO DAVID KENNEDY.

Kennedy, the vocalist, is at present paying a farewell visit to Canada, and will appear in the Opera House here next Tuesday evening. The following poetic effusion show as brither's appreciation:

Oh Kennedy, oh Davy man, we want you to come back—
We want to hae anither sang, anither couthie crack—
We were blithe when ye were wi' us, we are wae sin' ye're awa',
Hae pity on us Kennedy, come gie's anither ca'.

We want to hear the guid auld sangs, that carry back the min'
To the faces, and the friendship, and the hame scenes o' Lang Syne—
We want to hear the Doric braid, and lauch and greet by turns,
As ye sing the sangs o' Tannahill and oor ain brither Burns.

Ye'll bring the bairns a' wi' ye—we maun hear sweet Helen's sang,
Like the liltin' o' the mavis, the lowland woods amang—
We maun hear wee Maggie's music, and see fair Marjory,
Wi' the ripple in her sweet voice, and the twinkle in her e'e.

Ye'll bring Johnny wi' his fiddle; eh, he plays it wi' nic skill
That oor very e'en gang dancin', and oor feet'll no keep still—
And Robert, he'll be wi' ye, and thae grand war sangs he'll gie,
Till every Scot amang us is on en' to dae or dee.

Sae ye'll come back, Davy Kennedy, and mak' oor hearts rejoice,
Wi' your cheery face, your cantie ways, and the music o' your voice—
And if the warl' wad spare ye we'd keep ye for a year,
And ye'd hae concerts nichtly, and we'd a' be there to hear.

DAIL. M. KENNEDMOS.

THE NEW MIDLAND OFFICES.

Elegant and Handsome Suites of Rooms.

The consolidation of the roads comprising the present Midland Railway of Canada and the location of the Head Offices in Peterborough has very naturally led to the enlargement and extension of the rooms heretofore occupied by the officials of the old company. To meet this necessity almost the whole of the second and third flats of the entire block have been appropriated for that purpose, and during the past month or so a number of workmen have been busily engaged in transforming and altering the internal arrangements of the building. The work is now about completed and in a few days the painters and paper hangers will have applied the finishing touches. Already the General Manager and the Traffic Agent have each entered upon the occupancy of their new apartments, which with the Board Room, occupies the south half of the second story of the block, and which has been fitted up in every particular, handsomely and with the best of taste. In this, as in his own personal affairs, Mr. Cox never does matters by halves, and the manner in which all of the offices have been fitted up throughout reflects the highest credit, not alone upon himself but on the company, which has certainly one of the handsomest suites of offices of any railway in the Dominion.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Cope, that as the council did not order the repairs on the scraper, he will have to look to Mr. Rorabeck for the account, and that in future to run no account on the Council except on order of a Road Committee. The Clerk was instructed to give the necessary notices that the Council at a meeting to be held in the Town and Agricultural Hall, Warsaw, on the 31st March, 1882, intends passing a By-law, to establish a road, 66 feet wide, from N. E. angle of W½ lot 25, to S. W. angle of E½ lot 26, in centre of 7th concession of Dummer, according to survey of F. W. Wilkins, P. L. S. On motion of Mr. White, seconded by Mr. Drain,—Wm. Little, Sen., was authorized to let John Elliott have one cwt. flour each quarter this year, and Wason, Bros., to let him have $4 worth of goods, Council to pay for same.—The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—To N. Robinson, refund of statute labor tax, $1.00; A. R. Kidd, attending adjourned land sale, $3.00. A By-law to change the boundaries of S. S. No. 1 & 3, and No. 11 & 2, received three readings and was passed. Council adjourned to meet in Warsaw on 16th inst.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA, from Abram Mead, of Littleton, Mass.—"I have for several years suffered severely with Dyspepsia, accompanied by weakness and nervous irritability, which made life a burden to me. Nothing but the simplest nutriment could remain in the stomach without pain, sourness and windy evacuations, uncomfortable feelings in the head, bad taste in the mouth, catarrhal symptoms, inactivity of the liver and bowels, piles, general debility and a nervous state of extreme susceptability, made up a diseased condition rebellious to ordinary medical treatment. By advice of an eminent physician of Boston, I commenced taking Peruvian Syrup; at once I began to experience benefit. After taking three bottles all these bad feelings have left, my health is restored, and I enjoy life as well as ever. Most cheerfully do I recommend Peruvian Syrup." Sold by dealers generally.

The Winnipeg Times gives us an evidence of the land boom in that city as follows:—A couple of men were observed surveying the top of the city hall this morning. They were evidently looking for a spot where there is not a real estate office, or for a spot on which to start one.

COUNTY PETERBOROUGH STATISTICS.

As local items are scarce this week, and as they may prove interesting to some of your readers, I give below a brief report of the births, marriages and deaths, as taken from the last returns for 1880:—

Births 911, of which 506 were male and 405 female; there were 7 pairs of twins, 1 case of triplets, 7 illegitimate and 6 still-born. The largest number of births was in January, smallest in November.

Marriages, 220. The largest number being celebrated in December and January, 29 each; the lowest in May 9, which in Peterborough county at least shows that the poet's maxim:

"In the Spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," will not hold good. 151 were Methodist, 100 Presbyterian, 63 Roman Catholic, 70 English church, 16 Bible Christian and 10 Baptist.

Deaths 296, of which 152 were males and 144 females; 43 are given as dying from old age, and the others of any account, convulsions, 17; Infantile debility, 27.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield Council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening, the 13th inst. The Reeve, R. C Strickland in the chair. Present—Councillors McWilliams, Cox, Hill and Hull. The Clerk announced that in accordance with the mandamus from the Superior Court in Toronto, he had held an election at which Mr. John Hull was elected and he had taken the declaration of office. Minutes of former meeting read and adopted. The deputation to Toronto, reported that they had received a hearing from the Minister of Public Works, in regard to the Government assuming control of the dam, and that the Subject would be taken into consideration. Moved by Coun. Hill, seconded by Coun. McWilliams and adopted,—That the expenses of Messrs. Sherin, Graham and Caldwell, go to Toronto as a deputation to wait on the Government concerning the Lakefield dam, be paid, and that the Reeve do issue order for the amount, $24.00, for same. Moved by Coun. Cox, seconded by Coun. McWilliams and adopted,—That this Council do now adjourn to meet again at the call of the Reeve.

FISHING.

One of our sporting hotel-keepers has been spending a few days up at Gull Lake, fishing for mountain trout. While there he experimented with different kinds of bait, but found silver the most taking to bring in the fish with the least trouble. He managed to make quite a haul and was equally generous on his arrival home as your correspondent can testify.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS.

The fall of snow with which we were favored last week, has caused quite a change in the business of the village. Logs, wood, potatoes and other farm produce is coming in in large quantities, and our streets present a more lively appearance than any time during the winter.

"TO THE WEST."

Messrs. Chas. Payton and G. Domen took their departure last week for the "Land of Promise," in the Nor-West. As soon as they gettled their families will follow. Next week will see quite a number of others on the wing to the same place.

MASONIC TRIBUTE.

At the regular meeting of Clementi Lodge, No. 313, A. F. and A. M., held in the Masonic Hall, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening, the 7th inst., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

Moved by Bro. Sparam Sheldrake, seconded by Bro. Dr. Bell,—That whereas the officers and members of Clementi Lodge, No. 313, A.F. and A.M. desire to express their unfeigned sympathy with the widow and friends of our late Bro. Fredrick Barlee in their sad bereavement, and to place or record the estimation in which he was held, both as a friend and brother.

It is, therefore, resolved that the Lodge be draped in mourning for three month, and that the members wear a crape badge on the left breast for thirty days, and the Secretary is instructed to transmit a copy of these resolutions under the seal of the Lodge to Mrs. Barlee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The masquerade carnival held on the evening of March 7th, 1882, was a successful affair throughout. The ice was in splendid condition, and the evening all that could be desired. There were no less than thirty-five masqueraders present, and to all appearance the rink was literally alive with skaters and spectators. Mr. Scott Edington deserves special notice, as he appeared upon the scene in the character of Tom Thumb. He created quite a sensation by his style and diminutive size. Taking everything into consideration the neatest and best dressed ladies were Miss Bessie Buchanan, representing "Evening Star," and Miss Read, as "Red, White and Blue." The skating of Miss Katie McNeil was excellent and well executed; also that of others who we might mention but for want of space. There were other costumes we might mention: Mr. Harry McLachlan, "Ethiopian Character"; Harry Cruickshank, "Flying Dutchman," and Mr. James McNeil, jr., "Heathen Chinee." The following are the names of those who appeared in costume:—

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FOR THE WEST.

Mr. W. Cummings, of this village, and Mr. John Greenbanks, of Asphodel, leave for Manitoba in a few days to further their fortunes in the land where fortunes are so easily made. A number of farmers of Belmont, among them old settlers, are now on their way to the Prairie Province. Mr. Greenbanks takes with him his live stock, a lot of farm produce, farming implements, &c., ready to commence farm operations as soon as he takes up land. He has engaged a car to convey his materials, for which he pays the liberal sum of $240. Other farmers, Mr. Robertson, of Asphodel, for instance, gets a car for $180. A number of others in this village and vicinity have also got the Manitoba infection, and intend shortly fleeing to the land which floweth with milk and money. The "boom in land has also struck Norwood, as a wealthy gentleman here who a few years ago purchased lots both in Winnipeg and some mushroom cities, has been communicated with offering him largely advanced prices upon his property in several places, but he still wants a "rise," and no doubt will get it.

RAILWAY SURVEYORS.

The Railway surveyors of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, both from the east and west, are rapidly approaching Norwood, being only about seven or eight miles on each side of us. They are progressing slowly, but apparently are making good and sure work of the survey. Both parties are expected here by the end of the week. However, railway routes have been so frequently surveyed through here that our people feel rather perplexed about the railway itself, and would now like to see something more substantial than stakes and traverses. Probably this line, if it ever will be a line, will not be gobbled up by the Grand Trunk, as other lines surveyed through here have already been.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

The special services in the Methodist Church are still being carried on, and are nightly attended by a very large number of people. The services have done much good, and quite a number have been added to the church. On Sundays the congregations are so large that it is difficult to find sitting room for all who attend, notwithstanding the increased sitting accommodation of the church.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS.

For the past week or so rumors have been afloat upon our streets to the effect that Mr. S. J. Griffin was disposing of his stock-in-trade to different parties. Dame Rumor was correct in this instance, as several parties had made Mr. Griffin liberal offers to dispose of his business, but before the final execution of the necessary papers, the mattter was allowed to drop. At last, however, purchasers have been found in the persons of Messrs. A. W. Reynolds and R. Waters, the former another prosperous merchant of this village. Mr. Gould, our prince merchant, also made an offer to Mr. Griffin. Mr. Griffin has been very successful in his business career, and retires with the well-earned laurels of an honest and straightforward business man.

A SAD LOSS.

The Rev. Mr. Sanderson, of this village, on Sunday last lost a valuable horse, by inflammation of the bowels. It was only taken sick on Sunday morning and died about midnight. Mr. S. had only recently purchased the horse, which was a noble looking animal and a splendid driver, and was valued at about $250.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

On Saturday, the 4th instant, a rather "hard case" came up for hearing before Magistrates Drain and Breckenridge, the litigants being Joseph Wildman and Allan Monroe, both of Methuen. The former sued for balance of wages due him while in the employ of Monroe, who pleaded that he owed Wildman nothing, but that he (Wildman) was indebted to him about $10. A number of witnesses were sworn, but failed to throw any light upon the matter; in fact neither party was in a position to prove his case. The Magistrates, with the assistance of Mr. T. M. Grover, however, managed to ventilate the knotty question, and after the examination of some pass-books and time-books, kept by Monroe, a settlement was arrived at. Judgment was given in favor of Wildman for $20, the defendant also to pay the costs of the Court, which amounted to $9.85, a result, which, to judge by the dejected countenance of Monroe, was not by any means anticipated or relished.

BENSFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the close of the services of the Bensfort Union Sabbath Schools, on the 19th inst., Mr. T. W. McBain was made the recipient of two handsomely bound volumes of the Poets, viz, "Milton" and "Burns." The presentation was accompanied by a short but eloquent address by Mr. A. D. Galkway, to which Mr. McBain made a very appropriate response. During a period of nearly 30 years, Mr. McBain has labored most assiduously to advance the interests of the Sabbath School, occupying the position of teacher for a number of years, and for the last fifteen years, that of Superintendent, and by his perseverance in the work, has endeared himself to both teachers and scholars. Although his labors with us have terminated and we shall miss him very much, yet we have the assurance that his labors in the great work will be prosecuted with as much vigor and christian courtesy in his new home in the West as it was with us; and our prayer will be, may He who has been his guide in the past, be the support of himself and family in the future, and we trust, amidst his new surroundings, the Bensfort Union Sabbath School, may ever have a place in his heart and memory.

The government have abandoned for the present their intention to erect new provincial buildings, because the cost thereof would exceed $500,000

AN eloquent fact to show the people of Canada the effect of the sugar duties is that Mr. Peter Redpath has retired from the directorship of the Bank of Montreal, purchased Camden House, that famous retreat of deposed monarchs, in England—and goes there to spend the remainder of his days in luxurious ease on the millions taken from the people of Canada. The organs boast of "a free breakfast table." The only man we know of who has secured that happiness is Mr. Peter Redpath.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 16, 1882.

Parliamentary Precedure.

The new rules proposed for the management of business in the British House of Commons will test to the full the resisting power of the Opposition and the discipline of Mr. Gladstone's followers. It is already apparent that the cloture in the form proposed, is unpopular. The very word is supposed to have an arbitrary sound, yet everybody, even the most Conservative members, alarmed for freedom of speech, admit the necessity of some mode of closing debates which are kept open simply for purposes of obstruction. The conduct of the Irish Parliamentary party and a few other intractable members has of late become so intolerable, that there is a general demand that their powers of obstruction should be checked. Of course any such scheme as that proposed must be very carefully worded and have severe limitations, as the idea of suppressing a free and full debate or even protracted discussion in introducing new measures, would be inimical to the best interests of the country, and would meet with strong opposition. The clauses which have been more severely criticised are the first, fifth and tenth. It is said by the opposition that these rules are framed for the express purpose of enabling the Government to press forward and pass their own schemes of legislative reforms. Hence, it is argued, this gives a party the right to exercise coercial and arbitrary power and ought to be opposed to the death. Mr. Gladstone has an overmastering instinct which certainly drives him on to take things in hand and finish them, but undue advantage would hardly be taken of the rules to obstruct the free expression of opinion or check sensible discussion. Such a policy would only do their own party interests an irreparable injury in the end, and is not at all likely to be pursued.

It is no easy matter to explain exactly what is meant by the first rule. The right interpretation, however, appears to be, that the Speaker may stop any debate by a bare majority, if the minority consists of less than forty, and can also stop a debate in which the minority consists of any number provided that he is supported by a majority exceeding two hundred. The principal objection to this clause is that the Government for the time being, could by a bare majority silence the discussion of its measures. A speaker may at any time become a party officer, it is said, and then the tyrannical capabilities of such laws as this would be at once evoked. But relying on the impartiality and integrity of the speaker, there is no need to expect anything of the kind. What is proposed is the stoppage of all discussion and willful obstruction, and this would be affected through the adoption of this clause. We are quite certain there is no intention of muzzling a minority, or curtailing the rights of the opposition.

Of course the new rules of procedure are to be looked upon as simply an expedient to meet present difficulties—a dernier resort. If Home rule members are to be allowed to have their own way in considering Irish affairs, all remedial legislation in the present condition of affairs is impossible. Lord Randolph Churchill and his four followers could make it extremely difficult for the House to deal with the Bradlaugh difficulty. Government measures have now for ten sessions been crowded out owing to the tactics of the obstructionists. Two Irish members last year moved alternately for hours together, the adjournment of the House and the debate. Mr. Biggar outraged the House by reading four Blue-books entirely through for the sole purpose of wasting time. There are other individual members whose ingenuity or self-importance find irregular opportunities for making speeches and dividing the House on the most trivial questions. It is surely time that these scandalous proceedings which have disgraced the Commons for years past be summarily stopped, and the public business of the country which has for such a length of time been retarded, be carried on with dignity, decorum, and expedition. We append the fifth and tenth clauses of the rules both of which meet with more approval than the first:—

5. That Mr. Speaker, or the Chairman of a Committee, may call the attention of the House, or of the Committee, to continued irrelevance or tedious repetition on the part of a member; and may direct the member to discontinue his speech.

10. That if Mr. Speaker, or the Chairman of a Committee of the whole House, shall be of opinion that a motion for the adjournment of a debate, or of the House, during any debate, or that the Chairman do report progress, or do leave the chair, is made for the purpose of obstruction, he may forthwith put the question thereupon from the chair.

One excellent feature in these new rules which we have not yet noticed is that of adopting what is known as the Standing Committee system, now in vogue in France and in the United States. In Britain every measure relating to home trade, shipping, etc., is discussed by the Committee of the whole House of Commons. Instead of this, large standing committees of authorities on each of these and cognate subjects will be named, and the bills will be referred to them as they are in the United States and France Congress. The House will subsequently discuss and pass them on presentation of the various reports.

Unquestionably these measures will expedite the business of the House, and though they may meet with strong opposition, framed as they are to check deliberate factions and unjustifiable obstruction, to suppress unseemly and disgraceful disorder, and to further legislative reform, the good sense of the members will, we believe, in the end lead to their acceptance and subsequent enactment.

The Boundary Dispute.

The latest utterance of the Ontario Legislature on this important question will meet with a hearty response in every part of the Province. The Mowat Government asked the Legislative Assembly to affirm that "it has become the duty of "this Province to assume without further delay, the full government and ownership of this territory without reference to the claims of the Federal Government." This is no mere stump speech deliverance; it is not even an extract from a party speech made in the course of a Parliamentary debate. It is the solemn, deliberate, and well-considered resolution of the people's representatives in Parliament assembled, and it was affirmed by a vote of exactly two to one.

The adoption of such a resolution is the logical outcome of the reference to arbitration, and the manner in which the award of the arbitrators has been treated by the Dominion Parliament. The reference was made with the full consent and approval of the latter body, and as Parliament, like the king, never dies to refuse to ratify the award, was an act of reputation, pure and simple. To offer to renew the dispute in the form of litigation, was to add insult to injury, and the people of Ontario will heartily endorse Mr. Mowat's proposal, which is not meant to be a piece of bluff, but a serious act of state.

The Opposition in the Ontario Assembly had a difficult part to play when this motion was laid before the House, and therefore it would be ungenerous to treat them too harshly. They had to eat their their old votes as well as their old words. Like the Yankee politican, they had a sharp curve to take, but they took it, and now they must face the people and defend their most recent legislative act. The time for making their defence may come sooner than they desire, if their friends at Ottawa attempt to take time by the forelock and steal a march on their opponents. The Liberal party want no better question than this on which to go to the country at a general election, for either the Province or the Dominion.

Compared with the importance of this question to the people of Ontario, that of the fiscal policy of the Dominion, sinks into insignificance. A mistake in fiscal policy may be corrected any time as soon as the people discover and realize that a mistake has been committed, but if this territory awarded to Ontario is lost to her now, it is lost to her forever. And what does this mean? It means that millions on millions which would flow in her treasury, and indefinitely postpone the era of direct taxation, shall be diverted into other treasuries than hers. It means that Ontario shall rank third in area amongst the Provinces of the Dominion instead of first. It means that the people of Ontario shall submit to be snubbed and insulted at the will and beck of the Conservatives of Quebec, on whom more than on any other class, Sir John Macdonald depends for a return to power at the next election.

We need not stop now to discuss the mode in which this resolution of the Ontario Government is likely to operate. A very short time will suffice to render conjectures on the subject quite unnecessary. That there will be trouble we believe; that there will be bloodshed we have no fear. If there is trouble, however, not the Ontario Government, but the Dominion Government are to blame. Between them the people must judge, and if the latter force on a general election this summer, so much the better.

THE Dominion Government intends to issue $4 bills. Thus another forced loan, without interest, will be taken from the people. However, the bills will come in handy.

G. Hilliard, M. P.

Might we not gently remonstrate with the member for the West Riding, and remind him that the public is dissatisfied with the manner in which he is discharging his functions as a member of the House of Commons? The session is now some weeks old, and yet Mr. Hilliard has just taken his seat. This total disregard of his Parliamentary duties cannot prove satisfactory, and we, in our position as public journalists, must not suffer it to pass. If it were a Reform member who showed such remissness we would soon be reminded of it. We are willing to condone negligence of this kind when it arises from sickness or disease, though even then a lengthened absence causes much unpleasantness, and could be avoided by a resignation. But we do not consider a member can plead the exigencies of his private business, even though they may be great, as an excuse for neglecting public affairs. Mr. Hilliard was aware of his business engagements when he undertook his official duties as a member of Parliament, and when he found these varied interests conflicted in any way, the honest way would be to give up attempting to do what he finds impossible. In this country, members of Parliament have not only the honor of legislating for the nation, but are paid a pretty fair sum for doing their work. Can Mr. Hilliard honestly draw his allowance this session? Does he propose simply attending a sufficient number of days to enable him to do so? These are questions which demand attention. But of far greater importance is it that the West Riding of Peterborough be not unrepresented, and that a gentleman who has been elected by the votes of the people honestly fulfil his duty to his constituents, and to the best of his ability and judgment carry out the sacred trusts committed to him.

WE HOLD OUR OWN.

Resolutions, affirming Ontario's ownership of the territory witheld by the Dominion Government, were passed in the Ontario Assembly on Thursday last. The Government not only affirms ownership, but intends to take possession and keep it, unless driven away by some stronger power. Sir John Macdonald cannot bulldose the Government or the people of this Province. The following resolutions summarise the argument and show the temper of the Government:—

10 That as provisional arrangements to this effect have been ineffectually pressed on the Federal Government, it cannot be forgotten in deciding upon the future policy of the Province that the forbearance hitherto exercised in hope of an amicable settlement has been taken advantage of by the Federal authorities to destroy our timber, and complicate to our prejudice our relations with the territory; that the territory belongs to Ontario, and not to either the Dominion or Manitoba; that before Confederation it was claimed by successive Governments of the Province of Canada as belonging to Upper Canada; that after Confederation the same claim was made in official documents by Federal Ministers and otherwise, and was by them, on behalf of the Dominion, affirmed to be a clear title, such that "no impartial investigator of the evidence in the case could doubt it;" that inasmuch as the territory forms part of Ontario, it follows that the only legal Government which is possible in the territory is government by Ontario; that the only laws which are in force are the laws of Ontario; that the only grants of land which can convey a legal title are grants by this Province; that valid licenses for mining or for cutting timber can be issued by this province alone; and that all the Acts of the Federal Government in pretending to deal with lands, timber or mines, and all legislative and executive Acts of the Province of Manitoba with reference to the territory are illegal and of no force or validity. In view of these considerations, it has, in the opinion of this House, become the duty of this Province to assume, without further delay, the full government and ownership of the territory without reference to the claims of the Federal Government.

11. That this House is unwilling to believe that the Federal authorities are so determined to make the territory a prey to unsettled government and disputed jurisdiction, and so determined to "compel" this Province to abandon its just and awarded rights, that the Federal Government will offer forcible resistance to the laws and the constituted authorities of Ontario; but that, while collision with the Federal authorities is to be avoided, the stipendary magistrates and the other officers of this Province should be instructed to see that as far as possible our laws are enforced, peace and order preserved, and justice duly administered as in other parts of this Province, and that trespassers are not allowed to destroy the property of the Province; and if the authorities of this Province should, in the discharge of their constitutional functions, be resisted by Federal authority, the responsibility is to be left with the Federal authorities, and the remedy to the people which the Federal and Provincial authorities respectively represent.

WHAT TO STUDY.—Pope, the poetical philosopher said, "The proper study of mankind is man, and yet, how little is the real science of man studied. If people understood and heeded the laws of health, and if when out of sorts would resort to a common sense like Burdock Blood Bitters, many of the "ills that flesh is heir to" might be effectually remedied. THE BOUNDARY AWARD.

Hon. G. Fraser in Reply to Mr. Meredith in the House of Assembly.

Mr. Fraser, on rising, was greeted with loud cheers. He fancied, he said, there in House would have no difficulty in disposing of those resolutions. But after the position assumed by the hon. gentlemen opposite during the present session, he would not at all be surprised to see them voting a want of confidence in a Government which was insisting upon the rights of the Province. It occurred to him that in a House where the Government was sustained by so large a majority of the people's representatives, such a motion could only meet with contempt and indignant rejection. He congratulated the hon. gentleman on being able to embody his speech in his long resolutions and get them printed in the journals of the House at the public expense. (Laughter.) But he could not congratulate him on his ability or honesty in discussing the question before the House. The hon. gentleman had given as one reason for his propositions, that the award was nugatory from the start and entirely void, because it had not received the ratification of Parliament. The hon. gentleman must have known that, if he knew it at all, last session and the session before, yet what did they find him and all his followers voting for? So long as the Dominion Government had left the ratification or rejection of the award an open question, as it were, the hon. gentleman had voted in decisive terms. Had he said then that Ontario should give up its case? No; he was found voting in exactly the opposite direction. The award was made between the sessions of 1878 and 1879, and the Mackenzie Government went out of power very shortly afterward. Now, the want of a ratification of the award was as much a matter of fact then as now, yet his hon. friend did not see his way the first subsequent session of that House, any more than they did at Ottawa, to reject and repudiate this award. He would remind the House of the terms of the resolutions the hon. gentleman had voted for. After reciting the circumstances of the cases the first resolution went on to say:—"This House regrets"—the hon. gentleman did not regret it now.

Mr. Meredith—Oh, yes!

Mr. Fraser—It is a curious way to express regret then, to get up and attempt to justify everything that has been done at Ottawa. He would continue:—"That this House regrets that notwithstanding the joint and concurrent action of the respective Governments in the premises, and the unanimous award of the arbitrators, the Government of Canada has hitherto failed to recognise the validity of the award." The hon. gentleman says now it has no validity. He said then it had, and he voted he was sorry that such validity was not recognised by the Government at Ottawa. (Cheers.) The resolution further regretted that no legislation had been submitted to Parliament confirming the award. Did he still regret that the Government of Canada had not submitted a measure ratifying the award? On the contrary, his speeches in the country and his resolutions in the House exhibited a desire to justify the action of the Dominion authorities in not only refusing to ratify the award, but in introducing legislation to nullify the award. (Cheers.) His hon. friend said now that the Legislature ought to take steps to abandon the award, and to declare they were all wrong in the past. What did the hon. gentleman say on that subject in previous sessions, when he knew as much about the matter as he did now? He voted for another resolution, which declared that, "Nevertheless in the opinion of this House, it is the duty of the Government to take such steps as may be necessary for the due administration of justice in the northerly and westerly part of Ontario." (Cheers.) It was their duty, then, although the award was not ratified, or no disposal of the matter made at Ottawa, to proceed to administer justice in this territory. The resolution voted for by the hon. gentleman and his followers proceeded further to say:—"And this House believes it of the highest importance to the interests of this Province, and the securing the peace and good order of the southerly and westerly parts of Ontario as determined and declared by the award of the arbitrators appointed by the concurrent agreement of both Governments, that the award should be firmly maintained." What were they to maintain unless it was the jurisdiction over the territory in question? The hon. gentleman voted for that resolution, and assumed that position—a reluctant position, he admitted, yet he did vote, and there it was in black and white, that he who runs might read, and see who were there to defend the interests of Ontario and who were there to act as traitors to Ontario. (Cheers.) What further did the hon. gentleman vote for? "That this House will at all times give a cordial support to the just claims and rights of this Province, and to all necessary and proper measures to enforce such just claims and rights and to sustain the award of the arbitrators by which the northerly and westerly boundaries of Ontario were determined." The hon. gentleman was prepared to cast his record to the winds and say, "I put myself on record, yet I did not mean it; I do not want the people of Ontario to believe I voted right on these resolutions, but here are resolutions I will now pledge myself to—I will justify the action of the Dominion Government." As yet the Dominion Government had done nothing to indicate their intention in the matter, and the hon. gentleman was again asked to put himself on record, as leader of the Opposition, and he and his followers without exception voted for the following resolution:—"That this House deeply regrets that notwithstanding the unanimous award of the 12th August, 1878, no legislation has been submitted by the Government of the Dominion to the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of confirming the award, nor has the validity of the award yet been recognized by the Dominion Government." Why did the hon. gentleman vote to have the Dominion Government censured if he thought there was no validity in the award, and that these distinguished arbitrators had merely met for amusement sake, and if he thought the award was a mere figment of the imagination? The hon. gentleman voted yea to another resolution declaring the territory in question to be part and parcel of Ontario.

Mr. Meredith—Hear, hear.

Mr. Fraser said the hon. gentleman said "hear, hear," yet he proposed that in the territory which he says belongs to Ontario, Manitoba shall come in and administer the claims. They were asked by the hon. gentleman, for fear they might arouse sectional feelings, or of doing something detrimental to the interests of the Dominion, to say that Manitoba shall come in and take possession of 30,000 square miles of territory belonging to Ontario, to do with it as she pleases, and to preserve order in it if she can. Not only that, but that meanwhile the Dominion, as representing Manitoba in this matter, shall deal with our rights and deprive Ontario of her mines as well as of her timber and forests in that part of the Province; and the hon. gentleman told them it was all right, and they ought to wait for a decision from the Imperial Privy Council. The hon. gentleman voted still further for another resolution—that was prior to the Convention which assembled in Toronto—declaring that it was the duty of the Government to assert the just rights of Ontario in the northerly and westerly portions of the Province, as determined by the award. So that the hon. gentleman had placed himself upon record, and he could not escape, and it would be for the people to say whether his first or his last assertions were most honest and proper. He so far agreed with the hon. gentleman, that as a strict matter of law the Dominion Government had no right to interfere with the boundaries of Ontario without Ontario's consent, and it was well for Ontario that it was so. If the Dominion could take our territory against our wishes they might have given up the contest long since as a fruitless one. He thought he could appeal to the record at Ottawa to show that the Federal authorities had determined to establish the westerly line of Ontario east of Prince Arthur's Landing, although they had not the legal right to do so. He declared that the Dominion Government had done everything within their power to make it impossible for us to get any territory west of the line alleged was the westerly boundary of Ontario. He believed from the very outset this whole matter had been a settled and determined plan to degrade the Province of Ontario to the position of a third-rate Province. (Cheers.) The award ought to be ratified by the assent of Parliament in good faith and by every moral principle governing nations. The hon. gentleman said that because there was no prior legislation at Ottawa confirming the award, the Dominion Parliament were justified in rejecting it after it was made, and he cited the action of the Reform party on the Pacific Railway contract in support. The hon. member was unfortunate in his reference. During the same session ratifying that contract, the Bill taking away Ontario's territory was passed. (Cheers.) But as regards the Syndicate contract, was Parliament told they were at liberty to reject that contract? No; the whole strength and influence of the leaders of hon. gentlemen opposite were directed towards its confirmation. That had to be confirmed before anything else was done. There was another contract which remained to be confirmed—a contract affecting the boundaries of the Province of Ontario. But there was not a word of that. Not till after that Legislature had risen, and its voice raised in protest could not be heard, was the Act introduced on the last day of the session, passed rejecting this Boundary Award, and by giving Manitoba such boundaries on the east as decided in effect the award to be wasted paper. (Cheers.) The contract could be ratified by Parliament, but justice to Ontario could not be done because these controlling affairs at Ottawa said: "Oh, Ontario is land hungry and wants too much; the Government of Ontario must be brought to its senses," and when the award was determined, as they intended to determine it with reference to Manitoba, she would, it was thought, come to her senses and give up the contest. The leader of the Dominion Government told the people of Prince Arthur's Landing, and was so reported in Hansard, that they need no longer regard the jurisdiction of Ontario, as its laws should not be in force there. Yet a member has sat in that Legislature since Confederation representing Prince Arthur's Landing—the very man, too, who was afterwards chairman of the Boundary Committee at Ottawa—representing part of the very territory they were endeavoring to take from us. (Cheers.) Bearing in mind that he was showing the intention of the Government at Ottawa he had two maps issued by the Department of Interior at Ottawa. The first was issued on 1st November, 1878, after the present Administration came into power.

Mr. Meredith—Do you think that was prepared in a day?

Mr. Fraser—Does the hon. gentleman suggest that it was prepared by the Mackenzie Administration?

Mr. Meredith—Yes.

Mr. Fraser—I am glad he does, because if it was issued by Mr. Mackenzie it proves that the Mackenzie Administration was prepared to ratify the award, for it gives the boundaries of Ontario precisely as set out in the award. (Loud and prolonged cheers.) Shortly after the existence of that map became known to the new Administration at Ottawa it was withdrawn from circulation, showing that even then the present Dominion Government were prepared to repudiate the award. The second map which he produced, issued in June, 1881, showed the boundaries of Ontario brought down to east of Prince Arthur's Landing. (Cheers.) That was after the passage of the Manitoba Act, and showed the intention as to the effect of that Act. There was another testimony of the preconceived plan of the Dominion Government already referred to. Mr. Dawson said before the Boundary Committee of the Commissioners that Quebec never would have entered Confederation if she had reason to believe Ontario was going to get so much additional territory. What did they find in the second session? Still no action taken, but a Committee was appointed to revise the award at the instance of a gentleman, who, while in that House, had voted that the award gave to Ontario no more than her just rights, and yet, when he made his speech in the House on the subject, he prejudged the whole case and avowed himself as adverse to the award, which he said could not be sustained. There was a settled intention not to do right by Ontario. The Committee was appointed at the instance of a man who was not only prejudiced but had a direct interest, who said he wanted a third Province, and he happened, wanted to set up a small kingdom in it. It was evident that they had a settled intention not to ratify the award when they appointed as Chairman of a Committee, which was to enquire into the matter in a judicial spirit, a man whose judgement on the case was already formed, and against Ontario. (Cheers.) What justice could they expect from a Government which issued that map of June, 1881? In discussing this matter it was not to be forgotten that Ontario had a stronger claim than ever to the award. Prior to Confederation Upper Canada was possessed of 7,000 square miles of territory lying west of Prince Arthur's Landing, had established government there, and issued patents. Yet the Dominion Government said:—"we are going to take that 7,000 miles from you." He said if it had never been denied that Ontario's boundary did not extend farther west than Prince Arthur's Landing, that the Government should have said, "That portion of the territory has been in your possession since and before Confederation; you have established your right to it beyond all question." But no, they said, "You shall not have one inch of that territory beyond what the law allows you, although you have been in possession of that territory for forty years." (Cheers.) He put it as beyond question that if hon. gentlemen opposite had said to their leaders, as they might have said:—"We will not allow outside influences to take away from Ontario one single acre of her territory; we will allow no Province to step in and administer laws in that territory which are the laws of Ontario; we will not allow the influence of affairs at Ottawa to be brought to bear, and we ask you, our leaders, to see that we get our rights." If the leaders at Ottawa had seen that the gentlemen in House were in earnest there would have been no difficulty about the award. If there was treason to Ontario's interests the treason would be found to be among those who failed to recognise their rights, and thought that some capital would be made out of it. If Ontario could only be preserved by giving up one-half of her territory she would not be justified in staying in the Confederation. (Cheers.) These men were traitors to the Dominion who were traitors to the interests of any one Province in it because of the fear of any sectional cry. The greatest treason came to this Province from men who took the position that the Dominion could with impunity step in and do with our territory as it pleased. (Loud cheers.)

THE CENSUS RETURNS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

We devote considerable space to-day to the census returns laid on the table of the House of Commons by Mr. Pope yesterday. We also give in parallel lines the figures of 1871, by which the growth in population in each locality may be seen at a glance. At the time the census was taken we pointed out the manifest absurdity of the system adopted, but the reason why it was adopted was only too evident. Like every action of this Ministry, where Ontario is concerned, the census was made an instrument to lessen the importance of the province. At the same time it was used to magnify the Province of Quebec. Ontario must be kept down seems to be the motto of the government. Thus the de jure fraud was put in operation whereby all the French Canadians who have left the country and settled in the United States were counted in as part of the population of Quebec. It would never do to let it be known that the stronghold of Toryism was deteriorating, and Ontario, the home of Liberalism, progressing. This was the more desirable from a Tory point of view, inasmuch as the next Parliamentary representation would be based on the growth of the population, and the dominance of Quebec must be maintained at any cost. So this precious humbug of a census was gravely taken. Quebec was shown to have increased in the same ratio as Ontario—a fraud so patent that we wonder any one can keep his countenance while contemplating it. In this way Ontario and the Maritime Provinces have been deprived of their just representation, and the status quo of Quebec beautifully maintained. But so thoroughly are we convinced of the falsehood and trickery resorted to in the management of the census that we would place no reliance on any return emanating from the Department of Statistics as it is at present conducted.

A WONDERFUL SUBSTANCE.

The Chicago Western Catholic says:—"It is endorsed by Bishop Gilmour, of Cleveland, Ohio, and by some of our most honored and respected priests throughout the country who have used it for rheumatics with success where all other remedies failed. We refer here to St. Jacobs Oil. We know of several persons in our own circle who were suffering with that dreadful disease, rheumatism, who tried everything and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine which proved of no benefit. We advised them to take St. Jacobs Oil. Some of them laughed at us for faith in the "patent stuff," they choose to call it. However, we induced them to give it a trial, and it accomplished its work with such a magic-like rapidity that the same people are now its strongest advocates, and will not be without in their houses on any account.

Mr. Joel D. Harvey, U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue, of this city, has spent over two thousand dollars on medicine on his wife, who was suffering dreadfully from rheumatism, and without deriving any benefit whatever; yet two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil accomplished what the most skillful medical men failed in doing. We could give the names of hundreds who have been cured by this wonderful remedy, did space permit us. The latest man who has been made happy through the use of this valuable liniment is Mr. James A. Conlan, librarian of the Union Catholic Library of this city. The following is Mr. Conlan's indorsement:

UNION CATHOLIC LIBRARY ASSOCIATION
CHICAGO, Sep. 16, 1880.

I wish to add my testimony as to the merits of St. Jacobs Oil as a cure for rheumatism. One bottle has cured me of this troublesome disease, which gave me a great deal of bother for a long time; but thanks to the remedy, I am cured. This statement is unsolicited by any one in its interest. Very respectfully,

JAMES A. CONLAN, Librarian.

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 16, 1882.

The Session at Ottawa.

The Dominion Parliament has now been in session for over four weeks and notwithstanding the flourish of trumpets with which it was opened, it has as yet done very little in the way of work. In the Senate a few unopposed bills of no particular public interest have been passed through some of their stages, and one Government bill has been introduced in the House of Commons only, it is alleged, to be allowed to fall through later on in the session. This is a bill to make some alterations in the classification and salaries of civil servants, a questionable measure of reform, but not introduced in earnest even such as it is. Tilley, in making his budget speech, availed himself of the chance to deliver an intensely partisan electioneering harangue and by doing so provoked what promises to be an unusually long budget debate.

The House of Commons has never yet gone into Committee of Supply except ones and that only as a matter of form. All the appropriations have yet to be passed upon and discussed. A bill to rearrange the constituencies of Ontario and make constituencies for four new members has to be passed. The impression prevails generally that under cover of the bill increasing Ontario's representation many unnecessary alterations will be attempted with a view to making certain seats more secure for supporters of the Government. If this should be the character of the measure, it will naturally provoke long and bitter discussion. The other Government measures promised in the speech from the Throne are all held still in obeyance though some of them, if they are introduced at all, must cause both discussion and loss of time.

The Dominion Government and their organs cannot plead that this delay in public business is due to either opposition obstruction or opposition long-windedness, for there has been unusually little debate so far, and what little there has been, outside of the budget, has been caused quite as much by supporters as by opponents of the Government. Sir John has a majority of nearly 90 in the House of Commons and is perfectly supreme. On him and his colleagues must rest the sole responsibility of the delay and of the consequent confusion and pressure of business which is sure to take place towards the close of the session. The contrast in this respect between the Mackenzie administration at Ottawa and the Mowat administration at Toronto is a most instructive one for the county to contemplate.

Dr. Lamson whose trial has been causing considerable excitement in England, has been found guilty of murdering his brother-in-law and sentenced to death.

Progress.

The history of this town, and indeed of every town in Canada, is that its progress and the developement of its natural advantages depend on the energy and public spirit of the people who settle or found it, and the consequence of supreme selfishness can no where be better seen than in the progress or deadness of centres of population—our towns and cities. We have sometimes taken a retrospect of our own rises and declines, and the lack of effort that has existed to protect ourselves against the latter. Too many of our citizens are satisfied with grumbling and fault-finding that we have no large establishments for supplying employment to the mechanic and laborer, and thus retain them here instead of their being forced to go elsewhere to secure the labor that might be obtained at home. We have been hearing of our natural advantages, our immense water-power, our prosperous surroundings; and the eloquence and the descriptive powers of many of our even chronic grumblers would almost lead us to believe that in these consisted absolute and certain assurances that Peterborough must be a great city yet. But what avail our grand water privileges, almost beyond comparison, if human energy and skill and wealth be not invoked to develop them and make them subservient to us?

Then, too, we have been waiting for capital to come in and do for us what we fail to do or are unwilling to undertake for ourselves. Does a good business man wait till some one comes to town to show him how and when and where and in what line he is to launch out for himself? or does he not rather make the venture, shall we say, and depend, not on luck, but on energy, carefulness, watchfulness and increasing experience to guarantee success? Did the men who years ago came to this town, without a superabundance of this world's goods, but who are now wealthy—did they waste their time on street-corners and in pot-houses till their bones became sore rubbing against walls, and their heads light over the giddy-making bowl, grumbling that there was no work, no employers, and nothing but starvation to fear? We trow not. The wealth-producer is he who makes his labour or his skill turn everything he touches into gold; and who is not hanging around waiting for opportunities. He at once makes opportunities; or, when others make them, is not too lazy to avail himself of them.

If we could this day calculate the amount of wages paid weekly in Peterborough to our artizans and laborers, we would be astonished to find that it exceeds the capital invested in any business in town—perhaps, exceeds the capital invested in the combined business of our town; and when our working classes are fully employed those who try to turn their labor to profit, with their pay coming in every Saturday night, we hear nothing of hard times.

Our population must, forever, consist largely of working men and women. They, indeed, are the bone and sinew of every country, and every wisely directed enterprise that contemplates steady employment for these adds to our progress, happiness and prosperity. The payment of $10,000 to $20,000 a year of extra wages just means $10,000 or $20,000 a year more to the trade of our merchants and traders, and it means also increased tax-paying power, extended trade facilities and future greatness.

In even the best directed undertaking some will get rich, while others will remain poor. All cannot hope to be equally successful. But money made in most enterprises is used to carry on the work in times of financial pressure, and becomes a source of support to the improvident during hard times. We should be ready to encourage every enterprise that will employ labor, and men who are willing to risk their capital, their skill and industry to promote our progress should not be lightly turned aside from their projects. Every individual cannot be ensured of making money without toiling to make it, or when earned have not enough prudence to take care of it, instead of squandering it. The wealthy cannot do without labor, nor can the laborer be independent of the wealthy. Their interests are mutual, and just now no spirit of jealousy or extreme selfishness should prevent us doing what we can to encourage enterprises that are calculated to benefit both parties, but more especially the workingman.

We may return to this subject another time, but for the present we would ask our citizens to consider well—and encourage if possible—every effort to increase facilities for employment of the working classes. In doing so we are adding to our own wealth; we are providing against want by affording opportunities to earn an honest living, and we are opening up channels that, if properly used, are sure to increase the comforts and to remove the evils of idleness from us.

Editorial Notes.

THE ELECTIONS.—Monday's Ottawa Herald, a conservative organ, states that there is every probability that the general election will take place next summer. It is worthy of note that this is the first time any such announcement has been made by a journal on the ministerial side.

HERE are the names of those who compose Sir John's favoured Syndicate and the amounts subscribed by each: George Stephen, who subscribed $500,000; Duncan McIntyre, $600,000; J. S. Kennedy & Co., New York, $500,000; J. J. Hill, St. Paul, $500,000, R. B. Angus, $500,000; D. A. Smith, $500,000; H. S. Northcote, $186,000; Morton, Rosse & Co., $741,000. The Frankfort interest is $122,500; the London interest, $225,000; the Paris interest, $745,000, making a total subscribed capital of $6,100,000, upon which 20 per cent. has been paid.

AN extensive fire which broke out in McEanary & Curran's Grocery store on Main street, Winnipeg, owing to a defective flue, early on the morning of the 13th inst, destroyed property to the amount of fully $100,000. Owing to the defective fire appliances and reprehensible dilatoriness of the firemen, a blaze, which might have been extinguished in a few minutes, extended so rapidly that the results were most disastrous. Ten stores were entirely destroyed before the flames were stayed by the brick walls of the Bank of Montreal on the north side, and a gap, created by the removal of some frame houses, on the south. Urged by the fear of a total destruction of the city, at some future time, the council has passed stringent fire by-laws. It is reported that the street water tanks, which were the only source of supply, were frozen, thus rendering them temporarily useless. The buildings destroyed were all frame, and will doubtless be replaced by brick edifices, and a by-law will probably be passed prohibiting the erection of any more frame buildings within the city limits.

POSTAL MATTERS.

The report of the Postmaster-General for the year ending 30th of June, 1881 is a very interesting and suggestive document. It contains a vast amount of information in reference to the working of the post office, and indicates very clearly that though there is still a large deficiency there is good return given for all the extra outlay, while there is really no reason why the post office should not be made a self-supporting institution, not only without any increase of the charges but positively by having the rate of postage reduced. We have had the curiosity to compare the present report with that of the Postmaster-General for the year end-on the day before the Confederation of Canada was inaugurated, viz: the 30th of June, 1867, and the following items taken almost at random are as notable as they are encouraging.

The number of post offices in old Canada in operation on the 1st of July, 1867, was 2,333. The number in Ontario alone on the 1st November, 1881, was 2,493, or 160 more, while in the whole of Canada at the latest date the number was 5,935. In 1851 the number of such offices was only 601. In 1867, at the date already mentioned, the number of miles of postal route was 18,100. In 1881, it had risen 41,681¼, while the number of miles actually travelled rose in these 14 years from 7,840,000 to 17,068,241. The number of letters in 1867 was 14,200,000, and in 1881, 48,170,000; while in addition there were in 1881, 9,640,000 postal cards, of which in the former year there were none, and the registered letters had risen from 600,000 to 2,253,000. There were besides carried in 1881, the following items which had nothing corresponding in 1867: free letters, 1,838,000; newspapers from the office of publication, 4,745,452 lbs. weight were forwarded and nearly six millions of copies besides from other quarters. Besides there were six millions of books, packets, and miscellaneous articles, and 331,500 parcels by parcel post. The postal revenue for Ontario alone in 1881 was $1,049,882,42, while for both Ontario and Quebec it was in 1867 only $914,783.

The total revenue for 1881 was $1,767,-162. The expenditure for Ontario in 1881 was $1,144,221, or a deficiency of little more than $100,000, while the total expenditure of the two Provinces in 1867, was only $924,319.

The money order business has also increased in a most marvellous manner.

CLOSE OF THE SESSION.

The Ontario Legislature completed the Third Session of the Fourth Parliament on Friday last. Eighty-eight bills were assented to by the Lieutenant-Governor. The amount of business transacted is the best answer to those who believe that Provincial Legislatures are not a necessity.

The Government has found it necessary to take firm ground in the defence of Provincial rights and privileges. The Streams Bill, clearly within the jurisdiction of the Legislature, had been disallowed by the Government at Ottawa, and the Ontario Legislature re-enacted it as a protest against the doctrine that the Federal Government can decide upon the quality of a Provincial Act. The Boundary question was a fertile topic of debate, and the position taken by Mr. Mowat and the majority of the House is one that will be approved by the people of the Province. Encouraged by the beneficial results of the labors of the Agricultural Commission, the Legislature has made provision for the collection of statistics with regard to the production, etc., of the Province, which will be found useful, not only to inhabitants of Ontario, but to statisticians whose work covers a wider field. The foundation of the statistical bureau and the legislation with regard to the public health will be appreciated by the masses. The Act for enabling Agnostics to affirm in the courts will be regarded differently by the different classes of the people. A measure of relief has been afforded to sheriffs, though it may be doubtful if consideration of the subject will close at this point.

The Market Fees' Bill provides that after 1st April next, no market fee shall be charged upon cereals, wool, wood, dressed hogs, cheese, or fodder that may be brought on a market place; nor upon butter, eggs or poultry unless a proper market place be provided to afford shelter and protection from cold. No fee is to be charged on any kind of produce taken directly to the place of delivery, nor upon any produce brought in after 10 a. m. No person is to be compelled to stay on the market after 9 a. m., between the 1st of April and the 1st of November, or after 10 a. m. during the other months. The full text of this bill was published in the EXAMINER of last week.

The Mechanics' Lien Law, it is hoped, will be an improvement upon the old one, which was very easily evaded. A great many villages and towns required waterworks, and the general Act, under which arrangements can be made for this purpose without going to the Legislature for special powers, will prove advantageous. Of railway charters, the most important are those authorizing new lines between Toronto and Hamilton, and from London to Lake Erie. Although the work of the session has been well and expeditiously performed. It is noticeable that the financial statement was so correct as to admit of no criticism, and nothing was found wrong or out of place in the public accounts. Ontario is well served by the Mowat Administration. Among the bills that are passed, the following are of general interest to the people of this district:—

An Act to consolidate the Toronto and Nipissing Railway Company, the Whitby, Port Perry and Lindsay Railway Company, the Victoria Railway Company, the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, and the Midland Railway of Canada.

An Act respecting the Galting Gold and Silver Mining Company.

An Act to enable the corporation of the town of Port Hope to incur liability for the construction and extension of water-works, and for other purposes.

An Act to establish and confirm certain astronomical bearings as the true course of side lines in the township of Harvey.

An Act to amend the Act incorporating the Midland Land Company.

An Act respecting the Midland Railway of Canada.

An Act to provide for the crossing of railways by streets, drains and water mains.

An Act to amend the law of newspaper libel.

Ad Act to amend the Agriculture and Arts' Act.

An Act to provide for the construction of water-works by cities, towns and villages.

An Act to amend the Act respecting the rights and liabilities of innkeepers.

An Act respecting the sale of land in Algoma for Government taxes.

An Act to establish a Bureau of Industries.

An Act respecting market fees.

An Act for the removal of certain defects in the law of evidence.

An Act to provide for the establishment of free libraries.

An Act to amend the Jurors' Act, and the Jurors' Act of 1879.

An Act to make further provision for the construction of drainage work by municipalities.

An Act to establish a Provincial Board of Health, and to give increased power to local Boards of Health.

An Act to make further provision respecting the lien of mechanics and labourers.

An Act to extend the power of companies for supplying cities, towns and villages with gas and water.

An Act to amend the Municipal Act.

An Act to amend the Assessment Act.

MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Please permit me a few words in reply to the third draft friend Johnston has made on his imagination in regard to this question. I hope that he will now,

"In mercy spare
A fourth, alas, were more than we could bear."

It is not my intention to trouble you any more on this subject. "Ephraim is wedded to his idols." Wisdom says, "let him alone." It is worse than folly to indulge him in his folly, by answering him according to his folly, or waste time contending with a man who will not "render a reason."

I will now simply point out and correct a few of the many misrepresentations he has indulged in from the commencement.

First, he says it was not organized by the Grange, nor has it the sanction of the Grange order. We do not claim that it is, nor is it our desire to have it a purely Grange institution.

But I did say, and now repeat, that it was organized by leading members of the Dominion Grange, and that it was sanctioned by that body at the session of 1881, and here is the proof from the executive report, as adopted at that session:

CANADIAN MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION.

Feeling that charity and mutual assistance is one of the characteristics of our Order, a number of our leading members have formed an association called the "Canadian Mutual Aid Association," whereby members can secure at their death a competency for their widows and orphans. Mr. Wm. Rennie is President; W. Pemberton Page, Secretary; and S. W. Hill, General Manager of the Association.

Ex-Committee Dominion Grange 1880:

JAMES ROBINSON, Master of Provincial Grange.

A. GIFFORD, present Master of Dominion Grange, and President Fire Insurance Association.

J. B. AYLESWORTH, member of the Ontario Agricultural Commission.

At the session of 1882, held in Toronto three weeks ago, an able discussion on the Mutual Aid took place, in which the following members took part:—E. H. Hilborn, J. S. McLeod, R. J. Doyle, E. Cameron, J. Trull, R. McMordie, J. P. Ball, A. Gifford, J. Robinson, W. P. Page, W. B. Harris, A. J. Hughes. The delegates were all present during the discussion. The following reference to it is from the published proceedings of Dominion Grange in the columns of the Canadian Farmer, 22nd ult.:—

Upon the adoption of the report of Committee on Insurance, a discussion arose concerning the Mutual Aid Association, the unanimous expression being in support of the Association. The following resolution was adopted:—

Moved by Bro. R. Cameron, Co. of Elgin, seconded by T. S. McCleod, Co. of Simcoe, and resolved,—That the Dominion Grange in session assembled has learned with pleasure of the success of the Mutual Aid Association, and having confidence of the men who are now managers of the Mutual Aid, we therefore recommend it to the favorable consideration of our members. Carried unanimously.

And, sir, this is not the only Mutual Aid Association that has been brought into existence by the Grange order, for every State of the Union, with one single exception, has a similar organization working satisfactorily under the auspices of their respective State Granges. And in those States where applications are accepted only from members of the order, hundreds are joining for the sole purpose of becoming members of these institutions.

And although in our Association the first division is not yet full, still there is not a member whose beneficiaries would not receive within a month, in case of his death at this moment, an hundred times more than it cost.

I did think that it would not be necessary to refer to those bonds again, but I find stubborn nature so determined to bespatter and befoul those bonds and their authors, that I will here give another word of explanation. After the bonds were deposited with the Government it was found that under the Act of incorporation it was doubtful that the Government should act as custodian of the bonds, therefor, as Treasurer of the Province, the Hon. S. C. Wood returned them to the President; but as S. C. Wood, he offered to act as trustee for the Association, and at once received them back.

Then he says we are not a legal institution and are not doing a legal business, and in another part of his letter he says so far as incorporation goes we are on the same footing as other institutions of the Grange. Is not this a little mixed? Now, sir, we are a legal and responsible institution, and under no pretext will we attempt to shirk our responsibility according to the terms and conditions of our agreement with members.

Mr. J. calls upon the public to judge for themselves—exactly, the verdict of the disinterested public is just what we want, experience has taught us that all such appeals has worked for us a lasting good. The intelligent, unbiased public already pretty well understand the crocodile tears that suffuses the face of our new found philanthropist. I notice a correspondent of one of our local papers who signs himself "Merchant," and who for the last two months has been endeavoring to demolish the Grange with "paper bullets of his brain," at first patted him on the back, and encouraged him on, but finding it all gas and no light, he at once shrewdly decided to thrust him aside, and, I must say, in a rather unceremonious manner, which clearly proves that the disinterested public have no sympathy with him in his desperate onslaught upon the Association. Now, as to his criticism of Mr. Menzies' letter, I need make no comment, but would ask you to compare Mr. J's last letter with Mr. Menzies' fair and candid statement as published in your issue of the 9th ult., and draw your own inference, as to his insinuations regarding my honesty in this matter. I have to say that, of course, I am anxious to see the Mutual Aid prosper, and what I have said are my honest convictions honestly expressed regardless of the frown or smile of those who would hound it to destruction. It is evident, however, that both he and the cat in his case have already burned their paws, and have not yet succeeded in saving their own delectable morsels from the fire of public opinion; and as it is likely their friends, for the next twelve monts, will prescribe many nostrums for the healing of the blister, I, as probably his best friend, would advise an early application of St. Jacobs' Oil.

And now on looking over all that he has said, what has Mr. Johnston accomplished that should make him so anxious to rush into print? He reminds me of the would-be soldier, who was very anxious to get a sword and go to battle with his friends, but they, not having as high an opinion of his ability—he was ordered to stay at home, but imagining there was nothing he could not do, he determined to make a sword for himself and follow to the war and show his country what a hero he was. Accordingly he went to work hammering on a piece of iron, but could not put it into the desired shape. When he saw it was spoiled for a sword, he said: well, I may yet make a shovel of it, and so he hammered away at the heated iron for another hour, but it would not take the shape he wanted. In disgust, he then plunged it into a tub of water, saying: well, if it would make neither a sword nor a shovel, one thing it has done, it has made a hiss.

Thanking you for so much space in your columns,

I am, Yours,
HUGH DAVSIDON.

CAR WORKS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—The letter appearing in the Daily Review of March the 4th, over the signature of "X.," will no doubt have been read by many with interest, and I conclude with sympathy, as nothing has appeared since except the remarks thereon from the Editor of the Review, regretting the writer in question had not waited to read the provisions of the By-law. As the By-law has, out of consideration of economy, only been published in the Peterborough Times, I think a good many will be ignorant of the same, and I question the wisdom of our economical Council on that score.

I have expressed my views on the question of bonus in the columns of the Peterborough Review some 15 or 16 years ago, when the question of bonus came up for the Auburn Woollen Mills, as wrong in principle, and nothing has changed my mind since. The By-law passed by the Council and sanctioned by the Legislature some years ago, voting $40,000 for encouraging manufactures, is an Act which ought to be rescinded.

I am as much in favor as any one of promoting the interests of the town. I will never give my vote for a bonus, or embroil the town in a speculation of taking stock. When the project of starting car works came to be considered, the taking of stock by the town was proposed, and why? Because the bonus question has failed so many times to receive the support of the ratepayers. Then this scheme of stock-taking was proposed, as having a more enticing look and an expectation of dividends, which I doubt very much will ever be realised, as there would be this and that improvement wanted; or, a depression in trade may set in, and a willing Council will be found, no doubt, to relieve the car works company by handing over to them the $20,000 worth of stock held by the town, to enable the Company to go on with the work. So that the taking of stock or giving a bonus amounts to the same. Some will probably say the stockholders are all wealthy men; but let it not be forgotten their liabilities are only for the amount subscribed, and no more, and all their wealth would not relieve their creditors. As I have said before, I am in favor of aiding such enterprises, and a better plan could be devised by the town buying grounds and giving a free lease to the company for so long as such works are in operation, and exempt them from taxation, except such buildings as are erected for workmen. My views, whether shared by many or not, I will maintain on principle. By what more right has any company to ask for a bonus from the town than myself or any other manufacturer? Are there not many establishments which have struggled to maintain their position and build up the town, and what aid got they? I never asked anything from the town, but to show how different the Council is acting: being asked to consider a store being unoccupied for 11 months, the answer was: "It cannot be entertained." And the same Council want to put their hands into my pocket to give $20,000 to a wealthy company. Surely this is fulfilling the Scripture with a will—"To him who has will be given, that he shall have plenty." This we see of daily occurrence. I am sorry to see men in the Council who are willing to give any amount for the encouragement of manufactories; but, very little comes out of their pockets. As an illustration other places are often cited for giving bonuses. Well, I think it improbable that if a set of Councillors from a certain place would hang themselves our Councillors would be ready to do the same. I would not like Peterborough to be in the same financial position that either Lindsay or Cobourg is in. They burdened themselves with debt by giving bonuses. I maintain if any enterprise on a small scale can prosper, a company, on a large scale and with capital, by good management can prosper better; and without good management and economy any amount of bonuses will not make it successful. Yours truly,

W. LECH.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I have been not a little surprised that the action of our Town Council, our City Fathers, our natural protectors, the public guardians, &c., &c.; at the last meeting in February, should have been so lightly passed over. They will sometimes stick and higgle for a whole night over the expenditures of a few dollars, and yet on the night in question, when they had a strange medley of business before them, business pregnant with argument against their contemplated action. For instance, they had several applications for remission of taxes; another was the application of Mrs. J. Dugan, praying for the influence of the Council, in obtaining the release of her husband from the Central Prison. This prayer was granted, that the town might not be burdened with the support of his wife and family, though he had been sent to prison for the commission of a foul crime, committed under the influence of drink. Next came the tavern license question, and with the foregoing reminders before them, they deliberately voted away $1100, a sum nearly equal to the interest on the proposed bonus of $20,000 to the Car Works, at (6%) six per cent. And yet strange as it may seem, the economists of our Council voted down the motion, placing the licenses at $200, instead of $160, and our Mayor, as will be seen by consulting the minutes of that meeting, voted with those opposed to the motion, thereby defeating the amendment to the report and thus reversing by his vote the action of the Council, the vote standing six for the motion amendment and five for the report of the License Committee before the Mayor voted.

But I am afraid I am trespassing too much on your space. More anon.

What we Value

The reputation of keeping reliable goods.
The name of fair and honourable dealers.
The character of always doing what we promise.
And the paying patronage of a satisfied public.

WHAT THE PUBLIC VALUE

In the supply of their wants at the very lowest cost. This is commendable and the endeavour to meet the demand is the mainspring of our business. From the inception of our trade we were THE FIRST who adopted the basis of selling for cash. The amount of our sales has shown most decidedly that this line of dealing has been appreciated. Another lever in lifting our trade into prominence has been our buying our goods in LARGE LOTS, not by the piece. This in addition to our invariable practice of constantly receiving goods, instead of at two seasons of the year, gives the public a constant opportunity to get what is fresh, what is fashionable, and what must be the best value. Our standing in the markets has an effect in the direction of decent legitimate trade that the public value.

We believe in giving a good article, putting the price at a thoroughly reasonable living profit, and then stamping the article with our recommendation.

We have experience as to what goods to buy and where to procure them, both to our own and to our customers advantage.

We employ so many hands that orders are filled with a promptitude that is gratifying to customers.

We consider that our facilities for handling and showing goods are such as to distance all competitors. We have many assurances to this effect.

Our prices are invariably the same, one to all buyers. In the case of large buyers we shall be happy to allow a liberal discount in keeping with the extent of the order. This is what we have been doing and shall continue to do during the coming season.

All goods marked in plain selling figures and children can buy from our counters at the same prices as the keenest bargainer may look for.

Come and see us, examine our goods and prices, and be convinced of our merits.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

THE CHARGE OF THE HEAVY BRIGADE.

BY A. TREFLER.

"A Trifler" sends us the following, "after Tennyson";—

I.

Up the hill! up the hill! trampin' and crushin'
Many a son-of-a-gun of a Russian!—
See how they charge on them—brave Enniskillens!
Hackin' and hewin' the Muscovite "willin'"—
See how they fill the grey host with amaze,
Stickin' their swords in them—bully old Greys!
Every man-Jack in each separate troop,
(a la Circus performers, you know) crying "hoop-a-la!"
Waving in fury their sabres, all bare,
While their tails cocked aloft in the air,
And their legs to their knees all bespattered with blood,
Keep trampling the Muscovite down in the mud—
Ah! bet your small pile, but there's many a varlet
Who curses the day when he met Jimmy Scarlett!
Up the hill! up the hill! nowise dismayed,
Scampered and galloped the Heavy Brigade.

II.

But now it is over, the whole Russian horde
Who've escaped from the 'oof of the 'orse, or the sword
Of the blooming dragoon, are now melting like wax,
And, at more than the "double," are making home tracks.
The who mighty host being filled with but one dread,
And that is the fear that the dauntless 300
May follow them up—but 'twas not so to be.
For says Jimmy, "Cry halt! let the poor devils flee:
"I think they'll confess that they've had a good dressin'.
"And I think you'll admit that we've taught 'em a lesson.
"So down the hill! down the hill! let us go back,
"For I'm peckish, and think that I'd relish a snack."

III.

Then gladly their chieftain's command they obeyed,
And went home to lunch—the bold Heavy Brigade!

Farm, Garden & Household.

WHY SOME ARE POOR.

Cream is allowed to mould and spoil. Silver spoons are used to scrape kettles. The scrubbing brush is left in the water. Nice handled knives are thrown into hot water. Brooms are never hung up. Dishcloths are thrown where mice can destroy them. Tubs and barrels are left in the sun to dry and fall apart. Clothes are left on the line to whip to pieces in the wind. Pie crust is left to sour instead of making a few tarts for tea. Dried fruit is not taken care of in season and becomes wormy. Vegetables are thrown away that would make a good dinner. The cork is left out of the syrup jug and the flies take posession of it. Bits of meat are thrown away that would make excellent hash for breakfast. Coffee, tea and spices are left open and lose their strength. Pork spoils for the want of salt and because the brine wants scalding.

COWS AND THEIR PRODUCE.

In considering the questions of exclusive dairying and mixed farming, Prof. Arnold says:

There are two distinct courses pursued by dairymen in carrying out their business. One consists in devoting the whole farm and the entire energies of the farmer to the production of milk: the other makes the dairy a supplement to other branches of business, or constitutes but an item in a system of mixed farming. Each has its advantages. When a man devotes his whole time and attention to one particular line of business, he becomes an expert at it. He makes himself familiar with all that relates to it, and thus learns all the sources of profit and loss, and how to avail himself of one and avoid the other. He is able to make the best selection of milking stock, because of his better trained eye and judgment. He studies to provide the best milk-producing food, and to secure the largest yield of milk per cow per annum, and at the least expenditure of food. If this milk is manufactured in the farm, we expect the professional dairyman to produce the most perfect goods. And this expectation accords with facts. The finest butter and cheese are turned out by those making their manufacture a specialty.

DAIRYING IS A TRADE,

as much as tanning or tailoring, and requires as much of an apprenticeship to conduct to the best advantage. It is more than a trade; it is a fine art, which calls into requisition taste, nice discriminations, tact and judgment. These are not acquired without continued and intense mental application to the business. The superior products and the higher prices from the skill which such experience developes can only be hoped for where the whole attention of those interested is centred upon one purpose. While there are numerous advantages pertaining to the management of a dairy, when made the sole business of the farm, there are also some considerations which weigh against it. The annual revenue comes from a single source, which accident or an unfavorable season may cut off, and occasion embarrassment. The interest on the whole investment for land and buildings, teams and tools, stock and dairy utensils, is all chargeable to the income from the dairy alone. Including waste land, woodland, roads, yards and sites for buildings, etc., about five acres of land will be required for each cow kept. Twenty cows are about the average for a hundred acre farm worth $4,000. Teams and farming tools and stock and utensils will call for about $2,000 more, so that each cow must be expected to pay interest on an investment of $300. This after paying the cost of care and labor, which amounts to two-fifths of the revenue she occasions, is a pretty severe tax, and often leaves a pretty narrow margin for profit.

IN MIXED FARMING

there is always something to fall back on if one source of income fails, and a shock in business is avoided. A grain farm calls for about the same investment of capital as a dairy farm, and the net revenue is about the same in cash. But a grain farm can carry a certain amount of stock without imparing in the least its capacity for producing grain. If that stock is made up of well-selected cows, it will constitute a dairy of the most profitable kind. A good grain farm will carry half as many cows as it would if wholly devoted to the dairy and raise as much grain as if no cows were kept. The cows will live upon the fodder which comes from the grain and the meadow and pasture necessary to a proper rotation of crops. The cost of their keeping is not felt, neither is the labor of milking, nor their care, as it is all done by the hands necessary to produce the grain, and is without extra cost. Though the yield per cow may not be quite as much, nor the quality quite as fine as when the dairy has the undivided attention of the occupants of the farm, yet all that is obtained seems to be profit, as it is not properly charged either with extra labor or with interest on the investment in real estate, that being considered balanced by the profits on grain. It has often been a matter of observation that were to be found where grain was largely produced, and whatever stock the farm could carry along with it consisted only of cows and such animals as were required for teams. While the plain inference has been that mixed farming pays best, it has been apparent that it does not pay to make divisions which interfere with each other, as when the pasture and fodder which could all be utilized by cows is divided between them and beef cattle, sheep and extra horses. Such a division, instead of economizing increases labor, care and expense, without a corresponding increase in revenue. Such divisions do not pay. But it does pay while cows and grain are the leading lines of business to stock well with pigs and poultry, and with bees, whenever there is pasturage within their reach, and to indulge liberally in the production of fruit whenever it can be grown. These branches of industry are so unlike as to admit of almost any desired expansion without interfering with each other, while they will largely augment the total receipts of the farm.

THE LARGEST REVENUES AND THE GREATEST PROFITS

HOW TO PRESERVE TEETH.

The following directions for the care of the teeth having been issued by the Medical Committe of the National Dental Hospital, London:—The teeth should be cleaned at least once a day, the best time being night—the last thing. For this purpose use a soft brush, on which take a little soap, and then some prepared chalk, brushing up and down and across. There is rarely an objection to the friction causing the gum to bleed slightly.

Avoid all rough usage of the teeth, such as cracking nuts, biting thread, &c, as by so doing even good, sound teeth may be injured. When decay is first observed advice should at once be sought. It is the stopping in a small hole that is often the greatest service, though not unfrequently a large filling preserves the tooth for years. It is of the greatest importance that children from four years and upward should have their teeth frequently examined by the dental surgeon, to see that the first set, particularly the back teeth are not decaying too early, and to have the opportunity of timely treatment for the regulation and preservation of the second set. Children should be taught to rinse the mouth night and morning, and to begin the use of the tooth brush rerly, (likewise the tooth-pick.) With eagard to the food of children, to those who are old enough (Graham) bread, porridge, and milk should be given. This is much more wholesome and substantial food than white bread. If the foregoing instructions were carried out comparatively few teeth would have to be extracted.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE SEASON.

(American Agriculturist)

March is the first spring month, and by this time all the plans for the season's work should be well matured. The farmer who plans little, often does but a small amount of work that pays the best. He should be fully aware of the importance of being ready for work when the time comes. In some parts of the country there is a homely phrase, "Getting a good ready." It is not scholarly, but very expressive. It really means making thorough preparation, and in doing this there will be men to hire, seeds to provide, implements to buy, and a general overhauling and putting in readiness of all the machinery of the farm. The matter of hired help is an important one, and requires much thought. There is a great difference in hired men; they range all the way from the thoughtful, conscientious man, who is as much interested in the success of the farm as if it was his own, to the shiftless, indifferent, and sometimes bad man, who cares for nothing but his pay, and is not fit to have a place on any farm, especially if there are children in the farmer's household. This is a more important matter than many suppose. Aside from the danger to the morals of young people, from improper language and acts, a man who is not kind to them has no business on a place where there are children. One of the best workmen we ever knew utterly ignored the children, taking no more notice of them than if they were so many stones. We are not aware that he was ever unkind to them, but the little things soon became afraid to go near him, and would run away whenever he approached. We would not have such a man on the farm. Some men are dear at any price, while others are worth much more than the wages they are paid. Between these two extremes is the great mass of farm laborers, and it requires more than a passing glance to engage the best men. The farmer who will be particular enough to have only good men about him, will also know that they must be treated as men, and from them he will receive, in return, the thoughtful services of men, instead of the bare labor of their hands.

The surface water should be let off from the grain and other fields before the ground is entirely thawed. All drains require frequent inspection, especially at this time, when the outlets may be clogged by ice and snow. Clover may be sown this month. A very even cast is obtained by sowing upon a light fall of snow on a still day.

A CASE OF CONSUMPTION.

CHESTERFIELD, N. H., March 26.

Messrs. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS:

GENTLEMEN—I feel in duty called upon voluntarily to give my testimony in favor of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I was taken sick last October with a lung complaint, accompanied with a very serious cough; and after having been treated a number of weeks by the best physicians, they gave me up as an incurable case of consumption, and for about six weeks my friends expected I might die any day, having entirely dispaired of my recovery. At this time I read the advertisement and certificates of the Wild Cherry Balsam, and was induced to try it myself. I have taken five bottles, and from the commencement I have been gradually recovering. My cough has now entirely ceased. I have regained my flesh and strength, and am feeling quite well. I attribute the cure to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, as I have taken no other medicine since I commenced taking that."

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. MILA S. SMITH.

GENTLEMEN—Mrs. Smith gives me the foregoing certificate of the efficacy of your medicine in her case. She is an acquaintance of mine, and took the Balsam on the strength of my certificate, which she saw in the papers. Her story is literally true.
Yours truly W. H. JONES.

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

A SIMPLE SUGGESTION TO WRITERS.

In promulgating your esthoric cogitations or articulating superficial sentimentalities and philosophical or psychological ponderosity. Let your conversation possess a clarified conciseness, compacted comprehensibleness, coalescent consistency and a concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affectations. Let your extemporaneous descantings and unpremeditated expatiations, have intelligibility and vernicose vivacity, without rhodomontade or thrasonical bombast. Sedulously avoid all pollysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, psittaceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity and vandiloquent vapidity. Shun double-entendres, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscurrent or apparent, and don't use big words.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, mode adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

SANDERSON'S

THUS WE PARTED.

"How did you enjoy yourself, Jennie? Come, sit here at auntie's feet and tell me all about it."

Evidently something had gone wrong with pretty Jennie Adair, and the old lady noticed the signs of trouble in the young face.

"Jennie," she said softly, what is the matter? I know something is wrong. Tell auntie; perhaps she can help you."

And little by little it all came out, how at the party the evening before, carried away by the (to her) unusual excitement of the gay scene, Jennie had accepted too many attentions from others to please her betrothed lover, Ernest Goulding; and when on their way home he had ventured on a quiet remonstrance she had answered;

"Very well; If you think you have made a mistake I am sure it is well you have found it out before it would be too late."

"I have deeply offended and disappointed Ernest," she said sadly; and I know his proud self-control too well to think he will forgive and forget unless I make the first advances; but that I can never do!"

As the girl spoke, into the old lady's eyes came a far-away look, which changed into a yearning tenderness as her glance fell upon the curly golden head leaning against her knee.

"Little one, forget your own trouble for a time while auntie tells you the story of her youth—a love-tale of forty years ago, before ever your blue eyes saw the light.

"My parents were not rich—they were but plain farmers, but if in their veins flowed no 'blue' blood, a pure healthful current, formed by active, honest lives, was the good heritage which they gave to their children.

"Near to our farm was the largest mansion in the vicinity, and the young ladies took a great fancy to me—'Little Doris,' as I was called. So my good mother, nothing loth, gave her permission for me to go up to the great house as often as I was invited.

"The time passed until I was eighteen years of age.

"Then the only son and heir of Wyndcote returned from college and entered upon his estates. I was visiting there at the time, and nothing would do but I must stay to the fete which celebrated his coming of age. The young ladies dressed me in white muslin and twined some pale pink buds through my curls; and it was that evening that Arthur Wyndcote fell in love with me—so he said afterwards.

"But, Jennie dear, although he was handsome and wealthy, I did not love him, for my girlish heart had already been taken captive by another.

"I had known Robert Ingalls only a year, but in that short time I had grown to feel that his soulful eyes held all the sunshine that was necessary to make life happy. And thus when the heir of Wyndcote laid his heart and hand at my feet, telling me that his lady mother and sisters knew of his intentions and had signified their kind approval of his choice, I refused him.

It was a crushing blow to him, accustomed as he was to gain anything he set his mind upon, and soon after he left his country home to forget his disappointment in the whirl of city life.

"Then, after a while, Robert asked me to be his wife, and I said 'yes' My lover was not rich, but he was all that was good and noble, and I was very happy.

"During the year he had obtained a lucrative position as engine driver on a prosperous railway, and the little home we were to share in the future seemed very near.

"By-and-by an aunt, a sister of my father's who lived in the city, sent for me to come and make her a visit.

"Robert held me in his arms as I said goodbye to him in our little honeysuckle porch. I never smell the fragrance of the honeysuckle now without that parting comes back to me.

"Good-bye, Dorris," he said in his deep, rich voice; "bring back the same loving innocent heart that you take away and I shall not be sorry I have let you go."

Then as he kissed me; "Remember this is our last parting. When you come I shall claim my little wife.

"I went. My aunt had married a wealthy merchant, and life seemed very different to me in her elegant home. Youth loves novelty, and I soon tasted and enjoyed to the full the charms of city society. I had been there about a month when a card was brought up to me bearing the name of 'Arthur Wyndcote,' and going down into the drawing-room I met my discarded lover. He was not embarrassed in the least, and soon put me at ease with him. 'I saw you riding in the Park,' he said; and learning where you were staying, ventured to call, presuming on the title of 'an old friend.'

"My aunt was much pleased with him and cordially invited him to come again.

"He did so very often; and feeling convinced by the calm friendliness of his manner that his former fancy for me had died a natural death, I gladly accepted his kind attentions.

"Then came my mother's summons for me to return home.

"She could not spare her daughter any longer,' she wrote. 'and Robert wanted his little Doris.'

"It seemed good to be back again among those I loved, and though I realized for the first time how very old-fashioned and plain my daily surroundings were, home had never appeared lovelier in my eyes.

"I had been back only a week when Mr. Wyndcote called at the farm. He had left the city, he said, soon after I had. The sun was almost setting when he started to go, and I sauntered down to the gate with him. It was near the time that Robert's train came and I knew that I should soon see my lover, for he always stopped to say a few words to me on his way home.

"A great white rose-bush grew by the farm gate, and Mr. Wyndcote, breaking off one of the odorous buds, handed it to me, saying softly as he did so:

"Do you know what a rose means, Miss Doris? and will you accept this from me?"

"Something in his tone and the expression with which he regarded me showed me that I had been mistaken when I had thought his old fancy for me had died, and I saw at once that he could not have heard of my engagement. It was a painful surprise to me, for I had grown to value his friendship; but I felt I must not let the moment pass without telling him of my betrothal.

"I took the rose, and looking up into his face, said:

"Certainly I will accept it, Mr. Wyndcote, as an assurance of the friendship you bear me, and also as an earnest of the congratulations you will give me when you hear of my approaching marriage."

"His face failed and he started violently, and was just about to speak when the gate swung back, and around the great rose-bush which concealed the road from our view by its blossom-freighted branches, came Robert. His gaze wandered from Mr. Wyndcote's pallor and agitation to my flushing face, and then to the rosebud which I still held in my hand; then, without any words, but with a look such as I had never seen in his face before, he left us and proceeded to the house.

"Mr. Wyndcote held out his hand and could see that it trembled.

"I fear Miss Doris, that I have caused trouble between you and your lover, but you can explain and make it right. Will you shake hands with me It will be for the last time. I was foolish to imagine that, rejected once, I still might hope. But you are not in fault I have only my own blindness to blame.

"As I walked to the house my heart was very heavy, for the way in which Arthur Wyndcote had borne himself had increased fourfold my respect for him.

"I was not at all prepared for the stern reproof which I found awaiting me. Conscious I had meant no wrong, I did not stop to think that to lookers on actions speak louder than words, appearances than deeds. Never had I known Robert to be so angry, and looking back, I can see that he had cause, for he had known of Mr. Wyndcote's former proposal to me, and that I had met him again at my aunt's house, and he keenly felt the difference which existed between a poor mechanic and the owner of a large estate.

"His distrust angered me and sealed my lips. A girl's heart is full of contradictions, and though I knew the strength of my love for him, I made up my mind to punish him for his lack of faith in me, and so I answered him back pettishly, instead of speaking in a way that would instantly have shown him his mistake. Thus we parted.

"My last words to him were much the same as you said to Earnest:

"I am glad we have found out we were mistaken in each other, Robert before it would be too late."

"When next I saw him—oh, little one, the rest is hard to tell!

"The very next day the train of which my lover was the driver, came into collision with an express, and only owing to his bravery and presence of mind was any one spared to relate the direful story.

"I heard it from the mouth of a friend who was an eye-witness.

"As my lover's train rounded a curve, he saw another one coming at a fearful rate of speed.

"Quicker than a flash Robert understood the situation, and saw the only chance there was for escape.

"Escape for the rest, but not for him! He knew that he was doomed in any event; but there was a possibility of saving the passengers.

"With a rapid spring, and the exertion of his whole strength, he uncoupled the locomotive from the rest of the train. Then came a wild thud; a terrible crash of splintering iron; and the colliding locomotives leaped high in the air. Of course the rest of the train followed; but the momentum had been broken by the detachment of the engine, which received the worst of the injury, while the terror-stricken passengers, though much shaken up, and some of them badly bruised, escaped with their lives. But by the sacrifice of as brave and heroic a soul as God ever made!

"They found him some yards away crushed and bleeding; but still alive—still conscious.

"'Doris! Doris!' was his cry; and thither they brought me. He could not move to greet me; but he knew me. His lips parted as I leaned over him and pressed passionate kisses upon his brow.

"Then you do love me, and did not mean your last words!" he whispered brokenly.

"Mean them! Oh, Robert! God knows I would give my life if they could be unsaid!" I replied.

"He seemed satisfied, but only for a moment. Then he looked up and I understood the inquiry in his eyes; and calmly as I could I told him the meaning of the scene he had witnessed between Arthur Wyndcote and myself.

"With my kisses yet warm upon his lips, he sank into unconsciousness.

"Jennie! oh, Jennie! beware of these misunderstandings between two who love each other. My first was my last; and the cold, cruel words with which I parted from my lover have left in my heart a sting which I shall carry to my grave."

The old lady paused; her story was ended.

For a moment there was silence; then Jennie sprang from her seat, and flinging her young arms around her aunt's neck, she kissed again and again the withered cheek.

"Good-bye for a little while aunty dear. I am going to my own room to write to Earnest; when I have finished I will come back."

The old lady was left alone, and as she wiped away the tears which her retrospect had brought to her eyes, a tremulous smile hovered around her lips; for, although it had cost her an effort to uplift the veil from the sad past which for long years had been shrouded from all other eyes but her own, she felt that it had not been in vain.

An attorney's bill, submitted for taxation in the Bristol Bankruptcy Court recently contained the following novel item: "Attending messenger, who informed me that a cat was locked up in the bankrupt's premises; attending same and releasing cat, 6s. 8d." At first this unique charge was taxed off by the registrar, but on the explanation that the stock on the premises was a valuable one, and might suffer considerable damage if the cat were allowed to remain in undisputed possession, the item was restored.

A SLIGHT SENSATION was occasioned on Sunday morning in the Charlotte street church during Service. Just as the Rev. Dr. Jeffers had commenced his sermon the church began to fill with smoke, and for a time many of the congregation were alarmed, fearing the church to be on fire. Upon investigation it was found that one of the wooden frames placed around the stoves had become ignited. A few pails of water quickly extinguished the fire and the services proceeded without any further annoyance.

BOSTON OPERA COMPANY.—To-night the Boston Opera Company appear in Bradburn's Hall in the comic opera of "Betsy Baker," when the lovers of music and mirth will have an opportunity of enjoying a rare treat. Mr. W. Philp, formerly of Port Hope, but now of Guelph, writes to a gentleman of this town, concerning them as follows:—

GUELPH, March. 10, 1882.

DEAR SIR,—Boston Opera Company played here last evening. I am not given to gush, but must say that the show is the best ever given in this city. The audience towards the close were worked up to a pitch of the wildest enthusiasm, and that is saying a great deal for a Guelph audience. Every member, even to old Wilkie, is a star, and don't you forget it. Wishing you success with them. I am yours truly.

W. PHILP, Organist,
Guelph, Ontario.

In addition to the above we might say the press throughout the country speak in the highest terms of the entertainment. See advertisement in another column.

REMOVAL.—This week Mr. John Garvey has removed to his new premises, in the City Hotel Block, south of the Caisse House and immediately opposite the Market. During the past season Messrs. Garvey and Dolan have greatly improved this portion of George street by the erection of a handsome new block, which is occupied by Dolan & Banks, as the City Hotel, and by Carton Bros., as a fruit and grocery store. A very large addition has been built to the store formerly occupied by Mr. James Dolan, opposite the Market Arcade, and to these premises Mr. Garvey has now removed. Having had it fitted up especially for his own use, he has now one of the most convenient and complete buildings for the grocery trade in the town, and from the well-known reputation which Mr. Garvey enjoys for fair dealing and always keeping in stock only the most reliable goods, we feel confident his customers will follow him to his new stand, where his stock will be found larger and better selected than ever, and offered at the very lowest prices.

THE CAR WORKS.—A meeting of those favourable to assisting the proposed Car Works was held in Mr. Moore & Sawers office on Monday evening last, for the purpose of taking into consideration the best means of bringing the matter before the ratepayers, as well as to take steps towards a thorough canvass of the town in favor of the By-law. From statements made by several of those present it appeared that a large portion of the ratepayers were unaware of the provisions of the By-law owing to the limited circulation of the paper in which the advertisement appears, and it was urged strongly that if those favourable to the By-law wished to have it properly brought before the public so as to counteract the adverse criticisms which are being made by its opponent, other means should be taken to have it properly published. The formation of committees for canvassing the different Wards was spoken of but left over until after the public meeting which will probably be held on Wednesday evening next.

PERSONALS.

We had the pleasure of a call on Monday from the Rev. N. R. Willoughby, and Rev. Mr. Laird, of Port Hope, both gentlemen being on a visit to this town.

Mr. A. Burton, the newly appointed assistant superintendent of the Whitby and Victoria Divisions of the Midland Railway, was presented on Saturday evening last with an address and a complete set of Dickens Works handsomely bound, by the employees of the Road.

THE CONCERT OF THE SEASON.

The entertainment given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Friday evening last, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the George street Methodist Church, fully carried out the promises made by the management when announced as the concert of the season, for certainly no local entertainment has for years been so successful, both in variety and character of entertainment. The programme was a very lengthy one, and the management wisely decided not to allow encores. However, as there are exceptions to every rule, so, also, there were exceptions to this one, for the audience, in more than one instance, so persistently kept up round after round of applause that the favorites had to re-appear. The Fire Brigade Band orchestra opened both first and second parts of the programme with choice selections. Their playing was greatly admired, and at the close of each piece they received ample proof of the appreciation of the audience. The glees by the Victoria College Glee Club, of Cobourg, were a leading feature of the evening's entertainment, and so well were they received that the Club had, on each appearance, to respond to encores. Mr. T. Brown gave "The Heart Bowed Down," and Mr. A. L. Davis, "Alone in the Desert." Both gentlemen rendered their pieces with splendid effect and received hearty applause. Mr. Hetherington, a student of Victoria College, who, it will be remembered by many of our readers, received such serious injuries at a Cobourg fire some month ago, gave a recitation, "The Dying Trooper," and rendered it with fine effect. We think that we can safely say that this piece and Mr. Crewe's recitation, "The Eagle's Rock," at a later period in the programme, were the best amateur efforts in the elocutionary line yet presented in the Opera House. Both gentlemen kept the audience spell-bound throughout both pieces, and at their close were greeted with enthusiastic applause. The instrumental trios by the Misses Burn and Mr. Burn, of Port Hope, violin and piano with violincello accompaniment, were pleasing features in the programme. Miss Burn's manipulation of the violin was looked upon with wonder by many of the audience, and the skill with which she executed her part reflects the greatest credit upon her. Of Mr. Burn's playing it is unnecessary for us to say anything, as his reputation as a first-class musician is pretty well known throughout the Midland Counties. Messrs. Jewel and Holden in their duet, "A. B. C.," and "The Singing Lesson," brought down the house, and provoked roars of laughter. Both gentlemen are pleasing singers, and we hope to have the pleasure of hearing them again at no distant date. Mrs. Scobell, of Winnipeg, an old Peterborough favorite, gave "Sing on," and "Kathleen Aroon," and from the applause which followed it was quite evident she had not lost any of her former prestige. Miss Stratton's solo was rendered with fine effect and in good taste. She was recalled and acknowledged the compliment by a bow. A quartette by Misses Huston and Wells and Messrs. Morris and Jewel was well rendered. Mrs. Dumble gave, "Only a Little Mountain Lad," in a very pleasing manner, and Mr. Nelles, of Cobourg, and Mr. W. H. Manning, each acquitted themselves creditably in their solos. Mr. Heathfield presided at the piano. From the large attendance at the concert, we have no doubt but that the financial results will be as satisfactory to the committee as the entertainment was pleasing to those present.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening last. Present—Messrs. Cahill, Alford, McNaughton, Kelly, Poussette, Menzies, Denne, Rutherford, Paterson, Wilson, Douglas.

In the absence of the Mayor, Mr. Menzies was voted to the chair.

The reading of the minutes of the last session was dispensed with.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Clerk of the House of Commons' special Railway Committee, asking for information in reference to discriminating rates charged by railways for freight and passengers.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Alford,—That the communication from the House of Commons, asking for information in reference to railway freight, &c., be referred to a special Committee consisting of Messrs. Denne and Menzies, with power to add to their number, (the mover not to be a member of such Committee) to reply to the questions asked therein and forward to the proper authorities.

WOOLLEN MILL EXEMPTION.

On motion, the Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading of the By-law, exempting from taxation for ten years the proposed woollen mill to be located by Alex. W. Brodie upon the Dickson Estate raceway. Mr. Poussette in the chair. By-law read a second time, after which Committee arose, when the By-law was read a third time and finally passed.

OFFERING A REWARD.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Douglas,—That the Clerk be instructed to take the necessary steps to have a reward of $10 offered for the conviction of any one guilty of breaking or injuring the gas lamps in the town, or of extinguishing the gas in the same.

TENDERS FOR PLANK.

Mr. Cahill reported that the contract for plank necessary for the streets and bridges had been awarded to Mr. Haslitt, at $8.90 per 1,000 feet.

CAR WORKS.

On motion, the Mayor was authorized to call a public meeting of the ratepayers for Monday evening next, to discuss the proposed aid to car works.

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.

Mr. Poussette drew the attention of the Council to the fact that the Ontario and Quebec Railway were now petitioning the House of Commons to so amend their charter that they may amalgamate with the Toronto, Gray and Bruce, or such other railway or railways as they may cross, connect or intersect. It was plain to be seen that this was another way to obtain power to sell out to the Midland, and thus destroy their independence. If we must so have the benefit of competing lines we should oppose this measure, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Paterson, to the effect that a memorial be prepared and forwarded to the Railway Committee of the House of Commons, petitioning against such amendments being granted.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Thos. Coe complained that he was erroneously assessed for dog tax, and asked to be released of the payment of same. Granted, upon taking the necessary declaration.

An account from the Times office amounting to $36.20, was ordered to be paid when certified.

Mr. Cahill moved that the arrears of taxes charged to Wm. Course and W. J. Riordan be remitted, as they were improperly assessed.

After a short discussion the matter was referred to the Court of Revision.

The Council adjourned.

PETERBOROUGH TRACT AND BOOK SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society was held in the lecture room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, on Tuesday evening 7th March, 1882. The Rev. Ashton Fletcher, the retiring President of the society, occupied the chair. The meeting having been opened with religious exercises, and the Secretary and Treasurer's reports having been read, the Rev. Thos. Bone of the Welland Canal Mission, and agent of the Tract Society, addressed the meeting. In his opening remarks he said that it was most encouraging to him, and must be so to the friends of the society, to see so large an attendance, when it was considered what other attractions there were that evening in the town. It certainly evinced a deep interest taken in the work of the society. He then proceeded in a very interesting and edifying address to set forth somewhat of the work done by the society, and the good accomplished by it among the sailors in the hospitals, prisons, and elsewhere, giving a number of incidents that had come under his own observation, where tracts had been a blessing in the conversion of many souls, and proving many cases where bread cast upon the water returned, if even after many days. He bore evidence to the fact that of all the instruments used by God for diffusing good, none were doing so great a work as was the press, whether taken in the form of the plain tract, the beautifully illustrated magazine and card, or the Holy scriptures, and again in exposing the fallacies of scepticism and infidelity, it was mighty in pulling down the stronghold of Satan. The Parent Society was reported to be now turning its attention to the lumber shanties, and settled districts of the northern townships of our country, as a new field of labour, they have now quite a number of colporteurs engaged in this work, and are receiving much encouragement in this field and are only wanting the funds to engage more labourers in this great harvest.

The collection taken up during the evening was $6.75 and the subscriptions received amounted to $58.35, total $65.10.

The following are the officers of the society for the current year.

PRESIDENT.—Col. Haultain.

SECRETARY.—Mr. Henry Grundy.

TREASURER.—Mr. W. C. Nicholls.

COMMITTEE.—Messrs. John Carnegie, Wm. Yelland, Robt. Kingan, Jos. Ford, Wm. Aldridge, and Wm. Wand.

The depository for the tract distributors is at the Protestant Home.

The following is the

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

In submitting their annual report the Committee of the Peterborough Religious Tract and Book Society have much pleasure in being able to state that a considerable amount of religious literature has been distributed during the past year, mainly through the instrumentality of a staff of fourteen tract distributors, who have constantly and zealously been engaged in this good work in the town and in the village of Ashburnham; most of them regularly making their rounds fortaightly, for the distribution or exchange of tracts.

In return for the amount that your Committee have been able to forward to the parent Society in Toronto (about $66), a grant of tracts equivalent in value has been made to this Society; most of which have been distributed, not only in the town, but in the surrounding districts.

A quantity of religious literature, gathered from private and other sources, has also been forwarded for distribution in the northern townships, which was greatly needed and has been thankfully received.

An important movement, your committee think, has been made in the right direction, which they hope will greatly help in the dissemination of useful and religious literature. Reference is made to the opening of a depository at the store of Miss Sanderson, where a large number of books, texts, cards, leaflets, &c., &c., has been sold, especially during the season of Christmas and New Year.

YOU MUST UNDERSTAND!

That what we Advertise is the Truth.

A gentlemen expressed a little surprise the other day on finding that the good White Envelopes we have been advertising so much of late at 3¢ cents a package, were really to be bought, and informed us he thought it was only an advertisement. Impressions of this sort come from the fact that misrepresentations are made in advertising very frequently, and after purchasing you find that the poor quality has made the low price, and that altogether it was a poor bargain, in fact the goods were bought at a high price—you were deceived. Avoid such stores always after.

WHEN WE SAY

SOME BABIES ARE GOING TO HAVE LOTS OF FRESH AIR

We make the statement because our Large Assortment of

BABIES' CARRIAGES

WHY IS THIS DEMAND?

Because they are the Best Carriages made in the States or Canada. And because we are selling them cheap.

A public meeting was held on Monday evening last in the Council Chamber to discuss the proposed scheme to establish car works in this town, and though the meeting was called for 7.30, it was after eight o'clock before proceedings were commenced. The meeting was largely attended. Amongst others present were His Worship the Mayor, Messrs. Poussette, C. W. Sawers, W. Loch, Geo. A. Cox, W. Clarkton, W. Mills, J. P., E. Burnham, Jas. Stevenson, Geo. Hilliard, M.P., Geo. Edmison, John Douglas, H. Deane, T. Cahill, Jas. Walker, Geo. M. Roger, Jas. Howden, Joseph Ford, Jas. Kendry, D. G. Hatton, A. Rutherford and Law. His Worship the Mayor stated the object of the meeting, and said that Mr. Mowat had been seen on the subject, and requested to make the necessary change in the law, so that the town might take stock in the company. He said he could see no objection to this on principle, and though the required amendment could not be made this session, we have the opportunity of making application at the next. His Worship would like to hear the views of everybody on the question.

Mr. POUSSETTE was then called upon, who said that he would briefly explain the provision of the by-law. It has been discovered that legislation was necessary to enable the town to take stock in the proposed company. This legislation had not yet been secured. The whole question is not one of bonus, but whether it is advisable for the town to take stock in the company. The sum of $20,000 is amply secured by mortgage on the property. He was entirely opposed to a bonus, and he thought that it would be much better if there were no such thing as a bonus throughout the country. A few of the citizens are prepared to embark from $50,000 to $100,000 in this scheme, and it is for the rest of the citizens to say whether the town should put $20,000 into the scheme and sail in the same boat as the before mentioned gentlemen.

Mr. C. W. SAWERS said that after reading and carefully considering the by-law he thought it had been framed entirely in the interest of the town, and he could see no loop-hole through which to creep. The Town Solicitor and Councillors are to be congratulated on the framing of this by-law. Mr. Cox is taking $20,000 stock in this concern, and if we take the same amount we should be in just the same position as he. The town was probably in as good a position to take this as Mr. Cox, and if it came to a question of loss, the town was better able to sustain it than that gentleman. At present the town of Peterborough is a one-horse town, but there is material in it and natural advantages to make it a two-horse or a four-in-hand town, and if the inhabitants of this place had been Yankees, Peterborough would have been a place of 70,000 or 100,000 inhabitants before now. He would appeal to those present to roll up their votes for this by-law, as these car works would add greatly to the prosperity of the town.

Mr. W. LECH thought that the man who invented bonuses was nothing better than a highway-man. He wanted the car works to be constructed, but he thought that there should be no exemption from taxes. He would oppose such as long as he could speak.

Mr. G. A. COX wished to put himself right before the ratepayers of the town, and he wished to explain his position. He believed the present to be an excellent time to start a car manufactory, as cars would be in large demand. He had said that if a company was formed with a capital of $100,000, he would take $10,000 stock in it, or a tenth of any capital. He believed no company should be started with a less capital than $100,000, but he understood that at present only some $50,000 or $60,000 had been subscribed, and he did not think there was sufficient enterprise in the town to start this scheme. The sum of $100,000 should have been subscribed for before anything further was done, and the matter was not being properly managed. He understood that the company was asking for $20,000 from the town on terms not at all proper, and he thought it would be much better for the company to borrow the money from a few individuals who had the interests of the town at heart. The ratepayers seemed to be under the impression that this scheme was connected either directly or indirectly with the Midland railway, but this was altogether wrong. The Midland railway would buy their cars just where they could get them cheapest. He did not want the ratepayers to vote for this by-law under a wrong impression. This was a splendid place and time to start the company, and he was willing to risk his money in the scheme, but he did not wish to advise any one, nor did he desire to influence any one to do as he did unless he was confident that he was safe in doing so.

Mr. CLUXTON felt abashed to speak after Mr. Sawers. He hoped he always had taken and always would take an interest in this town. The car works would undoubtedly be very advantageous to Peterborough. He opposed the giving a bonus of $20,000, and also the taking of stock to the amount of $20,000. Peterborough seemed to be opposed to giving a bonus, and rightly so. Mr. Hamilton had built up his business without a bonus. If one were necessary, a more modest sum than $20,000 would have been sufficient. If the town take stock in it there will be no ceasing of the applications to it to take stock in all sorts of companies. It is a dangerous power to give any town council the power to take stock in anything to the amount of $20,000, as there was no knowing where the end would be. Mr. Cox had raised himself by his indomitable energy and perseverance to a position in which he is able to help the town very greatly, and it would be a most advantageous thing to have his help in the present case. If there was one thing in the world to which he would like to give a bonus, it would be to some line of railway to compete with that vast monopoly, the Grand Trunk railway. He would never advise the town of Peterborough to take stock in this company, as it was a wrong principle.

Mr. MILLS did not approve of giving bonuses to companies or anything else. It would be just as sensible to give Mr. Hamilton a bonus to increase his business. It would not be advisable for us to take any stock at all in this company. It would be a dangerous policy, and if the $20,000 was given, with land and buildings, if the condition of the lease were not complied with, we should still have the latter to fall back upon.

Mr. COX said that, there being a number of ratepayers and men interested in the town present, now was the time to ascertain their views and hear what they had to say. He thought that some gentlemen might risk a few thousand dollars even though it should not turn out to be a paying investment at first, it might eventually turn out all right.

Mr. HAZLITT was opposed to bonuses. If manufactures are to grow and be permanent, their growth must be a healthy one and the outcome of a demand for the article manufactured. If these gentlemen are desirous of going into this car work affair, he would be one to help them in every way and give them every encouragement, exemption from taxes and building land at a nominal rate; everything but a bonus. A bonus of $20,000 when the amount to be invested is only $40,000 does not seem to be the right thing at all. Another thing he would like to say was that if these buildings were put up and the scheme proved a failure hereafter, these buildings were fit for nothing else but our works. He had himself bought up machinery, &c., of affairs which had not been successful, and we have nothing to look to as security but this piece of land, away out of the town, and the buildings fit for nothing but the purpose for which they were erected. As to the by-law. It was perhaps a good one, but he thought it was a very difficult one to understand, and he felt himself lost in it. If he had the means he would take a small amount of stock in the car works, but he could not afford it, and he thought that, as the company was composed of men, any one of whom might easily pay the whole amount of the stock, it was not equitable or just that they should beg of the town, but subscribe for the stock themselves, as Mr. Cox had stated his willingness to do.

Mr. HILLIARD was in favor of bonuses, and he would require to see something radically wrong about them before he was opposed to them. He had seen the benefits of them in his own case and in others. There would be no factories started in Peterborough till bonuses were given, and as the great Northwest will draw on Ontario for all species of manufactured articles, agricultural implements, &c., &c., and will be the means of enriching this province, the more manufactories we have and the sooner, the better it will be for us. "Mr. Chairman," he said, "I am in favor of bonuses and I will be till we build up the town of Peterborough to be a city, and we can do it, for we have the finest water power in the country, and I will always maintain it." He thought the by-law was right in every respect. We must work unitedly and harmoniously together, and we should accomplish something.

Mr. RUTHERFORD made a few remarks, in which he declared himself as opposed to bonuses, and thought that if $20,000 was granted it would end up by there being $60,000 or $70,000 given. He did not think the car works would ever pay.

Mr. STEVENSON had never asked the Council to give a bonus, though it had been insinuated that he had done so. He entirely agreed with Mr. Cox and he thought exactly as that gentleman did. He would give, not for the sake of gain, but because he thought it would benefit Peterborough. He favored bonuses, and he thought things could not be properly worked without them. He did not think much of the by-law and thought Mr. Hazlitt could turn it inside out, topsy turvey and every other way, for there was no one like him for manipulating a by-law and making it appear as he wanted it.

Mr. HATTON thought the matter had been fairly discussed, without any exhibition of hard-feeling. He approved of the by-law, and he felt confident that the car works would be an immense benefit to Peterborough, and though the enterprise should turn out to be a loss, the town would derive benefit from it. But he did not imagine for an instant that it was going to be a loss. He approved of Mr. Cox's action, and he thought it was entirely the business of the Midland railway where they bought their cars. He thought that many were waiting to see the by-law carried before they would show what they intended to do. He knew of some who were prepared to take stock, but would not express their opinion till they saw how the land lay.

Mr. LAW stated that in the United States there were 100 car shops, and if we compare the miles of railway in Canada with those in America, we must see that a great number of cars are required here, and why should we not manufacture our own cars. There were only three car works in Canada, and these were not sufficient to supply one road. The life-time of a car is only about 5 years now, it used to be nearly double that, and consequently the demand for cars is rapidly increasing. No one need be afraid that there will be any lack of trade unless through some unforeseen circumstance. He estimated that the cost of the buildings, plant, ground, &c., for the car works would cost $50,000. He had drawn up a table of estimates as to what the cost of the building would be, and would read them. They were as follows:—

The framing and erecting shop, a frame building, slate roof, 268 by 52 feet	$ 5,962
Machine shop, brick, slate roof, 100 by 53 feet	1,970
Foundry, casting room, and blacksmith's shop, brick, slate roof, 220 by 53 feet	4,990
Painting shop, frame, slate roof, 170 by 45	2,100
Offices and store-room, two storey, brick, slate roof, fire-proof vaults, etc., 49 by 36 feet	1,200
Boiler house, 40 by 29 (without boiler, engines, etc)	600
Tracks in yard, switches, frogs, etc.	2,000
	$18,822

There would be ample security for the money advanced as the machinery alone would cost $30,000, and the building, if the car works did not prove successful, could be utilized for other purposes.

Mr. POUSSETTE said he had listened attentively to the arguments on both sides, and he thought the ground had been thoroughly gone over. It had been said that the necessary legislation could not be obtained. If such was the case the town would lose nothing as the money could be repaid within six years. As security we should have a mortgage worth, by Mr. Law's statement, $50,000. Any one who looked at the matter in a right line could see that the by-law afforded ample security, though it may look unfair that the town will get back its $20,000 before the shareholders.

The MAYOR then announced that under the law recently made only two-fifths of the electors were required to vote for a by-law in order to carry it, instead of one-half as formerly.

The meeting, which had been a most harmonious one, then broke up, it being well on to midnight.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OUR POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS.—It is very gratifying to know that the efforts of Mr. J. A. Butterfield, our obliging Postmaster have at last proved successful in obtaining Railway Postal communication with Norwood. For some time back, owing to the terrible condition of the roads in all directions, our postal communication has been very uncertain, and indeed some days we have been without a mail at all, the stages arriving so late that letters or papers could not be distributed on their arrival. But now we are, fortunately stepping down and out of the old stage routine, and falling into line with other places receiving the benefits of the iron horse. The new arrangements will be a great boon to our merchants, who can now leisurely attend to their daily correspondence.

The following letter to Mr. Butterfield will explain the changes made on the Colborne route.

POST OFFICE INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,
KINGSTON, ONT., March 14.

DEAR SIR,—I have to thank you for your letter of 11th. It was only yesterday I obtained authority, and I wrote at once to Mr. Cannon to arrange for taking off that part of his contract between Hastings and Norwood. On receipt of his reply, I will act promptly, and put on mail between Norwood and P. O. Clerk on mail train, so that you can get the benefit of the now speedy service by railway. On and after 1st April the hours will be altered. The train will leave Belleville at 6.45 a. m., and reach Hastings at 9.14. Your mail will have to reach there by 9 a. m. sharp. The return from Peterborough, 3.30 p. m., reach Hastings at 5.05. So your mail should leave you at 8 a. m., returning at 10; leave at 3.30 p. m., returning at 6 p. m.

Yours,
GILBERT GRIFFIN,
P. O. Inspector.

Mr. Wm. Richardson, carrying the mail between here and Keene has also received intimation to discontinue this route, as in future the mails between these two places will be carried by the Railway mail.

THE SURVEYORS.—As intimated last week, the Quebec & Ontario Railway surveyors arrived here on Wednesday evening, there being about twenty on the staff. They have taken about three weeks on the survey between Peterboro' and Norwood. The party from the East, about fifteen in number, have returned to Madoc, to make a final survey of the line only preliminarily surveyed by them a couple of miles beyond Blairton. It is difficult yet to conjecture what line will be chosen among the many surveyed; but it is stated that as soon as the final survey is made large gangs of men will be put on the road, and its construction vigorously prosecuted.

STORM.—A big snow storm set in here on Tuesday morning and coming steadily from the East, looks as if it was going to be the fall of the season. Robins appeared here on Sunday for the first time, and joyfully welcomed the spring morning; but, alas! for vain hopes, they are conspicuous now by their absence. They certainly came out of season, as Tuesday was about the wildest day of the winter.

HYMENEAL.—On St. Patrick's day, Friday last, Mr. J. J. Clysdale, of Asphodel, and Miss Bertha A. Reynolds, daughter of Mr. Hiram Reynolds of this village, were united by the customary hymeneal knot, and made "one" for better or worse. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Mr. Sanderson in the presence of a large number of the family relatives. Mr. Clysdale on Tuesday last removed with his young bride to Sarnia where he intends to reside.

FARM SOLD.—Mr. Jas. Clysdale of Asphodel, has sold his farm to Mr. Wm. Howson of Otonabee, for $6,000 cash, an advance of one dollar per acre more than was offered for it at the auction sale last week.

BELLEVILLE.

The funeral of the late Ellis Burrell, the well known and highly respected axe manufacturer, took place last Friday, the 17th inst. Deceased was a member of Moira Lodge A. F. & A. M., of which he was Past Master, and was interred with Masonic honors. His business will, probably, be continued by his son-in-law, Mr. Campion, who has had charge of it for some time past.

A correspondent in Winnipeg, who departed from here a few days ago for the land of promise, writes in very indignant terms of the treatment he and his fellow-travelers experienced on the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba R.R. He complains of the discourtesy and insolence of the railroad officials, and a petition was circulated on the train, having some redress as its object, which was signed by 200 out of 240 of the passengers.

A young lady in town in removing some benzoin from a cup allowed it to ignite, and in her endeavor to blow out the flame, her beautiful fringe of hair in front caught fire, and a large quantity of her auburn tresses were destroyed. She now wears a sprightly looking cap to conceal her temporary disfigurement, but remarks vivaciously that from a happy and careless girl she has been transformed into a cappy and hairless one.

Law students should not "twist wrists." Charles Irving, studying with Messrs. Dougall & Falkiner, got his broken at this game the other evening. Let the embryo legal luminaries confine themselves to crooking their elbows.

John McCallum is the only man in town who is not thinking of going to Manitoba just yet. Drunk,—60 days.

Ald. Starling sold a lot on March 15th, on Broadway, Winnipeg, for $200 per foot.

Mrs. Margaret Monaghan was struck by the evening train from Peterborough, on Thursday last, and thrown to the sidewalk with great violence. Her right wrist was broken, and she received a severe contusion in the region of the heart, and it is feared that she has sustained serious internal injuries. Flagmen at the crossings are needed.

Chief McKinnon was down town on St. Patrick's day, the first time since the fracas took place at Madoc. He is still suffering from erysipelas in his face, but there is little doubt that he will be perfectly convalescent in a short time.

Mr. Phillips Thompson (Jimuel Briggs) delivered an excellent lecture on Friday night on the Irish Land question. A large audience greeted him, and the Oddfellows band played a number of Irish airs in the course of the evening. The lecturer was entertained by the local St. Patrick's Society at a banquet at O'Brien's Hotel at the conclusion of the lecture. Over a hundred citizens sat down. Mr. Coughlin, president of the society, presided. A highly enjoyable time was spent, the toasts being numerous, appropriate, and enthusiastically honored.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 23, 1882.

The Secretary for Ireland.

The condition of unhappy Ireland is scarcely understood as yet even by her rulers. For centuries it has been misgoverned, and the evils and injustice under which the country has suffered at the hands of the successive English governments, cannot be wiped out in a day. That Ireland has been cruelly oppressed in the past, and that to-day she is crushed under the heel of cruel landlords, are simply matters of fact. But few among her rulers have, like the Secretary for Ireland, the manliness and the courage frankly to acknowledge this, while at the same time, the people are warned not to be forced into unrighteous courses by intimidation. Bravely has Mr. Forster held to his purpose, though few men have suffered more abuse and vilifications than he has borne from those whom he was endeavouring in every way to relieve and assist. His courageous speech and wise counsel recently at Tullamon, in the very heart of the disaffected districts, must bear good fruit. He acknowleged in a frank and manly way the injustice and evils of the past, and while he expressed the determination of the Government to undo all this as soon as possible, he warned them that all fraud and outrage on the part of the tenantry must also be supressed. Nothing could present a more graphic and perfect picture of the causes which have produced discontent and misery in Ireland than his closing prayer, "God save Ireland from cruel and grasping landlords, rack-renting landlords, dishonest tenants and midnight marauders."

The Land Act has already accomplished some good, though progress is exceedingly slow. Indeed at the present rate of settling cases, it will require quite seven years to deal with the applications already before it. In four months only 4,540 cases have been settled, while the number of applications now made is over 72,000. Perhaps this is the very best plan the Government could adopt, but it is easy to see that distress and suffering must be borne by many for years, before the Land Act can operate to give them relief.

It must be admitted that in some instances the rents now held back could be paid. In the neighborhood of Limerick payment of rents is withheld until the champions of the Land League and the persons who committed outrages are released from jail. Mr. Forster boldly announces to these same people that when the outrages cease, these hostages will be released, and not till then. He denounced in the strongest terms the wrongs, the cowardice, the cruel assaults of which the Irish are guilty, and in fervid tones he appealed to the noblest part of their generous nature. While admitting the errors of the past, he said, "We wish to undo that, and to make you as prosperous, rich and powerful as ourselves." Such brave words, such an expression of heartfelt sympathy, such cool courage, and tenacity of purpose must bear a thoroughly good and permanent effect throughout Ireland. Already there is an improvement in payment of rents, and a slight decrease in the number of agrarian outrages. Mr. Forster is evidently the right man in the right place and his bold determination in making the cessation of outrages the only condition of the release of suspects will do much to check the agitation and bring about, very shortly, an improved state of affairs throughout the country.

Sir Leonard Tilley will surely lose confidence in the information supplied to the Department concerning the numerous factories &c., alleged to have been established or enlarged under the N. P's influence. The list has been riddled on all hands since its publication, and Sir Leonard doubtless thinks there must be a mistake somewhere himself.

The Outrage Against Ontario.

The Peterborough Review is outraged by a Tory paper that it has not hesitated to attempt the whitewashing of Sir Charles Tupper throughout the whole of his corrupt, and unscrupulous career. When Sir Charles gave his dear Onderdonk & Co. a contract at a loss to the country of over two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the Review, as was expected endeavored to whitewash the Minister of Railways.

But it is consoling to see that there are some Conservative papers which advocate country before party. The Saint Catharines Journal, one of the most extreme Tory papers in the country, is one of these. But there is a limit to the Journal's partizanship; it cannot back the outrage against Ontario in the Boundary matter, as the Review has done. It says:

"There is no doubt that the issues involved in the boundary question are the most important since Confederation. Without stopping to inquire into the legal aspect of the question, the people of Ontario are likely to accord the Ontario Government hearty support in this struggle for Provincial rights. There are questions involved in this dispute which transcend in importance the minor issues of political complexion. In fact, on its solution hinges Provincial rights, and whether we like or not, from a political standpoint, we must admit that on this question Ontario is almost a unit. It is not to be supposed that the people will tolerate the slightest infringement of their rights. The Government is now fully committed to a position from which it cannot recede without humiliation. So far as Ontario is concerned, therefore, no backing down need be looked for. If there is to be a conflict of authority, Mr. Mowat will be supported by every constitutional means within the reach of the people."

What the Journal says is undoubtedly the opinion of the great number of Tory papers that have refused to defend the policy adopted by Sir John in deference to Blue dictation. They can do much for party's sake, but to approve of the spoliation of their own Province is a little too much. A refusal to abide by the judgment of arbitrators, before whom two disputants go in good faith, is in fact shocking the sense of right which abides in the heart of every honest man.

Editorial Notes.

It would appear, from the list of new factories &c., that the average rate of wages paid in the new industries, and for which the N. P. is so loudly applauded by the Tories for introducing, is $6.05 per week, per head. Where the "immense benefits" come in, is somewhat hard to find out.

"A Toronto fireman has invented a "jumper" for use at fires. It was tested on Saturday, when a man weighing 178 lbs, jumped from the roof of the Court House, a height of 31 feet 6 inches, and landed safely in the jumper.—Trenton Courier, March 6."

That is pretty good, but these are the facts. The jumping sheet was tested and approved in Hamilton just two months ago. The Toronto fireman did not invent the jumper till he had had the Hamilton sheet thoroughly described, and then he went to work and produced a precisely similar article. So much for that invention.

It is altogether probable that Sir John A. Macdonald will pursue his old policy of temporising and procrastination in regard to the boundary award. The territory involved is 100,000 square miles, which, in the event of Ontario not getting it, will reduce her, in point of area, to a third rate province. Sir John will hardly fly in the face of Ontario with an election looming up in the near future, and he will doubtless get the subject referred to the Privy Council in England, and by that means, set it aside for a few years. The feeling in Ontario is that the Province must stand up for its rights, and not be dictated to by the French Tories of Quebec.

It would seem that there are two sides tothe Winnipeg land boom question and that it is not going to last for ever. Real estate is beginning to hang fire in Winnipeg, though the excitement is expected to break out in the Qu'Appelle district. It is only natural that those speculators who have gone to the North West and have been bitten should keep mum about their failures. Of these there are a great many more than we know anything about, whilst the lucky ones make a point of spreading the intelligence of their fortune. If everything was known it would be seen that there are about, if not quite as many unlucky as lucky ones, but no man likes to own up to having been "sold."

Acrostic—A few nights since, one of the long-winded members of the House on the government side, kept the Speaker and a few members of Parliament together with the wearied reporters listening to his "few remarks" until 5 A.M. ! While he was speaking the following acrostic no doubt composed by one of the gallery gods, fell on the floor. It reads "Longley is an Ass." It shows at least, that the reporters are keenly alive to the ridiculous

Long sat the House on that memorable night,
Oft wished the whips for speedy daylight.
Now Longley rises, prosy and glum,
Great Tilley he praises and the National "hum,"
Lazy the members dosed in the chairs,
Each wishing an end of all sessional cares:
Ye intelligent voters—could ye witness this scene
In your Parliament Houses so calm and serene,
Surely you'd keep Mr. Longley at home
And never permit him to Ottawa to roam,
Nor allow him to waste time, gas, money and sleep,
And force Mr. Speaker his vigil to keep
Such inflictions are not entertaining nor pleasant,
Save us O Lord, from another—at present.

McLean, the man who attempted to assassinate Queen Victoria, has been committed for trial, charged with high treason. From evidence already adduced it has been shown that the pistol used by McLean was purposely charged with so little ball to have struck her Majesty, a result which was only prevented by some providential accident. McLean has been shown to be insane, and has been an inmate of a lunatic asylum, but will this save his life? The crime with which he is charged is punishable with death; and if he is allowed to escape, and spend the remainder of his days in an asylum, there is every probability that the defence of insanity, already too prevalent by far, will become a still more common one in every crime where it can be raised with any show of plausibility. In these days it is difficult to tell a great many lunatics from those supposed to be sane, and if a few examples were made of those who commit most horrible crimes and are then, and not till then, found to be insane, it would prove a great deterrent to certain forms of insanity. If McLean is hanged, there should certainly be no clemency shown to these criminals who are not found to be lunatics till after the perpetration of their villainies.

It would seem that Prince Bismarck is taking a lively interest in the affairs of the Canadian North-West, and is looking towards it as a field for German emigrants, and the "man of blood and iron" appears to be fully as well posted in regard to that territory as our own Government, if not better in many respects. He recently wrote to the German Consul, in Montreal, Mr. Munderloh, asking for further information respecting the North-West: as to its adaptability to agricultural pursuits, its meteorological and climatic characteristics, its resources upon which the future export trade in cattle legitimately hopes to draw, and in fact requesting a statement of all matters concerning that country and its future prospects. This information was furnished to Prince Bismarck last week, and is said to contain full particulars concerning the cereals, temperature, soil and other aspects of the North-West, such as can be supplied by the Canadian Government. It is a well known and indisputable fact that Germans are excellent immigrants, being a thrifty, industrious, and with the exception of a consuming love for beer, moral people, and it is gratifying to see that the German Chancellor is casting his eye Manitobawards, with a view to populating some portion of that country with the subjects of Kaiser Wilhelm.

DIVISION COURT.

The annual report of Mr. Dickey, Inspector of Division Courts for the Province, has been received. The statistics connected with the five Division Courts in Peterborough County are of interest. In Peterborough the first Division Court is held. In this Court the number of suits exclusive of transcript judgments was as follows:—No. 1, 478; No. 2, 161; No. 3, 19; No. 4, 115; No. 5, 68. The amounts of claims entried were:—No. 1 court, $17,772.53; No. 2, $6,273; No. 3, $992.64; No. 4, $3,629.08; No. 5, $2,-198.43. The number of transcripts of judgments in No. 1 court was 17, in No. 2, 18, in No. 3, 3, in No. 4, 7, in No. 5, 11. The amount received in the respective courts for claims by transcripts of judgments from other courts is, No. 1, $46,906; No. 2, $562.44; No. 3, $140.23; No. 4, $299.25; No. 5, $436.44. The number of judgment summonses are, in No. 1 court, 4, and in No. 2 court 4. There was $3,527.01, suitors money, paid into No. 1 court, $2,489.03 paid into No. 2, $423.-30 paid into No. 3; $1358.12 into No. 4, and $236.71 paid into No. 5. $3,443.75 was paid out of No. 1 court, $2489.03 out of No. 2, $437.95 out of No. 3, $1358.12 out of Number 4, and $234.71 out of Number 5. Taking the five courts of Peterborough, we find that the total number of suits, exclusive of transcript judgments, was 841; representing $30,865.89 claims. The transcripts numbered 56. The total number of judgment summonses was 56, the amount of suitors money paid into court, was $8,064.17, and that paid out $7,963.56. The number of suits entered where the amount claimed exceeds $100:—No. 1 court, 25; No. 2, 10; No. 3, 2; No. 4, 6; No. 5, 1. The total number of Division Courts in the Province is 300. The number of suits entered, exclusive of transcripts of judgment summonses, was $71,713; and the amount of the claims entered in these suits was $2,-377,333. The number of judgment summonses issued was 8,007. Of the total amount put in suit there were $894,586 paid into court, and $881,623 paid out of court. The number of suits, where the amount was over $100, was $3,592.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. D. Mackenzie has been selected as the candidate of East Middlesex Reformers for the Local Legislature. The nomination for the Commons was deferred.

Women's rights are making progress in Ontario as will be seen by the following excerpt from the proceedings of a committe of the legislature:

"Mr. Lee's bill, to the effect that every unmarried woman whose name is on the assessment roll of any municipality, and is assessed on an estate for an amount that would entitle a male ratepayer to vote on by-laws requiring the assent of electors shall have the same right of voting on such by-laws as male ratepayers. After some humorous discussion the committee reported the bill on a vote of 14 to 6. The nays were laughed and groaned at by the other members of the committe."

Sir Francis Hinks takes a practical view of the extraordinary suggestion of the Dominion Government that a man should be brought from England to settle the boundary question on the spot. This is what he says:—

"As I am writing on the subject I cannot refrain from noticing the very extraordinary proposal of the Dominion Government to ask an arbitrator to come out to Canada to take evidence on the spot. Evidence!!! To examine witnesses as to the meaning of the Imperial Statue of 1874 or on the boundries of the Hudson Bay Company. Opinions might be got, of course, and Mr. W. McD. Dawson might correct the opinions which he gave in 1875, and which were before the arbitrators; but anything more abused than the suggestion of taking evidence in Canada on the points at issue regarding the boundry has never been prepounded. I read the suggestion simply with amazement."

TOWN COUNCIL.

Special Meeting to Consider the Proposed Railway Question—Objections to the Memorial.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Thursday last, at 4 p.m., to confer upon the advisability of opposing the legislation now asked for by the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

Those present were Councillors Cahill, Reilly, Richardson, Poussette, Rutherford, Menzies and Deane, and the following citizens were also in the hall: Messrs. J. Carnegie, R. A. Morrow, G. Stetham, R. Reve, Jas. Stevenson, T. G. Haslitt, John McClelland, and Wm. Mills.

In the absence of the Mayor, Councillor Menzies was called to the chair, who stated the object of the meeting being called.

Councillor Poussette having read the original clause and amendment as proposed, said that, in accordance with the resolution passed, a memorial had been drawn up and sent to Ottawa. The memorial read as follows:—

To the Honorable the House of Commons for the Dominion of Canada in Parliament assembled:

The petition of the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario, by the Council thereof, humbly sheweth as follows:—

1. Your petitioners view with alarm the amendment to their charter now being asked from your honorable House by the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company.

2. The said Company obtained their charter upon the representation and understanding that their line of railroad would be absolutely independent of aid, would compete with the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company, which now forms part of and is amalgamated with the Midland Railway of Canada.

3. The proposed amendment to its charter although not in express terms so framed as to enable it "to make the necessary arrangements for amalgamation with, or for the acquisition of the charter of, or leasing of the lines" of the Midland Railway of Canada, yet by the words, "or with such other Railway Company or Companies the line of which the Ontario and Quebec Railway when constructed may connect with, intersect or cross" that object will be effected.

4. Your petitioners humbly submit that in view of the fact that the charter was granted to the Ontario and Quebec Railway with the avowed intention of creating competition with the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company, powers should not be granted to the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, which would have the effect of enabling it at any future time to absorb or become absorbed with other competing companies.

Your petitioners therefore pray that the amendments to its charter now asked by the Ontario and Quebec Railway, be not granted by your Honorable House. And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray, &c.

Sealed with the Corporate Seal, and signed on behalf of the Corporation, in pursuance of a resolution of the Council thereof, this fifteenth day of March, A.D., 1882.

He went on to remark that the only railway concerned in the matter was the Midland, as it was in their power to amalgamate with all the others in this district, that one excepted. Peterborough wanted a competing line, and if the legislation was granted we should be as badly off as ever, as the Midland would swallow up the O. & Q. Railway or vice versa.

It was moved by Councillor Rutherford, seconded by Councillor Paterson,—That some of the leading citizens present be heard, as it was desirable to obtain their views on the matter, the question being one of great importance to them.

Mr. Haslitt, on being called for, thought Mr. J. Carnegie should have the first say, and that gentleman thereupon rose and said that, after hearing the memorial read, it struck him that it differed in some respect from what was intended in the resolution, which was not so limited. He favored amalgamation with as many lines west of us as possible, and would like to see the bill passed so that none could take place with any roads between Toronto and Perth. He would limit the amalgamation to the roads specified in the bill.

Mr. R. A. Morrow agreed with the last speaker.

Councillor Poussette differed from Mr. Carnegie, and was of opinion that the memorial set forth in plain terms the wishes of the Peterborough people, and was quite sufficient for the purpose. In speaking of the Grand Trunk authorities, he referred to their unscrupulousness in particular, and to that of railway men in general, and thought that if it lay in their power they would make all the money they could, no matter by what means.

Councillor Cahill could not expect to control the Railroad Committee, nor even our own members, moreover the latter were in a better position to be posted than we are here, and the latter ought to be left to their own judgment the best opportunity to know all about it, and would guard our interests. He would move,—That upon further consideration of the matter of the memorial ordered to be forwarded to Ottawa on the 14th instant, with reference to the proposed amendment to the charter of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, this Council, while opposed to the general powers of amalgamation sought for, are of the opinion that the said Ontario and Quebec Railway should be granted the power of amalgamation with the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, as asked for; and that a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to our representatives at Ottawa, and that the corporate seal be attached to this resolution.

Mr. Haslitt thought that if our representatives urged anything contrary to the interests of the town they were placed in a very strange predicament. He was opposed to the powers asked for. The moment we assume the position set forth in the memorial we were fighting for the Grand Trunk, and thereby playing into their hands, and taking out of the Ontario and Quebec road the power to build a line that was really needed by them. If the memorial could be couched in such terms that the Ontario and Quebec Company could construct such a line it would be for our favor, and that all should be done to encourage them, except offering a bonus, by which we were decidedly opposed. He would decline the legislation asked for to all roads east and west of us, and not allow the O. & Q. R. R. to amalgamate with the Midland.

Councillor Rutherford proposed that the memorial should be withdrawn altogether.

Mr. Cahill could not see the matter in that light, and thought that the memorial left the members free to act as they deemed best.

Mr. Carnegie favored the passing of a resolution and forwarding it to the members, stating exactly what was required.

Councillor Poussette suggested that a clause to that effect should be added to the memorial.

Councillor Cahill's motion now being seconded by Councillor Rutherford, it was carried.

STREETS, BRIDGES, ETC.

Councillor Cahill moved that the Street and Bridge Inspector be instructed to ascertain the amount of street mileage we have to keep in order, and also what portions of the sidewalks are in need repairs.

Some desultory conversation ensued on this subject, but no further action was taken in the matter.

The meeting then adjourned.

CANADIAN MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—With your kind permission I will reply to the strictures of your correspondent "Experience," regarding co-operative life insurance, and before entering into this controversy let me say on behalf of the Canadian Mutual Aid, that we have made no attack, nor do we desire to make any attack, upon life assurance companies, but when we are attacked and slandered, and the air filled with misrepresentation and falsehood concerning us, I think that in sheer self-defence we are fully justified in presenting our side of the picture, and I am satisfied the more it is examined the brighter, clearer and more popular it will become.

He says the more our system is investigated the blacker it appears. It is evident great minds do not always run in the same channel, for in his recent message to the Legislature of New York, Governor Cornell has this to say of Co-operative Insurance:

"The plan of co-operative insurance first inaugurated by various secret societies has, in recent years, become very popular; and many organizations have been established for this distinctive purpose. When prudently organized, and intelligently and honestly managed, this kind of associations undoubtedly offers the most economical mode of life insurance. Providing, as it does, for the comfort, of multitudes of families that might otherwise be left destitute and dependent, it is of the greatest importance that every prudential measure necessary be taken by the State to guard and protect these humane and praiseworthy associations from abuse."

"Experience" say that we entirely ignore the safeguards of successful companies. Which implies that we are drifting along, without chart or compass, to the inevitable breakers ahead. Now, to show that this assertion has no foundation in fact, I give the following statement which I have compiled from the reports of 136 co-operative associations doing business in the States and Canada. They are classed as follows:—64 are Masonic, having a membership of 69,844. Paid to beneficiaries $5,783,436, at an average yearly cost to each member of $9.57 per $1,000 insurance. The death rate has been 0.91, and they have a reserve fund of $384,099. 37 are Odd Fellows, with a membership of 36,439. Paid in benefits $2,055,414, at an average yearly cost to each member of $7.90 per $1,000 of insurance. The death rate has been 0.92, and they have a reserve fund of $100,280. 8 are Jewish, and have a membership of 22,625. Paid death claims amounting to $1,855,220. Their death rate was 0.80, and they have a reserve fund of $274,181. 27 are not confined to any secret order, and report a membership of 120,510. Paid to beneficiaries, $4,119,272. The death rate has been 0.94, and they have a reserve fund of $1,379,616.

Now, Sir, if my friend doubts the truth of this statement I will furnish him with the address of the secretary of each association, and he can ascertain for himself. But I suppose he will say: "Co-operative associations are new in this country, wait until you have experience, and see what your report will be." Well, we will go back on the experience of some of the first that were organized in the United States, and find what this record says:

First, the Knights of Honor, Boston, Mass., whose present membership is about 56,000; benefits, $2,000; yearly cost per $1,000 to each member, $7.00.

Next, the Royal Arcanum, with its 13,000 members; benefits, $3,000; yearly cost to each member, $5.93 per $1,000 of insurance.

And, now, I will glance at the U. B. of Lebanon, which my friend and his friends delight to quote from. The membership is about 15,000, and the average cost per year of carrying a $1,000 risk on a life of 45 years old, since its organization to the 1st January, 1882, was only $16.07 during the first five years of the membership—and the past five years it has only been $14.47. How does that correspond with my friend's prophecy of "decreasing membership and increasing death rate, and expenses, too, are not forgotten?

We also find from the records of this association that the total amount paid into the treasury by deceased members, since its organization to the last day of 1881, was $368,461.64. Total amount paid to the beneficiaries, $2,635,193. Now, I would ask "Experience" how much he would have paid out of his company in proportion to the above amount paid in?

And now, Sir, I will mention a few facts for "Experience" to think about, which clearly proves that all the experience is not on his side.

There are in England alone, more members of associations of this kind than there are policy-holders of all the high-rate companies on the continent of Europe. English statistics show that five of the associations have more than 100,000 members each, and one of them has a membership of over 725,000. Sixty of them have been in existence more than one hundred years. The Detoe Benefit of London lacks only a few years of its second centennial, being founded in 1697. The Norman, of London, was founded in 1703; Society of Linton, 1708; Ovington, of Northumberland, 1711; Gould Smith, of London, 1712; Mutual Brothers, of London, 1717; Hope of London, 1729, all being over one hundred and fifty years old, and doing business to-day. In Denmark 100,000 persons hold membership in these benefit associations, many of which are encouraged and supported by the general government. Now, if these associations can live and flourish in the old world, furnishing cheap and reliable insurance to the masses of the people, why is it not reasonable to suppose that they will endure with equal permanency among the intelligent Canadian people.

The argument, then, that as our association grows older the mortality would rapidly increase, and the expenses thus soon become too great to be borne, I think has been fully met. But, apart from the foregoing proofs, the force of this argument is based upon the false, common sense of a people who readily appreciate the fact that the "old companies" were in probably the same predicament. If the increase in death rate was certain to endanger the existence of the Mutual Aid, then why have not the stock companies failed from a similar cause?

I will not trespass any further on your space at present. In my next I shall deal with those financial considerations, which probably had something to do with leading on the attack of my friend "Experience."

Yours, etc.,

CO-OPERATION.

THE MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—At the last regular meeting of Pickwick Grange, Lakefield, the following resolution was unanimously carried:

Moved by Bro. G. J. Galvin, seconded by Bro. M. E. Sanderson, and resolved,—"That whereas at the eighth annual meeting of the Dominion Grange, held in the city of Toronto recently, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

'Moved by Bro. E. Cameron, Co. Elgin, seconded by T. S. McLeod, Co. of Simcoe, and resolved,—That the Dominion Grange, in session assembled, has learned with pleasure of the success of the Mutual Aid Association, and having confidence in the men who are now managing of the Mutual Aid, we therefore recommend it to the favorable consideration of co-operators.'

Therefore, we the members of Pickwick Grange No. 633, in session assembled, take this opportunity of expressing our regret at the course that Bro. Thomas Johnston, of the township of Otonabee, has thought proper to pursue towards the Mutual Aid, as we fail to see, from anything he has either said or written that it is either an evil or an unsafe association. However, we are glad to learn from every quarter that his unfair criticisms and unfounded allegations are not likely to be very far-reaching or serious in their effects.

NORTH MONAGHAN,

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COUNCIL MEETING.—Pursuant to adjournment the Council of the Corporation of North Monaghan met at the Town Hall on Thursday, the 3rd day of March. Present—Henry Collins, Esq., Reeve, in the chair; Messrs. Brealy, Brownscombe, Foster and Dobbin. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and, on motion, confirmed. Communications were read from Mr. Diamond, Principal of the Ontario Institute for the Education of the Blind, Brantford, acknowledging the receipt of $20, contributed by North Monaghan Council towards clothing for George Doig, who is now a pupil of said Institution; from Mr. Southeran, Clerk of Cavan, stating that a deputation of Cavan Council would meet a deputation of Monaghan Council to examine the bridge at Douglas' Creek, on the boundary line between Monaghan and Cavan. The Reeve presented the auditors' report and statement of the Township accounts for the year 1881, which on motion of Mr. Foster, seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, was received and adopted and the Clerk instructed to have abstract published according to law and 200 copies of the detailed statements printed in sheet form for distribution among the ratepayers. Mr. Thos. Harmer addressed the Council respecting the sale of a part of his park lot for arrears of taxes for the year 1877, and showed a receipt for all taxes demanded of him that year. —No action taken. By-law No. 297, appointing pound-keeper, fence-viewers and overseers of highways, received its second and third readings and was passed. By-law No. 298, to amend By-law No. 2-74, imposing penalties on certain animals running at large, was introduced by Mr. Brealy, put though its various stages, signed and sealed. On motion of Mr. Foster, seconded by Mr. Dobbin, the following accounts were ordered to be paid: —George Hovey, amount payed Wm. Ridgood, for repairing scraper, $2.15; amount paid as charity to purchase flour for Mr. Timlin, $3.000; Clerk, for postage, stationery, &c., $3.25. On motion of Mr. Brownscombe, seconded by Mr. Brealy, the Clerk was instructed to notify Jas. Brown, Wm. Brickley, John Hays and J. W. Fitzgerald to have their fences moved off the roadway across township lot No. 12, in the 12th concession of North Monaghan, as said roadway is about to be opened up as a public highway. Moved by Mr. Foster seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, that this Council do now adjourn to the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

BUCKHORN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE DAM.—The men working on the dam were paid at last one day last week. In future it would better for all concerned, to pay up once every month as it ought to be. Truly it is the same with the Dominion Government as the Local, and that is pay day monthly, and regular at that, and the men wont grumble. Your correspondent will have an eye on this work in the future.

THE SHANTIES.—The men and teams that have been working in the woods at lumbering, have nearly all quit, except those that are taking out cordwood, ties, &c.

BUCKHORN HOUSE.—Mr. Petitt intends to make a good many attractions in his hotel premises this summer, by laying new floors, papering, painting, &c., and levelling the rocks in front of the hotel. Go ahead Tom, you are the right man in the right place. He is looking forward to doing a good Summer business with the tourists. Fishing and hunting cannot be beat in this part of the country.

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion; in a case of unchecked liver complaint, culminating in jaundice, is literally "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act, is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache, impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade, dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humours, female weaknesses, jaundice, and fumbago. It tones the stomach, rouses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $1. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 23, 1882.

The Coming Struggle.

Before very long the people of Canada will be called upon to choose between two opposing parties which shall manage their public affairs for some years to come. The general election may take place a few weeks hence; it must come off in a few months at furthest. What is to be the result? Are public affairs to continue under the control of Sir John Macdonald assisted by Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Hector Langevin; or are they to be transferred to the control of Mr. Blake supported by Mr. Mackenzie, Sir Richard Cartwright Sir Albert Smith and Mr. Burpee? The question is one which the people and they alone can answer. All the grounds of choice will in good time be placed before them, more by way of review than of first mention, for there is hardly an issue likely to affect in any way the result that is not already familiar to all who pay any attention to public affairs. They have heard over and over again all that is to be said for and against the Tilley tariff; they are in possession of all the features of the Pacific Railway contract with the Syndicate; they are aware of the facts relating to the letting of Government contracts on the same railway by which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been squandered in order to favor friends of the Government; they know how gigantic an engine of corruption the Northwest Lands Department has become through the inattention of the Minister of the Interior or his fatal facility for benefitting his friends at the public expense.

What are the chances? The Government prefers to be confident but actions speak louder than words. If they have no fear of the result why hurry on a general election a year sooner than is necessary? If they are sure of a popular verdict in their favor why alter the boundaries of constituencies on an extensive scale in order to make themselves safely mechanical means? If they are not afraid of the results of their policy why do they not allow those results all the time they can afford to develope themselves? It makes little difference, we believe, to the Liberal party when the struggle comes. They have a good cause and a clear record and if the people prefer their opponents with a policy of chicanery and corruption the people can of course have just what they want. Let the elections be brought on when they may the advocates of popular rights and pure administration will be ready. The Liberal party are organising for the contest. We hope to see them continue the work of organisation whether the dissolution comes this year or next. Nothing is to be lost by being prepared for every emergency. Let the voter's list be subjected to the most careful scrutiny in order that, while none may be allowed to vote who have no right to do so, none may be deprived of the franchise who are fairly entitled to it.

As to the probability of a general election coming off this year there are conflicting opinions even amongst those who ought to be well informed. What is certain about it is that, if Sir John Macdonald thinks he can do better by going to the country this year, he will go, and his followers, reluctant as many of them are to face their constituents, will obey him in peace even if they know that they are being led like sheep to the slaughter. They are not in the habit of thinking for themselves as a general thing and it is not likely that they will begin to question the authority of their dictator now. But for some recent occurrences there would have been no doubt of the country being subjected prematurely to the turmoil of a general election this year. One of the obstacles in the way is the firm stand taken by the Ontario Legislature on several questions which have an important bearing on the welfare of this Province, such as the disputed boundary, the right of the public to the use of navigable streams, and the retention of our local railways under local control. Another difficulty is the sudden uprising of public opinion in Quebec against the Chapleau Government on account of the proposed sale of the North Shore Railway, an uprising which amounts to a revolt against Senecal who through Mr. Chapleau rules that Province. How far that revolt extends remains to be seen, but if anything causes Sir John Macdonald to postpone the appeal to the people which he is said to have resolved to make this year, it will be the danger of having his expected majority in Quebec reduced by the unpopularity of the Chapleau Government's railway policy. In any event, however, the Liberal party should continue the work of preparing for the contest so that whether it comes now or a year hence they may be ready for the struggle.

The Future of the North-West.

This is a question which is of the deepest importance to the whole Dominion. If, at some future time, the North-West is going to be the great country which those best acquainted with it believe it will become, it will be simply impossible for the more easterly Provinces, which now hold the balance of power, to control their younger western sisters. On two points the popular tendency is clearly enough defined as matters now stand in the North-West; these are the railway monopoly, and the heavy customs duties. It is evident that the Legislature of Manitoba will, sooner or later, if the Dominion Parliament does not, charter another company to build a line connecting with the Northern Pacific and other United States' trunk lines. The monopoly cannot last many years, but meanwhile it may do a great deal of mischief. As it was not necessary, in order to secure the building of even the through line of the Canada Pacific, the Government must assume all responsibility for the existence of any evils that may yet be found traceable to the absorption of rival local lines by the Syndicate.

That the people of the North-West are beginning to see the pernicious effects of high custom duties, is not surprising. The wonder is rather that they have not spoken out more strongly long ago. To attempt to keep down all smuggling along the 49th parallel would be perfectly futile. Trade will be to a large extent free, and this very freedom, illicit as it is, will educate the people into hostility towards all artificial restrictions on their trade with their neighbors.

Had the influx of population into the North-West been normal there would have been some ground for hoping that it would be assimilated, and that the North-West would have at least remained Canadian. As matters look now it is very unsafe to predict what the ultimate future of that region will be. The question is a far-reaching one and one that will attract to itself more attention a few years hence than it does just now. Even at this stage of our history, however, it is worth while asking the authors of the Tilley tariff whether the benefits it has conferred on the country, if any, are sufficient to compensate for the disaffection of which it is sowing the seed in the North-West.

The Car-Works By-Law.

Mr. Wigle's proposition that only one-third of those entitled to vote on a by-law granting a bonus, came up for consideration in the Local Legislature, the week previous to the adjournment. After some discussion the House adopted the suggestion of Mr. Ross, that only two-fifths of the whole vote, instead of the majority, should be required, thus making provision for non-residents. The Bill has been read a third time and assented to, so that on the car-works by-law, only two-fifths of the whole number of voters will be required to vote "yea," to carry it, instead of one-half, as under the old law. The following is the clause of Act just passed, which will operate:—

"To render valid a by-law of any municipality for granting a bonus in aid of a railway or for promoting any manufacture, or for taking stock in any railway company, or for lending money to such company, or for guaranteeing the payment of money borrowed by any such company, or for lending money to any other company or person on condition of such company or person establishing or continuing a manufactory in or near such municipality, the assent shall be necessary of two-fifths of all ratepayers who were entitled to vote, as well as of a majority of the ratepayers voting on the by-law; such assent to be ascertained as hitherto; and, in addition to the certificate required by the three hundred and tenth section of the Municipal Act; the clerk, in case of the majority of votes being in favour of the by-law, shall further certify whether or not, as far as shown by the voters' list and assessment roll, such majority appears to be two-fifths of all the voters who were entitled to vote on the by-law; and in case of dispute as to the result of the vote, the judge shall have the same powers for determining the question as he has in any case of a scrutiny of the votes." This section shall not apply to or affect any by-law which has been submitted by the council on or before the day of the passing hereof, and which has been actually voted on.

PRESENTATIONS.

MR. G. H. JOHNSTON THE HAPPY RECIPIENT

A committee of Oddfellows waited upon Mr. George H Johnston on the eve of his departure to Winnipeg and presented him with the following address accompanied by a handsome dressing case. The Noble Grand of Peterborough Lodge read the address and Mr. R. J. Lee made the presentation.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., March 20th, 1882.
To GEO. H. JOHNSTON, Esq.

DEAR FRIEND AND BROTHER.—The members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111 I.O.O.F., having learned that you are about to remove from our midst to the "Great North West," cannot allow you to depart without giving an expression of the loss we feel the Lodge will sustain by your removal, and of our appreciation of the manly qualities, genial disposition and valuable services which have endeared you to all, and especially to your Brother Oddfellows. We regret to lose your presence at our meetings of the Lodge in which you have always taken a deep interest and of which you have been so long a number and as exemplary officer. We ask your acceptance of this dressing case as a token of the respect and esteem in which you are held by all and we hope it may remind you of the good wishes which accompany you to your new sphere of labor. We trust your future may be attended with happiness and prosperity and that you may ever be actuated by the noble principles of our Order, and if not permitted to meet again in Lodge below that we may all meet you in the Grand Lodge above.

Signed on behalf of Peterborough Lodge No 111 I.O.O.F. J. C. T. LACY, N. G.

Mr. Johnston replied in a few suitable remarks, being altogether taken by surprise.

ANOTHER.

The residence of Mrs. J. H. Dixon was the scene of a very pleasing event on Friday night last. It was selected as the place to make a presentation to Mr. G. H. Johnston, who has been for a number of years in the employment of Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co., and a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Choir for a long period, and who is about to take his departure for Winnipeg, where he enters into business with his brother Alfred who has been a resident there for a long time. Invited guests to the number of sixty assembled, and after some hours had been pleasantly spent Mr. J. B. McWilliams was moved into the chair, and, after stating the object of the gathering, called on Mr. D. D. Galletly to read the following address.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., March 17th, 1882.
DEAR FRIEND.—Having heard that you were about to leave us and push your fortune in the "Great Lone Land" we, the members of St. Paul's Church choir considered we would not be doing our duty, if we allowed you to depart without presenting you with some tangible proof of our esteem and regard for you as a member of the choir. Your services to St. Paul's Church as Chorister, Librarian, and Praise leader at the Young Men's Sabbath Morning Prayer Meeting, have all been given by you, we know, as labours of love for the Master's sake, and as such cannot be repaid by us. But to show that we appreciate your services we now entreat you to accept of this.

We are sorry that our time to call upon the members of the church was so limited, as we feel assured from the hearty response made by the few, that our souvenirs would have been intrinsically more valuable. However, we know that it is the spirit which prompts the act more than the gift that you will most appreciate. We trust, dear friend, when you will be far distant from us, these tokens of our regard and esteem will remind you of the many well wishing friends you have in Peterborough. Also these tokens will doubtless remind you of the many happy Sabbath days in which your voice has accorded with ours in the sweet Songs of Zion. Should it never again be our lot to sing together these songs on earth, we hope we will meet in Heaven, there to join in singing with the "White Robed Choir" of the Redeemed, the ever new song, "Worthy is the Lamb." And now in parting, dear friend, we wish you God speed in the far West. That you may be prosperous and happy wherever you may go, is the earnest wish of us all.

Misses Galletly and Logan then presented Mr. Johnston with a valuable gold ring and a handsome autograph album.

Mr. Johnston having replied with a few appropriate remarks the enjoyable gathering broke up, all being united in their good wishes for his future welfare, and speaking in most complimentary terms of the manner in which they had been entertained.

Mr. Johnston has the EXAMINER's heartiest wishes for future success, and prosperity; as he is known to be a man of sterling integrity and business capacity, and he will doubtless return from the Northwest laden with wealth and honor.

THE CHURCHES.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

On account of the sudden indisposition, it is to be hoped only a temporary one, of the Rev. G. C. Workman, the morning service was taken and the sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Stobo, of the Baptist Church. Preparatory to the sermon, the reverend gentleman paid a very high compliment to the senior pastor, Rev. Mr. Shaw, of this church, dwelling upon the kind and brotherly treatment experienced by him at his hands, during his recent sickness. The congregation was not a large one. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was excellent.

The preacher took his text from the 21st verse of the 5th chap. II Corinthians, "For He hath made Him to be sin for us who know no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him," and in the course of his remarks he said that if men acknowledged a superior Being and a state of reward and punishment hereafter, they must also acknowledge that the sin gulf between God and man must be bridged somehow if man is to be the son and heir of God. Man needs a prop of some kind to lean upon for strength and solace, and true religion supplies that prop. It is conceded by all thinking and observing men that moral reformation is the great need of fallen humanity, and its doctrine, not human depravity, but the motive to induce men to turn from their sin and live. Deism and Paganism both present motives for living properly, but these motives are seen to be merely mercenary and interested ones. In the words of the text we are taught that it is not so much a sense of duty, but a feeling of love which leads us to reverence God and obey His commands. The religion of the truly good man, from pressure of love, is childlike, sunny and generous, and his spirit loving, tender and forgiving. If the tap root of a man's religion be holy, so also will be its fruit. The motive of such religion is love. The excellence and power of the Gospel is love, and the love of God begets love. Revealed religion is an experience; salvation a precious blessing. Communion with God is something that we enjoy on this side of the grave. If there be one thing in revealed religion calculated to teach a man all that is right and just it is the truth. God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved. Repentance is the tear drop in the eye of faith. When we look on the Crucified One, can we do else than confess sin? What feelings of love should we experience when we think of the blessed Son of the most High hanging on the accursed tree that our sins might be taken away from us through him. There may be many things in revealed religion which we cannot conceive, but the Gospel presents true motives to a life of true holiness. The Gospel makes for a man a character for holiness, virtue and manliness. In the text is seen a great fact in human history, not can we altogether comprehend that fact. We cannot measure the distance through which Christ descended to redeem us. The highest and lowest spots in that descent may be marked, but the intervening space we have no conception of. In the passage selected for the text we have the great fact on which rests the structure of Christianity—the doctrine of substitution. As Isaiah has said: "He was wounded for our iniquities, and suffered for our transgressions, and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray, but the Lord took all our iniquities upon himself." The Gospel tells us how God can forgive sins consistent with His justice, and how he can save sinners in such a way that justice and mercy ever harmonize. We accept Christ, by faith, as our sin bearer, and if any man be in Christ he becomes a new creature. In the text we have the basis of all Christian hope. If we lean on anything short of the finished work, we lean on a broken reed. Faith in the atonement fits a man to bear life's ills, and to come off more than a conqueror, and though this earthly tabernacle be dissolved we have a house in the Heavens not made with hands. Let us think of this when borne down with disease and suffering, and when all seems gloomy and dark in life, not giving way to despair, but ever trusting in Christ by faith, and a sure hope of an eternal reward hereafter. In that verse of Scripture read, behold the believer's security and comfort, and however much we may strive and endeavor to live happily, it is all of no avail without we rest ourselves entirely on Christ. The only ground of reconciliation and pardon is the atonement, and if we are not saved by Jesus Christ, we are eternally lost, for we may seek to be saved by other means, but there is no other saver of sinners than He alone, and there is no other way of winning men to Christ save through love of Him. God has said: "This is my Son whom I give for you." Christ says: "These wounds have I suffered for you," and when we think how great the sacrifice for us poor mortals, how vast those sufferings were, we can feel nothing but the purest love for Him who took all our sins upon himself. "Christ made sins for us," is the fact on which a man may lean when he leaves this clay cottage for the house not made with hands. May Christ so open our minds that we may see Him, and Him alone, to be our righteousness, peace and salvation.

The reverend gentleman said that he never read the text selected but it called up an incident which once came under his own personal observation. He was once journeying on the Welland Railroad between St. Catharines and Port Colborne, when he noticed a woman clad in mourning, whose garments were those of a widow. Beside her was a little nine-year-old boy, and in an adjacent seat sat a ruddy faced, loudly dressed woman, who would pass amongst those who only judge by external evidence, for a lady. She was of a vulgar and enquiring mind, and had no idea that bereavement is a sacred thing, and that her impertinent queries re-opened wounds only recently healed. "I see," she said "that you are a widow. How long is it since your husband died? How did he die, and is that your boy?" "My husband was a lock-tender on the Welland Canal," was the reply, "and one day whilst working in his garden, with this little boy, who is an adopted child, playing near him, a schooner appeared which was about to pass through the lock. The boy ran down the bank, and failing to check himself in time, fell into the canal. My husband sprang after him, and seized him as he was about to sink, but in leaping injured the structure of his heart. Though he felt that he was dying he held the boy with his head above water, but just as the latter was taken from his hand, he sank to rise no more alive." "Oh!" said the other woman, "I could not bear to have the child near me. I should hate the sight of him. Why don't you send him away?" "Madam," said the widow, "you do not know my feelings. I love the boy all the more, for my husband gave his life for that of the child," and so it is with God; He loves us all the more in that He gave his dear Son's life that we might be saved.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

At the evening service of this church the Rev. E. F. Torrance preached, taking as his text the 22nd verse of the 9th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. "But Saul increased the more in strength and confounded the jews that dwelt at Damascus, and proved that this is very Christ."

We behold Damascus, the same city that it was, in appearance, but a short time ago. The minarets of its temples still glitter and glint in the roseate beams of the setting sun, the river still flows onward as it has done for centuries, but though all things are to the eye the same, in reality there is a wondrous change in the city and a mighty conflict has taken place. Saul has been there, and his teachings and arguments and works have brought about this great transformation. The preacher then said that he would draw the attention of his hearers to the era in Saul's life between his conversion and his departure from Jerusalem to Tarsus and the regions of Cilicia.

First we must consider his preparation. We must not judge from the meagre account given in the Acts of the Apostles that Saul commenced his great work without preparation, for his epistles show that he was long preparing himself for his mighty career. We learn that he went into Arabia for a certain time and afterwards returned to Damascus to preach. Now why did he retire into the solitudes of Arabia? For the purpose of qualifying himself for the work of a great preacher. Though superficial natures may engage, but never successfully, in great works, without much preparation, it is not so with great minds. As it was with Saul, so it had been with Moses, Elijah and John the Baptist, all three of whom had betaken themselves for a period into solitude during their preparation and qualification. Paul had no necessity for a deeper insight into classical lore, but what he required was spiritual preparation, the result of spiritual communion with God. He needed solitude that he might learn his own heart and become more and more accustomed to gaze upon the brightness of Supreme majesty. We are told that Saul went into Arabia, and it is pleasing to know that this was the very place where so many interesting events had taken place even from the time of Moses. It would appear that Saul was afflicted with some physical infirmity as he often alludes to something of that nature in his epistles. It is altogether probable that he suffered from some affection of the eyes, but he did not, as some imagine, retire into solitude that this might be cured, but it is much more probable that he did so for spiritual reflection and communion. Saul learned in those Arabian deserts to examine his own heart and to commune with God.

Secondly let us consider Saul's preaching at Damascus and Jerusalem. He did speak in the synagogue of the former place immediately after his conversion and before he went to Arabia, though the Acts are silent on this matter, still there is ample evidence to show that such was the fact. Christ was his creed. His life was bound up in Christ and love for Christ burned within the Apostles' soul. The Jews soon entered into controversies with him but they were totally unable to withstand his, doubtless, inspired arguments, and we can fancy their looks and feelings of rage and hatred as they found themselves beaten by him and worsted at every point. It is most interesting to trace Saul's future history to the time when, to escape an intended persecution, perhaps death, he is ignominiously compelled to be let down over the walls of Damascus in a basket, and thence flees to Jerusalem, whither he went to see Peter. As he draws near to the Holy City, he passes the spot where Stephen was stoned to death, and what memories must have crowded into his mind as he saw the glittering pinnacles of the temple and the mount of Calvary, and what wondrous thoughts must have passed through his mind on beholding those scenes! He anticipates a stormy reception from his former associates since he has now embraced Christianity, but he expects the right hand of fellowship from those who profess the same belief as he himself, but even they treat him coldly, looking upon him as a spy, and not placing any confidence in the reality of his conversion. He abode at Jerusalem with Peter fifteen days and we can imagine what a pleasant and profitable time this must have been to both, and how Saul anxiously listens to Peters description of the crucifixion of Christ and of those other stupendous events which had recently occurred.

In the third place we must consider Saul's visit to Tarsus, whither he was compelled to flee to escape a conspiracy against his life. Many questions must arise as to the manner in which he supported himself whilst there, but to these we can get no definite answer, and it is only a matter of surmise what his actions were in that place, but we may rest assured that he was not idle in the work of Christianity. About this period we read that the churches in Jerusalem had a rest and were freed temporarily from the Jewish persecutions. The reason for this was a design of one of the Roman emperors to erect an idol in one of the temples, and the people so zealously endeavored to oppose this that they lacked the time to persecute the Christians. To enter entirely into all that was transpiring at this period would occupy too great a time, but respecting Saul's preparation we are certain that he spent a long period in self commune and examination. And so should it be with all who endeavor to preach to and teach their brethren in these days, and those who would do so must thoroughly examine themselves and seek for help from above, without which the works of man are as nothing.

SKATING CARNIVAL.

The Carnival in the rink on Friday night, was not a success in point of numbers, as the notice given was so short and the committee were unable to secure the band from town, they having a previous engagement, but the costumes were far ahead of those of the previous carnival and in a number of instances showed great taste. The ice was in good condition and all enjoyed it. Among the ladies, Miss C. Wood as an Indian maid, and Miss E. Griffin as Genius of the Sea, were the best; among the gentlemen, Master Charley Clarin as Mother Hubbard, Mr. Eden as a man-of-war's man, and T. J. Bird as Henry V, the latter, no doubt, feeling what it was to be a king, if only for a night. The following is the list of the costumes:—

FORESTER'S MEETING.

The regular meeting of Court Lakefield No. 43, C. O. O. F., will be held in the Union Hall, on Thursday evening, 23rd inst.

SHANTIES.

Nearly all the shanties have broken up and in most cases they have left a large number of logs in the woods. Mr. G. Stone, foreman for Ross & Co., has managed to get all of his 20,000 out and feels quite proud over it.

STYLISH.

Our village carter, while on a visit to Peterborough, was so taken with the stylish rigs used there, in comparison with our backwoods fashion, that he secured one with all its striking colors, and now, if any kind friend will only present him with a set of silver-mounted harness and a fancy whip, he would not look at Winnipeg or Brandon soil.

CANOES.

Mr. T. Gordon, our well-known boat builder, is finishing the last of a lot of 10 canoes for shipment to England; they are a different style from those formerly made, being lighter and at the same time stronger; a strip of zinc covers the seams inside and narrow ribs are set two inches apart, no dirt or wet can collect to rot the wood, and they are far easier kept clean, in fact they are the neatest and strongest built canoe ever seen here. Mr. Gordon will certainly receive numerous orders as soon as they are known among our sporting men.

LAKEFIELD.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—In the Lakefield correspondence of the Review, of the 17th inst., a letter appears from Mr. Sheldrake, in which, we believe, very just complaints are made about certain insults and annoyances on our streets, especially on Sunday evenings after church, by a number of youths, residing principally outside of the village. We were pleased to note, in reading the letter, that, to the credit of Lakefield, the charge was not against any of the children of the village or our public school, as we have, with very few exceptions, invariably found that their conduct has been marked, not only by the inhabitants of the village, but also by visitors, as praiseworthy. The correspondent of the Review, in his remarks with regard to Mr. S.'s letter, makes a comparison of the boys of thirteen years ago and those of the present time, and states that now "we have to admit an absolute rudeness," and a little further on he says that they cannot be charged with "rowdyism." If the conduct of the children, as he states, is that of "absolute rudeness," we fail to see how it can be anything short of rowdyism. Perhaps he can explain! Again he states that it is to be hoped the Lakefield School Board will not neglect this matter any longer, but that some attention will be paid to the development of civility, &c. We would like to ask what the School Board has to do with youths patrolling our streets on Sunday nights or any other time, for that matter? Does he hold that the Board is responsible for their conduct, and, if so, in what way? This weakly correspondent has been a member of that Board for over three years, and we are not aware that any effort has been made by him, as trustee, to remedy the state of affairs he speaks of.

In conclusion, we would state that the rudeness or rowdyism complained of is not among the boys with which the P.S. Board has to deal, but among youths who are entirely out of the reach of the Board in its official capacity; and that the remarks of the correspondent appear to us to have a tendency to damage the character of our village in the eyes of outsiders, without in any way elevating the moral tone of the place.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space,

I am, Yours Respectfully,
RATEPAYER.

RESTORED TO COMPLETE HEALTH.—From Chas. M. Perry, of Brooks, Me: "From early youth I was in feeble health, troubled with humor in my blood, weakness and debility of the system generally: was unable to labor much, and only at some light business, and then only with great caution. Seven years ago, the past spring, I had a severe attack of Diphtheria, which left my limbs paralyzed and useless, so that I was unable to walk or even sit up. Noticing the advertisement of PERUVIAN SYRUP, I gave it a trial, and to my great joy soon found my health improving. I continued the use of the SYRUP until three bottles had been used, and was restored to complete health, and have remained so to this day. I attribute my present health entirely to the use of PERUVIAN SYRUP, and hold it in high estimation. I cannot speak too strongly in its praise. I have several times recommended it in cases very similar to my own with the same good results." Sold by all druggists.

ROTHSCHILD'S MAXIMS.

According to George Francis Train, the late Baron Rothschild had the following excellent maxims framed on his bank walls:—

Be prompt in all things.
Consider well, then decide positively.
Dare to do right. Fear to do wrong.
Endure trials patiently.
Fight life's battles bravely, manfully.
Go not into the society of the vicious.
Hold integrity sacred.
Injure not another's reputation or business.
Join hands only with the virtuous.
Keep your mind from evil thoughts.
Lie not for any consideration.
Make few acquaintances.
Never try to appear what you are not.
Observe good manners.
Pay your debts promptly.
Question not the veracity of a friend.
Respect the counsel of your parents.
Sacrifice money rather than principle.
Touch not, taste not, handle not intoxicating drinks.
Use your leisure time for improvement.
Venture not upon the threshold of wrong.
Watch carefully over your passions.
'Xtend to every one a kindly salutation.
Yield not to discouragements.
Zealously labor for the right.
And success is certain.

What we Value

The reputation of keeping reliable goods.
The name of fair and honourable dealers.
The character of always doing what we profess.
And the paying patronage of a satisfied public.

WHAT THE PUBLIC VALUE

Is the supply of their wants at the very lowest cost. This is commendable and the endeavour to meet the demand is the mainspring of our business. From the inception of our trade we were THE FIRST who adopted the basis of selling for cash. The amount of our sales has shewn most decidedly that this line of dealing has been appreciated. Another lever in lifting our trade into prominence has been our buying our goods in LARGE LOTS, not by the piece. This in addition to our invariable practice of constantly receiving goods, instead of at two seasons of the year, gives the public a constant opportunity to get what is fresh, what is fashionable, and what must be the best value. Our standing in the markets has an effect in the direction of decent legitimate trade that the public value.

We believe in giving a good article, putting the price at a thoroughly reasonable living profit, and then stamping the article with our recommendation.

We have experience as to what goods to buy and where to procure them, both to our own and to our customers advantage.

We employ so many hands that orders are filled with a promptitude that is gratifying to customers.

We consider that our facilities for handling and showing goods are such as to distance all competitors. We have many assurances to this effect.

Our prices are invariably the same, one to all buyers. In the case of large buyers we shall be happy to allow a liberal discount in keeping with the extent of the order. This is what we have been doing and shall continue to do during the coming season.

All goods marked in plain selling figures and children can buy from our counters at the same prices as the keenest bargainer may look for.

Come and see us, examine our goods and prices, and be convinced of our merits.

THE DYING INFANT.

(From the German.)

Pale, motionless and silent, lay
An infant on its bed,
While on its face the smile of peace,
A heavenborne halo shed.
And on that face a mother gazed,
With looks of wild despair,
Ominous that death's relentless hand
Had placed its signet there.

She saw alone the hastening hour
When to her fond caress,
No more she might those ruby lips
With tenderest rapture press.
But saw not in that placid smile,
The brighter vision seal'd,
Which on her darling's spirit broke
To her yet unreveal'd.

For near a couch an angel spread
His pure ethereal wings,
Imparting to that spotless soul
Unutterable things;
And whisper'd soft of anguish spared,
Of bliss immortal given,
And all its new-born senses filled
With dreams of opening heaven!

THE FOUNTAIN OF TEARS.

If you travel o'er valley and mountain,
Far into the country of sorrow,
To-day, and to-night, and to-morrow,
And may be for months and for years,
You shall come with a heart that is bursting,
For trouble, and toiling and thirsting,
You shall certainly come to the fountain,
At length—to the fountain of tears.

Very peaceful the place is, and solely
For piteous lamenting and sighing,
From those who come living or dying
Alike from their hopes and their fears.
Full of cypress-like shadows the place is,
And statutes that cover their faces.
But out of the gloom spring the holy
And beautiful Fountain of Tears,

And it flows, and it flows with a motion
So gentle, and lovely, and listless,
And murmurs a tune so resistless
To him who hath suffered and hears.
You shall surely without a word spoken,
Kneel down there and know your heart's broken,
And yield to the long curbed emotion,
That day by the Fountain of Tears.

Farm, Garden & Household.

Distance Apart for Trees.

Existing orchards illustrate the varied opinions of orchardists relating to the distance trees should be planted apart. Thirty feet was considered sufficient for all purposes, when I planted my orchard of ten acres twenty years ago, but we are gradually learning that to grow perfect fruit in size and color, plenty of sunshine and a free circulation of air are important essentials; and, as many are now practising, thirty-five or even forty feet apart is decidedly a preferable distance for a fully matured orchard.

Make the Ground Count.

We have learned one mistake we have made for years past, and that is, covering too much ground with too few plants. Vacancies not only make a loss, but are expensive every way—in preparation and cultivation of soil, in extra expense for manure, and in interest and tax on land. We are too apt to be ambitious as to having a great number of acres planted, regardless of the yield, expense, &c. We will guarantee that, as a rule, persons having the less land get the most fruit from their land in proportion to the number of acres, and make the most money.—Fruit Recorder.

The Pea Weevil.

A correspondent writes. "I have observed of late numerous complaints of the difficulty of guarding pea and bean seed from the weevil. Your subscriber has found an effectual remedy, and gives it for the benefit of those seeking such. After harvesting, dry thoroughly in the sun and afterwards place in jars, cans or barrels that have been thoroughly heated before the fire, placing in each vessel a bottle of turpentine, not corking the bottle but simply tying a piece of cloth over its mouth. Cover the vessel as airtight as possible, and afterwards expose to the sun occasionally. The fumes of the turpentine engendered by the heat kill the egg of weevil deposited in the seed when it is green.

In-Growing Toe Nail.

As this is a very painful malady, it may be worth a great deal to some of our many readers to say that the trouble is not with the nail, but with the flesh which gets up on it, thereby becoming inflamed, and the inflammation and swelling are kept up by the presence of the nail, which also acts as a foreign body. To cure [illegible] the neighbouring toe (which by the way is really the offender), and with it press the swollen flesh down and away from the nail, then bind the two firmly together with adhesive strips, which may be had at any drug store. If the strips get loose, and the flesh slips up on the nail again, readjust the toes and put on fresh plaster until the flesh re-habituates itself to its former place. This is the only rational treatment.

Wash for Fruit Trees.

The object in applying a wash to trees is not so much to remove the rough and scaly outer bark as to destroy the parasitic plants and insects which adhere to the surface of the bark and sap the vitality of the tree by a constant drain upon the circulating current. One form of wash is made by adding one pound of whale oil soap to three gallons of warm water, stirring well and applying with a stiff broom or brush. The trunk should be rubbed thoroughly and hard, to remove as much as possible of loose bark, so that the liquid may reach every part of the surface. Another good wash is a weak lye from wood ashes. A third wash is made by adding two quarts of soft water to one gallon of common soft soap. Place these in a vessel over the fire, and when warm the soap and water are readily combined by stirring, and should be applied in the same manner as the whale oil application. The best results are obtained by washing the tree about three times during the season, applying the first in March or April, the second in June, and the last in August. The insects, as well as moss, will be effectually removed, leaving the bark in a fine, healthy condition.

Cures for Balky Horses.

A writer to the London Times suggests three ways to start a balky horse.

"Jibbing is the result of a temporary mental state, and the object in view should be to divert the animal's mind from its one prevailing idea. I had a fine mare that now and then would jib. I would alight and jingle my keys near her ear. I would then pat her and pass my hand down the leg and lift up the fore-foot; then with a piece of stone, my pocket knife, or a large coin, hammer on her shoe a few times, and on dropping her foot we were ready for a fresh start without further trouble. Two other modes, among many, may be adopted: 1. For the driver to be provided with a small bottle of something that a horse abhors, and which stings or irritates; by placing a small portion on the tongue of the horse, all its thoughts are directed to clean its mouth, and every other consideration is clean gone from its mind. 2. A small portion of something that is offensive to the sense of smell of a horse may be placed on or near its nostril. He will snort, sneeze, and think no more of his jib."

Women's Shoes.

Take the recent fashion of shoes. The heel of the human being projects outward or rather backward, and give steadiness to "the sure and certain step of man." But fashion has decided that the heel of the boot or shoe shall get as near the centre of the instep as possible. Instead of the weight of the body resting upon an arch, in the modern fine lady it rests upon pegs with the toe in front, which have to prevent the body from toppling forward. Then the heel is so high that the foot rests upon the peg and the toes; and the gait is about as elegant as if the lady were practising walking upon stilts. In order to poise the lady on these two points a bend forward is necessitated, which is regarded as the correct attitude of the "form divine." It is needless to say that there are few ankles which can stand the strain without yielding; and it is quite common to see young ladies walking along with their ankles twisting all ways, or perhaps with the sole of their shoe or boot escaping from under the foot and the side of the heel in contact with the ground. With such modern improvement on sandals (which allow the feet perfect freedom and play) the present mademoiselle, when she attempts to run, is a spectacle at which the gods—well, not quite that, but at which her mother might well weep.

Sowing Seed.

The time will soon arrive for general seed-sowing, and a hint or two in regard to it may not be out of place. Much that is sown never appears, and the seedsman is charged with selling old or poor seeds. Sometimes this may be so, but very often it is the sower's own fault. There is much more art in sowing seeds successfully than people suppose, and yet it is very simple when understood. Many seeds are sown too deep, and yet if not deep enough they will dry up and not grow at all. The depth must be determined by the size of the seed and the character of the soil. If the soil be light and sandy, there is not so much danger of the seed rotting from deep sowing as if the soil be stiff; and even in stiff soil the depth will have to be determined by the condition of the soil. Suppose we are to sow a piece of oats, in land that is liable to become clotty, and this is the distinction between light and heavy land. If we can roll the land after sowing it would not matter much about sowing deep; but the seed would have to be harrowed in pretty well if left in a clotty condition unrolled. Indeed, if the seed were sown on ground simply first harrowed and then rolled in such land as we have described, many more seeds would do well than if harrowed before rolling. In other words shallow sowing, if the ground is well pulverized and pressed firm, is more favorable than deep-planting with a rough surface. Finely pulverized soil, with a well-pressed surface, is indeed the very best condition for success with all seeds; and the shallowest kind of sowing, so that the seeds be firmly imbedded in the soil, is the essence of good seed growing.—Farmer's Advocate.

Age of Sheep.

The following table of the periods of dentition will be found useful in determining the age of sheep:—

At one month, eight temporary front teeth and three temporary molars on each side of each jaw.

At three months, one permanent molar is added to these three.

At nine months, the second permanent molar appears.

At fourteen months, two permanent incisors appear.

At eighteen months, the third permanent molar appears.

At twenty-one months, there are four permanent incisors.

At twenty-seven months, temporary molars are changed and permanent ones appear.

At thirty months, there are six permanent incisors.

At thirty-six or forty-two months, there are eight permanent incisors.

It has been decided in an English court of law, that a lamb becomes a sheep when the first pair of permanent incisors have appeared. When the mouth is full-toothed, the sheep is considered mature, or full grown; when the teeth begin to show signs of wear, the sheep is "aged."

There are other evidences of age to which attention may be given, such as loss of wool on the head, legs and parts of the body; loss of vigor, lack of plumpness and the looks of the skin, and susceptibility to changes of weather. Some idea of a Merino ram's age may be had from the appearance of the horns, which become not only large, but more corrugated as age advances. Sheep that have been kept well will be found to "carry age" better than those subjected to privation. With ewes, the number and frequency of lambs born has an important appearance as age advances, as every draft upon the constitutional vigor tends to enhance the appearance of age.

Pink Eye.

The disease so prevalent among horses just now, both in the States and Canada, and known as "Pink Eye," is usually caused by continued damp weather and imperfect ventilation.

The disease is infectious, and is also epizootic. The treatment should be rest and confinement in a warm but not close stable. A cooling medicine, such as Epsom salts, should be given, followed by flax seed tea or mashes of flax seed and bran. The horse's usual diet should be some what lessened. As soon as the disease is seen to be on the turn the horse should be well fed on the best quality of oats and hay and gently exercised, but not exposed to severe weather.

A STRAIN ON THE CASK.

The logic adopted by the defenders of the N. P. remind us of an anecdote. A Yankee hotel keeper sent a 10 gallon keg to be filled with beer at a celebrated brewery. It was duly filled, sent home and charged 12 gallons. Of course the buyer was puzzled to know what kind of necromancy was employed to put 12 gals. into a 10 gal. keg. After the vendor assured the buyer that it was all correct, no matter whether he could see it or not, the latter merely remarked, "Well, I don't object to paying for the beer, but it is an awful strain on the keg." In like manner it is a terrible strain on a man's imagination to believe that he pays more for his coal yet it costs him less, that the manufacturer sells his goods cheaper yet makes more money than he formerly did. Mathematicians tell us figures don't lie, but if all this be true we fear they will lose their good reputation.—Ottawa Free Press.

WHY HE OBJECTED.

(Stamford Advocate.)

A crude old farmer, living on the line of one of the recent railroad surveys, and who is owner of a barn of large dimensions, with huge swinging doors, observed a posse of surveyors busily driving a row of stakes through his premises that extended to the very centre of his big barn. Sauntering leisurely toward the trespassers, with an air savoring somewhat of indignation, he addressed the leader of the gang as follows:

"Layin' out another railroad?"

"Surveying for one," was the reply.

"Goin threw my barn?"

"Don't see how we can avoid it."

"Wall, now, mister," said the worthy farmer, "I calkerlate I've got sumthin' tew say 'bout that. I want you tew understan' that I've got sumthin' else tew dew beside runnin' out to open and shet them doors every time a train wants to go threw."

HOW A YOUNG AMATEUR MUSICIAN WON HIS HONORS.

"I think," said a well-known orchestral leader, "the best joke ever played in San Francisco was on an ambitious amateur pianist when Gotschalk was there. The amateur's father was the owner of a large hall, and he offered the use of it to Gotschalk for his benefit. There was to be a piece for eight pianos, and the amateur was to play on one of the instruments. I was leader. I thought Gotschalk would have a fit when I told him that the amateur couldn't play three straight notes of the piece. 'He is sure to throw us all out,' said I, 'and ruin the performance.'"

"Gotschalk swore like a major, but 'twas no good. The bills were out, and he couldn't go back on his programme, even if the gift of the hall for the night was no consideration to him. At last I hit upon an idea that fixed the whole business. The amateur came down to rehearsal and we praised him up until he thought he was to be star of the night. As soon as he left we took the hammers out of his piano and made it as dumb as an oyster. I guessed he would never know the difference with seven pianos going at once. And just as I thought," said the leader, hammering on the table with his glass; "that amateur or his friend never discovered the trick. He just sailed in and pounded on that piano as if it was the worst enemy he ever had. He was bound to show off among so many good pianists and hammered on his keyboard until the perspiration nearly blinded him. Now and then I looked at him approvingly to give him fresh courage, and every time I did he gave the piano a lick that nearly made matchwood of it. His friends all around threw boquets at him till he looked like a wedding arch, and when 'twas all over his fond parent fell on his neck in the green-room and slipped a check for $250 into his hand. The old man didn't know whether he was standing on his head or his heels, he was so tickled, and the way he set up the wine for the crowd was a caution. I never heard an amateur do so well in public. Don't you think I did right?"

REPORTING A WEDDING.

"I say," said the reporter, "I don't know whether this is right."

"Don't know whether what is right?" demanded the city editor.

"This wedding. I went there to-night and they gave me a heap of rot about their frocks; but I don't know whether it comes out straight or not. Now here is Mrs. ———. I've got her in a pannier silk, trimmed a la gros grain, with black point lace underskirt and box-plaited hair. Does that sound natural?"

"Who sent you to a wedding?" asked the city editor, contemptuously. "Don't you know that gros grain is a color? That was a gros grain box-plaited dress, trimmed a la black point lace, and her hair was combed en pannier. You ought to know better than to get things mixed that way. What else did you get? How was the bride dressed?"

"I've got her all right," replied the West End reporter. "She wore a white bouffant with a Princess of Thule veil; the underskirt cut decollette around the bottom, and trimmed with a basque at the sides."

"That's better," said the city editor, encouragingly. "That sounds something like. How was her hair."

"Her hair was shirred," replied the West End reporter. "Shirred at the sides and corsaged on top."

"I don't believe that's right," observed the city editor. "Read that again."

"It was corsaged at the sides and shirred on the top," said the West End reporter, referring to his notes.

"Of course," smiled the city editor. "It makes all the difference in the world. You never saw a woman with her hair corsaged on top in your life."

YOUNG MEN.

The most unfortunate day in the career of any young man is the day on which he fancies there is some better way to make money than to earn it; for from that feeling spring the many extravagant and visionary plans which are indulging in for the purpose of gaining a livelyhood without labor. When a young man becomes thoroughly infected with this feeling, he is ready to adopt any means for the accomplishment of his objects, if he is foiled in his efforts upon the crest of the wave which he had already mounted, and even though in full view be the temptation of crimes all this to shield him from the disgrace which he thinks must inevitably follow in the wake of defeat. To temptation he yields, and the first he realizes he finds himself an outcast in the community and the inmate of a prison; all brought about for the want of manly firmness in the outset of life to prompt him to choose an avocation, where the penny earned would bring with it its sure, if slow, reward.

HOW CHILDREN ARE "TOUGHENED."

As for "toughening children by sending them half-dressed in the damp or biting air, none but ignorant and stupid people do such things—our church yards are already sufficiently full of little graves. Give the children warm footwear, something over their ears, and good staunch flannels between them and Jack Frost, and they will grow up far stronger and tougher than the poor little shivering ones who have to pull their heads into their shoulders and huddle together like calves in a winter's storm for lack of sensible clothes. It is a fact that children often suffer for want of pleasant and improving amusements.

The chief engineer of the Midland Railway, acting under the instructions of the Grand Trunk, has commenced the surveys of the new line between Toronto and Buffalo, a charter for which was granted last week. No time will evidently be lost in building the road.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, mode adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

SANDERSON'S

THE BABY.

TRANSLATED FROM THE IRISH.

BY W. S.

Down beside the gentle river,
Where the lovely aspens quiver,
And the comely willows shiver,
Darling baby plays;
Silky trefoil the objects of baby,
Mild content the care of baby,
Already joyful gather near us,
Wherever baby strays.

Silky holds a tiny trambis,
Round the baby lambkins gambol;
With it infant spirits rambis,
Straying where it strays.
Lo! the wood nymph yonder sleeping,
Round her ivy-leaves are creeping;
We—her charming eyes are keeping
Watch o'er baby's ways.

God's alone are here beholding
Baby's mother now unfolding,
Graceful beauty—nature's moulding—
Art compelling praise.
Forth she comes thro' flowering bushes;
In the sparkling water rushes;
Maiads admiring, watch her blushes,
Far from human gaze.

Horror! see the flood is seeking
To prevent her now from speaking!
Yet how wildly is she shrieking,
While her child's in view—
While of death she's sadly thinking,
While the fatal fluid she's drinking,
While her lovely baby's sinking.
"Willie, babe, adieu!"

Willie, you have lost your mother,
Never can you find another,
She had loved you like no other,
Yet you laugh away;
Night is coming—see it yonder;
Where will little baby wander?
On the thought what heart can ponder?
Let a mother say.

The Romance of the Police Court.

Recent English papers supply us with another illustration of an oft-quoted proverb, that "truth is stranger than fiction," and prove that in real life there frequently transpire circumstances which transcend the efforts of the most lively imagination. The most sensational of writers would pause before reproducing in a novel the singular, and indeed remarkable imposture now undergoing investigation by the police authorities at Birmingham. And were such circumstances put in print in story form the most credulous of readers would hardly admit that such events could, by any possibility, occur in actual life. The person who has supplied us with another illustration that there lies genuine romance in real life, and that dupes without number exist, has not yet been convicted, but there is no reason to to doubt that the charges brought against her are capable of substantial proof. The preliminary investigations, and especially the character of the witnesses, vouch sufficiently for the accuracy of the story which we are about to relate for the benefit of our readers. In order to make the matter intelligible we will place the events before them in the form of a consecutive narrative.

Early in February a man was liberated from the Liverpool jail after twelve months incarceration. His crime was that he had sent threatening letters to a certain individual, and the cause which led to this was as follows: In 1876 this man, whose name is Benjamin Fowell, was carrying on business at Aston, near Birmingham. There he made the acquaintance of a very fashionable lady, known as Miss Frederica Elliott de Fearneux, who represented herself as the daughter of Lady Butler. Being a person of such distinction of course she must not suffer for want of cash, and so Fowell readily gave her credit and advanced her various sums of money. Just about this time Fowell was supplied with additional means of beneficence, by the legacy, from an uncle, of an estate at Harplow, in Cheshire. Here he removed, and continued his uncle's business of a colliery proprietor; but he did not escape so so readily from his Ashton acquaintance. Miss Fearneux wrote him pressing letters, and received from him at various times between £500 and £600. Subsequently she came to Harplow, and while there Fowell gave her free board and lodging, while his wife acted as the servant of this lady of rank. She professed to be a great heiress, and produced letters from the Queen, the Prince of Wales and Lord Coleridge to justify her assertions. Learning that there was a mortgage of £1,000 on Fowell's property she offered to pay it off and to purchase the estate for £4,000. With this in view she went to London in order, as she said, to raise funds by the sale of Consols standing in her name. Difficulties in this respect having arisen she advised her dupe to sell the estate by auction. It yielded only £2,200, whereas its estimated value was £8,000. When he went to draw the money he was presented with a bill of £37, as the sum due the solicitors. Fearneux disappeared for a time, and poor Fowell, reduced to beggary, sank back into the condition of a journeyman fitter again.

Misfortune, however, had brought him to his senses, and he set the police on the track of his gay deceiver. For four years she eluded his pursuit, but finally she reopened communication with him from Liverpool. After various interviews she at last openly repudiated the debt. Maddened with rage and drink he wrote her a violent letter, and the next morning found himself in custody on a charge of backing up a false claim with menaces of murder. Of course the Liverpool jury believed the elegant lady in the witness box, and poor Fowell was sentenced to twelve months imprisonment, which, as we have already said, only expired last February.

Miss de Fearneux, however, was not idle during Fowell's pursuit of his deceiver. When she disappeared so mysteriously, it was under cover of a change of sex. She dropped herself in the height of fashion, with gaiters, lavender kid gloves, and walking cane. In which costume she looked all the more killing, which she gained, as we are told, the affections of two young ladies, one of whom is now in a lunatic asylum—and terminated to her friends in confidential secrecy that her real name was Lord Arthur Pelham Clinton. This young nobleman, it seems, was involved with others, in a charge of impersonating women about a dozen years ago; but before the trial came on he died at Christchurch. The death, however, according to Miss Fearneux, was a fiction, got up to screen him from punishment. The coffin, she said, was filled with stones and buried, and lawyers and doctors were bribed to hold their tongues. That such a story should be accepted by any sane person certainly seems incredible, but Fearneux found many not only ready to believe her, but to prove their faith by lending money. Miss Ward, of Aston, her first confidant, introduced "his lordship" to her sister, Mrs. Drew, and her brother, Mr. Gething, an engineer. Mr. Gething generously undertook the responsibility of all her debts, on the strength of a bond for £1,000 from Lord Coleridge, and assisted her to procure £2,000 from a Mr. Beynon, and £3,004 more from a Mr. Screen. Finding himself getting embarrassed by his generosity at last, Gething wrote to Coleridge, requesting the liquidation of his bond, and received for answer that if he wrote again his letter would be handed over to the police. Even this did not shake his confidence, according to his own account; he waited three years quietly, when he again wrote to Lord Coleridge. Then the threat was fulfilled, and the result in that Gething and Fearneux are now in jail on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. By her system of personation the latter has succeeded in obtaining from persons in various positions of life, a sum which it is estimated falls little short of £20,000, or $100,000!! One of the chief instruments employed in this long course of ingenious and successful fraud is forgery. She possesses a most remarkable power of imitating handwriting, and has used it extensively throughout her strange career. The examination of her boxes revealed a portentous and highly profitable correspondence with all sorts of persons. More than 4,000 letters are now in the hands of the police, most of which have evidently enclosed remittances from persons ready and anxious to contribute to "Lord Arthur's" comfort while his affairs were still unsettled.

How to account for the astonishing credulity this story sets forth is most difficult. To assist a nobleman in distress, or to relieve a high-born and fashionable lady from her difficulties seems to be a luxury of which an exceedingly large number of persons are peculiarly appreciative. Some such fascinating spell as this appears sufficient to blind the eyes and silence the judgment of people—not in the old world only, where rank and aristocracy are common enough, but even in practical, bustling America, which affects to despise all such social distinctions. Our age has been called a sceptical one, but there are many of the present generation left who are ready to believe the most improbable statements if they are only put forth in such a way as to soothe their vanity, flatter their prejudices or stimulate a gambling appetite for profit. Surely we have abundant testimony to the truth of this statement in the striking history of Miss de Fearneux, alias Lady Butler, alias Lord Clinton.

ART AND OIL.

The Norfold (Va.) Virginia of Jan. 16, 1881, refers to the remarkable cure effected by St. Jacobs Oil in the case of Prof. Cromwell,—known the country over for his magnificent Art Illustrations—who had suffered excruciating torments from rheumatism, until he tried the Oil, the effects of which were magical.

THE BOY WHO WON A CIGAR ON A BET.

A boy about fourteen years of age was smoking a cigar on the steps of the Town Hall the other morning when a citizen halted before him and said:

"Boy, do you realize what you are doing?"

"Smokin' a powerful good five-center, won on a bet," was the reply.

"But don't you know that you are filling your system with poison?"

"Naw."

"Well, you are. That cigar contains enough nicotine to kill a cat."

"I ain't no cat."

"I know. It does not kill you suddenly, but poisons the blood and sows the seeds of fell diseases. You may drop dead on your way home."

"I ain't goin' home."

"It fills me with horror to see a lad of your age destroying both soul and body. Boy, I entreat you to throw away that vile cigar."

"I dasn't. Some one else would pick it up and be pisened."

"Throw it away and I'll buy you three apples."

"Don't like 'em."

"Or a quart of peanuts."

"Say," said the boy, as he fondly regarded the inch of ashes at the end of the cigar, "I bet a boy the cigars this morning that he couldn't took his tongue to a lamp-post and then sing "Empty is the Cradle." He teched, and there's a crowd up there now tryin' to thaw him loose. I ain't very scart about bein' pisened, and I don't keer much for fatherly advice, but if you've got any spare time you might go up there and tell that 'ere boy that a chunk of natural philosophy is worth a hull barnful of experiments."

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to Dr. M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply 48-ly

Joseph Rusan, Percy, writes: "I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and I found it the best article I ever used. It has been a great blessing to me."

WHAT TO STUDY.—Pope, the poetical philosopher said, "The proper study of mankind is man, and yet, how little is the real science of man studied. If people understood and heeded the laws of health, and if when out of sorts would resort to a common sense like Burdock Blood Bitters, many of the "ills that flesh is heir to" might be effectually remedied. It invigorates and regulates all the secretions to a healthy action. 11-2t

NEVER GIVE UP.—If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & Macdonald.

Counterfeiting has at last got down to where it concerns us. Bogus five cent pieces are afloat.

THE MEANING OF NERVE PROSTRATION and general debility in overworked men and women is simply a failure of fuel to run the machinery of the body. In health the digestive apparatus is designed to prepare sufficient food to repair, and force to work the vital organs at a uniform expense of energy. When consumption exceeds supply the reserve is drawn on and the body wastes and weakens. Here is indicated the use of Dr. WHEELER'S Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya to maintain balance of loss and gain.

As the Government are to take into consideration the propriety of assuming control of the Lakefield dam, it is probable that the profanity of that village will receive a check.

Mr. G. W. Macully, Pavillion Mountain, B.C., writes "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best medicine I ever used for rheumatism. Nearly every winter I am laid up with rheumatism, and have tried nearly every kind of medicine without getting any benefit, until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It has worked wonders for me, and I want another supply for my friends, &c."

Guiteau has expressed it as his opinion that the ensuing summer will be a very hot one. It is to be presumed that he will find it so.

Mr. T. C. Wells, chemist and druggist, Port Colborne, Ont., writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery sells well, and gives the best of satisfaction for all diseases of the blood."

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT, superceeding as it does all other modes of illumination, and rivalled only by the glorious sunshine, will not be hailed with greater joy by mankind, than is Burdock Blood Bitters which is as far superior to all other blood purifiers and tonics as the electric light is superior to the old fashioned tallow dip. Burdock Blood Bitters cures Scrofula, and all foul humors and impurities of the blood. 11-2t

After reading Tennyson's 'Charge of the Heavy Brigade,' one feels that there must be something out of gear in the Laureate's poetry machine,—one of the cog-wheels broken, or a defective screw in the turning crank. Let the Poet oil up and throw off something about the medium weight brigade so as to give all parties concerned a fair show.

SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE.—Mrs. Helen Pharivis, No. 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., is now in her sixty-eighth year, and states that she has suffered with consumption for about ten years, was treated by nine physicians, all of them pronounced her case hopeless. She had given up all hopes of recovering. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and satisfy yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

A go-for-a-ride young man hired a pony the other day to take a little exercise on. He got all he wanted, and as he limped to the sidewalk to rest after taking so much, a kind friend asked him, "What did you come down so quick for?" "What did I come down so quick for? Did you see anything up in the air for me to hold on to?"

The following springlet poemlet is good and we regret that we do not know the name of the cuaslet that wrote it so as to give him the credit he deserves:

"From off the running rivulet the icy chain is thawed,
And the flutter of the wingiet of the dovelet is abroad;
The quacklet of the ducklet in the brooklet we can hear,
And the rootlet of the piglet will presently appear."

"Don't you wish you was a big man?" said one little urchin to another. "R'rect, I do. I'm just dyin' to be big enough to get shaved an' have one of 'em barbers powder me all over and squirt cologne juice at me," was the reply.

A school mistress in the country was taking down the names and ages of her scholars at the commencement of the term, when coming in turn to a little white-headed boy, she asked him, "Well, my lad, how old are you?" "My name ain't Lad," said he shortly; "it's John." "Well," said the school-mistress, "what is the rest of your name?" "Why, that's all the name I've got—just John." "Well, what is your father's name?" "Oh, you needn't put dad's name down; he isn't comin' to school. He's too big to go to school." "Well, how old are you?" "I ain't old at all, I'm young.

Local News Record.

UNFORTUNATE.—The announcement is regretfully made that Alpha's Ottawa correspondence is this week unavoidably crowded out.

RIGHT AT LAST.—Mr. Vennor's last prophesy was pretty nearly correct. Snow storm &c, due on Saturday. Got it on Tuesday, and pretty heavily too.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 48-tf.

DIRECTORS ELECTED.—The following have been elected directors of the Midland Rolling Stock Company:—Messrs. A. P. Poussette, President, Peterboro'; Geo. A. COX, Peterborough, J. R. Dundas, Lindsay; Lewis Ross, Port Hope; W. B. Ferguson, Peterborough.

WEST RIDING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Directors of this society have decided to dispense with the usual Spring show. The offer of the Hamilton Thorley Horse and Cattle Food Company, of a prize for the best span of farm horses fed on their food, has been accepted.

ABOUT A STONE WALL.—The Council of North Monaghan met on Monday to take into consideration the propriety of removing or allowing to remain, a stone fence, the property of William Dobbin, and alleged to be in the way. Considerable discussion ensued, the result being that the fence is to remain in statu quo.

TWINS.—Mr. Chris. Leary received the intelligence lately that the wife of his son Thomas, residing in St. Louis, Michigan, had on the 10th inst. elected him grandfather of a pair of twins, of the masculine and feminine persuasion respectively. It takes the Peterborough boys to show the Yankees how to do things.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending March 11th 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and Mails, $6,850.83; Freight, $11,175.49; Total, $18,026.32 as compared with $11,003.35 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $7,022.97; and the aggregate traffic to date is $135,038.97, being an increase of $50,939.30 over 1881.

BETTER AT HOME.—An infant in arms at the Opera House last Thursday joined vociferously in some of the choruses, though not on the programme. The songs of the youngster formed a prominent, if not an enjoyable, feature of the entertainment. The young mother was covered with confusion and was sufficiently punished for her folly in taking a baby to the opera, by the indignant glances of the audience. After all it is about a toss up between a squawking baby and a Gainsboro' hat

A BOON INDEED.—A preacher recently in a neighboring town, whilst enumerating the blessings of modern improvements, mentioned the telephone as one of the greatest, as it enabled the bed-ridden and sick to hear the sermon on a Sunday. How true this is! There are some cases which nothing will cure but a good, sound, refreshing sleep, and what better way is there of procuring this than by switching the wire on to some long-winded and narcotic preacher? The eyes of the worn out patient gradually close as the blessed tones come over the wire, and with a smile of gratitude on his wan and wasted features he sinks into a deep and dreamless sleep.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY.—On Monday evening next an entertainment, including music, reading and tableaux vivants, will be given by the ladies of the congregation in aid of the Ladies Aid Society, in the George street Methodist church. No efforts have been spared nor has practice been neglected, to render this one of the best and most interesting affairs ever given by the ladies. It should be largely attended, as the price of admission has been placed at the exceedingly low figure of ten cents. Though all the entertainments so far given in connection with this church have been excellent, the one on Monday next will be, it is anticipated, the one, par excellence, of the season.

HOW HE GOT IN.—The only one thing that prevents this from being a local item is that the incident did not happen here. It might have done, though. An individual presented himself at the box office of a theatre: "Can you pass me in?" he asked. "Don't know. Who are you?" was the response. "I'm an editor" said the man, and his massive forehead, keen penetrating eye and seedy raiment lent some color to the statement. "Well, I don't know you. How do I know you are an editor?" The party hesitated a moment and then thrusting out his right hand, exclaimed "Look there. See those corns?" pointing to some callosities on the thumb and third finger. "What made them dy'e suppose? Looks like scimors, don't it?" "Well, I guess you may pass," said the ticket agent, and he passed. The miserable whelp was a tailor.

DUE.—It is about time that the robins, those "harbingers of spring" began to harbinge around.

The following Peterborovians left for Manitoba on Monday and Tuesday:—Messrs. Fred Winch, Geo. Johnston, L. McNaughton, D. Fortye and George Brown.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. M. O'Brien has been appointed head master of the Separate Schools, vice Mr. Lynch resigned, at the same salary as that of the last named gentleman. Duties commence on 10th of April.

LECTURE.—The Rev. G. M. Milligan of Old St. Andrews Church, Toronto, will deliver his popular lecture "The Contented Man; Who is He?" in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Monday 28th inst at 8 p. m. Proceeds in aid of the extension fund of the church.

Mr. H. Calcutt, who has always been a strong supporter of the N. P. announces his intention of voting against it at the next election.—Review.

It is always gratifying to see a man resolve to reform and endeavor to do better for the future. Mr. Calcutt is to be congratulated on his praiseworthy resolution.

NEGLECT.—Queen Victoria has deliberately neglected to invite the Queen of Holland to the wedding of the Duke of Albany. If it will be any consolation to Her Majesty of Holland to know that she is not alone in being thus neglected, we would intimate that we also got left in a similar manner.

LECTURE.—Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, of Cobourg, will deliver his popular and instructive lecture, "How to rise in the world," in Mt. Pleasant Presbyterian church, on Friday evening, the 24th March. There will no doubt be a full house as the lecture is pleasing. The proceeds are in aid of the Union Sabbath School.

PITIABLE.—A poor old man named George Parsons, aged 79 years, was sent to jail for two months for vagrancy, at Saturday's Police Court. The old fellow said that he had not a friend in the world to help him in his declining years. It is a hard thing when there is no place but a jail for a worn out mortal to end his days in.

A CHANGE.—Attention is called to Mr. Snowden's advertisement in another column. Mr. Snowden has had a large experience as a hotel keeper, and will no doubt sustain the high reputation already borne by the house he has leased. In connection with the hotel, he will run the Repository across the street, lately vacated by Walsh & Stapleton. There is every appliance for equine comfort on the premises, and horses will be boarded by the day, week or month. There is ample room for forty animals, and the horses of farmers can be there accommodated when in town for a short time.

The Peterborough Review recommends Lindsay to adopt that town's tactics in putting down rowdyism. Six months in the Central Prison is recommended as a sedative, and in practice is found very efficacious.—Lindsay Post.

All right so far. But the Review forgot to mention that it makes all the difference in the world whether he is a Grit or a Tory that receives the sentence. A good Tory, sentenced to imprisonment in our gaol, gets out in some mysterious manner when the term has been about half finished, a la Quinn et al, who had improved very much in weight while incarcerated.

ROWS.—Some of the town rowdies amused themselves by throwing a couple of barrels through the window of Darcy's Hotel on Saturday night. They had been very properly refused admission, hence the exhibition of spite. On Saturday afternoon shortly after the Murphy had been placed in donjon keep, two men had a little altercation on George street right in front of the EXAMINER office. As they evidently selected this spot from a wish for a little notoriety, it is a pity that it was not possible to ascertain their names. After a little Ryan-Sullivan business and strong language, they adjourned for refreshments.

WHERE ARE THE BOOTS?—The mind of the average agriculturist is apt to wander when he finds himself in the bewildering turmoil of the streets of a town like Peterborough, even though that mind may be of the gigantic proportions and comprehensive grasp of that of a town councillor or a newspaper man. As an evidence of this, on Friday last a gentleman residing not far out of town, laid down a pair of new boots and a couple of bags on the sidewalk on George street, whilst he talked to a friend. At the end of the conversation he forgot all about his property, mounted his buggy and drove off, returning half an hour later to search for his forgotten chattels. They were gone. They are still gone, and the man from the country knoweth them no more.

HE FELT THE CHILLS.—About this time of the year old Phœbus whangs down his rays with considerable geniality, and the pendant icicle on the eave trough becomes a missile fraught with destruction and a sharp point. A friend from the rural districts was passing along George Street one morning last week just as a large icicle came whissing down from a roof above. It entered at the neck of the agriculturist's ulster, inside his shirt collar, and wended its mystic way down, through and out at the bottom of one of his pantaloon legs. The son of toil saw not the weapon, but felt it, and in a tone of dismay said to his companion, "Geewhillikins! Here's one of them fever an' ager spells a comin' on. I allers feels them cold chills a runnin' down my back when they're a drawin' nigh," and he galloped along to the nearest drug store for a stock of quinine and Peruvian bark.

SUICIDE.

A NEIGHBORING FARMER PUTS AN END TO HIMSELF.

On Sunday last an old man named Alex. Easson, a farmer then residing near Westwood, in the township of Otonabee, and having a large number of relatives in this county, took a large dose of Paris green, and lingered in considerable pain till Monday morning, when death relieved him.

No cause can be given for the act, as deceased was well off and highly respected by a large circle of acquaintances.

ALLEGED FORGERY AT BELLEVILLE.

A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE.

On Wednesday, the 15th inst., Sergeant McCrudden arrested Albert Morton, a well-known citizen of Belleville, on a charge of forgery. The complainant being S. M. Davis, who alleged that while he gave Morton two notes signed by his wife and indorsed by himself, the amount of the notes was not specified, and hence the arrest. The case came up at the police court on Thursday last, when the evidence for the prosecution was taken and prisoner committed for trial. Bail was accepted.

BOSTON OPERA COMPANY.

A GOOD AND WELL PATRONISED ENTERTAINMENT.

Mr. Clinton and the other gentlemen who united in bringing the above company to town, deserve the thanks of the citizens for having been the means of providing a most enjoyable entertainment. Betsy Baker, as performed by the Boston Company, is a lively little piece, full of sparkling selections from all the most popular operettas of the day. Though the company is only composed of four performers and an accompanist, these proved themselves amply sufficient to meet the wants of a fastidious audience. Miss May Alice Vars, in the title role, gave great satisfaction, her acting and singing being excellent, her face pretty and her figure piquante. Her vocal cornet imitations were most natural. Miss Julia F. May is possessed of a rich contralto voice of rare depth and beauty. Her old, plaintive song, "Way down upon the Swannee River," was, perhaps, the best received of the evening, the piano chorus being well rendered by the company. The quartette from the Spectre Knight, "Tu whit, tu whoo," was given with telling effect. Messrs. Harry G. Snow and Fred Peakes sustained their respective parts of Mr. Mouser and Mr. Crummy admirably throughout, the eccentricities of the former eliciting many bursts of applause and laughter. On the whole, the performance was a decided success, and the selections offered by the members of the company afford ample scope for the display of their peculiar talents and qualifications, and their efforts were rewarded by the keen appreciation of a very large and select audience.

ROYAL HAND-BELL RINGERS AND GLEE MEN.

HONORED ON THIRTEEN OCCASIONS BY ROYAL PATRONAGE AND COMMAND.

The troupe consists of five members under conduct of Mr. Duncan S. Miller, and has gained great favor abroad, and received the distinguished honor of being commanded thrice to perform before Her Majesty Queen Victoria. It has also played before the crowned heads of Europe, and been commanded by such men as Victor Hugo, Mr. Spurgeon, Canon Farrar, Karl Shaftesbury and others. These bell ringers are undoubtedly the cleverest that ever visited Boston. Their manipulation skill is amazing. They produce effects which we have never before seen attempted, and play with ease, not only pieces abounding in the greatest technical difficulties, but also those which present the profoundest and sweetest effects of harmony. Their entertainment is one which it is hoped will soon be repeated in this city. When the performers had tired their arms bell ringing they sang English glees.—Boston Journal.

Mr. Singleton, Port Hope, has succeeded in getting this company for two nights before they leave for England, and now is the chance for Peterborough to get a night's treat. Mr. Singleton will bring them to our town or to Lindsay, whichever gives him the best house. There is now a list at Davidson's book store open for signatures by all who promise to patronize this entertainment. Mr. Singleton will be in Peterborough in the course of a week to see what kind of a house he is likely to have, and will then decide where he will place the company for the second night. Now, music-loving people, let us have them here, go and sign your name for a ticket at Davidson's. Price of admission—reserved seats 75 and 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents.

CHAMBERMAIDS.

HOW THOSE OF PETERBOROUGH GRATIFY THEIR DEPRAVED AND VICIOUS TASTES.

Mark Twain has given his views upon the innate depravity, (he calls it "cussedness) of the average hotel chambermaid. Verily Mark knew how it was himself. The Peterborough chambermaid differs in no respect from her sister elsewhere, except, perhaps, in that she is spiced with even a little more of his Hadesian majesty's characteristics than most. An exceedingly prepossessing young man on whose intellectual features good nature and equanimity are written in distinct caligraphy, a young man whom we might, as some name must be given, call Smith, complains with tears in his eyes, of the pranks of which he is the victim, at the hands of this hollow-hearted and depraved sisterhood. He goes, weary and dejected, to his virtuous couch, and with a yawn, tries to get into his robe de nuit. Something wrong. Tries the other end. Upside down. Sideways. No go. And now he sees how carefully his garment has been stitched up round the bottom, and he spends 15 minutes in unravelling the basting, reflecting mournfully how the very girl whom he suspects of the fiendish act, had told him she could not sew, when he asked her to stitch up a torn coat sleeve, that very day. He wants his hair-brush, boot-jack or dumb-bells. He can find them nowhere, and is only reminded of their whereabouts as he jumps into bed and jabs his foot violently against these articles. Another boarder delights in reading in bed, and spends two hours and three quarters in getting his bed in position with the head to the window. At night the couch is shoved away up into the darkest corner of the room, and the more the young man tries to keep it turned the other way, so much the more does the chambermaid let him know that she intends to hold up her end of the log and reverse matters. Ye gods! look down on the young man who boards, and is left to the tender mercies of the hotel chambermaid, for he will get none. It is with infinite and diabolical satisfaction that the fact is chronicled that four days ago, a youth whose name shall be blessed among men, got even, so to speak, with one of these feminine tormentors as follows:—He daily missed some of the hair oil out of his bottle which he left standing on his dressing table. He smelt a mouse. He resolved to capture it. He filled his bottle with perfumed mucilage. The chambermaid came, she saw, was conquered. For two days her auburny-yallery hair stood out like quills upon the fretful porcupine. The name of the bad young man is witheld out of consideration for his parents who are poor, but probably honest. That of the maiden is also denied immortality out of regard for her pa and ma who are honest and, consequently, poor.

THE total number of Acts passed by the Ontario Legislature during the fourteen sessions which have taken place since Confederation, exclusive of the current session, is 1,268, of which 229 are local in their scope and 570 or upwards of half private legislation. Of the latter 285, or closely approximating a quarter of the total legislation, are railway Acts, 173 deal with other commercial corporations, 150 with religious, educational, and charitable societies, and 63 with purely personal matters

Mr. Walsh, better known as Uncle Jim, has gone west, far west, Nor'-west, Manitoba. His family is there.

Mr. J. H. McFaul, of Ingersoll, formerly a teacher in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has been appointed Inspector of the St. Catharines Schools.

Miss Lillie Lamb, well and favorably known in the musical circle, of Omemee, and one of the best vocalists of that place, will take up her residence in this town when she will, without doubt, prove a great acquisition amongst the musical portion of the citizens.

The Port Hope News states that Mr. C. H. Crofts, Midland Railway storekeeper, has removed to this town, where he assumes a similar position. Mr. Crofts will doubtless be as great a credit to Peterborough as he proved himself to Port Hope, and it is satisfactory to us to rain so widely esteemed a resident.

ROWDYISM.

JAMES MURPHY DISPLAYS HIS PROWESS.

At about 4 p. m., on Saturday, M. Halpin sent for Constable McGhee to come and arrest James Murphy, the well-known rowdy, of Ennismore, who was drunk and endeavoring to get up a fight at Halpin's Hotel. McGhee went and collared the man, but at the corner of George street, the latter shied, jibbed and refused to go any further. He attacked the constable savagely and grabbed a handful of his luxuriant whiskers, and a crowd of his "pals" quickly gathering, matters seemed rather rough for McGhee. Persuaders, in the shape of sundry well administered taps of the baton, however, tamed Mr. Murphy, who at length condescended to accompany the Constable to the calls. A large crowd gathered, but no one seemed at all disposed at first to assist McGhee, who, however, proved himself equal to the occasion. Murphy was released on bail on Saturday night, to appear on Tuesday, when he retired to Ennismore and put in the remainder of the day, thirsting for and obtaining gore at Ennismore. On Tuesday Murphy was not able to appear at the police court, being laid up from the injuries he received in his scrimmage at Ennismore, and from which he is still suffering.

HASTINGS.

The gristmill was broken into on Wednesday last and the popular song there, sung in a minor key, is "Empty is the Safe the Coin is gone." No clue to the thieves.

MILLBROOK.

The Messenger is giving vent to dire anathemas against the base individuals who won't pay up for their printing &c. Division courts, Tophet and other pleasant places are mentioned as the destinations of all who don't come to time.

BOBCAYGEON.

The village council has ordered the police force to go on the war path against all parties neglecting to tax their dogs. He will therefore make sundry excursions to the happy land of Canine.

Mr. Robert Prescott, aged 102, a former resident of this place, and well known in the neighborhood, died a short time ago in Michigan, leaving numerous grand and great-grand children behind him.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—A few days ago William, eldest son of James Hall, an early settler in the town of Peterborough, and brother of Robert Hall, of this township, was killed at one of the back shanties by the falling of a tree, which makes another in the list of the many accidents amongst our acquaintances during the present winter.

YOU MUST UNDERSTAND!

That what we Advertise is the Truth.

A gentlemen expressed a little surprise the other day on finding that the good White Envelopes we have been advertising so much of late at 3¢ cents a package, were really to be bought, and informed us he thought it was only an advertisement. Impressions of this sort come from the fact that misrepresentations are made in advertising very frequently, and after purchasing you find that the poor quality has made the low price, and that altogether it was a poor bargain, in fact the goods were bought at a high price—you were deceived. Avoid such stores always after.

WHEN WE SAY

We make the statement because our Large Assortment of

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Thos. Elliott and Mr. Archibald Robinson, residing on the outskirts of our village, had a very remarkable escape from instant death on Thursday of last week. Both were engaged in sinking a well on the farm of Mr. John Miles, of Dummer, and had reached a considerable depth when the latter was compelled to resort to blasting, for which purpose dynamite was used. Mr. Robinson placed the usual charge in the cavity made for the blast, and slightly touched it with a hammer he was using, when the dynamite exploded, knocking him senseless, but fortunately doing him so further damage than lacerating nearly all the fingers of his left hand. Mr. Elliott, at the time, was watching from above the progress of the work below and was struck on the left arm by a large piece of stone from the blast, severely injuring it below the elbow. Both fortunately were in a position to avoid the whole force of the blast. The escape was a miraculous one, and will no doubt teach caution on the use of that dangerous explosive dynamite.

CORRECTION.

Weddings are of rare occurrence in our village and when they do take place they furnish an interesting item for publication; but when they do not occur, and receive publication as having taken place, it is exceedingly annoying to the parties who are made the unhapy victims of the announcement. Now unfortunately an instance of this kind occurred in the publishing of the marriage of Miss B. A. Reynolds and Mr. J. J. Clydale in the Norwood correspondence of last week's EXAMINER. No such ceremony in the case came off at all. Your correspondent feels the annoyance of the notice just as keenly as any of the parties concerned, and regrets very much the sending of the item; but the information came so direct, and the rumor of the event was so prevalent in the village, that the notice was made in the correspondence with the utmost reliance upon its veracity.

A NEW DENTIST.

Mr. A. Robinson, who has passed successfully his examination in Dentistry, has succeeded to the Dental business of Mr. A. Bosanko here. Mr. Robinson has studied with some of the best Dentists in the Province, and being very well and deservedly known in this neighborhood, will no doubt secure the confidence and patronage of the public generally.

AN EXODUS.

Our streets were alive with farmers on Tuesday last, principally from Belmont, to make preparation for removing to the North West. It is astonishing to notice the number of old farmers who are leaving comfortable homes in that Township to commence life anew in the Prairie Province. Some perhaps will improve their fortunes, whilst others, it is feared, will yet regret the hasty steps they are now taking.

RIVAL RAILWAY MAGNATES

Mr. Campbell, of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, arrived in town on Tuesday, and immediately visited some of the farmers along the line of the Railway with the intention of purchasing the right of way through this section for that road. He commenced with Mr. H. Drain, and then went eastward along the line. It is to be hoped something in the Railway line will result from the frequent railway operations in our vicinity.

CHANGED HANDS.

Mr. Andrew McGee, of Asphodel, has purchased the farm of Mr. John W. Fife, also in that township, comprising 150 acres, for which he paid $7,000.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

STILL ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

On Thursday, while working with a sawing machine, a son of Mr. Charles McAuley, 17th con. Smith, got his leg broken in two places. Assistance was obtained from the village but it will be some time before the boy can move about.

NEW MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

There is a good prospect that when the new train arrangements on the M. R. R. comes into effect we will also have increased mail accommodation. A mail will come up from Peterborough at 9 a. m., and one leave for Peterborough and south at 9 20 a.m. Another mail will be received as at present, at 12.40 p.m., and leave at 2.10 p.m. If such arrangements should be carried out it will prove a great boon to both the Lakefield people and to all in town having business to transact here, as letters &c., can be exchanged the same day.

SAWING MACHINE ACCIDENT.

On Thursday evening, as Mr. Aaron Nichols, who resides on the 12th con. Smith, near Selwyn, was engaged with his sawing machine at Mr. Davis', Smith, he thought he noticed the shaft which drives the machine loose, and thoughtlessly caught it in his hand, which at the time was covered with a leather mitt. In an instant the hand was caught and twisted round the shaft, and when by an effort he pulled it loose, it was found that the thumb was almost torn from the hand which was also badly lacerated. Medical assistance was procured at once, and the injured member dressed. He may recover the use of the thumb and hand, but will be laid up for a long time.

ANOTHER.

On Saturday evening a son of Mr. Jas. Jory, Douro, while engaged tending a sawing machine in Smith, got his hand caught in the saw and two of his fingers badly torn. He came into the village and got them dressed, and is enjoying a holiday from work for a time.

EASTER CHEER.

Our village butcher, F. Waldon, has already secured his supplies for the coming holiday season, having bought two fine beeves from Mr. Greaves, one a thorough bred and the other a grade, both in fine condition. He has also secured some fine sheep, lambs, pork, etc., and will be able to satisfy the wants of all who can enjoy a good dinner, as he does not keep "bull beef" or "staging bob" in his establishment.

It is a wise precaution to provide against emergencies that are liable to arise in every family. A Cold may be a dangerous thing, or not, depending upon the means at hand to combat it. In sudden attacks of cold, croup, asthma, etc., Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will prove the quickest and most effective cure and your best friend.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

DEAR SIR,—In view of the near approach of the time for the issue of liquor licenses, I would like to ask what course our temperance societies here are going to take in the matter. I see that in Toronto, not only temperance people, but ministers of the Gospel, are pressing upon the license commissioners the necessity of restricting the number of taverns and saloons, but more especially the latter. In this town, so far as I know, not a voice has been raised in favor of the restricting licenses. So far as I know, I do not see that the commissioners are bound to license saloons, and if our temperance societies are to be anything more than mere place of resort for amusements, it is about time they bestirred themselves and set about trying to do some good service outside of their lodge rooms. I have always supposed that these temperance organizations were intended to work upon and to influence the public sentiment in regard to liquor, but I begin to think I have been mistaken. A little more time will shew whether I am or not. By combined action between these societies and the ministers of the different churches in both town and country, a great deal of good in the cause of temperance might be effected. Churches are best filled and religion advanced among a sober, temperate and orderly people. Mere idle thinking over this matter won't do, there must be consistent persevering, energetic action if any real permanent good is to be accomplished. The time is now near at hand when a good beginning may be made in this direction. C. D.

A BY-BY FEED.

CENTREVILLIANS FILL UP MR. HOLDEN CROSSLEY PRIOR TO HIS DEPARTURE.

The friends of Mr Holden Crossley, for twenty-two years a resident of Centreville, tendered him a complimentary supper at Raper's hotel in that village on Wednesday, 22nd inst. Flattering speeches, good songs, and extensive eating formed the principal features of the affair. The chair was ably filled by Mr. T. M. Willan, and well-known parties to the number of about sixty sat round the well spread table and ably assisted to swell the harmony and get rid of the eatables.

ROYAL HAND-BELL RINGERS.

Mr. Singleton has a very large guarantee list, signed by the citizens of Port Hope, to support him for bringing this famous Company of Bell Ringers. We understand Mr. S. intends coming to Peterborough on Friday, to solicit names on a guarantee list here. All the guarantee required is to sign your name that you will take one or more tickets for the concert. We bespeak for Mr. Singleton a welcome by our music-loving people, and trust they will turn out in force and sign his list. It will be impossible for Mr. S. to call on every one and we would urge all not receiving a call, to go to Davidson's bookstore and sign the list there.

Don't forget Turnbull & Gray's Millinery Opening Days are next week. See Advt.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Richardson, son of Mr. Chas. Richardson, of this town, has received a position in the Bank of Commerce, Dundas. His perseverance, pluck and business tact will, we have no doubt, place him in the future in a front position.

Dr. Alexander, who so efficiently took charge of Dr. Kincaid's practice during the latter's absence, made necessary by his Parliamentary duties, leaves this week for Ottawa.

DEATH OF AN OLD SETTLER.—William Clark, sen., a resident of Springville for nearly half a century, died on the 21st inst., at the good old age of eighty four. He was one of the earliest settlers in this district and leaves a large number of friends and connexions in the neighbourhood.

TWO ROBINS were seen here last week. It is in order for some cotem to get in his little joke about robbin' items from his sheet.

LECTURE.—The lecture, "The Contented Man, Who is He?" delivered by Rev. G. M. Milligan, of Toronto, at St. Paul's Church, on the 28th, was largely attended and much appreciated, being an excellent one in every way. The chair was occupied by Rev. E. F. Torrance, who introduced the lecturer, to whom a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. G. M. Rogers, and heartily accorded by the audience.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—As will be seen by Mr. B. Shortly's advertisement, that gentleman has purchased the business of Mr. C. LeFranc, and has removed the latter's stock to his own premises on George street, already well supplied with every needful article in his line. Mr. LeFranc's late customers cannot do better than to transfer their patronage to Mr. Shortly, as they can rely upon obtaining exactly what they require at most reasonable rates. Mr. Shortly's immense stock enables him to give his customers most advantageous bargains, and supply them with a wide range of goods from which to select.

THE TOWNSEND FAMILY AND COMPANY.—This celebrated company, now on their sixteenth annual tour of England and America, and who appeared to overflowing houses in Peterborough about ten years ago, will give a select and legitimate entertainment here on Thursday night. The reputation of this company is one deservedly earned, and which the members do their utmost to sustain. New scenery, costumes, &c., are carried by the troupe. All lovers of the legitimate drama should make a point of attending, and it is safe to predict that Mr. Townsend and family will be greeted by a large and appreciative audience.

Michael O'Rourke has been found guilty of the murder of Hugh and Bridget Maher, in the township of Nelson on January 20th, and sentenced to be hanged on the 9th of June next.

CANADIAN.

Arrangements are being made to have Oscar Wilde give two lectures in Canada, one in Toronto, the other in Ottawa or Hamilton.

Michael Rourke is now on trial for the murder of Edward and Bridget Maher, of Nelson. The insanity dodge is being raised by the defence.

Sunday rowdies are much complained of in Montreal, who hang round corners and insult decent girls and ladies. The Chief of Police is urged to look after them.

Some four or five hundred buildings in Winnipeg, are already under construction, the fine, balmy spring weather being very favourable for the work. In a few days the city will have 180 telephones in operation.

Rumors are afloat at Winnipeg that General Rosser, late chief engineer of the Canada Pacific Railway, has surreptitiously got possession of plates and profiles of the road from the Saskatchewan and Fort Calgary, and that the syndicate have taken action to recover them.

On Wednesday afternoon, 22nd inst, a young lad named Charles Thompson accidentally shot dead his companion, Rupert Ross, in Toronto. The boys were almost inseparable companions. These cases of foolish playing with loaded firearms seem to be without end.

Sam Lindsay, a pal of the notorious Shang Clark, convicted of the West Flamboro' post office robbery and sentenced to 2½ years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, Kingston, escaped from Deputy Sheriff Gibson by jumping from the train near Bowmanville.

The cost of living in Edmonton, Man., is about as follows:—Coal Oil, $2 to $2.50 per gallon; bacon, 33 cents per lb; tea, 60 to 70 cents; sugar, 30 to 33 cents; smoking and chewing tobacco, $1; dried apples, 25 to 30 cents; and syrup, $2.75 to $3 per gallon.

A horrible suicide is reported from Toronto. Robt. Whittington, of 71, Wilton Avenue, went into a pantry adjoining the diningroom, in which his family were sitting, and with a common pocket knife, cut through both the carotid arteries, windpipe and gullet, and in fact nearly severed his head from the body. Deceased was a native of Lancashire, England.

A brutal murder was committed in Quebec on Saturday night last. Two men named Etienne Genest and Jos. Laflamme were walking home about midnight, when they were set upon by five men, and Genest, who is a shoemaker, was kicked to death. J. B. Laprise, Pierre Robert, Jos. Robert and Jos Bezeau have been arrested on suspicion, and are most probably the murderers.

Bailiff McLaughlin, who was so seriously injured some time ago by jumping from a G. W. R. train after a lunatic whom he had in charge, and who apparently dragged McLaughlin with him, died from the effects of his injuries on the 13th instant. His skull was broken in, his shoulder and collar bone were smashed, two of his toes were cut off and several of his ribs broken near the spine. McLaughlin must have been endowed with wonderful vitality to have lived so long in such a state.

Mr. Charlton's Bill to make seduction a criminal offence has passed its second reading. When he had finished his remarks in moving its second reading, there was a general cry of "lost" from the Ministerial side of the House. But Sir John got up and said he approved of the principle, and then the Ministerialists nearly all voted for it—the vote standing 107 to 16. It shows how obediently the Conservatives follow their leader; but we are glad their leader made them vote right for once.

At the fire in Winnipeg on the 13th inst., the books and papers of the syndicate Engineering Department were unaccountably removed from the Bank of Montreal building to a prominent land office, where it is suspected they were surreptitiously inspected. In consequence, every clerk was discharged on the 14th. It is believed that the location of the line will be changed, since the squatters got ahead of the Syndicate on the site of Brandon. The Syndicate has determined to lay out their stations on their own lands, even if they have to change the route.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A YOUNG MAN HAS HIS EYE PUT OUT.

Yesterday morning as James Swanston, a young man employed at R. Mowry's Agricultural works, Ashburnham, was ripping boards at a circular saw, a loose piece about a foot in length caught the back of the saw, and flying up, pierced his eye, inflicting a very serious and painful wound. Swanston says that the stick penetrated to the depth of an inch, though this is scarcely probable. Fears are entertained that the loss of the injured eye will be the consequence, though at present it is hardly possible to say for certain.

SPRING OPENING.—Miss E. Delaney has just opened out her stock of spring millinery, which is a very large and select one, and comprises all the most recent French and American novelties in Mantles, Hats, Bonnets, and other articles so attractive to ladies. Her apartments are arranged with exquisite taste and skill, her very choice stock being so disposed as to make a most tasty and elegant display.

Fisheries Exhibition.

A meeting, both large and influential, took place in London recently, to consider proposals for holding an International Fisheries Exhibition in London in 1883. Among others present were the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, Lord Granville, Lord Salisbury and Sir A. T. Galt. The latter of whom, in addressing the meeting, assured it of the very hearty support the exhibition would obtain from the Dominion. It appears that there have been two previous Exhibitions of this kind; one held in Berlin, in 1880, and one at Norwich, England, in 1881. The Duke of Richmond, as chairman of the general committee, gave a brief history of the exhibitions already held, and pointed out the advantages which must accrue from the discussion of questions specially connected with this industry, such as the better preservation and utilization of fish, modes of fishing and curing, pisciculture, and also lifeboats and life-saving apparatus. The first exhibition held at Berlin two years ago, netted £1,812 after all expenses had been met; the total receipts amounting to over $95,000. It is proposed to obtain subscriptions for a guarantee fund and also for a general prize fund for the coming exhibition, and for this purpose the Dominion of Canada, interested as she is so deeply in fisheries, contributes $2,500.

In British waters alone the annual catch is said to amount to 550,000 tons, and nearly 140,000 tons are delivered in Billingsgate market alone in one year. The fisheries of the United Kingdom are carried on by about 35,000 boats and vessels, employing 110,000 people. In Canada and Newfoundland this industry is, our readers know, of supreme importance. We have the largest sea coast available for fisheries in the world. Sir A. T. Galt said at the meeting in London recently, that the value of the take of fish in these two colonies is upwards of five millions sterling per year, and the exportation about half that amount. He also said that 90,000 persons obtained employment in our fisheries and were thereby receiving an excellent training as seamen. He asserted that the development of our fisheries was to be looked upon as the cradle of our individual strength as a part of the British Empire, and our hope in competing with the great Republic to the south of us. This proposed exhibition will doubtless be the means of supplying practical information to the English people regarding one branch of our resources as a colony of the Empire, and while it will enable our fishermen to become acquainted with the most recent knowledge on all matters connected with the culture, catch and curing of fish, it will show that in some respects we are in advance of our brethren across the sea. It appears that no such attention is paid to fish culture in England as we can show on this continent. In Canada, at present, there are nine fish-breeding establishments kept up under the fostering care of successive governments since 1873, and in one year alone nearly fifty millions of young fish and fish eggs of the salmon family were planted in the waters of the Dominion. People talk of the impossibility of exhausting the sea. The inhabitants of Newfoundland know, to their bitter regret and sorrow, that all this, though it may be the opinion of eminent scientists, is a myth and a delusion. Fishing at improper seasons, and showing no attention to modes of supply or to fish culture, will soon exhaust them. If the forthcoming exhibition enlist, as it should, the interest and sympathy of our fishermen, and tend to lead to a more intelligent pursuit of their special calling, it will prove a great boon to the Dominion in fostering what is one of her greatest and most valuable industries.

Editorial Notes.

The Toronto News might employ itself better than in slandering and maligning the late President of the United States. It casts the following slur on the memory of General Garfield: "He was notoriously corrupt in his official and business connections." The News further says that it thinks any one is "entitled to the thanks of the people of the continent for pricking the bubble of adulation that has surrounded Garfield's memory." De mortuis nil nisi bonum is evidently not one of the maxims of the Toronto News.

The old practice, still in vogue in so many churches, of reading out the hymn to be sung, either verse by verse or all through before the commencement of the singing, is one which might be dispensed with. The practice was usual, if not necessary, many years ago, when hymn books were scarce, but now that everyone, or nearly so, has a book, the necessity for the hymn being read seems to be done way with, and the reading appears rather a waste of time. Surely the number of the hymn, and the first line at most, would answer every purpose.

Seven executions in three States of the Union in one day is a somewhat startling item, yet this is the result of our comparison of last Friday's telegraph news. No less than five of these were in Pennsylvania. Jonathan Moyer was hanged at Middeburg, for complicity in the murder of John and Gretchen Knitaler; John Neveling, at Clearfield, for the murder of Samuel Pennington; Frank and Henry Rumberger were executed at Harrisburg, for the murder of Daniel Frontman; and Frank Smale, at Pittsburg, for the murder of Nicholas Jacoby—all on Friday last. At Rock Island, Illinois, Wm. Heilwagon was hanged on the same day, and a man named McCarty, at Angelica, New York. This represents a total of fifteen lives, if we add the victims of the various crimes. It is a somewhat startling circumstance it must be confessed, especially in a country which, but a few years ago, was strongly opposed to capital punishment as a deterrent of crime.

About 23 years ago England experienced one of her periodical scares, and the result was the establishment of the volunteer force in that country. She is now again greatly agitated, and this time the channel tunnel, of which about 1000 yards have been completed, is the cause of the fright, in which even Sir Garnet Wolseley is helping by declaring that the island will never be safe if this submarine tunnel is completed. Surely England need never be afraid of an enemy's army being landed on her own shores. No sensible general would ever land his forces on the English coast, because of the certainty that they would be cut off before they could make good their retreat. England will always be attacked in her outlying possessions; never at home. In the event of the French or any other continental army attempting to reach England via the Channel tunnel, it would seem to us that a better plan for getting rid of thousands of the invaders could not be devised than to get them into the tunnel and then make a breach in it and drown them all like rats in a sewer.

It must be slightly puzzling to the Afghans, who cannot understand how British Governments change and with them British policy, to have their country first thoroughly conquered and then handed back to them, as has been done by Britain. It is only possible to retain the friendship of the Afghans by keeping out of their country, and by withdrawing from it, after conquest of it, the British have shown that it is not their desire to annex or subjugate Afghanistan. It would seem that Russia is intriguing in that country in the interest of Ayoob Khan, but this is not a bad sign. It would indicate that Abdurrahman is really more disposed to trust England, that placed him on the throne of Cabul, than Russia, who encouraged him while in exile but did not assist him at all. Perhaps during his lengthened sojourn amongst Russian officers he learned something of the real purpose of Russia, and is convinced that now he is ruler over all Afghanistan his interests and those of Russia are by no means identical. Though Russia would like to get Ayoob Khan to see matters in that light, we are inclined to think that Ayoob Khan't.

On the 24th instant, at the age of 75, passed away a man whose name has become familiar throughout the world wherever the English language is read and spoken, a man who represented the highest type of American life, and whose honest, hopeful, but never despondent poetry has been read by thousands in every quarter of the globe. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow has fallen, even as the "bearded grain" of which he speaks, beneath "the sickle keen" of the "reaper whose name is Death." Space would not permit even of the briefest sketch of Mr. Longfellow's long and honorable career. Though, on the whole a prosperous man, he realized, during his long life, the truth of what he himself has written in the following verses, which are a fair sample of the spirit of most of his shorter pieces.

The day is cold and dark and dreary.
It rains and the wind is never weary,
But the vine still clings to the mouldering wall
Though at every blast the dead leaves fall.
Oh! my soul, like the day, is dreary.

Be still my soul, and cease repining.
Behind the clouds is the sun still shining.
Thy fate is the common fate of all
Into each life some rain must fall,
And all for a time seems dreary.

Mr. Longfellow received many honors at the hands of England and her sovereign, and the degree of D. C. L. was conferred upon him by the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford.

THE CHURCHES.

ST. LUKE'S, ASHBURNHAM.

The sermon at this church in the evening was principally addressed to young men, of whom a very fair number were present. The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw took his text from the 67th and 68th verses of the 6th chapter of St. John. "Then said Jesus unto the twelve, will ye also go away? Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life," and in the course of a very earnest address he said that in this remarkable chapter are related some of the most striking instances in our Saviour's life. We hear of that great miracle of the feeding of the five thousand with the five loaves and two fishes, and also we are told of our Lord walking upon the sea. The first named miracle had a most wonderful effect on the multitude who wished to make our Saviour their king by force, which he seeing departed into the mountain. It seems that there is something sorrowful about this. Christ had been followed by this great multitude in the expectation of seeing some new and striking miracle. The effect of that miracle of the loaves and fishes has been already mentioned, and when the disciples saw that the people were bent upon making Him their king, they were in the most jubilant spirits, seeing the crowds thronging about him whom they called Master, and believing that he was about to establish that kingdom of which they had so often heard him speak and that they were about to enjoy great benefits from him. But were their hopes fulfilled? In the morning all had seemed so bright and cheering, in the evening everything was so dark and cheerless;—the multitude had departed from Him, and he stands with but the twelve, to whom he put that question, "Will ye also go away?" and though we have no knowledge of the subsequent lives of the disciples, we know from scripture that several of them walked no more with Him.

Wherever the Gospel is preached and men are drawn to the Savior by the irresistible attraction of the cross, it will hold them for a time, but when the crucial test is applied and all the mysteries of Christ are unfolded, and men are asked to accept them, although they cannot comprehend them, then the re-action sets in, and they turn their backs upon Christ. Let the young men ask themselves to decide whether their faces are turned to Christ or whether they are drifting away with their faces turned to the transitory things of this world. Young men, to which class do you belong? Whither are your faces turned? In whose footsteps are you following? We talk of Heaven and Hell. What are they? Heaven is a life spent with God here, endeavoring to walk in His ways and preparing ourselves for that blessed uniting in the Saviour's presence, and rising and ever rising through eternity higher and higher to God's perfection. I am not one of those whose idea of Heaven is that it is a place where our time will be spent in one eternal singing of praise and anthems. To our present way of thinking this would not be an enjoyable way of existing there. On the other hand, what is Hell? It is the legitimate sequel of a Godless life. Men have voluntarily denied God, and the day will come when God will deny them, and then the soul wandering from its true orbit, like a star detached from its centre of gravity, falls on and on into the everlasting blackness of darkness. The saddest of all tragedies is this, that man deliberately and knowingly turns his back upon the Savior who died for him, deliberately and of his own free will, he gives up all hope of everlasting joy and walks in the opposite direction, It is perhaps one of the most surprising things on earth to see young men deliberately turn their backs on God and on hope, and their lives are lost for ever in the blackness of darkness.

In the text, or rather in the portion of scripture preceding the text, we see two classes; a large and a small one. The former turn away from, the latter cleave to Christ. Now, to which class will you belong? There is too much flippant scepticism among the young men of the present day. There are those who are honest doubters, but who really wish to be convinced of the truth; but there is a much larger class who doubt, they know not why, and adopt a habit of flippant scepticism, shutting off all arguments with the words, "Oh, I don't believe in the Bible," but who, when pushed, cannot adduce a single valid reason for this disbelief. It is needless to say that these young men have not read much, but have caught these flippant expressions from others of moderate understandings, but immoderate conceit. They imbibe the blatant teachings of such men as Ingersol, and words and arguments spoken in a few minutes take whole weeks to answer and refute.

How was it those few clung to Christ? St. Peter's answer to the Savior explained it all. "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." Peter felt that there was a power in Christ which would uphold him, and which would finally take him into the presence of his maker.

Young men, do you feel cravings to know of something beyond this life? Are you conscious of this great need? If not, you are not safe. You must feel a wish, with Peter, to be a partaker of the life and nature of the Savior. The only thing that can obtain a hold on our moral nature is a hope of eternal life, and though doubts may arise in our hearts, that hope will ever sustain us and bear us onward. We are crushed and bowed down if we have not this hope, crushed down with burdens of our own making, and so we stagger on, till we are launched forth into those realms of darkness, blackness and horror. To which would you go, young man? Back to the world with its painted gew-gaws, its frivolous pleasures and its hollow enjoyments, or is there something which rises up and tells you that there is something better, higher and nobler? You need a power to help you to overcome your besetting sins, and unless you have Christ's aid you can never hope to come out victorious in the fight. We must all pass through the shadow of the valley of death; of this we are certain, though we may think of it to-night or not, and when we pass through that vale, where shall we go then? There is a place over which God mercifully hangs a curtain, a place of weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, and may God give us strength to choose the right path and to avoid that awful place, and to enter into His everlasting joy and salvation.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Since my last was written Parliament has been dragging itself along without any very exciting incidents to chronicle. We have had the Budget speech and Sir Leonard's general glorification over the surplus and the "tall chimneys." Sir Richard Cartwright made a very good speech in reply. Then follows Sir Charles Tupper, White, Whelan, Rykert, &c., on the government side, and answered by Charlton, Paterson and others on the opposition side of the House. It is a heavy undertaking to read all these speeches, and when the chaff is separated from the wheat in most of them the chaff will be found very much the largest. While Mr. Charlton's speech is an exception, the situation is well argued out, clear, logical and to my thinking or any unprejudiced man's who listened to it must have been convincing.

THE TALL CHIMNEYS.

In this connection mention may be made of the "tall chimneys return" over which there has been not a little amusement. This return should be read in the light of the campaign speeches made in 1878 by the Tory candidates. Bear these in mind and then consider the result, as exhibited in this return brought down by Sir Leonard himself. According to this return the great N. P. has put about 7000 additional hands to work in various manufactories in two years. Now if it were allowed that each one of this 7000, was the head of a family of five, it would give 35,000. This calculation is of course quite absurd, as a great many employees in factories are young and unmarried. But give the N. P. all the advantage that could by any possibility be claimed for it, and say that it has been the means of adding manufactories whereby 35,000 additional of a manufacturing population is gained. But at what cost? That is the rub. Well, as our population is about say 4,000,000, it figures out that this 35,000 is just the one hundred and fourteenth part of the population, or in other words, 113 of our population have to stand the heavy taxation that is put upon us as a people, to support each one of this 35,000. It is the most arrant nonsense to say that the farming community are benefitted. How can this be when the price of their products is regulated by the price in foreign markets. Then if they get no benefit they are the victims and thus by this policy the many are being taxed and legally robbed for the benefit of the few. We used to hear a good deal about the Redpath Sugar refinery, and what a calamity it would be to have it shut up, and the four hundred men thrown out of employ. So they must get the privilege of laying a tax on four millions of people in order that they might live, and now we read that they, having enjoyed the privilege of taxing our whole population for two years, that the Head of the firm has retired not only from the sugar business but from the country and purchased "Camden House" in England late the residence of the Ex-Empress Eugenie. The sugar business must have been run to some profit to reach this result and the farmers of Ontario have to stand the shot without, be it remembered, getting themselves any compensating advantage.

TEMPORALITIES FUND.

More interest has been manifested in the dispute over the Temporalities matter in the Presbyterian Church than in any other thing that has yet come up. A large number of influential people, ministers and laymen have been watching the proceedings before the Private Bill Committee when the legislation of the Presbyterian Church in Canada proposed to get at the suggestion of the Privy Council in England is being considered. The leading event in this discussion was the Speech of Principal Grant of Queen's College. It placed the so called Presbyterian Church in Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland, headed by the Rev. Gavin Lang, in a pitiable plight and was a triumphant indication of the course pursued by the Unionists, who are the vast majority of the Church. The Principal showed that step by step the Synod had acted with the greatest caution and prudence, and under what was considered the best legal advice, in matters of law. That, acting under this advice, they had sought and obtained power from the local Parliaments in Ontario and Quebec, to consummate the Union and that they did it only after they had gotten this power, which according to the best legal advice in Canada was ample to make that act legal. That having so acted, the public faith was pledged, and demanded that the legislation they were now asking should be granted. I do not profess to be very well posted in this matter but I understand that the foundation, so to speak, of this Temporalities Fund, was laid when the church got its share of the Clergy Reserve funds, that in fact the Temporalities fund, represented that fund. If this be so, then when we remember, that the Clergy reserves, was a matter appertaining to Ontario alone it is a little curious, and displays matchless impudence, that a congregation in the Province of Quebec should be the head and front of this mendacious attack. This congregation supplied the orators, and but for it the opposition to union would have long since died, and the unchristian exhibition that the past week has witnessed would not have taken place to pain and grieve the good honest Christian people, as it has done. The Presbyterian Church in Canada may well feel proud of her champions not alone of their ability but of the Christian forbearance and charity with which they treated their opponents. The legal champion of the discontents frequently interrupted the Rev. Principal during his address, but inwardly got the worst of it. At the last interruption the legal gentleman lost his temper. The interruption was regarding what had taken place, while some negotiations were taking place looking to a compromise. It was afterwards understood that the Rev. Principal had a letter which, had he read, would have covered the legal man and his Reverend friend with confusion, but he, like a Christian, forbore. This letter set forth what was wanted by the Rev. Lang and his tail, in order that settlement might be reached. All they wanted was two-thirds of the fund, with representation on the Board of Queen's College, and some other little advantages. Heavens! Seven men go against meeting in a church that is supposed to be governed on somewhat democratic principles and where at least the majority is supposed to rule, and when they make a proposition to divide an accumulated fund, they modestly ask for two-thirds. Could mendacious impudence further go? There is no danger of their getting what they want, the friends of the Presbyterian Church in Canada have only to stand firm and they will get what they ask, and the cabal will be brought to nought. As this fund was derived from a Public source, the general public have an interest in the question, and public morality demands that the legislature see that justice be done in the premises. Take St. Andrews Church, here, as an instance; they were almost an unit for union, only two discontented souls, neither of whom are regarded as eminently saintly opposed so far as I am aware. Well, the congregation have within the past four years built a large and very costly church, and greatly improved the Manse, and now these two saints brimful of Christian love and chosen for the spread of the principles that lie at the root of the Christian faith, have given notice to the Pastor to leave the Manse and the elders to give up the Church. The Pastor is very much liked by his people, and the Church is in a prosperous state, and all this is to be altered to gratify these two crooked minded individuals. The congregation is of course a good deal exercised, and one lady remarked to me that she did not know much about the question (she was not Scotch,) but if Mr. Gordon, (the Pastor,) was on one side and Mr. ——— on the other side she had no doubt which side was right. She knew the Pastor and she also knew the other gentleman, and knowing his general contrary spirit, and his eminently unchristian mode of treating all who differed with him, she did not take any stock in his side, nor will Parliament. The conduct of the chairman of the committee might be and has been remarked upon. He is a member of a firm of lawyers that are at present professionally engaged in the interest of the discontents. He so stated the case, and said he would retire if the committee wished it. One would have supposed that a high minded man would have insisted on retiring, and not want to throw in the committee the views of his dismissal from the position—if he did retire.

THE NORTH-WEST EMIGRATION.

Many persons here are asking what is to be the outcome of the western fever that has seized our people. All of course feel that in the end it will bring things right politically, but the immediate financial question is worth considering. If the North West was being settled up by a foreign immigration which was bringing money from abroad, nothing but good could come of it, but, the settlers going in are mostly our own people, and they are leaving this not too heavily peopled part of the country and taking not a little means and material wealth away with them. What effect is this going to have on us who remain at home? and the question is, will it not bring about hard times and commercial distress at an early day? That much of the money that is going out to Winnipeg to be employed speculatively will be lost to the present owners, is pretty certain but, so far as the country is concerned it only changes hands. But the other question remains. Are we rich enough at home to stand the drain which is individually being made upon us and not suffer? This Province of Ontario if we may judge from the number of Loan Societies which abound all over the country, must be very much mortgaged, the funds to a large extent come from abroad, and the interest has to be paid by the proceeds of what we ship away. Can we stand all this and the Tilley tariff? There is now but little doubt but that we will have an election sometime during the summer. A good many of the members, bya cident, and misrepresentation, do not like the prospect, but Sir John does not care for them, he goes for himself, and his Twelve follow. If the present government remain in favor after an, election it is the opinion of well informed people here that it will be by a French Quebec Tory vote. For the peace and good government of the country this is much to be regretted.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The audacity of the Review in still further attempting to white-wash Sir Charles Tupper in connection with the contract for the construction of the section of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Emory's Bar and Port Moody, is in keeping with the shabby business of garbling reports that the editor of that sheet is accustomed to doing. If there is any "unfounded abuse" going in this section of the country, the Review has a monopoly of it, secured, doubtless, by the exertions and example of the immaculate Tupper, whose latest labor of love for the people of this country is to take over $200,000 out of their pockets, to give to a California friend, a contractor of the name of Onderdonk, who can get contracts, though hundreds of thousands higher than what responsible Canadians bind themselves to do the work for.

DICKEN'S THEATRICAL ANECDOTES.

Charles Dickens always enjoyed allusions and stories connected with the melodramas of old times, and had some good ones to relate, as of the actor of Rochester theatre who forgot his part and could not attract or hear the prompter. At last, in desperation he said to his comrade with deep "no-meaning," "I will return anon," and then went off to consult his book. Another of his stories was connected with the "Castle Sceptre," where an actor had on an emergency taken the part of the imprisoned earl. He was told to say anything expressive of his condition and sufferings, fifteen years' imprisonment, etc. "For fifteen years have I been imprisoned here" (hoarse prompting, "Starved!") "and during the whole of that period not a morsel of food has passed my lips!"

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

(Fenelon Falls Gazette.)

Sir Charles Tupper's letter to Mr. Cameron on the subject of the navigation of the Trent waters, which we published in a recent issue, has not been entirely satisfactory to many of our readers. Sir Charles speaks of the many difficulties that have had to be encountered, which have rendered the survey a tedious one, and consequently the surveyor's report is not ready for the present meeting of Parliament. This state of things is contrary to what we have been led to believe by every engineer who has formerly been engaged on the survey; we believe the work has been gone over already four or five times with the same results. The department of Sir Charles Tupper must be full of reports on this very subject—a subject now of so much importance in development of the country. The question of the Trent Valley Canal is one which has periodically, at intervals of ten years, forced itself on the attention of the country. Thoughtful men have been amazed that such a magnificent water way should be unutilised. It has been warmly discussed for a time, and then upon the bare assertion of some wiseacre that there was not a sufficient supply of water, the matter has been allowed to drop. This water supply has been the sole difficulty hitherto in the way of the construction of the work. All the engineers that have been engaged on the survey or that have examined the matter have declared the supply of water to be abundant. Mr. Rubidge, the gentleman in charge of the present survey, called upon the chairman of our local committee a short time after the survey was commenced, and though his object was not to communicate information, for that was the very thing he was in search of himself, yet he volunteered these two statements, namely, that he had satisfied himself twenty years ago, from personal observation, that the water supply is ample, and that so far as he had gone Mr. Baird's survey had been in every particular verified. We must say, then, that in the face of the declarations of so many engineers that there are no engineering difficulties on the Trent Valley waters, we were not prepared for Sir Charles Tupper's statement. We believe still that there are no difficulties of any consequence on the water way itself, and that it can be constructed to the capacity required, namely, that of being capable of locking through a barge with 12,000 bushels of wheat, from Lake Huron to the St. Lawrence, at the estimated cost of three or four millions. We think, however, that the difficulties occur in trying to divert the waters from their natural channel, so as to have the mouth of the canal at Belleville instead of at Trenton. By thus diverting the waters unnaturally from their channel any amount of difficulties may be looked for, and twenty or even fifty millions of dollars might be expended in completing the undertaking. We say without hesitation that such is not the enterprise that we advocate. At no time in the history of this country has the necessity for the construction of the canal been felt so much as now. The great North-West is being rapidly settled, and will soon be pouring to the sea-board her millions of bushels of grain annually, and the amalgamation of the various railways is certainly not a move for the lowering of the tariff in the interest of those who granted bonuses for their construction.

THE KISS IN HISTORY

It was by a kiss that the dark-browed Judas gave the preordained sign; it was by a kiss King Ahasuerus signified to the trembling Esther that her fortunes were no longer at the caprice of the mercurial Haman. A kiss dismissed the hapless Essex to that melancholy death which the whimsical love of the ferocious Elizabeth made a dagger in her life forever after. It was a kiss that lulled the victims of Lucretia Borgia's inumberable intrigues to the noisome dungeons of the Castle d'Estes. A kiss was the sign that the perfidious Queen Katharine de Medici made the token of the weak king's assent to the massacre of St. Bartholomew. Brutus made his treachery to his benefactor more odious by a miscreant kiss at the very moment his dagger was uncovered for the slaughter of his adopted father. William the Conqueror saluted his confiding kinsman Harold on both cheeks at the moment he meditated wresting his kingdom from him. The kiss in its worst and most intolerable form however, is when it is a mere perfunctory observance. What meaning can the fusilade that salutes a bride have to a sensitive soul? The smack of the minister, it is true, gives official or, perhaps, sacerdotal completeness to a ceremony now stripped of some of its ancient unprescriptive picturesqueness. On entering battle of old, the knight graciously saluted the company by a kiss on the blade of the sword. At the battle of Ivry old chroniclers relate that the gallant knights of France deliberately drew up in line and raising their swords, kissed their blades, then set impetuously forward with lance. If Homer is to be taken literally, the honest heroes of the Iliad made the kiss to preface nearly every undertaking, from the sacrifice of a bird to the delivery of a battle. Achilles actually stopped a combat in order to give Paris time to go back to kiss Helen. Men and women have been known to risk life and fortune merely to pledge their troth in the passing ecstacy of a kiss. The mere sensual gratification of lip is not the inspiration that flows from the lips. Kisses are the treble and clefs that mark the perfectest melody in the song and symphony of life.—Ex.

Alexander Brownley, for many years a prominent resident of Ailes Craig, has been arrested in Lindsay for the attempted abduction of his ward, Annie Howie, of the same place. Brownley had caused one Frank Brooks to be arrested on a charge of abducting Miss Howie, but afterwards withdrew the charge and paid all expenses. Some of the letters written by Brownley to Miss Howie are most disgusting and indecent in their details and utterly unfit for publication. Brownley is detained in jail in London awaiting his examination.

A WORD OF CAUTION.—As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fradulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald at 50c.

The Russian Officers Club, St. Petersburg, gave Skobeloff an enthusiastic reception on March 15. In the course of his reply Skobeloff stated that he meant everything he had said in his recent address to the students, and that the Czar had endorsed every word of it, and that the only reason the latter had for not openly approving the speech was that he was averse to rupturing the relations now existing with Germany.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 30, 1882.

The West Peterborough Tory Platform.

The resolutions adopted at the late meeting of the Conservative Association of West Peterborough have, at least, the merit of clearness and intelligibility, and we propose to show from them the nature of the platform on which the Dominion Government stands. The resolutions are two in number, the first being directed against the Mowat administration, and the second containing an expression of confidence in the Macdonald Government. The first embodies a series of charges against the Ontario Government, and the second recites several grounds on which the Dominion Government is entitled to public confidence.

The charges against the Mowat administration are: (1) the centralization of power and patronage in their hands; (2) interference with vested rights of property; (3) endeavours to embroil Ontario with the Dominion and with other Provinces; and (4) reckless and practically uncontrolled expenditure of public money. It is further alleged that members and supporters of the Government made use of violent language on the boundary question; that they have not sought a settlement of that dispute by peaceful means; and that they now threaten to resort to force. We shall show within as little space as possible, that the resolution which contains these allegations is a piece of bombastical rant, incapable of being supported as to a single one of its assertions by a tittle of evidence.

It is hard to say what the first of the above statements really means, but we presume that the author of the resolution intends to charge the Government with taking into their own hands political patronage, formerly held by popular bodies. If this is what is meant, the assertion is utterly untrue. The reference is no doubt to the granting of liquor licenses and the appointment of Division Court officials. Liquor licenses are not now granted by the Ontario Government any more than they ever were, and the people of each locality have more complete and direct control over them than they had under the old law. Division Court officials were formerly appointed by the County judges, and as the latter were entirely irresponsible, while the Government are directly responsible to Parliament, the mode of appointment has become more, instead of less popular. No one doubts that both changes are improvements for other reasons altogether.

The alleged interference with the vested rights of property, has reference, no doubt, to the Act to protect the public interest in rivers and streams. The value of the crown timber, yet unmarketed in this Province, depends very largely on the power of limit holders to float their logs down streams to mills, or to bodies of water large enough to float rafts. The right of Mr. Caldwell, to float saw logs on the upper waters of the Mississippi River, down that stream to his mill at Carleton Place, was disputed by Mr. McLaren, who succeeded in obtaining an injunction, which has left 19,000 saw logs locked up in the river for about two years. Any other man who owns both sides of a stream at a point where it is obstructed, has as good a right, as Mr. McLaren had, to prohibit any other man from floating logs down through his slide or over his dam. To have recognized McLaren's right to control a floatable river to this extent, would have been to empower a few "cranks" to throw the whole lumber industry into confusion, and therefore the Ontario Legislature, very properly defined in the Streams Bill, the extent and limits of the public interest in all floatable streams. When a man buys timber limits, he buys them on the understanding that he can use streams as highways, and as many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been invested in limits on this very understanding, it was necessary to protect all these vested rights by taking it out of the power of men like McLaren, to obstruct floatable streams. The Streams Bill, therefore, besides being a measure to guard the public interest, is a measure to protect, instead of injure private vested rights.

The next count in the indictment has, no doubt, reference to the boundary dispute. The only Provinces that have any interest in the disputed territory, besides Ontario, are Quebec and Manitoba. The former has only a sentimental interest in it, as the region in question never can become hers under any circumstances; the latter should not have been brought into the quarrel at all, and as yet has taken no steps to assert any claim to the territory. It is quite untrue that the Mowat Government have endeavoured to make trouble over this question. They have, on the contrary, strenuously endeavoured for years to get it peaceably settled, and when, after long delay, a portion of the disputed territory was awarded to Ontario by competent arbitrators, under a reference, mutually agreed upon by the Ontario and Dominion Governments, the Ontario Legislature promptly passed an Act, ratifying the award so far as it was in a position to do so in the absence of a similar ratification by the Dominion Parliament. And what is Quebec's interference in the matter but a piece of insulting impertinence? Had the Liberal party remained in power, the award would have been ratified long ago, and our title to a valuable property would have been placed beyond question. Unfortunately a change of Government took place, and before Sir John Macdonald could get the French Conservatives of Quebec to assist and support him, he was compelled to promise that he would not consent to the award being ratified. His own inclination, as well as his best policy, would have been to accept the decision of the arbitrators, but he never was free from French Bleu dictation, and he is more a slave to it just now than ever he was before.

The last charge is that the expenditure of Provincial money is "reckless and practically uncontrolled." This is so utterly senseless a statement that it is hardly worth notice. If the expenditure is reckless, why do the opposition, described in the resolution as "active and energetic," not expose its real character through the instrumentality of the Public Accounts Committee? And why do they not vote each session against the appropriations asked for by the Government? To say that the expenditure is uncontrolled is nonsense under our form of Government, when every dollar spent must be first voted by the people's representatives, and afterwards accounted for to the same body.

Turning to the other resolution, we find that it consists of an expression of confidence in Sir John Macdonald, a eulogy of the Tilley tariff, an endorsation of the Pacific Railway contract, and an approval of the policy of raising, by means of taxation, a large annual surplus to be applied in reduction of the public debt. We have no objection to any body reposing confidence in the Premier, if he feels that the public interests may be safely committed to the care of the man who was unaminously turned out of office in 1873, for selling a Pacific Railway charter; who gave the contract for section B of the same line, to a favoured firm, at a loss to the country of $217,000; who only the other day handed over to a firm of United States' capitalists the Port Moody section at a further loss to the country of $209,000; and who stated recently on oath that one of the men benefitted by the section B. contract paid, to get him out of an unpleasant position, the sum of $2,500. If the country wants such a man for Prime Minister, of course it can have him, but we do not believe it does.

The usual claims are made in the resolution for the N. P. It has made the country prosperous, provided work for thousands who would otherwise have gone idle, increased our capital, &c. The claims are so absurd and have so often been exposed that it is unnecessary to dwell upon them here. We are not sorry, from a party point of view, to have our opponents committed clearly to a policy of heavy taxation. They approve, in the most emphatic manner, of a system which extracts from the pockets of the people each year four or five millions more than is required to carry on the Government. We object to this exorbitant and unnecessary taxation, and the people must decide between us.

We are not sorry either to see them committed to unqualified approval of the Pacific Railway contract. The whole of the work to be done by the St. Paul Syndicate could have been let to a syndicate of Canadian capitalists for a subsidy less, by three million dollars and three million acres of land, than the subsidy agreed upon last session; while the latter company asked for no monopoly of traffic and no exemption, of either railway or lands, from municipal taxation. Apart from other matters connected with the contract this, of itself, is enough to condemn it, and we have no doubt that it will be emphatically condemned in spite of the approval accorded to it by the West Peterborough Conservative Association.

Editorial Notes.

THE Globe says:—The Peterborough Review has gone into the shabby business of garbling our reports of interviews with manufacturers on the subject of the N. P. It separates sentences from the context, suppressing everything unfavourable to the tariff, when in fact they are hostile to it. The Globe has been careful to publish both sides of the controversy. People will draw their own conclusions as to which side has the strongest case when they see one side suppressing part of the testimony.

THE cartoon in last week's Grip is a pretty good one, and represents Sir Richard in the guise of a school master, handing back to Sir Samuel, one of the pupils, the latter's "exercise" (a list of the alleged N. P. manufactures) "corrected," namely, with all but three of the "tall chimneys" struck out, and with the caution to Sir Samuel to be more careful in future. It is a good hit at the severe riddling to which that "tall chimney" list was subjected, and it is to be hoped Sir S. will take the proffered advice and be more careful in future, though it is hardly probable he will do so.

A GENERAL election is certain before the lapse of many months, and a certain class of Canadians would do well to consider carefully the promises and performances of the two parties before they decide how they will vote. This class is composed of persons who vote for a certain party because they believe that that party is the best one to be in power, and they are not to be compelled to vote for the Conservative side because they and their fathers before them have always been Tories, or for Reform candidates because that has been their uniform custom. They will of course weigh carefully all the arguments pro. and con. the N. P., and after such a careful consideration of the matter it will be rather astonishing if that N. P., having been weighed in the balance, is not found wanting. In Friday's Globe is to be found the opinions of a number of manufacturers respecting the new tariff, and they are unanimous in their assertions that it has increased their expenses, cut down their profits, has failed to furnish them with new markets, and places them generally in a worse condition than that in which they were under the old tariff.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—As I am a stranger in your town, I take the liberty of asking you to publish in your next issue the hours during which I can get my mail? I go to work before the Post Office opens. During my dinner hour the office is shut for distributing mail, and when I leave my day's work, I cannot get my mail even then, for the office is closed for the day. If you can give me any information or suggestion on this important subject that will lead to my opening direct and easy communication with the Post Office, I shall feel grateful for such favor.

Yours truly,
March 11, 1882. STRANGER.

[In another column will be found an article on the subject of the Post Office. It is true that the office is at present closed at the only time of day when the working man can obtain his mail, but some arrangement will probably soon be made by which he will be enabled to procure it without difficulty.—ED.]

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY.

The Mayor stated that Mr. COX was present and desired to address the Council with regard to a petition which had been forwarded to Ottawa by a special committee of this council in reply to a requisition from the Government respecting the charges &c. on the Midland Railway.

Mr. COX stated that he thought he ought to have credit for having the interest and welfare of Peterborough at heart, and he had been much hurt and pained by the report sent to Ottawa in respect of the charges of the Midland Railway, and he could only characterise that report as a blow below the belt, and one which he did not think was at all deserved. It was calculated to do, not only the Midland Railway, but this town a great injury. He felt greatly hurt about the affair, and hoped that the report did not contain the sentiments or feelings of the citizens of Peterborough.

He submitted that as a large ratepayer and well-wisher of this town, he should have been consulted by that committee, and asked to discuss the matter. It would only have been common courtesy, and he ought to have been given an opportunity to meet that committee as other Railway managers had in similar cases throughout the country. He could only state that the charges contained in that report were absolutely untrue, and he maintained that a fair construction had not been put upon the charge from Belleville to Peterboro'; nor that from Port Hope to Peterboro'. The gross earnings of the road between Port Hope and Peterboro' were $2370 per mile, and the net earnings were $995.40; the working expenses being deducted, and he was sorry to say that there had been a loss on that portion of the road. The bonded debt is $25,000, and requires, at 5 per cent., $1250 per year to pay the interest, leaving a deficiency of $7650 for the 31 miles. So that, for the first time in years, the owners had been paid five per cent. on their bonds. It will thus be seen that were it not for the larger earnings from the heavy freight and through grain from the northern districts, it would be impossible to keep the line open even with the present rates. The longer lines always allow the shorter lines a larger percentage of the figures. For instance, a Belleville merchant, from Montreal to Belleville, would have to pay far more than the Midland would for the same distance, and if some Belleville bills were procured, it would be seen that the difference paid by the Peterboro' merchant would not be very great. He wished to ask whether anyone thought it was possible to make the rates any lower? The whole matter had been misrepresented in the report read, and the difference between Port Hope and Peterboro', and Belleville and Peterboro' had been put altogether in a false light, and the report was calculated to injure this town. It is the duty of this council and of every ratepayer in the town to sustain the Railway which is doing all it can for the benefit of the town. The Midland railway is now spending $10,000 a month, or $120,000 a year in Peterborough, giving better train accommodation than ever the town had before, and doing all they could to build up our town. He was much obliged for the hearing that had been granted him, and would say a few words more at a later stage of the proceedings.

Councillor DENNE said that he had called a meeting of the Committee to consider this question, and though they had not responded, he was prepared to say that he could prove that the report was true. He thought that the ratepayers should know what was good for the town of Peterborough as well as Mr. Cox. Perhaps some other ratepayers would like to say something about this matter.

Moved and seconded that Mr. Cluxton be heard.

Mr. CLUXTON was sorry that the report of the Midland Railway had been sent without a larger meeting having assembled. Though he was not conversant with the subject under discussion, had that been the case, perhaps this unpleasantness would have been avoided. He felt sure that Mr. Cox was doing all he could for the town. The Midland Railway was doing a vast amount of good for this place, and Mr. Cox and the road should be upheld as much as possible. He thought the Committee might look into the affairs of the Grand Trunk on this side of Toronto; he did not think there were any discriminating rates, and he had lost a great deal of money through the Grand Trunk on account of their way of helping Chicago instead of us. He had lost thousands of dollars through the delay of that road, and its mismanagement should be taken up by every town council in the country. He complimented the Midland and its officers very highly, and stated that it was a pleasure to do business with that road. The charges on the Grand Trunk had been as high from Port Hope to Liverpool as from Chicago to Liverpool.

Councillor RUTHERFORD asked whether Mr. Cluxton had any grounds of complaint against the rates of the Midland between here and Port Hope.

Mr. CLUXTON—No. I think they are very reasonable.

Mr. COX said that the road between Peterborough and Port Hope could not be kept open unless it were for the profits on the northern end of the line

Councillor MENZIES stated that he had nothing whatever to do with the meeting or the forwarding of the report. He thought that the interests of the town of Peterborough and the Midland R. R. were identical. He expressed his regret that such an unfounded report should have been forwarded to Ottawa, and it would, unless checked, do us considerable injury. He, as a member of the Committee, had never been consulted in the matter, and supposed that Councillor Denne had taken the responsibility upon himself of making these charges. He had heard no comments about the charges of either the Grand Trunk or the Midland, but on the other hand he could testify both from personal experience and from the remarks of others, that these companies were doing their utmost to serve the people as well as it was possible for railroads to do. He was sure that if Mr. Hickson was present he could satisfactorily explain any supposed grievance that some might have.

Councillor CAHILL, said the people in the towns and villages along the line complained of Mr. Cox favoring Peterborough too much, and neglecting them. However he thought a resolution would have to be passed repudiating the whole report. Mr. Cluxton had spoken in favor of the Midland and he ought to know as much as anyone about it.

Councillor DENNE said he could get twenty more such reports if he liked.

Councillor CAHILL was averse to the Council fathering the report. He thought they should entirely repudiate it.

Councillor RICHARDSON had never heard a word against the Midland Railway, and he could not see how any one could say anything against that line.

Moved and seconded that Mr. Jas. Stevenson be heard.

That gentleman said that he could add nothing to what had already been said. He had heard incidentally that there was a report, but he knew nothing about it. There had been a slur cast on the management of the Midland by this report, but he was satisfied that if the parties who had sent the report had laid the matter before Mr. White, they would have had this matter of charges set right. He felt that the Midland Railway did all in its power to accommodate us. He knew this from his own experience, as he, perhaps, brought heavier freight to town than any other ratepayer, for coal was a heavy article, but he could say nothing against the Midland and its management—he had met with nothing but accommodation. He considered some of the ways of the Grand Trunk as nothing better than robbery. Last year he brought a car of fire brick from Montreal to Port Hope for $20 and from Port Hope to Peterborough for $18 which had appeared very high, but a month afterwards the Grand Trunk charged him $34 for the same. It was unfortunate that this report had ever gone down. His idea was that some of the charges might seem exorbitant till they were explained, but, as a general rule, Peterborough was much better accommodated now than it had been It was a pity that a report should get about that our merchants were dissatisfied with the Midland Railway, as he was sure that the road had greatly benefitted this town.

Mr. MACDONALD, of Lindsay, on being called for said that the Midland had always met him half way. The Grand Trunk had acted most disgracefully to the northern portions of Ontario ever since it had been built; it had always worked against us whilst the Midland did all it could to help us, and he thought it unfortunate that this report had gone down about it, but he was of opinion that no report could be made strong enough against the Grand Trunk.

Mr. COX was much obliged to all those gentlemen who had spoken as they had done about the Midland. It is a difficult thing to run a railway having a large number of English capitalists in the concern. A short time ago it was dangerous to ride on the Grand Trunk, and this was all on account of there not being enough traffic on the road to pay the interest to English capitalists. As a road increases its trade it will be better able to increase its accommodation to the public, and there would even be less reason to complain of the Midland a short time hence than there is now. If the price of grain advanced, the farmers would get the benefit of it. Farmers would like competition but they were not willing to pay for it. The through business from the west is absolutely necessary to support the road, which the local business cannot do. The same feeling concerning the general policy of the line is seen all along the road, and he did not think that Peterboro' was more favored than any other place on the railway. He wished to speak about the grievances urged by Messrs. Cluxton and Macdonald against the Grand Trunk, and though he was not there to stand up for that road, he felt that the manager of that line could not matters in a more favorable light, were an opportunity offered him. When he first assumed his present position, Lindsay had a half cent cheaper rate than Peterborough, but he made the two rates equal. He was satisfied that the Grand Trunk was acting fairly, and would, at a future date, meet all the requirements of their patrons. It must be remembered that the local business of the Grand Trunk was not sufficient to maintain the road in its present state of efficiency, and it was only since the company had been able to compete for a portion of the through grain trade from Chicago and other western points, that it had taken its present highly satisfactory position amongst the principal railways of the American continent. It is true that the through rate from Chicago to the sea-board is lower in proportion to the distance than from local points, but that was not saying that the local rates were too high. Before resuming his seat he wished to say that the Midland was giving the same rates on grain flour to Montreal and Liverpool from Peterborough as was charged from Guelph and other western points. There was not a statement made in the memorial that could not be flatly contradicted. All the towns on the line were just as well served regarding rates and accommodation as Peterborough. The policy of the road is to build up the line and the places on it. To-day the company is spending more money here than they earn from Peterborough to Port Hope.

Moved by Councillor KELLY, seconded by Councillor Rutherford,—That this Council having considered the questions referred to it by the special committee of the House of Commons having charge of Mr. McCarthy's bill for the constitution of a Railway Commission, respectfully submit that there is not at present any necessity or demand for such a court. The town of Peterborough, served by the Midland Railway of Canada, by its two divisions terminating at Port Hope and Belleville respectively, has no ground for complaint as to freights charged to its shippers and importers, but on the contrary, that company has fairly met the reasonable demands and requirements of its customers, who, with one or two exceptions, are satisfied with the existing state of things, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the said special committee.

Councillor RUTHERFORD thought that all the grievances stated in the report had been explained away by Mr. Cox, and we ought to do all we could for the Midland Railway, and it should be looked on as part and parcel of the town, and nothing should be done to tie the hands of the management of the Midland in any way. We should be standing in our own light if we opposed that line as it was of great benefit to the town of Peterborough.

Councillor POUSSETTE thought that we had heard enough to satisfy everyone that this town or council had no cause of complaint against the Midland Railway. As to the Grand Trunk, he always admired that institution, and we are all aware that it has a great interest in the Midland. It has been conceded that the latter is working for the benefit of all its customers along the line, and the present manager would do all he could, doubtless, to give fair rates. The G. T. people are not to be influenced by a threat to take our freight away from them. We should endeavor to conciliate them, and we should be more likely to get fair rates to the sea-board.

Councillor MENZIES would call the attention of the Council to the fact, that if there is any grievance against the G. T. or Midland the best plan would be to lay them before Mr. Hickson and Mr. Cox, who would be glad, he had no doubt, to talk the matter over with us, and set it right if any injustice were being done us. These railroads should be encouraged by a fair though not exorbitant rate. It was more business like to arrange matters in this way than to be continually abusing people without having an interview with regard to what is in dispute. He was sure that it was better for Peterborough to keep friends with the G. T. people rather than fight them.

Councillor DENNE was glad that this discussion had come up, as he had heard both sides of the question, and the report could go to the Government fully ventilated.

Councillor KELLY'S motion was then carried, Councillor Denne being against it.

THE CAR WORKS BY-LAW.

Moved by Councillor RUTHERFORD, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That in view of the adverse expression of opinion given by leading stock-holders and citizens regarding the car works by-law, the by-law be withdrawn.—Lost.

Councillor CAHILL stated that he was happy to be able to correct two mistakes made by Councillor Rutherford at the citizens' meeting a few nights ago. That one regarding the Cobourg car works, in which he had stated that they were shut down, had been promptly contradicted by Mr. Cox; but the other one respecting the one mill taxation had been passed by without any dissenting voice. $12,000 would be required to pay the sinking fund and interest per annum on the $20,000, and less than half a mill on the dollar would provide the necessary amount.

Councillors DENNE and RICHARDSON spoke in favor of the proposed car works, but the former thought the promoters of the scheme should pay for them.

Councillor POUSSETTE said that the rate required to pay the interest on the $20,000 loan, even if the money was lost, would be 46-100 of a mill on the dollar.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor CAHILL read and submitted the following report of the Finance Committee:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:—

1—That the account of John Hennessy, $4.00, be paid.

2—That the application of Messrs. Gemmell & McKee be granted on the same condition as Mr. A. W. Brodie's.

3—That the town's share, $209.53, for conveying lunatics and prisoners to gaol, be paid.

4—That S. Johnston's application be referred to the Charity Committee.

5—In reference to the communication from E. B. Osler, President of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, your Committee recommend that the Commissioners be requested to grant said railway the two acres of land used as a circus ground, for 21 years at a rental of $1.00 per annum, or Spaulding's Bay for 99 years at a rental of 20 cents per annum, provided the Bay be filled in.

6—That the sum of 70 cents be refunded to Mrs. Uin on account of water rate for 1881.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Sd.) THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman pro tem.

The report was received and adopted.

THE MARKET COMMITTEE.

Councillor POUSSETTE read and submitted the following report:—

The Market Committee beg leave to report:—

1—We recommend that a by-law be passed in accordance with the Statute to empower the town to collect tolls.

2—In view of the bad year we recommend that the sum of $1,150 be accepted in full payment of Mr. John Doherty's tender for the tolls for the current year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

What we Value

The reputation of keeping reliable goods.
The name of fair and honourable dealers.
The character of always doing what we profess.
And the paying patronage of a satisfied public.

WHAT THE PUBLIC VALUE

Is the supply of their wants at the very lowest cost. This is commendable and the endeavour to meet the demand is the mainspring of our business. From the inception of our trade we were THE FIRST who adopted the basis of selling for cash. The amount of our sales has shewn most decidedly that this line of dealing has been appreciated. Another lever in lifting our trade into prominence has been our buying our goods in LARGE LOTS, not by the piece. This in addition to our invariable practice of constantly receiving goods, instead of at two seasons of the year, gives the public a constant opportunity to get what is fresh, what is fashionable, and what must be the best value. Our standing in the markets has an effect in the direction of decent legitimate trade that the public value.

We believe in giving a good article, putting the price at a thoroughly reasonable living profit, and then stamping the article with our recommendation.

We have experience as to what goods to buy and where to procure them, both to our own and to our customers advantage.

We employ so many hands that orders are filled with a promptitude that is gratifying to customers.

We consider that our facilities for handling and showing goods are such as to distance all competitors. We have many assurances to this effect.

Our prices are invariably the same, one to all buyers. In the case of large buyers we shall be happy to allow a liberal discount in keeping with the extent of the order. This is what we have been doing and shall continue to do during the coming season.

All goods marked in plain selling figures and children can buy from our counters at the same prices as the keenest bargainer may look for.

Come and see us, examine our goods and prices, and be convinced of our merits.

Oh! loosen the snood that you wear, Lizette,
Let me tangle my hand in your hair, my pet.
'Twas a beautiful mist, falling down to your wrist,
'Twas a thing to be braided and jeweled and kissed
'Twas a coronet, glorious and rare, Lizette.

My hand was the hand of a clown, my pet,
'Twas sinewy, hardened and brown, Lizette,
But fondly and gently it loved to caress
Your fair white neck and your wealth of tress,
Like a golden cascade pouring down, my pet.

Oh! you tangled my heart in your hair, Lizette,
And slavery's fetters I wear, my pet,
But so gentle the bondage my soul doth implore
The right to continue a slave evermore,
With my heart enchained by your hair, Lizette.

Your eyes were a heavenly blue, my pet,
Revealing the love that you knew, Lizette,
They were blue with that chastened tinge
Of the sky
When the trout leaps quickest to snatch the fly
And they pierced my soul, through and through, my pet.

Now I sit and I think what you were, Lizette,
With your lips and your eyes and your hair, my pet,
In the darkness of desolate years I moan,
And my tears fall bitterly over the stone
That covers your glorious hair, Lizette.

Feeding Poultry: Rearing Chicks

BY D. E. EVANS, JR.

One of the secrets of successful poultry raising is the art of feeding properly, not merely at regular intervals, but on the most suitable food, and keeping the chicks growing as rapidly as possible from the very start. It is very poor economy to stint the poultry, especially young growing stock, for, when once stunted, it takes a long while to recover, if it does occur at all. For the first twenty-four hours after the chicks emerge from the shell, they should remain under the hen unmolested, both to dry and gain strength and hardiness. They do not require any food, as the store nature provides will last over this time. As the chicks hatch sometimes irregularly, the older ones can be cared for in the house until the others are ready to be taken away, when the hen and her brood can be removed to a roomy coop, with a tight-board bottom and a rain-proof roof. They should be fed five times daily, but only just what they will eat up clean. The first food should consist of stale bread moistened in water or in fresh milk—the milk is decidely preferable. Do not wet the food, as very moist or sloppy food will cause sickness and a high rate of mortality among young, tender birds. Keep the water (for drinking) away from them until they are six to eight weeks old, but if milk can be spared, give them occasional drinks of it. The too lavish use of corn meal has caused more death among young chicks than has cholera among grown fowls. Until the chicks are half-grown, corn meal should be sparingly fed, but after that time, when judiciously used, is one of the very best and cheapest foods for fowls and chicks. Nine-tenths of the young turkeys and guinea-fowls, which die when in the "downy" state, get their death blow from corn meal, as it is a very common practice (because it is so "handy" and suits lazy people so well) to merely moisten, with cold water, some raw corn meal and then feed it in that way. Young chicks relish occasional feeds of cracked wheat and wheat screenings, while rice, well boiled, is not only greedily eaten by the chicks, but is one of the very best things that can be given. It frequently happens that damaged lots of rice, or low grades of it, can be bought at low figures in the cities. As it increases so much in bulk in cooking, it is not an expensive food for young chicks, even at the regular retail price, though it would not, ordinarily, pay to feed it to full-grown fowls very liberally or very frequently. In the absence of worms, bugs, etc., during early spring, cheap parts of fresh beef can be well boiled and shredded up for the little chicks, but care must be taken not to feed more frequently than once in two days, and only then in moderation. This feeding on meat shreds is very beneficial to young turkey and guinea chicks when they are "shooting" their first quill feathers, as then they require extra nourishment to repair the drain on immature bodies.

A Talk About Toast.

Mrs. E. P. Ewing, in a lecture on cookery, said that toasting effectually destroyed yeast germs in bread, and converted the insoluble starch into a soluble substance resembling gum, and which chemists called dextrine, so that toasted bread was incapable of fermenting and producing flatulence, or becoming sour on the stomach. Bread toasted very dry agreed better with a weak stomach than any other bread. Indeed, a sensitive stomach would frequently digest toast when it would digest no other article of food.

Hence toast, which was in general use as a diet for invalids, could be safely and judiciously recommended for them at all times; and the loose talk indulged in by some self-styled teachers of physiology about the extreme unhealthfulness of toast especially when buttered, only gave emphasis to the fact that toasting bad bread and melting bad butter did not improve the quality of either or render them less indigestible or unwholesome than when in their orignal unregenerate condition. Melting or boiling inferior butter would not make it proper for a human stomach, and the most skilful manipulation would not convert sour, half-baked bread into nutritious, palatable toast. The latter held so important a place among foods that every one should know how to make it properly. Yet one of the American authorities on culinary matters has said that only about one in ten thousand knows how to make toast, and the lecturer endorsed the statement so far as to assert that bad toast was the rule and good toast the exception. In making toast three directions should be observed:—Cut the bread, which should be somewhat stale, in even slices, about half an inch in thickness. If the bread is fresh, slightly dry them.

Hold each slice a sufficient distance from the fire, which should be of clear, bright coals, to keep it from burning, and let it brown evenly. For this purpose a wire broiler or a toasting fork can be used. When the surface of one side becomes a rich, golden colour, turn and heat the other side in a similar manner, until the slice is perfectly toasted. Serve the moment it is done on a warm plate, dry or buttered, and it will tempt the appetite of either invalid or epicure.

It is a matter not sufficiently known that sheep give material assistance in keeping land free from weeds. Many of the most pernicious weeds with which farmers have to contend are generally relished by sheep, in their early or soft state, and ultimately eradicated in this way. It may also be observed that the younger the pastures are when the sheep are put to grass, the more effectual they will be in keeping in subjection and finally killing out the weeds.—Farmer's Magazine.

FACTS ABOUT THE N. P.

Agricultural Implement and Boiler Manufacturers Hampered by Protection.

THE N. P. AND THE MANITOBA MARKET.

A Globe commissioner has gleaned the following facts in London and Ingersoll, concerning the N.P., and the manner in which protection hampers the very important manufactures of agricultural implements and boilers.

Mr. Noxon, of Ingersoll, in reply to questions regarding the effect of the tariff on his extensive agricultural implement business, said:—Our business has not, in the old Provinces at least, suffered from American competition. Of course an American machine has come over here at times, but on the other hand we have sold agricultural implements in the United States. Ploughs, steel board, did come in, but it was because Canadians did not make the same class of plough. We therefore did not require any further protection than we had under the old tariff. That former protection was usually sufficient to prevent Americans sacrificing much to meet us at our own doors. Prices of machines are lower here than in the United States, often very much lower. For one machine we sell at $32 the Americans charge $50. Large machines are almost proportionately higher on the other side. The cost of production there is also higher than in Canada, so that in ordinary times Americans would not be tempted to go into a market where they would get less and pay the duty besides. Even in dull times they would not care about doing so, for with the immigration pouring into the United States and the increasing demand for farm machinery their implement makers are rarely brought to a standstill. They are something like we were during the pahic years—we were busy, but not over-pressed, as at present. Many who have not examined their own business in relation to general business and economic conditions are disposed to attribute a considerable share of the good times to protection. I can attribute none. When crops are good we sell more machines and on shorter credits. In 1872-3, the height of the last good times, our establishment was smaller, but we were pressed with demands even more than now, and made larger profits. And the present activity of business would have come about from natural causes, altogether apart from the N.P. I do not say that I can trace no benefit from the N.P. in my business, while I am taxed, or rather my customers, the farmers, are, on account of the increased duties on raw material.

THE N.P AND THE MANITOBA MARKET.

As to the Manitoba Market, I think we could hold it quite readily under a lower tariff, say 17½ per cent., or even less. It is true that the Americans have been sending in ploughs into the North-West, but it is because they had long been making a prairie plough, while the Canadians, not having a North-West, had not commenced the manufacture of the plough required here. They are now making the light prairie plough, though not yet enough of them to meet the demand there. The Americans, with their large foundries and larger demand, make ploughs cheaper at present than Canadians, but nevertheless I do not think that 17½ per cent. is not enough to preserve the market for our own people.

MORE PROTECTION THAN BARE TARIFF FIGURES.

In regard to other agricultural implements we have the market. So far as freights are concerned we are as well off as distant American manufacturers, and we manufacture cheaper. Around St. Paul a great many implements are made, and manufacturers there have the advantage in freight. It does not, however, amount to much. On a recent car load I paid $105 from here to St. Paul, and $172.50 from St. Paul to Winnipeg. If 15 machines are placed in a car the extra freight we have to pay is $7; this on a machine sold for $500 is only about 1½ per cent., which under a 17½ per cent. tariff would still leave us practically over 16 per cent. of protection, an amount which would greatly check American importations. But even that little deduction is more than made up by the increased cost of material in St. Paul. I take recent quotations. White ash costs $20 a thousand here; in St. Paul it costs $37 a thousand, or 85 per cent. more than here. Maple in St. Paul is twice as dear as in Ontario. If other items be compared with St. Paul, Canadians under a 17½ tariff on agricultural implements would have over 17½ per cent. of protection, and that ought to be sufficient. Of course the larger business of American manufacturers favors cheapness, but I cannot attach much importance to that. When a certain number of machines of a certain description are to be turned out annually the machinery required for them is much the same as for a vastly larger number, so that the saving on the extra machines does not amount to anything very appreciable. Ten years ago Canadian makers manufactured almost everything, and often with machinery not up to the mark. Now we are going into specialties and study labor-saving appliances, keeping in that respect up to the large American shops. This being the case we have no fear of American competition, either here or in Manitoba. Owing to very natural reasons the Manitobans bought of Americans at one time, but when Ontario entered the market a change was brought about.

THE FARMER PAYS OUR TAXES.

While the N.P. has done us no good it has increased the production very considerably. We are taxed on coal, iron of all sorts, belts, screws, knives, etc. In fact largely through the operation of the tariff raw material has advanced 25 per cent. On the iron required in a drill we pay $3 extra. It is true that we make our machinery lighter than formerly, but that very lightness requires the use of tougher material and better workmanship, so that the reduction in weight has to be compensated. I do not say that we lose the extra duty we pay on imported material, and the extra price generally equivalent to the duty we pay on home manufactured material. We did pay much of it for a time, but gradually have shifted the whole or almost the whole

BURDEN UPON THE FARMERS

who we intend shall recompense us for the taxation we pay. If the price does not indicate an increased burden upon the farmers, it is because prices of manufactured goods do not move so quickly as the prices of material, but with the home competition existing we would sell our machines cheaper if we had not over $6,000 extra duty to pay in consequence of the N.P.

WAGES OF EMPLOYEES.

We are paying less wages than in 1872. When the tariff was put on we were forced to reduce the wages of our men, but the demand for labor in the United States is taking away the labor we require, and lately we made a raise of 10 per cent., which is the first raise since the N.P. The number of employees has increased about 12 per cent.

ARTEMUS WARD IN ENGLAND.

When Artemus Ward arrived in England in 1866 he was a dying man. I can see him now as he came on the narrow platform in front of his inferior panorama, and stole a glance at the densely packed room, and then at his panorama; his tall, gaunt, though slender figure, his curly light hair and large aquiline nose, which always reminded me of a macaw, his thin face flushed with consumption, his little cough, which seemed to shake him to pieces, and which he said was "wearing him out," at which we all laughed irresistibly, and then felt ashamed of ourselves, as well we might; but he himself seemed to enjoy his cough. It was all part of that odd topsy-turvy mind in which everything appeared most natural upside down.

On first entering he would seem profoundly unconscious that anything was expected of him, but after looking at the audience, then at his own clothes, and then apologetically at his panorama, he began to explain its merits. The fact was that Artemus intended having the finest scenes that could be painted, but he gave that up on account of the expense, and then determined to get the worst as the next best thing for his purpose. When anything very bad came up he would pause and gaze admiringly at the canvas, and then look round a little reproachfully at the company. "This picture," he would say, "is a great work of art, it is an oil painting done in petroleum. It is by the old masters. It was the last thing they did before dying. They did this, and then they expired. I wish you were nearer to it so you could see it better. I wish I could take it to your residences and let you see it by daylight. Some of the greatest artists in London come here every morning before daylight with lanterns to look at it. They say they never saw anything like it before, and they hope they never will again."

Nothing could be more impromptu, and therefore riveting, than his manner throughout from the moment he entered; he seemed to be doing everything for the first time and without the least preparation, and indeed he was most unlike such mechanical artists as Albert Smith, who used to say he could go through his "Mont Blanc" half asleep. Artemus was always in reality at high pressure. He was never twice the same; he poured out new jokes with prodigal invention, and every gesture was original and arose out of the immediate occasion. His finger was ever on the pulse of the people; they were always absolutely in his power, whilst he flattered them by appearing to be entirely in theirs. He would conciliate them, inspire pity, claim indulgence, throw himself upon their generosity, pretend to exert himself, to labour under a depressing sense of failure, even make capital out of his poor cough; and then he was so deeply wounded, if some very mild joke failed to elicit applause, that he would stop and look reproachfully at the people until they shook with a new sense of the absurd situation. At other times, when interrupted by laughter, he would look round with surprise and say, "I did not expect you to laugh at that. I can throw off numbers of those little things, but I assure you I can do better than that."—Good Words.

AN ANGEL'S TOUCH.

One evening, not long ago, a little girl of nine or ten entered a place in which are a bakery, grocery and saloon in one, and asked for five cents worth of tea. "How's your mother?" asked the boy who came forward to wait on her. "Awful sick, and ain't had anything to eat all day." The boy was just then called to wait on some men who entered the saloon, and the girl sat down. In five minutes she was nodding, and in seven she was sound asleep and leaning her head on a barrel, while she held the poor old nickle in a tight grip between her thumb and finger. One of the men saw her as he came to the bar, and after asking who she was, said: "Say, you drunkards, see here. Here we've been pouring down whiskey when this poor child and her mother want bread. Here's a two dollar bill that says I've got some feeling left." "And I can add a dollar," observed one. "And I'll give another."

They made up a purse of an even five dollars, and the spokesman carefully put the bill between two of the sleeper's fingers, drew the nickle away, and whispered to his comrades: "Just look a there—the gal's dreaming!" So she was. A big tear had rolled out from her closed eyelid, but the face was covered with a smile. The men tiptoed out, and the clerk walked over and touched the sleeping child. She awoke with a laugh, and cried out: "What a beautiful dream! Ma wasn't sick any more, and we had lots to eat and to wear, and my hand burns yet where an angel touched it!" When she discovered that her nickle had been replaced by a bill, a dollar of which loaded her down with all she could carry, she innocently said: "Well, now, but ma won't believe me that you sent up to heaven and got an angel to come down to clerk in your grocery."—San Francisco News Letter.

THE MEDICAL FACULTY were among the first to recognize the value of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as a remedy for throat and lung affections, premature decline and general debility. Physicians not only recommend it for incipient consumption, bronchitis, asthma, and minor pulmonary and bronchial troubles, but speak in the highest terms of it as a means of enriching the blood and counteracting a hereditary tendency to consumption. In every part of the Dominion and throughout the United States it has attained a popularity as widespread as it is deserved, and the evidence attesting its efficacy is voluminous and convincing. The Cod Liver Oil, which is its pulmonic constituent, is absolutely pure and does not nauseate the stomach; while the Hypophosphites, superadded to and chemically blended with this ingredient, possesses invigorating properties which render it most desirable in diseases involving such a tremendous waste of tissue and loss of bodily substance as incipient consumption, which it checks with a promptitude truly marvellous. In addition to its pulmonic effects, it imparts tone to the whole system, and being a fine blood depurent, counteracts a tendency to scrofula. Moreover, it is sold at a reasonable price, the cost of the smaller bottles (the contents of one often sufficing to break up a bad cold) being 50 cents, and of the larger, $1.00. TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, mode adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

SANDERSON'S

A REAL GRIEVANCE,

OR TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS.

A few days ago a tall, gaunt, dejected but wild looking man burst violently into our sanctum, and after glaring wildly round for a few minutes, produced from his breast pocket a torn and crumpled copy of our paper, which he tore open and with one finger pointing to the poets' corner, inquired for the man who printed the poetry. We accused him that this was the duty of the poetry editor, who was then probably at home, but asked him if we could serve him in any way. "Well," he said, "I have sustained a grievous outrage to my feelings through the columns of this paper, and I have come to see about it. There," he continued, thrusting the paper under our nose, "what do you call that?" pointing to the title of a poem in the first column. "That," we said, "why The Labber's Garment." "Yes," he replied, "The Labber's Garment." My poem was entitled "The Lover's Lament," and this is the way your vile and obscure sheet produces it; but that is not the worst. I have been unfortunate in a love affair, and I just threw my soul into this poem. Instead of meeting with the condolence of my friends, who knew the state of my case, I have been made the butt of their infernal and unfeeling jests. A few goblets of the blood of that poetry editor appear to be the only thing that would soothe my irritated feelings." We tried to convince him that the editor in question was a poor, thin, attenuated starveling in whose whole composition, in our belief, there was not sufficient vital fluid to fill a liqueur glass. "Be it so," snapped the poet, "I'll have what there is if it's only a thimbleful. Read the first line, and look me in the face."

"Oh! torn are the strings of my o'er busting shirt"

He read aloud. "A beautiful sentiment, sir, a beautiful sentiment, indeed. Have you the garment in question with you?" "Great heavens!" exclaimed the poet, "Shirt! sir shirt! What I wrote was:

"Oh! Torn are the strings of my o'er trusting heart," and this is the way your diabolical paper prints it. By Gemini, sir, I could brain that poetry editor with a paste pot if I had him here."

We told him no paste pot could ever reach that man's brains—nor anything else either. The woebegone looking bard after a pause, signed to us to read the commencement of the third verse:

"Away for some pills when the weather is snowing," we continued. "Merciful heavens," cried the man, "listen to that! I wrote

"Away o'er the hills where the heather is blowing,"

Fancy, "away for some pills"—blame that editor; just turn to the fifth verse, and tell me if the scurrilous and low-minded printer should be permitted to live."

We read,

"The bright tinted bruise on the red, red, nose."

"There," he shrieked, "what do you think of that? What I said was

"The bright tinted hues of the red, red rose."

It's enough to make a man scalp his great grandmother's tom-cat, it is by thunder!" and he glared at us in a manner terrific to witness. "It is a pretty hard case, certainly, but mistakes will occur, even in our office," we suggested. "Mistakes," yelled the poet. "If I had foreseen this awful mess I would have signed the pledge before I wrote it. Why my friends think I wrote that in delirium tremens." It's too bad," we said. "Well, just read the next verse but one," he cried, gesticulating violently and cramming his hat over his unkempt hair.

"I sigh for the togs which we sported together," we murmured. "That line goes home to us. Give us your hand, sir, be assured that a pawnbro———"

"By the long horn spoon," he broke in, "do you think I referred to pawning my clothing? This is or was a sentimental poem, sir, a sentimental one, and that line should have been

"I sigh for the days when we sported together," sported, sir, not spouted. Oh! I'd like to get hold of that poetry editor. But just look at the last verse; there was a sentiment in that, sir, that would have thrilled even to the toes of an alderman, and see what that petrified son of a scavenger's daughter makes of it:"

"Then will you come back on the soul of a mule?"

"The soul of a mule may be a good stroke, but it strikes us that mules———"

"Mules, sir, mules! this is what I said:"

"Then will you come back to a soul that is mute?"

Where does that brute of a printer live? I'll go straight and get him," bellowed the minstrel, opening the door of the elevator by mistake for the way out, and vanishing. We heard his head strike violently at the bottom of the elevator flue, and looking down we saw him extended peacefully on the floor, four stories below, his hat jammed over his head down to his shoulders, but still clutching the murdered poem. "Ah" we said, as we went back to our desk, "another poet has slushed across the shining river; another minstrel soul goes wobbling up the golden stair."—Sun.

NOTHING ON EARTH SO GOOD.

Certainly a strong opinion, said one of our reporters, to whom the following was detailed by Mr. Henry Kaschop, with Mr. Geo. E. Miller, 418 Main street, Worcester, Mass:—"I suffered so badly with rheumatism in my leg last winter that I was unable to attend to my work, being completely helpless. I heard of St. Jacobs Oil and bought a bottle, after using which I felt greatly relieved. With the use of the second bottle I was completely cured. In my estimation there is nothing on earth so good for rheumatism.

TEACHING HIM THE BUSINESS.

"Hermann," said a Poydras street merchant clothier, addressing his clerk, "have you sold all dose overcoats vat vas left over from last vinter?"

"No sir, dere vas dree of dem left yet."

"Vell, ve must sell 'em right away as de vinter vill not last, you know, Hermann. Bring me one of de goats and I will show you somedings about de pizness. I vill dell you how to sell em out, and you must learn de pizness, Hermann; de vinter vas gone you know, and ve have had dose goats in de store more as six year.

An eight dollar overcoat was handed him by his clerk, and smoothing it out, he took a buckskin money-purse from the show-case, and stuffing it full of paper, dropped it into one of the pockets.

"Now, Hermann, my poy, he continued, "vatch me sell dat goat. I haf sold over dirty-five of dem shust de same vay, and I vant to teach you de pizness. Ven de nexd gustomer comes into de shop, I vill show de vay Rube Hoffenstein, mine brader in Detroit, sells his cloding und udder dings."

A few minutes later a negro, in quest of a suitable pair of cheap shoes, entered the store. The proprietor advanced, smiling, and inquired:

"Vat is it you vish?"

"Yer got any cheap shoes, hyer?" asked the negro.

"Plenty of dem, my friend, plenty; at any price you vant."

The negro stated that he wanted a pair of brogans, and soon his pedal extremities were encased in them and a bargain struck. As he was about to leave, the proprietor called him back.

"I ain't gwine to buy nuffin else. I'se got all I want," said the negro sullenly.

"Dot may be so, my daar sir, replied the proprietor, "but I shust vants you to look at dis goat. It vas de pure Russian vool, and dis dime last year you doan got dot same goat for dwenty-five dollars. Mine gracious, cloding vas gone down to noding and dere vas no money in de pizness no longer. You vant somedings dat vill keep you from de vedder, and make you feel warm as de summer dime. De consumption vas going round, und de doctors tell me it vas de vedder. More den nine heople died round here last week. Dink of dot! Mine friend, dot goat vas Russian vool, dick an' heavy. Vy, Mister Jones, who owns de pank on Canal street, took dot goat home mit him yesterday, und vore it all day; but it vas a leedle dight across de shoulders, und he brought it back shust a vile ago. Dry it on, my daar sir. Ah! dot vas all right. Mr. Jones vas a rich man, und he liked dot goat. How deep de pockets vas, but it vas a leetle dight across de shoulders."

The negro instigated up the coat, thrust his hands into the pockets and felt the purse. A peaceful smile played over his face when his touch disclosed to his mind the contents of the pocket, but he choked down his joy and inquired:

"Who did you say wore this hyer coat?"

"Vy Mister Jones, vot owns de pank on Canal street."

"What yer gwine to ax fur it?"

"Dwenty dollars."

"Dat's a pow'ful price fur dis coat, but I'll take it."

"Hermann, here, wrap up dis goat fur de schentleman, and drow in a cravat; it vill make him look nice mit de ladies."

"Neber mind, I'll keep the coat on," replied the negro, and pulling out a roll of money, he paid for it and left the store. While he was around the corner moaning over his stuffed purse, Hoffenstein said to his clerk:

"Hermann, fix up anudder one of dose goats de same way, and doan forget to dell dem dot Mister Jones vot runs de pank on Canal street vore it yesterday."

BROTHER GARDNER'S SENTIMENTS.

Those who forget (or never read) John iii, 17, or James ii, 15, 17, might, however, appreciate a sermon from these texts, preached in black man's dialect. Benevolence in which actions speak louder than words is expressed and recommended in this homely but forcible way:

"If you meet a poo' man," said Brother Gardner, "whose wife am lyin' dead in de house, doan wipe yer eyes an' rattle yer shin an' tell him you'd jine de funeral purcession if you only had a mule. Walk right down inter yer west pocket for half yer week's wages to help pay fur de coffin an' odder expenses.

"If you meet a feller-man who am out of wood, an' meat, an' flour, an' has a broken arm to excuse it, doan' pucker yer mouth an' tell him dat de Lawd will purvide. De Lawd doan' furnish purvishuns fur dis market. Instead of droppin' a tear of sorrow on the dosh step, step aroun' to the wood yard an' de grocers an' lay down the cash to feed an' warm de family fur a fortnight.

"When I meet a leetle gal who has lost her doll-baby, or a leetle boy who has stubbed his toe, I take em up in my arms an' wipe deir leetle noses an' set 'em down wid a handful of peanuts. When I meet a widder who am out of wood, an old man who has bin turned out doahs, or a workin' man who's home am under de shadder of death, I doan' lean on de fence an' look to heaben fur relief. If I'se got a dollar I hans it out. I lend it or give it or make 'em take it, an' if heaben does anyfing furder dat's extra.

"When you read dat it am easy to speak kind words, jist reflect dat it am also de cheapest way in de world to help a neybur. Turnips am quoted at 40 cts. a bushel; kind words have no value in de market."

CONSUMPTION CURED.—From Andrew Archer, of Fairfield, Me.: "Seeing numerous certificates in the Maine Farmer, endorsing the great lung remedy, Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I take great pleasure in giving publicity to the great cure it accomplished in my family in 1856. During the summer of that year, my son, Henry A. Archer, now postmaster of this place, was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of lungs, and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a 'seated consumption.' He was under medical treatment for a number of months, but received no benefit. At length, from the solicitation of himself and others, I was induced to purchase one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which benefitted him so much, that I obtained another, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—the great lung remedy for the times! The above statement, gentlemen, is my voluntary offering to you in favor of your Balsam, and it is at your disposal." 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all dealers generally.

HAVE HOPE.—Before you despair of curing a troublesome cough just verging on consumption, try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, it has cured others, why may it not cure you? All dealers sell it. 13-2t

"Kainer" Machine Oil is the standard for quality, warranted not to clog or gum. Ask your dealer for it. Manufactured by Clarke & Huggart, Woodstock, Ont. 5-28t.

Mr. Henry Marshall, Reeve of Dunn, writes:—"Some time ago I got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery from Mr. Harrison, and I consider it the very best medicine extant for Dyspepsia."

Professor Doremus declares that the milk of an elephant is 100 per cent richer than that of a cow. It may be so, but it must be recollected that there is about 100 per cent more fun in milking an elephant, as she has a tail at each end to slash round during the operation.

SORE THROAT.—Apply Hagyard's Yellow Oil and take inwardly according to directions. Yellow Oil is the best remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Bruises, Burns, Frost Bites and all lameness, inflammation and pain. No household should be without it. 13-3t

During the war General Lee found one of his soldiers (a North Carolinian, no doubt) eating green persimmons, and said to him: "My friend, these persimmons are not fit for food." The soldier replied: "General, I am not eating them for food, but to draw my stomach up to fit my rations."

Mr. Wm. Boyd Hill, Cobourg, writes: "Having used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for some years, I have much pleasure in testifying to its efficacy in relieving pains in the back and shoulders. I have also used it in cases of croup in children, and have found it to be all that you claim it to be."

A CURE FOR CROUP.—Apply flannel saturated with Hagyard's Yellow Oil and administer the Oil internally on a little sugar, as directed on the bottle. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Lameness, and flesh wounds. All dealers supply it, price 25 cts. 13-2t

It was in a Toronto restaurant the other night that a waiter was apologizing for the dilapidated state of his napkin. "Don't mention it," responded the customer, sadly. "I don't mind the holes in the least. That part of your napkin is always sure to be clean."

How sweet the young girls of Missouri must be,
They all are molasses. Mo. lasses, dy'e see?

INGENIOUS INVENTION.—Some shrewd Yankee has invented a key that will wind any watch; it is a neat attachment to a charm, and it is said to work like a charm. So does that grand Key to Health—Burdock Blood Bitters, the greatest discovery of the age. It unlocks all the secretions, and cleans and invigorates the entire system. Sample bottle, 10 cents; large size, $1, of all medicine dealers. 13-2t

The man who invented the gas meter never thought he had found perpetual motion. But he did, though. Just you leave home a couple of months and you will find meanwhile it goes right on, just like the salary of a clergyman who has gone to Europe for his health.

Jabesh Snow, Gunning Cove, N. S., writes:—"I was completely prostrated with the asthma, but hearing of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, I procured a bottle, and it did me so much good that I got another, and before it was used I was well. My son was cured of a bad cold by the use of half a bottle. It goes like wild-fire, and makes cures wherever it is used.

A little girl, whose mother often talked to her of heaven in such a way that she considered it a glorious shining place above the sky, crept in between the curtain and window one evening, and stood for a long time gazing at the sky. Suddenly she bounded to her mother's side, exclaiming, "Mother! oh, mother! I know now what the stars are! God punches holes in His floor, and that lets the shine down."

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS, 'TIS FOLLY TO BE WISE.—Dr. Bliss, if not a success at probing for bullets, was highly successful in despatching bulletins; but the grandest bulletin of success is that which heralds the wonderful cures performed by Burdock Blood Bitters, that matchless tonic and blood purifier, which acts at once upon the Bowels, the Skin, the Liver and the Kidneys, while it invigorates and strengthens the whole system. 13-2t

A man went into a drug-store and asked for something to cure a headache. The druggist held a bottle of hartshorn to his nose, and he was nearly overpowered by its pungency. As soon as he recovered, he began to rail at the druggist, and threatened to punch his head.

"But didn't it help your headache?" asked the apothecary.

"Help my headache!" gasped the man "I haven't any headache. It's my wife that's got the headache."

THE DOCTOR'S SECRET.—Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of certain leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured, and they get the credit.—Tribune. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

THE ATTENTION of thinking men is called to Dr. WHEELER'S Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya on its scientific merits. It is the outcome of many years' careful investigation of the chemistry and medicinal properties of Phosphorus and its compounds, and a persistent use of it will demonstrate that it is undeniably the best combination of these agents of nutrition in existence. It is every where prescribed in all forms of debility, and in Inebriate Asylums is the standard nerve restorative in chronic alcoholism and the opium habit.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to Dr. M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply. 48-1y

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

POLICE MATTERS.—On Monday our constable promenaded George Street, during the rain, under an umbrella. This is all wrong. A policeman's arms should be free. It is obviously the duty of the Chief to hold the umbrella over his force.

THE ROGERS CUP.—On Good Friday a contest will take place for the Cup given by Col. Rogers, between the following squads.

COL. SERG'T. COCKS, Messrs. Huffman, Shaw, Eastwood and Dunsford.

SERG'T LECK, Messrs. Morgan, Shaw, Peck and Orde.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Theo. B. Clementi. P. L. S., son of the Rev. V. Clementi, who was intending to proceed on a Survey for the Government in the North-West, and was making arrangements with that object in view, died very suddenly on Monday night after a short illness.

THOSE BEER BARRELS.—Though it is gratifying to hear that Mr. Calcutt has at least been trying (as the Review would intimate) to obtain barrels in Peterboro' to ship to Winnipeg, it is rather surprising that, if all the coopers are so busy as that paper would make out, there should be some idle in town, walking the streets, whilst Mr. Calcutt obtains his barrels from a neighboring county.

SAFE AGAIN.—In spite of all that could be done for Mother Shipton whose year of 1881 was extended to the 24th inst, as it was claimed the almanac makers of her time were somewhat mixed up about dates, the world still rolls on and we may conscientiously go on being as wicked as we please, knowing that the old lady was a fraud and was no more of a true prophet than Mr. Vennor.

A FINE STOCK.—At M. Quinlan's, Hunter street west, next to J. Sullivan's, is to be found everything conceivable in the grocery department, and Mr. Quinlan's determination to supply customers with good fresh articles at a low figure is one which deserves encouragement. He can afford to sell at low figures, having purchased at bottom prices for cash, but apart from his cheap rates, the excellence of his goods is a very high recommendation.

THE COMING COMET.—The comet recently discovered by an astronomer of Albany, N. Y. is advertised to be on exhibition in May or June next, and a celestial exhibition never surpassed since 1811 may be anticipated. All the usual star business is on the programme, and if this comet only does anything near what is predicted for it, there will be something worth seeing. A comet is a handy thing to have round any how, as it always affords a good excuse for coming home at 2 or 3 o'clock, a. m.

A BASHFUL YOUNG MAN.—The following communication was received by us a short time ago in reply to an advertisement for a localizer and reporter. We publish it for its originality and to show that its writer is well adapted to the business. He did not, however, get the "sit." Any newspaper man requiring the services of this "modest young man" can receive his address on application free of charge.

The ad. for "an experienced young man to do reporting &c. has met my eye. I have had 23 years' experience as a young man and can do the work you require at $12 a week to begin on. My excessive modesty is an insuperable barrier to any self-praise but I enclose several specimens of my style which I have no hesitation in believing will meet with your distinguished approval. They are selected, not on account of any special excellence, but because I have duplicates of them and can thus afford to treat you to the perusal of a few that you may mark their originality. The copiousness of my vocabulary, the fluency of my diction, and the happy knack of expression I possess, are just the thing for any go ahead journal to invest in. My experience of reporting has extended over a period of four years and for reference I would mention ——of the——the premier weekly of the western peninsula.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Thomas Menzies has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for the County of Peterborough.

Longfellow was an intimate friend of Tennyson. He read the Charge of the Heavy Brigade and only lived a few days.

ONTARIO BANK.—Mr. Holland, manager of the Ontario Bank, is said to have stated while in Ottawa that at the next regular meeting the bank will declare a dividend of 4 or 5 per cent. Its stock sold as high as 68 last week, an advance of seven per cent within a very short time. The new manager's policy in reconstructing the affairs of this bank is a sound one, as its steady recovery from the depression following the announcement of its unfavorable condition testifies.

JOURNEYMEN SHOEMAKERS. — Last week the journeymen shoemakers formed a bill of wages to be presented to their employers, demanding an advance of about 10 per cent, to go into effect after April 1st. On Monday night they again met and learned that only two of the employers, Messrs. Johnston Carey and Holmes & Heron, had signed the bill. The employees of the other firms declare their intention of striking if the bill is not signed before Saturday. As the employers hold a meeting shortly to consider the matter, it is not probable that any strike will take place.

I.O.O.F.—The annual returns of Grand Secretary J. B. King, of the I.O.O.F., for 1881 show a net increase in the number of members of the Order of 700, 2,107 additions and 1,347 withdrawals by death or otherwise. The total membership of the Order at the end of the year was 13,070. There was paid for relief $31,-930.05, and for current expenses $36,-962.55. The receipts of lodges were $120,799.64, and the total expenditure $84,794.28, showing an excess of receipts over expenditure of $36,065.36. The funds of the Order amount to $411,132.-35. Five new lodges have been instituted, making the total number of lodges 232.

IMPORTANT TO FAMILIES.—Any one in need of anything in the crockery and glassware line can be accommodated at close prices at R. McKeiver's, who is just opening out a very large stock at his new premises, lately occupied by D. Hopkins, in Haslitt's block, Hunter street. A glance at Mr. McKeiver's display is sufficient to enable any one to see that he has one of the largest and best stocks ever brought to Peterborough. He is making great reductions in Tea, and is selling some of excellent quality at a very low figure. His grocery department is second to none in the town, and his brands of wines and liquors are such that the veriest connoisseur would fail to find fault. Close prices, a good article and general satisfaction are what Mr. McKeiver offers to the public.

A LAD AND A LADDER.—A youth employed in Mr. D. Cameron's store arrived at that place as usual early on Monday morning, but, not as usual, he beheld a step ladder standing up against one of the windows in the rear. The window had been opened. "Surely," said the lad, "some burglar has been burgling in the night," and he was sore afraid. A neighbor had heard stealthy footsteps in Mr. Cameron's store at a very early hour of the morning, had drawn his trusty revolver, but had refrained from shooting when he found the noise proceeded from his neighbor's place. It afterwards turned out that Mr. Cameron, having been down to his store exceedingly early himself, had forgotten his key, and hence the ladder, hence the boy's woe, hence the revolver, hence this item.

A NEW INDUSTRY.—Now then, church goers, here is a chance for you. Never mind about Manitoba, but just keep your eyes open on Sundays for shabby looking strangers; we are some of us millionaires in disguise. Read this.

"Some thirty years ago Mr. Green, an amiable Englishman, seeing a rather shabby old man looking for a seat in church, opened his pew door, beckoned to him, and placed him in a comfortable corner, with prayer and hymn books. The old gentleman, who carefully noted the name in these lattor, expressed his thanks warmly at the close of the services. Time had effaced the incident from Mr. Green's recollections, when he one day received an intimation that by the death of a gentleman named Wilkinson he had become entitled to $35,000 a year. Mr. Wilkinson was a solitary old man, without relatives. Green's act prepossessed him in his favor; he inquired about him, and found that he bore the highest character."—Port Hope Guide.

But when you show a stranger into your comfortable pew be sure and do not forget to write your name in all the prayer and hymn books, or all your sweetness may waste itself upon the desert air, or words to that effect. Another thing. It would be as well to try and bear a high character, as it might come in handy.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT. — According to announcement, a musical and literary entertainment, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George street Methodist Church, was held in the Lecture Room, Tuesday evening. Those who were present speak in very gratifying terms of the evening's enjoyment. The programme was rather lengthy, but under the genial management of the Rev. Mr. Shaw, everything went "merry as a marriage bell." Where all did so well, comparisons are out of place. The Misses Ellsworth and Richardson favored the audience with spirited instrumental solos, and Mr. Manning, Miss Heather and Mrs. T. Bradburn rendered exceedingly happy selections of songs with more than ordinary good taste and sweetness. A charming quartette, "The Echo Song," by the Misses M. Shaw and C. Ellsworth, (Miss Ellsworth and Miss Clark acting as echoes) and Messrs. Morris and Clarke, received hearty and well merited applause. Two glees by the choir were marked features in the programme. Miss Lizzie Sanderson's recitation, "The Relief of Lucknow," Dr. Clarke's humorous selection from Mark Twain, and Mr. Shaw's capital essay on, "Mrs., They Say," were highly appreciated. The closing piece was a representation of the seasons, by Miss Emma Stevenson, as Spring; Miss Flavelle, Summer; Miss Annie Clarke, Autumn; and Miss Minnie Shaw, Winter. Mr. Clegg, from some mysterious retreat, greeted the appearance of each with some appropriate text of Scripture. The fair faces and tasteful costumes of these young ladies produced a most pleasing effect. The choir then gave us "God Save the Queen," right loyally, after which the Rev. Mr. Shaw pronounced the benediction. The ladies of the committee feel deeply grateful to Mr. W. H. Manning, for his generous kindness in lending his new piano and assisting them to defray the expense of moving it; also to Mr. Heathfield, our deservedly popular organist, for his great courtesy and valuable help.

PRESENTATION.

THE EXAMINER EMPLOYEES MAKE MR. SAM. JAMESON RICH.

On Friday last, Mr. Sam. Jameson severed a connection of several years with the EXAMINER office, where he had been employed, both at the case and reportorially, and the circumstance was taken advantage of by the proprietor and the employees of the establishment to present him with a handsome silver watch and the following address, prior to his departure for Manitoba.

PETERBOROUGH, March 24, 1882.

To Mr. Samuel Jameson:

The proprietor and employees of the EXAMINER office have learned with regret that you are about to leave us and betake yourself to the North-West, and though we cannot but feel sorry at your departure, still we unite in wishing you every prosperity in your future home. We shall ever be happy to hear of your success, and sincerely trust that you will prove to be one of the many fortunate ones who have gone to that bourne whence no traveler returns without wealth, or if he does he keeps most particularly silent on the subject.

We earnestly entreat you not to accumulate so vast a pile of riches that you will be unable to carry them back here, for we desire to see you again—and help you to spend them.

We doubt not that your geniality and good fellowship will win you many friends in your future home, and you will find that the more lucre you amass the more numerous will be your friends, who will rally round you as long as it lasts, and be unanimous in their endeavors to borrow a dollar from you.

During the number of years you have been in this office you have given every satisfaction, as an excellent compositor, an agreeable companion and a faithful employee.

We have united in giving you some little memento of ourselves, on which, when you look, we trust you will think of us ever as your friends and well-wishers, and which we have decided should take the form of a watch of which we beg your acceptance.

We think you would have done wisely had you provided yourself with a feminine partner for life before you left Peterboro', for we understand that the material for such an article is extremely scarce in Manitoba, and should you become a millionaire, as we anticipate, you will never find any one who will so self denyingly assist you in getting rid of your cash as a true, faithful, loving wife, one whose well set-up form you can lock-up in your fond em-brace, and on whose lips you may imprint your fond caresses, and when you do take unto yourself a better moiety, we hope you may obtain one of the finest type, and one who is an adept at making pi.

In conclusion we beg you, when you have acquired untold millions in the North-West, not to forget us because we are poor, for we have resolved never to deviate from the strict path of honesty, and in consequence can never hope to become rich in Canada.

We join in wishing you a safe and pleasant journey to Winnipeg, and a long life of happiness and prosperity wherever you may be.

Signed on behalf of the above,

E. McCABE.

Mr. Jameson returned thanks in a few well chosen words, excusing himself for their lack of rhetorical polish by stating the complete surprise by which he had been taken.

OUR POST OFFICE.

A CHANGE THAT SEEMS TO BE NEEDED.

During recent years Peterborough has made astonishing strides as regards postal conveniences at home, and communications with the outside world. Only recently our post office was situated on a back street, in a small and badly arranged building, when the facilities for the mail clerks as well as for the general public were meagre in the extreme. We had no such regularity in our mail system as at present, and merchants and other business men were obliged to be content with one mail daily. Occasionally too, a break-down on the Midland, then most inadequately equipped, or a strike among the ill paid employees, obliged the post master to despatch the mails by stage to Port Hope. Now under the excellent management of Mr. Cox the mails are regular and frequent, and delays are unknown except when the Grand Trunk fails to make connection. The post office building is a credit to the town, the postmaster and his assistants are obliging and attentive, and the increase in the business both in the money order and mail departments, is very satisfactory and gives substantial proof of the commercial activity of our community, and the enterprise of our best citizens.

Still these last pleasing tokens of mercantile and professional prosperity are the very best reasons for suggesting some improvements in the internal arrangements of our post office, and for pointing out what we are convinced would be looked upon as a great boon by the public generally.

While we have said the present post-office staff is very courteous and obliging, we fear from the frequent expressions of complaint that they are unable to meet the pressure at times put upon them by the public whom they are expected to serve with readiness and promptitude. An additional clerk is, we believe, greatly required. On Saturdays and at certain hours on week days, it is almost impossible to reach the wicket without long and persistent waiting, and at times the jostling and crushing is both unseemly and unpleasant. It seems too much to attempt to sell stamps and have a box and general delivery at one wicket. If an additional wicket were provided for the sale of stamps only, and a clerk detailed for this duty and for the money order and registration department, it would prove of immense advantage, remove cause of grumbling, and give general satisfaction.

Then there is a class of citizens debarred under present arrangements from procuring their correspondence, for whom we are desirous of speaking a good word. Mechanics and other workmen whose hours of labor are from 7 o'clock a.m. to 6 p.m. often, find it inconvenient, if not impossible, to reach the office at noon. Even if they could do so, frequently, nay, almost invariably, they would find the wickets down, and the clerks busy with the distribution of the mails. What we would therefore urge is, that the post master would allow the office to remain open daily until a quarter to seven for the convenience of intelligent and industrious citizens. This we are convinced would also be a step in the right direction. Alluding to these matters we need hardly say we have no desire to cast any reflections on the work as now done. But in our capacity as a public journal we hope to act in every way for the general benefit and improvement of the town, and as regards our public institutions to point out where, in our humble judgment, changes are necessary and ought to receive attention. That we have done so in this case, and that what we suggest is much needed, we know our readers will gladly testify.

A youth named Wilkinson has been convicted of stealing letters from the Renton post office, near Hamilton and has gone to the Penitentiary for three years.

CANADIAN MUTUAL AID.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

DEAR SIR,—In my last, referring to the U.B. of Lebanon, I forgot to state that this Association admits members to the age of 65, and according to American mortality tables the death rate is 11 per cent. higher between 60 and 65 than it is between 55 and 60. And yet, notwithstanding this, the average yearly cost of $1,000 insurance for the last five years has been only $14.47 on a life of 45 years, while to carry the same amount of risk in one of the high rate companies without any promise of dividends or "participation in profits," would cost about $30. Thus it is seen that notwithstanding all the harping as to the expense of this association by those "high rate concerns," none of them will furnish the same insurance for less than double the money. An actuary of one of those stock companies while testifying upon oath lately, before the life insurance investigating committee of the New York Legislature was compelled to admit that the average duration of policies in American companies was only seven years, that only one of every ten policies matured by death, and the other nine by lapse or surrender, that the premium rates, including the reserve are calculated on the basis of the whole ten or all policies maturing by death, and that the reduction of nine-tenths of the death liability thus secured is a source of great profit to the insurance company.

Now let us apply the statement of this actuary to 1,000 persons insured for $1,000 each, paying a premium of $40 apiece, or for all 40,000, and we behold the companies profit. He says the average duration of policies is seven years, hence the average amount to be received from the 1,000 persons would be seven times $40,000 or $280,000, which with the interest on the reserve would make the aggregate at least $300,000. He also says that only one policy out of ten matures by death, so that out of 1,000 policies only one tenth or 100 will become claims. This will then require 100 times $1,000 or $100,000 to pay death losses, leaving a balance of $200,000 in the hands of the company to be absorbed in expenses salaries, incidentals and finding new dupes to be mulcted into paying for ten deaths when only one occurs.

Thus, according to the sworn statement of this officer the stock companies only pay out in death losses 33⅓ per cent. of the money collected from their policy holders. According to this plan the policy holders pay a specific amount annually whether the mortality requires it or not. In the Canadian Mutual Aid the members retain their money in their own pockets until actual death in their ranks requires its payment to the Society. Assessments are made and benefits paid on a correct basis. The age of the applicant and the expectancy of human life is taken into account. And above all we are careful that only honest and responsible men shall have the management of the funds. And notwithstanding the allegations of Mr. Johnston and the Budget, we are satisfied that good and sufficient bonds have been deposited, guaranteeing the proper handling of the money.

As a proof of ability in the managment of life insurance associations on the assessment plan, I would point my friend "Experience" to the fact that in 1878, in Pennsylvania, there were over 5,000 new members admitted into mutual aid associations, and only 2,584 suspended. In the stock companies of Pennsylvania for the same year there were 4,553 admitted, and 6,465 terminated, and out of 16,978 policies in force in eight Pennsylvania stock companies, 447 died. In fifteen mutual aid associations, numbering 23,311 members, 337 died.

Now to whom is the credit of good selections due? Most assuredly to the mutual aid.

At the convention of insurance commissioners held in Chicago in 1880, its President, the Hon. A. R. McGill, of Minnesota, in his address said:—I should not be in favor of saying that no life insurance should be done on the assessment plan; indeed I do not know but that this plan might be adopted in some modified way—amalgamating in some manner with the old system.

The fact is our distinctive feature has been the assessment plan, and now that the ordinary life insurance companies have been advised by their great luminaries to adopt the system and amalgamate it with their own, we feel that mutual aid associations have been successful in throwing some light upon the subject.

But, sir, I must not forget to call your attention to additional proofs of the financial considerations which inspired the attack on the Canadian Mutual Aid.

The following is a list of yearly salaries paid to officers of two life insurance companies in New York, as given by the officers themselves under oath, before the Legislative Committee of that State in the year 1877, and published in the New York Times, March 6th, 1877.

But why this unseemly warfare? Do we not all profess to engage in the same beneficent work? We make no attack until necessarily forced to reply in kind to the many misrepresentations and slanders kept industriously circulating regarding our association.

And now, sir, on looking over the reports of life insurance business, and giving it my attention for the past year, and noting the falling off that has taken place in the business of these high rate concerns wherever mutual aids have been established, I am not surprised that "Experience" and his friends have become alarmed. They see the handwriting on the wall, but instead of acting like sensible men and putting their own house in order by taking a leaf out of our book and adopting the assessment plan, they resort to the old and silly cry, "Stop thief! Stop thief!"

With regard to "Experience's" allusion to the Fire Association, I would inform you that the pay the Directors get for actual attendance at Board meetings is simply $1 per day, just enough, and sometimes not enough, to cover the cost of a man in their place at home. But what has this company done in the five years it has now been in existence? It has paid all organizations expenses. It has paid all losses promptly. It has saved to its members over $16,000 as compared with other reliable companies. It has paid several hundred dollars as profits to its policy holders in addition to giving them insurance 25 per cent cheaper than they could obtain it elsewhere. Surely no company in the Province is by any means in a position to throw stones at the Dominion Grange Fire Assurance Association.

Yours, etc.,
CO-OPERATION.

AS THE correspondence on the subject of the Mutual Life Insurance Company is becoming more or less personal, and as the correspondents on both sides have had pretty free use of our columns we must with this issue, so far as the EXAMINER is concerned close the correspondence. For the benefit of those who may have a wrong impression as to who "Experience" is, we may say that he is not an Insurance Agent, nor is he in any way connected or interested in any Life Insurance Company.—[ED. BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The members of the School Board met, on Tuesday evening, in the Board rooms. Present—Jas. Stevenson, Esq., chairman, and Messrs. Denne, Robinson, Stratton, Burnham, Rutherford, Weir, Wrighton, Poussette, Best, Sawers and Sproule.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

ENQUIRIES.

Mr. Robinson asked what rate of interest the Board were paying for the money they required?

The Chairman said they were paying seven per cent.

Mr. Robinson thought it too much, as interest was lower now than heretofore.

Mr. Poussette thought it might be procured for five per cent.

The Secretary said their interest account would be lower this year than last.

The Chairman thought that when all things were considered, the present rate was an equitable one.

Several of the other members favored taking steps to see if a more favorable rate than the present one could not be obtained.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Educational Department, stating that the half year apportionment for the school was $792.54.

From the Chairman of the Lindsay School Board, asking for information relating to the Institute.

ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOL.

From the Principal of the Public School, handing in a report of the attendance for the past month as follows:—

	On Roll.	Av. Att.
Central School	563	478
South Ward School	239	204
West Ward School	153	132
	959	814

An increase of 15 over the largest attendance.

ASHBURNHAM GRANT.

The Chairman stated that the Committee appointed at the last meeting to wait upon the Ashburnham Council relative to their grant to the Institute, had waited upon the Reeve, and that gentleman had promised to bring the mater before the village Council.

THE CADET CORPS.

Dr. Burnham asked what had been done about the arms of the Cadet Corps?

Mr. Stratton said he would move that they be returned to the Government.

The Chairman stated that the motion was unnecessary, as most probably they would be returned in a few days. Mr. Edwards was in communication with the Government to have the use of the arms for a company he was endeavoring to form. If Mr. Edwards was not successful, then he (Mr. S.) would see that the arms were returned.

Mr. Denne seconded the motion.

Mr. Poussette objected to the resolution as out of order.

The Chairman held it in order, but required a two-thirds vote to carry it.

Mr. Stratton did not wish to press the motion to prevent Mr. Edwards forming a company outside of the School, and was willing to withdraw the resolution with leave of his seconder.

Mr. Denne objected to its withdrawal.

After a short discussion the motion was put, and declared lost, as it had not been carried by the required majority.

The Board then adjourned.

The enthusiasm manifested at the organization of the first Reform Association ever started at Cornwall, on the 30th ult., augurs well for victorious results. Mr. John Charlton, M. P., addressed the very large assembly, and made a most exhaustive review of the fallacies of the N. P., exposed the violations of the Public Works Acts, by the giving of the contracts on the Welland and other canals without tenders; whereby millions were lost to the country, and showed most conclusively how utterly unworthy of confidence the present government is.

MIDLAND RAILWAY SYSTEM

The First Through Train on the Line.

The Globe has the following:—The different railway lines formerly known as (1) the Midland, running from Port Hope to Midland, on the Georgian Bay, with spurs, 144 miles; (2) the Toronto and Nipissing, with Lake Simcoe Junction, from Toronto to Coboconk, 105½ miles. (3) the Grand Junction, from Belleville to Madoc and from Belleville to Peterborough, 112 miles; (4) the Victoria from Lindsay to Haliburton, 56 miles; (5) the Whitby, Port Perry, and Lindsay, from Whitby to Lindsay, 46½ miles; (6) the Toronto and Ottawa, from Ottawa to Madoc, 66 miles, were, as is well known, consolidated by Act of Parliament into one system, to be known as "The Midland Railway of Canada." This Act came into operation on the 1st of April, and on Saturday the six different companies above named ceased to exist as separate corporations and merged into one combined system with one directorate. This system now operates 484 miles of railway, not counting the 66 miles of the Toronto and Ottawa division; part of which is expected to be in operation in May or June next.

The early train over this line left the Union Station Saturday morning at seven o'clock, but what was practically the first left at 4:55 p.m. made up of three new passenger coaches, the official car, and the express and postal cars. The coaches were crowded with passengers. In the official car were the following named officers of the company:—Mr. W. B. Ferguson, Superintendent; Mr. A. White, General Traffic Agent: and Mr. Haggis, Mechanical Superintendent; also the Hon. S. C. Wood, Mr. Scott, of the Georgian Bay Lumber Co., and Mr. W. Whyte, Assistant Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway. All along the line the station platforms were black with people who had turned out to see the first of the new and through broad-gauge trains, the approach and departure of which were loudly cheered. Remarks on the vast improvement over the old disjointed systems were frequent, and everybody seemed to be proud of the fact that they were on the line of a great through railway. The consolidation renders the Midland the carrying medium for central Ontario with Kingston on the east, the Georgian Bay on the north, and Toronto on the west. The townships of Tay and Tiny and the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound have hitherto had to depend solely on the Northern road. Now they have the additional service of the Midland and the choice of two routes. The Midland will furnish the shortest route from Duluth and Chicago to the seaboard, and orders have already been given for the building of a passenger and freight line to ply between Chicago and Midland. The company intend to immediately proceed with the extension from Orillia to the Sault. Then they have a charter to build a line from Toronto to Buffalo, a work which will also be proceeded with. The territory served by the Midland Railway embraces the largest lumber districts in the country and contains the only iron mines that have yet been developed. The freight rates of this road have been published in the Gazette and revised by the Governor in Council. A year or two must elapse before all the reforms and improvements under consideration can be effected. The passengers for Orillia, Lindsay, or Midland were not disturbed from their entrance at the Union Station on Saturday till deposited at their respective destinations. It is the intention so soon as the road is put into a uniform condition to run trains at a minimum speed of thirty-three miles an hour.

THE EASTER MARKETS.

PRIME MEATS FOR THE FESTIVE SEASON—OUR BUTCHERS BILL OF FARE.

The Lenten season being now almost ended, our Butchers are making extensive preparations for the Easter markets and from the Bill of Fare which they are providing, we feel positive they are guarding jealousy the good name heretofore enjoyed by the Peterborough purveyors of fresh meats. For weeks past they have been on the alert, scouring the country, so to speak, for the choicest animals to be found, and have succeeded in procuring a supply equal to any to be had in the Dominion. Among the Butchers at the market as has always been his custom takes a front place, and has provided a supply of all kinds of meat which must prove highly acceptable to his numerous patrons, and meet with satisfaction from the public generally who may require a choice roast for their Easter dinner. On Saturday last he made a display of live cattle on the market, which would do credit to any dealer; in fact, the wonder was expressed on all hands how so many fine animals had been procured. But then Harry is always on the alert and knows just where to secure the best the market can afford. His display of dressed meat on Saturday will be well worth seeing and we feel sure he will be only too happy to show around all those who may call and take their orders whether large or small. By all means don't miss calling and seeing the sights whether you have need to purchase or not.

MR. HARRY WINCH,

MR. DENOON,

corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets as will be seen from his advertisement in another column, has been careful that his customers shall have no cause of complaint and has laid in a supply of prime meat, specially fed by a number of the best cattle breeders of the district for the Easter markets.

MESSRS. WAINWRIGHT AND BRO.,

George street, nearly opposite the Post Office, through posters announce a Bill of Fare which would tempt the palate of the most fastidious epicure in the land. This firm have sold their retail business to Mr. James Howden who takes possession next week. As Saturday will be their last day of retailing, they are determined to make a display unexcelled by any butcher in town, and hope to see all their friends and patrons.

THE OTHER BUTCHERS

are also making special preparation and no doubt will sustain their good reputation.

The Oxford and Cambridge boat race was won by the former by fully twenty lengths. Oxford has now won 21, Cambridge 17 races.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 6, 1882.

Britain and the Opium Trade.

One of the greatest blots on England's escutcheon at the present day is the horrible opium traffic with China. The English and Indian governments both encourage the growth of the poppy in India, and the sale of its product in immense quantities to the Chinese. The reason for this moral obliquity can only be found in the enormous revenue which it yields to India, as the traffic can be defended by no principle of true statesmanship. In the year 1781, foreign opium was a drug in the Chinese marts of trade, but since that period the importation of the vile narcotic has constantly increased until now over 100,000 chests are annually purchased. This yields a yearly revenue to the British government of India, of between forty and sixty millions of dollars. It is asserted and very truthfully, that this, does not represent the total quantity of opium consumed by the Chinese. The drug is also produced in considerable quantities in China, and this argument is gravely advanced as a reason in favor of our exportation of the narcotic. It is said the Chinese must have it, and we may as well supply it as any one else. Now it is well known that the Chinese government has made the strongest possible protests against the importation of what is pronounced on all hands, a deadly and dangerous poison. The traffic is not only continued, but it is forced upon the Chinese at the point of the bayonet, solely for the sake of the Indian exchequer, which, year by year, derives some sixty millions of dollars from this source.

It may well be asked with wonder and surprise, how long will the enlightened civilization and christian sentiments of England endure this infamous traffic? It touches the national honor in a most direct way. Opium-eating and opium-smoking are most pernicious and harmful in their results. Their evil effects are thus described by Dr. Oppenheim:—

"A total attenuation of body, a withered, yellow countenance, a lame gait, a bending of the spine, frequently to such a degree as to assume a circular form, and glassy, deep-sunken eyes, betray the opium-eater at the first glance. His digestive organs are in the highest degree disturbed; the sufferer scarcely eats anything; his mental and bodily powers are destroyed; he is impotent. When the baneful habit has become confirmed, it is almost impossible to break it off. His torments when deprived of the stimulant are as dreadful as his bliss is complete when he has taken it—night brings the torments of hell: day, the bliss of paradise; and after long indulgence he becomes subject to nervous pains, to which opium itself brings no relief. He seldom attains the age of forty if he began the practice early."

But words fail to describe the mental, physical and moral degradation which is produced by indulgence in this evil habit. It is satisfactory to know that in England public opinion on this subject is being aroused as it never has been before. An influential deputation headed by the Archbishop of Canterbury made a strong protest recently to the British Government, and meetings have been held in various parts of the country so as to thoroughly influence and educate the masses concerning the noxious traffic. Yet efforts are also put forth in a counter direction. The Quarterly Magazines are utilised by various writers who point out that opium as a stimulant and narcotic has been in use among Asiatic nations from time immemorial, just as beer and spirits are consumed by Europeans. It is argued too that the Chinese government is insincere in wishing the traffic to cease, as it is employing all diligence and effort to increase the growth and cultivation of native opium as a source of home revenue—another phase of the N.P. Lord Hartington, very recently, stoutly appealed to the people of Lancashire not to lend their support to the anti-opium agitation. He admitted the agitation was powerful, and that it was threatening, if not to destroy—at least to greatly impair our principal source of Indian revenue. On purely financial and purely economic grounds, he begged them to resist an agitation which was founded ostensibly on purely moral grounds. He advanced no argument in defence of the opium traffic, but the mercenary one. He said the money was raised without hardship, without suffering, without complaint, so far as the people of India were concerned. But he did not inform his hearers what terrible evils the exportation of the deadly narcotic produced in China. He did not attempt to describe the stupendous wrongs and crimes against humanity, and against God, which the opium traffic must answer for. Surely the English people have a right to ask that this revenue of fifty or sixty millions be raised in some other way? Surely they have a right to pronounce on a question of right or wrong, and if it is absolutely wrong, it not only deserves the attention of the Government, but it must have it. It is a disgrace and a shame that a heathen people should be obliged to beg a christian people to refrain from forcing upon them this dreadful drug. Though the whole revenue of India depended upon it, and though China was about to grow the poppy in still greater quantities than she has imported it in hitherto, they must not hold their peace, but protest and protest and agitate, until like slavery, the last vestiges of a vile and hideous traffic which is paralysing a people and causing a deadly suffering, is forever swept away, and the dark stain removed from the banner of St. George.

Editorial Notes.

THE Members for East and West Peterborough declared that the Government were justified in throwing away $209,255 of the people's money. Faithful representatives.

GODERICH appears to have prospered in the same way that the majority of other towns have done under the N. P. The assessors show the population this year to be 4,042, as against 4,195 for 1881—a decrease of 153 in one year. And so the story goes.

THE bill to prevent Chinese immigration to the United States for twenty years has passed both Houses of Congress. The declaration of independence holds that "all men are free and equal," but an amendment will now be in order excepting the Celestials from its provisions. It remains to be seen what reply China will make to this insult.

A POOLING arrangement between the leading trunk lines has been ratified in New York, which it is claimed will keep the peace and prevent another war of rates for at least five years. The agreement covers both freight and passenger traffic, an aggregate of $827,000 distributed among the parties to the pool, being put up as forfeit money, and recoverable from the companies that break through the agreement.

WE learn that Dr. Cameron has declined the position of secretary to the Bureau of Health now being organized by the Ontario Government. The position is worth fifteen hundred dollars a year, but he must be a poor doctor whose practise is not worth more than that to him. It has been said that the position was offered to Dr. Cameron as a compliment to his father, who was for so many years leader of the Opposition.

THE Toronto World having doubted the statement of the Bobcaygeon Independent, which we quoted last week, that 125 farms in the County of Haliburton had been abandoned by "madmen migrating to British Siberia," the editor of the Independent has forwarded to the World a list of the farms in question, prepared by the township clerks. By the term "abandoned" is meant that the farms are uncultivated and the farm houses no longer inhabited.

IT seems Mr. W. Houston, M. A., was not, as reported, a candidate for the vacant high school inspectorship. The appointment has been conferred on Mr. J. E. Hodgson, B. A., Principal of the Brantford Collegiate Institute and formerly Principal of the St. Mary's Institute. Mr. Hodgson is admirably qualified by ability and experience for the position. Mr. James F. White, of Trenton, has been chosen to fill the new position of Inspector of Roman Catholic separate schools.

MODERATE minded Conservatives admit that the speech delivered by Sir Charles Tupper, the other night, was a great mistake. They say it was altogether beneath the dignity of a Minister of the Crown. There are plenty of fishwives at Billingsgate who could say nearly as scathing things as Sir Charles, but nobody sets the Billingsgate fishwives up as orators, or refers to their peculiar style of language as that upon which "great speeches" should be modelled.

THE Lindsay Post says:—"The Peterborough Review becomes quite hysterical in a screaming article on a recent reference in the Post to the ministerial policy regarding the Trent Valley Canal. It declares that our paragraph is "a deliberately malicious and mendacious invention," that it contains a charge "utterly preposterous," and "disgraceful in its shameful perversion of the truth," and so on. This is quite too awfully dreadful. The cold perspiration must stand in beads on our cotemporary's brow. So much unusual vigor on the part of the Review confirms our belief that the elections are near at hand; that there will be a liberal vote for canal construction; and that a canal commissionership, which our cotemporary has, no doubt, scented from afar off, will soon be ready for bestowal.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Interesting Extracts from Synod and Conference Returns.

The following figures and statements have been carefully selected from the reports of meetings, &c., of the Episcopalian, Presbyterian and Methodist denominations, and will doubtless prove interesting to many:—

CHURCH OF ENGLAND—TORONTO DIOCESE.

The delay in holding the annual meeting of the Synod, which usually takes place in June, but which was only held last November, has kept back the publication of the Synod Journal and Appendix, containing the reports of collections, etc. The year for which returns are to hand closed in April, 1881, but we may interest our readers by placing before them some gleanings therefrom. The Diocese comprises the eight counties of York, Ontario, Peel, Simcoe, Durham, Victoria, Northumberland, and Peterborough, and contains one hundred and two parishes and missions with a staff of one hundred and thirty-two clergy. The work of the Synod is mainly done by committees which meet quarterly. On these we find the names of Rural Dean Beck, Rev. V. Clementi, and Rev. W. C. Bradshaw—all of them resident here. The various funds of the Synod aggregate an enormous sum, the Clergy Trust fund amounting to $455,676; the Rectory Lands fund to $213,873; the Synod General Account, $109,500; General Purposes, $14,810. Widows and Orphans' Fund, $13,497 and Episcopal Endowment fund, $49,803. In the nine rural deaneries of the Diocese there are 173 churches, 112 of which are free from debt, their total value being about $630,000. Outside of the City of Toronto the entire indebtedness on churches is only $12,391. The number of parsonages in the diocese is 47, most of which are brick. The church population is computed at about 100,000, not embracing Toronto city. In the county of Northumberland the number of communicants is 1,175; Durham, 1,082. Out of the 113 townships in the Diocese, sixteen are insufficiently provided with church accommodation, among which we find the names of Brighton, Murray, Percy and Smith. In Toronto alone there are over 7,000 Sunday scholars and about 700 teachers. The average salary of the clergy in the unendowed parishes is only about $400, to which is added ordinarily a grant of $200 from the Mission Fund. The Bishop says in these times of plenty, with high prices, it should not be less than $1000. The total receipts for the Mission purposes of the Diocese amount to $10,856.60. This is expended in aiding 42 Missions, containing 79 churches and 63 additional stations, a sum of $9,055. Of these contributors to the Mission Fund, we find Peterborough credited with $279.12; Ashburnham, $129.88; Cavan, $233.81; Lindsay, $105.05; Cobourg, $417.31, and North Douro $15.57. The Widows and Orphans Fund shows the total receipts to be $7,744.40, and of this amount Peterborough contributed $60.62; Cavan, $51.90; Lindsay, $51.00; Ashburnham, $28.50; Cobourg, $140, and North Douro, $21. The total contributions for all Synod purposes from the Deanery of Northumberland, which comprises the counties of Peterborough and Northumberland, amount to $1,536.66, of which Peterborough contributes $330.13; Ashburnham, $175.48; Cobourg, $603.73, and Grafton $120.44.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

In the Presbyterian Record for April we find the following acknowledgements of sums paid by St. Andrew's congregation in this town for the various schemes of the Church:—For the Assembly Fund, $7.80; for Home Missions, $65; from the Sunday School, for the same purpose, $3; For Foreign Missions, $30; from the Sunday School for same purpose, $2. For the college Ordinary Fund, $20. For the Widow and Orphans' Fund, $10; for Point Aux Trembles schools, $12.50, total $150.30. In the same number we also notice $10 from one member and $1 from another member of St. Paul's, Peterborough, for Point Aux Trembles schools. Lakefield and North Smith are credited with $5 for the Assembly Fund; $46 for Home Missions; $23 for Foreign Missions; $30 for College Ordinary Fund; $15 for the Widows' and Orphans' Fund; and $20 for the Aged and Infirm Minister's Fund, making the aggregate for Lakefield and North Smith $139.

METHODIST CHURCH.

We have compiled the following information about this denomination from the minutes of the Toronto Conference, for the year 1881. The Peterborough district embraces Peterborough, Millbrook, Cavanville, South Monaghan, Keene, Norwood, Lakefield, Chandos, Hiawatha, Bethany, Ballyduff, Warsaw and Blairton. The total contributions of this district to the various schemes of the Conference amount to $3,034.89, the largest items being $2,401.49 for the Missionary Fund, and $322.81 for the Superannuated Minister's Fund. Of the total amount for mission purposes, Peterborough contributed $640.17; Millbrook, $242.31; Cavanville, $252.52; Keene, $213.10. Norwood, $267.01; Lakefield, $202; Bethany, $143.57, the other stations being represented by sums ranging from $48 to $79. The amounts from the Lindsay district which embraces a much larger number of stations, are considerably less, Lindsay itself contributing only $199.32 for the Missionary Fund, and the total being about $1,000 less than from the Peterborough district, though the membership is nearly equal. In the Peterborough district there are reported 2,379 members, 62 preaching places and 10 parsonages. The total attendance is put down at 8,940. There are 33 Sunday Schools in the district, 312 teachers, and 2,467 scholars. The membership of Peterborough alone is 365, the attendance at the two churches being computed at 1500, and the Sunday scholars at 582 with a staff of 58 teachers. The Chairman of the district is the Rev. John Shaw, and the Financial Secretary the Rev. Geo. Washington. The Toronto Conference meets this year in the Elm Street Church, Toronto, on the second Wednesday in June.

In the March number of the Record we also find the following acknowledgments, Home Missions. St. Paul's, Peterborough $450; do, Sabbath School, $113. Foreign Missions, St. Paul's Peterborough $300; do, Sabbath School, $96. From the same church, for the Colleges Ordinary Fund, $76.77; do, Sabbath School, $22. For French Evangelization, from St. Paul's church, $209.73; for Point-aux-Trembles School, from St. Paul's Sabbath School $50. Also for endowment Fund, R. Hamilton, Peterborough, the fourth instalment of $25, and F. W. Haultain the fourth instalment of $20 for the same purpose.

We also notice that the next meeting of the Toronto and Kingston Synod will take place in St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, on the 2nd of May next at 7.30 p.m. We are sure the delegates to this assembly will meet with a hearty reception from our towns-people generally, and we hope the members of the Synod will carry away with them nothing but the pleasantest recollections of Peterborough and its citizens.

WINNIPEG.

THE GENERAL APPEARANCE, BUSINESS AND WANTS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

As everything concerning this city is of interest to the people of Ontario, I will write of a few familiar things about which the facts may not be known.

THE WATER.

The water used in winter is obtained from the Red River, by a class of carters who make a business of selling it. It is drawn in large barrels and tanks, delivered into barrels, kept by everyone for the purpose, at 20 cents per barrel. In the offices, from the Government office to the lawyer's, and in every lobby and house you will find the barrel of water. There are a few wells, but ninety-nine per cent. of the water used is river water. In summer it is muddy and full of alkali; in winter it is pretty clear and holds but little alkali. Very little water is drank; tea, coffee and liquors are used. Most strangers are affected at once; made sick by the water. There is now a vast amount of sickness in the city, derangement of the system, colds, Red River fever, &c. It is, I suppose, a kind of acclimatizing process. Good water from flowing wells is largely used in summer; these wells are about sixty feet deep. Any one may have one for the trouble of boring, but the pursuit of wealth is so eager that people forget to provide the necessaries of life.

WOOD.

Plenty of wood may be had at $6 a cord for dry poplar, and $8 a cord for dry tamarack. The wood is largely brought in by train from the country east of Winnipeg. It is there sold to carters who re-sell it at $1 a cord profit.

Coal is $17 per ton and is extensively used. The air here is so dry that the houses are kept warm with as little trouble as in Ontario, considering the character of the fuel. Of course the houses are built with considerable care. Paper is largely used between boards and under the sheeting. A second coat of plaster, on lathes nailed to strips between the studs, is sometimes used to secure warmth.

One hundred miles east of Winnipeg, and thence for four hundred miles, timber is abundant, and with proper railway facilities plenty of good wood should be laid down at reasonable prices.

FOOD.

Fish are abundant and very good. Whitefish, pike and maskinonge are caught in great quantities at the Lake of the Woods by half breeds and Indians and are brought in here by the ton. In the market, sleigh loads are to be always found. They are sold very cheap. You will see whitefish strung on a pole run through the body. It is common to see a man walking off with a yard of whitefish. They lose much of their delicate flavor by being kept too long. Meats are all imported. Quarters of beef, hogs, carcases of mutton, venison, and quarters of buffalo hang at every butcher's door. The meat is good in quality, but as it is knocked around a good deal and remains frozen for months it is somewhat dry and lacking in juiciness and flavor. Beef and mutton are 12½ cents per pound, buffalo 20 cents, fish 20 to 25 cents per pound; of course herring, mackerel and other sea fish, salt and fresh, with oysters are to be had. Vast quantities of canned and dry fruit are used, also canned meats, &c. No idea can be formed of the quantities of these imported.

Chickens, turkeys and game are rare and expensive. They often are found in poor condition, perhaps being long on the road and in varying climates.

On the whole fruit is inferior to that obtained in the East. Apples, pears, &c., are in the shops, but they are very expensive. Potatoes are $1.50 a bushel. So you see a man requires good wages here to enable him to make money by saving, and wealth will hardly give all that it will secure in Ontario.

THE CITY ITSELF.

The main street of this city, from the C. P. R. station to the Old Fort, where poor Scott was shot, is a mile and a quarter long. It is two chains wide, straight at each end and bent in the centre in the form of a bow. The Assiniboine on the south is spanned by a handsome iron bridge, and the H. B. Co. are building a large iron bridge over the Red River connecting St. Boniface with the south end of the city. The Assiniboine is the breadth of the Otonabee, but deep and rapid. The Red River is three times as broad and is a large river with a current of four miles an hour. The city lies on a triangle formed by the two rivers. Most of the business is done on Main street and the streets adjoining.

THE REAL POPULATION of the city is about 12,000, but there is always a floating population of several thousand, perhaps four. At present the immigrants usually stay here for a while to see the city and select lands at the general H. B. and Syndicate land office. All their offices are crowded continually. None of them are adequate for the requirements, nor are they properly manned for the great pressure of business. The Government and Syndicate offices are sadly lacking in all that should be there in order to enable the people to select lands. The surveyor's plans and reports, and the Government maps are away behind, and it is an every-day occurrence to hear the officials tell enquirers that they have not the filed notes or plans or maps or, as I heard one say, "We have nothing." Of course the labor to get the country ready for the influx is great and the emergency has not been properly measured and as a consequence it is not met. I am told that the land offices at Rapid City, Brandon, Birtle and other points are crowded with applicants.

THE POST OFFICE

here is a disgrace. So great is the business that no man can enter the P. O. door and get out from the general deliveries in less than twenty-five minutes. You find out the tail of the line, crowd yourself into place and slowly wait till, those ahead being served, you reach the wicket. The new place, new names, and new clerks make slow work. The clerks are overworked and the people annoyed. This is from morning till night every day of the week. On a recent occasion 21,000 letters were sent off in our mail. The remedy is a larger building and more clerks. The fact is that the growth of this country is beyond all calculation, hence all the institutions are below the requirements. While the country is worked from Ottawa, with any amount of red tape intervening, the result will be the same. The entire management of this vast country should be moved to Winnipeg, and new men put in charge with ability and boldness to meet the emergency. It will come to this in the end and the sooner the better.

RAILWAYS.

Now, as to railways, I find that so long as the C. P. R. is shaping things and everybody hopes to make out of the turn of events, that people say nothing, but this I know, that the feeling regarding the disallowance of charters is intense and wide-spread; and a little more of it will lead to dangerous results.

There is a feeling here that this country will soon be so populated that it will be impossible to deal with her, as the pressure of the C.P.R. that the people must submit to be deprived of rights and benefits which they, unhindered, may possess. These rights will be asserted, and, if need be, in such a way as will insure respect.

Loyalty to this country will over ride all loyalty to party, and Conservative and Reformer alike will insist on freedom from hampering and degrading Government at Ottawa.

The land here will be so sought after that a fair land grant, with the chances of making money out of their sites is sufficient inducement to secure the construction of railways by private companies. To balk the enterprise and desires of the people on the plea that the Syndicate may be prejudiced, is to tell the people that the land belongs, not to them, but to an irresponsible and mercenary company—a humiliation which no people of spirit will submit to.

The handwriting is on the wall, let them learn who read.

On another occasion I will give further information on things in Winnipeg.

VIATOR.

THE AUTHOR OF "MY RIDE TO KHIVA."

Major Fred. Burnaby, whose "Ride to Khiva," rendered him famous, is again posing before the eyes of Europeans, this time in the role of a balloonist. He has certainly done what a good many aronauts have signally failed in doing, i.e., he has ascended in a balloon and has reached terra firma again in safety, having made the trip from Dover to Boulogne on the 23rd of March. It may not be generally known that Major Burnaby was at one time considered, and probly justly so, the most powerful man in the British Army, and went in for the cultivation of muscle to such an extent, that, though he attained his desired end of being spoken of as the strongest man in the army, he injured his health so much that his physicians forbade him to play any more with such little trifles as dumb-bells, weighing 170 lbs. apiece and the like, with which he was in the habit of recreating himself, and told him that if he failed to obey their injunctions he would speedily become, instead of the most powerful, the weakest man in Her Majesty's service. Major Burnaby was and still is, a splendid specimen of physical manhood, standing six feet four inches, and with an immense breadth of shoulder, and enormous muscular development. Many almost incredible stories concerning his strength are still current in the British Army, such as his walking down-stairs with a pair of ponies, one under each arm, which some practical-joke-loving brother officers had driven up stairs into his room, and which refused to descend of their own accord. Major Burnaby holds a commission in the Royal Horse Guards, a corps in which the smallest man stands over six feet high.

Mr. Geo. Tolan, Druggist, Gravenhurst, Ont., writes:—"My customers who have used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, say that it has done them more good than anything they have ever used."

Mrs. O'Hearn, River Street, Toronto, uses Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for her cows, for cracked and sore teats; she thinks there is nothing like it. She also used it when her horses had the Epizootic, with the very best results.

FROM ROSWELL M. KENNY, M. D., OF MANNSVILLE, N. Y.—"I do not hesitate to say that the PERUVIAN SYRUP has claims to confidence equal if not superior to those of any medicine that has ever come to my knowledge. I have used it with great success for Dyspepsia and Epilepsy. Sold by dealers generally.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS, 'TIS FOLLY TO BE WISE.—Dr. Bliss, if not a success at probing for bullets, was highly successful in despatching bulletins; but the grandest bulletin of success is that which heralds the wonderful cures performed by Burdock Blood Bitters, that matchless tonic and blood purifier, which acts at once upon the Bowels, the Skin, the Liver and the Kidneys, while it invigorates and strengthens the whole system. 13-2t

A REMARKABLE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Geo. C. Clarke, of Port Dalhousie, Ont., states that she had been confined to her room for a long time with that dreadful disease, Consumption. The doctors said she could not escape an early grave, but fortunately she began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and in a short time was completely cured. Doubting ones, please write to Mrs. Clarke and be convinced. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN,—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 6, 1882.

Dominion and Provincial Elections.

It has been currently reported that both the Nova Scotia and the New Brunswick Government are using their influence to induce the Dominion Government to dissolve Parliament, and appeal to the people this year. The present legislative term expires in both Provinces during the coming summer, and in each there must be a general election. Both Provincial Governments are Conservative, and it would suit very well, they argue, to have both Provincial and Dominion elections come off on the same day, as in that way the local interest would strengthen the Dominion interest and vice versa.

We are not sufficiently versed in the local politics and questions of either of the Maritime Provinces, to be able to form any opinion as to the chances of either of the Provincial administrations in the coming contest on their own merits. In Nova Scotia the line separating parties in local matters, coincides with Dominion party lines, but in New Brunswick while the members of the Ministry are nearly all Conservatives, the majority of their supporters are Liberal in Dominion politics, and are active supporters of Mr. Blake. The Nova Scotian Government might prove a dead weight, instead of an assistance to the Dominion Government, in a joint appeal to the people of that Province but the Dominion Government would probably gain by a joint appeal in New Brunswick where party lines have been less sharply drawn in Dominion, and not drawn at all in Provincial matters.

If this policy of choosing the same day for Dominion and Provincial elections is adopted in New Brunswick, the question rises: Why should it not be adopted in Ontario and Prince Edward Island also? The present Legislature of P. E. I. was elected at the same time as the present Dominion Government in 1878, and its term expires this year. If the appeal is not made jointly to the people in that province, it will be because the present Conservative Local Government is admittedly unpopular and because the prospects of the Dominion Government would therefore be prejudiced instead of improved by so close an alliance.

How would it be in Ontario? The present Legislature does not expire by efflux of time until next year, and under ordinary circumstances the Government would naturally refrain until that time for an appeal to the people upon their administrative record. But if the Dominion Government chooses to shorten by one year the life of the present Dominion Parliament, the circumstances become extraordinary and would justify Mr. Mowat in advising an appeal to the people at once. There is much to be said in favor of such a course in the public interest. Properly there should have been no general election for either Parliament until next year, and were the Dominion elections left over till the normal time, there would be no justification for precipitating the Provincial one. But it would be a decided advantage to have the contests come of simultaneously whenever they do come off, as the people would in that event lose less time, and public business would suffer less from the excitement which always accompanies a keen contest.

If it be said that to hold both elections at the present time would lead to a mixing up of Dominion and Provincial issues, the obvious answer is that they have been completely and irreparably mixed up by the present Dominion Government to such an extent that whenever the Dominion election comes off it must be fought in this Province mainly on Provincial lines. The most prominent question at issue for the people of Ontario is the boundary question, and next to it comes the interference with Provincial rights in the disallowance of the Act to protect the public interest in floatable streams. If the Dominion Government, by taking time by the forelock, succeed in retaining their present position, we can obtain possession of territory rightly ours only after a long and costly process; if by going to the people along with Sir John Macdonald Mr. Mowat can secure his defeat, the disputed territory will be handed over to us at once. The Stream Bill has been re-enacted; if the Dominion Government remain in power it will be again disallowed; if a change of Government were to take place at Ottawa, a highly useful and necessary measure would become law and the right of the Provincial Legislature to enact such a measure would be vindicated. If the Dominion election is to be precipitated, and if the general elections in the Provinces are to come off on the same day with it, by all means let us have the Ontario election at the same time also, and be done with it. Of course the Conservatives would be delighted with such an arrangement.

Peterborough Conservatives and Protection.

Our readers are already familiar with the fact that some years ago the Review was an out and out advocate of a moderate revenue tariff as distinguished from one specially formed to protect the manufacturing interests of Canada. In 1870, when the manufacturers of this country began to follow the example of their brethren in the United States and combine for the better promotion of their special interests, the Review laid bare in trenchant style the selfishness and unreasonableness of the movement. The Conservative party were then in power and it was deemed necessary, as a piece of party policy, to fight against any increase in the customs tariff, which was then 15 per cent. This tariff, the Review declared, afforded "incidentally all the protection "which any class of manufactures for "which the country is in any measure "suited, require for their development." In 1874 the tariff was increased to 17½ per cent., owing to the necessity of raising more revenue, and yet, in 1878 the Review went in for a further increase still, and this for purely protective purposes. Its present position is still more protectionist even than its attitude in 1878, for the present tariff, being framed for Sir Leonard Tilley by the manufacturers, is very much higher than any one expected, and this very high tariff every supporter of the Government is bound to defend

It is curious to note the similarity of the Review's reasoning on this subject 12 years ago, to that employed now by those who are still opposed to protection. Our contemporary pointed out that the small increase then asked for by the manufacturers was sure to be followed by larger demands, as the first increase would add to the cost of living and raise the rate of wages thus diminishing the manufacturer's profits and giving him an excuse to demand further protection. The contention of the Review then was that increased duties meant an increase of cost to the consumer of the protected article, and it went on to illustrate this truth by a description of the operation of the duties on woollen goods

But the part of the Review's now celebrated article which most merits attention is the paragraph devoted to showing the absurdity of the idea of protecting the farmer. Speaking of the old 15 per cent. tariff, it said: "It appears "to us that if anyone has the right to "complain of the present tariff it is the "consumer particularly the farmer." Then occurs in the article the following memorable paragraph, which reads exactly like an extract from a Liberal and anti-protectionist journal of to-day:—

"BUT TO US, THE GREATEST ABSURDITY IN THE WHOLE SCHEME OF THE PROTECTIONISTS IS THAT OF THE FARMER AND THE COAL OF NOVA SCOTIA. We fancy a great many of these gentlemen "SEE THROUGH IT," QUITE WELL, BUT THEN TO CARRY OUT THEIR OWN GAME they must not only scratch each other's backs, but THEY MUST TRY, OR MAKE THE FARMERS BELIEVE THEY ARE TRYING, WHICH AMOUNTS VERY OFTEN TO THE SAME THING, TO PROTECT HIM. DOES ANY SANE MAN BELIEVE THAT THE IMPOSITION OF 25 OR 50 CENTS DUTY PER BARREL WILL PUT A SINGLE PENNY INTO ANY FARMER'S POCKET? If so WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW HOW IT IS TO BE BROUGHT ABOUT? WHAT IS TO BE DONE WITH THE SURPLUS GROWN EVERY YEAR IN THE DOMINION? IF THE PRICE OF WHEAT IS TO BE ADVANCED BY THE DUTY, WHO IS GOING TO BUY THE SURPLUS AT THIS ENHANCED PRICE, AND SEND IT OUT OF THE DOMINION AT A LOSS? BY THE IMPOSITION OF SUCH A DUTY MILLERS MAY MAKE SOMETHING, BUT THE FARMERS OF ONTARIO NOT A CENT, while the Blue-noses will have to pay that much more for their flour, the greatest part of which will go in paying freight, and then in order to make the increased price in the staff of life palatable in Nova Scotia, a duty is to be imposed on coal, so that we may be compelled to buy their coal in return for their buying our bread, and just with about the same result—WE WILL HAVE TO PAY AN ADDITIONAL PRICE, THE DUTY, WHATEVER IT MAY BE."

Good Conservative organ as it was in 1871, the Review found itself constrained to condemn the duties imposed by Sir John Macdonald's Government on "COAL, FLOUR, GRAIN and SALT," as part of what was then called the "national policy," and in consequence of the hostility of his supporters to these same duties Sir John soon found himself compelled to remove them. How completely he has succeeded in whipping them into the traces is seen, not only in the Review's persistent defence of the duties on "coal, flour, grain and salt," and of strongly protective duties on manufactures generally, but also in the vote given the other day in the House of Commons on Mr. Laurier's motion to put coal and breadstuffs on the free list. Among those who voted against that motion were Messrs. HILLIARD and BURNHAM, of Peterboro; Bowell and White, of Hastings; Guillett, of West Northumberland; McQuade, of South Victoria; and Williams, of East Durham. Mr. Hector Cameron, who represents North Victoria, appears to have shirked the vote. The position of the whole Conservative party on this question is a most humiliating one, more especially as many of them still hold the views they held in 1870 upon it, and have been driven into their present attitude solely by party exigencies. Had Sir John Macdonald taken up a free trade position they would have been just as strenuous in his defence as they are now.

THE travelling expenses of the present luxurious government are summed up in a total of $14,347, which, when it is recollected that it includes Sir John Macdonald's share as one of the trio who sold the country to the Syndicate, and Sir Charles Tupper's amount of $1,947 which is simply put down as "travelling expenses" with no explanation whatever, is a very heavy cost to the country. It would undoubtedly make a very choice bit of reading if all the items in those "travelling expenses accounts" could be made public. The cost of Sir Charles Tupper's trip to England, $1000, and his recent excursion to British Columbia, $1,000 is not included in the above total, which would swell into one of $16,947 with them added.

Post Office Changes.

We are glad to notice that some needed improvements in our Post Office have been effected since our last issue, and that others are promised. Whether or not these changes have been brought about by the article in last week's EXAMINER is of little consequence. We were well aware all that was needed was to direct the attention of our courteous and obliging Postmaster to these details in order to see them carried into immediate effect, if only they commended themselves to his judgment. That he has agreed with our suggestions would appear from his recent action. The Post Office is now to remain open every day until 6.30 p.m.; allowing ample opportunity for mechanics and others to procure their letters on their way home from work. Bills have been printed specially for the benefit of parties from the country, informing all concerned that postage stamps are on sale at the bookstores. In the larger offices where a great amount of business is transacted, no stamps are sold, but the practice is followed here for the convenience of those who do not seem to be aware that stamps can be had elsewhere than at the Post Office. We would recommend our friends from the rural districts to procure postage stamps at the bookstores when possible, and thus prevent overcrowding at the wicket, especially on Saturdays. If some method could be devised by which the school children could be induced to proceed homewards direct, instead of going through the Post Office in droves, and sorely trying the temper and patience of the clerks and the general public by persistent requests about letters, it would be of immense benefit. Next to the adoption of some system of house-to-house delivery, such as prevails in the larger cities, a very low charge, say of fifty cents per annum, would induce many persons, now dissatisfied with the system, to have their own boxes, and would thus lessen the work of the Post Office staff, and ensure for all concerned much greater promptitude and despatch. We suppose it is too much to expect all this, as the millenial is not yet at hand. But we live in a progressive and labor-saving age, and one cannot tell the next great step onward that we will take, even in Peterborough.

Editorial Notes.

Humanum est errare, and as long as mankind exists, mistakes will be made, but if Sir Charles Tupper is an honest man, and puts any belief in his own utterances he is the most misunderstood man in the Dominion of Canada.

SATURDAY'S Globe announces, on the best authority, that the general election is to take place on June 6th. This is no time for backwardness or half-heartedness, and all true Liberals are exhorted to be up and doing, leaving no stone unturned to accomplish the defeat of a government as false and untrue as it is plausible and specious.

We are informed that Mayor Smith has been appointed by the Government at Ottawa to look after the matter in the whole Province of having the Voter's List manipulated and scrutinized in the interest of the Conservative party for the coming election, and that he is at present engaged in the work. The Government have chosen a good man to look after their interest in that matter.

The Conservatives of West Peterborough believe in doing things up brown—at least, they are determined that they will not be prevented from making a grand display in their selection of officers. The fact that was heralded to the world last week, borrows respectability from the Reform ranks by having Dr. Gray, of Bellleboro', a life-long Reformer, as one of the Vice-Presidents of the Central Association. It is needless to say that the worthy doctor told them, when he heard about the selection, that he did not belong to that company.—Port Hope News.

WE are happy to state that we had the pleasure of a visit from Dr. Gray a few days ago, and in the course of conversation he entirely repudiated the idea of being considered an officer of the Association mentioned, being not a little indignant that his name should have been mentioned in connexion with it at all.

THE motion condemnatory of the award of the Port Moody contract to Onderdonk & Mills at a cost of $209,000 over the lowest tender will be followed up, we have no doubt by one condemning the award of the Section B contract to Tupper's friends at a cost of $217,000 over the next lower tender. The evidence on the subject is contained in the proceedings of the Pacific Railway Commission which at this writing has not been brought down to Parliament. The excuse is that the report of the Commissioners is not ready, but the absence of the report need not have hindered the evidence from being placed in the hands of members for perusal.

THE horse whipping of editors is becoming alarmingly prevalent, several cases having been lately reported, the last of which is the assault on the editor of the Sherbrooke Pioneer by the owner of the pulp mills at that town, and who was displeased by some remarks about him in the paper mentioned. A small fine was the only punishment inflicted on the castigator. Time was when the person of an editor was almost sacred, and any assault upon that person could only be atoned for by blood of the goriest type, or by a most abject and humble apology on the part of the assailant, but now, redress must be sought through the commonplace medium of a police court. After all, when the person of royalty itself is not safe from the attacks of the vulgar herd, an editor, whose position is only a step lower, cannot be secure, but must put up with the inevitable unpleasant consequences of an exalted and conspicuous eminence.

IT would seem that a spirit of dissatisfaction is spreading in England on account of the enormous grants of money, which are made from time to time, to some member of the royal family. This feeling was manifested in a marked degree when Parliament voted an additional amount of £10,000 to Prince Leopold who is shortly to be married, and the English people are apparently beginning to think that Queen Victoria might do something more for her family out of her own immense savings than she does. The fact is dawning upon the working-man that he might just as well invest his hard earnings on himself and family, as to give them away in order to support royalty in idleness, and though he doubtless considers princes as a harmless, if a useless kind of article to have around, he is not now so willing as formerly to put his hand into his own pocket to maintain them in ease and luxury, when there are other sources from which the frequent grants ought, in his opinion, to come.

WHEN Sir Charles Tupper, in his speech at Ottawa on the 28th of March, sought to create the impression that the firm of McDonald & Co. consisted of "men of straw" and that they were not pecuniarily capable of undertaking the Onderdonk Contract, and that the reason for rejecting their tender was that it was not the lowest, and that the government had had unsatisfactory experience with Mr. Charlebois respecting the Georgian Bay contract, he was resorting to most ungenerous though thoroughly characteristic tactics, and it must indeed be rather surprising news to Mr. Duncan McDonald, a man of known wealth, and who carried out successfully many heavy contracts on the Intercolonial railway, and elsewhere, for the government, to learn that he is altogether "unreliable" and a "man of straw." The speech of the "Great Stretcher" was on a par with most of his utterances, and when Mr. Cameron (Huron) in reply declared his attacks to be outrageous, cowardly and scandalous, he was no doubt speaking the opinions of thousands of others besides himself.

IT would seem that there is yet a bare probability that Dr. Lamson, now under sentence of death in England for the murder of his young brother-in-law by poisoning with aconitine, may escape the gallows, as strenuous efforts are being made by his friends to obtain a mitigation of his sentence. One of the arguments used is that Lamson was a firm believer in the use of aconitine, a drug which he used in the most reckless manner when employed by the Red Cross Association at Bucharest, administering it to the Russian soldiers as an infallible cure in almost all cases, and also dosing his friend Dr. Klein with it as a remedy for neuralgia, to an alarming extent. The defence is that Dr. Lamson gave aconitine to his brother-in-law (a sickly boy) in good faith, having a firm belief himself in its curative properties, and that the idea of murder had never entered his mind. It yet remains to be seen whether the condemned man will escape, but although he has been granted 2 weeks respite, it seems somewhat improbable, as the sentence of death is usually carried out when pronounced in England, respites and pardons being there the exception, and not, as in the United States, the rule.

ALL credit must be given to the Kingston Whig when it speaks as follows anent the removal of the present obnoxious postal charge on newspapers, and concerning which a deputation of the Canadian Press Association composed of Mr. Ponse, President, and Messrs. Trayes and Hough, ex-Presidents, waited upon the Postmaster-General at Ottawa, and it must be allowed, that the Whig places the matter in its true light when it says:—

"The postal authorities prejudged the ability of newspaper publishers to commute with readers by adding to their previous subscriptions a charge for postage. But the public, once relieved of the tax gave providence or the government credit for the boon, making such a stand against any attempt of that sort that it became futile, and publishers have had to pay the tax in full themselves. It is as hard to raise the price of subscription as for the scriptural feat to take place of a rich man passing through the eye of a needle. The publishers do not deny the commercial propriety of the department in charging for the transmission of mails, but they plead the entire lack of return for the tax imposed; the fact that the last change was not asked by the people but suggested by departmental cares; that the people are now 50 to 1 in favor of the abolition of the charge, and that the papers a dissemination of news have a claim upon the representatives of an enlightened country. They are, indeed, dispensers of news gratuitously to a far greater extent than the public are aware of. In New York State, for instance, publishers of both sides of politics are well paid for the publication of acts passing the legislature, and for recording the minutes of councils and school boards. Here, this work is performed in a spirit of enterprise, as indeed are a thousand and one acts of publication which United States printers are well honoured for. A free press is entitled to all the favors which Parliament can offer it outside the purchase of its independence."

To what agency is due in a very great measure the credit of bringing the immense resources of the North-West prominently into notice? The answer must be that that agency is the press, and it is sincerely hoped that Parliament will take an equitable view of this subject and abolish, as would only be fair and just, the most vexatious tax which exists at present.

SMITH AND HER PAUPERS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I see by the Review of the 24th March, that the township of Smith is credited with endeavouring to get rid of its paupers, by sending them to Peterborough to be committed to gaol, which, sir is untrue. The charity of the Council of the township of Smith, has been extended to Geo. Parsons, the person referred to for years past, as both he and his wife have been supported by the Council, but of late Mrs. Parsons had become so enfeebled as not to be able to leave her bed, and the Council, through the Reeve, made application to the managers of the Peterborough Protestant Home, to have both admitted to that institution, and arrangements were made for the care and support of Mrs. Parsons at $2 per week, which the township is now paying, but Parsons refused charity in that way and demanded $100.00 from the Reeve to pay his travelling expenses to the old country, which very mild request was refused by the Reeve; after which he sold his chattels and left the township, and has been wandering about from place to place. I think, sir, that Parsons is one of those very arbitary paupers, who could, perhaps, be better managed by the editor of the Review, than by any charitable institution, and I have not the least doubt but if the editor would take him under his paternal care, the Council of Smith would even yet be willing to pay a reasonable sum for his support, notwithstanding his leaving the township and becoming a resident of the town.

Yours, &c.,
April 4th, 1882. SMITH.

The Intelligencer says that the surveying party engaged in the location of the Trent Valley Railway have got as far as the G.J.R. crossing, about two miles from Stirling. It is the intention to renew the preliminary survey on Monday next, and a party will be sent out to the proposed terminus of the road in Woolaston to run the line southward and meet the other party.

THE CHURCHES.

ST. ANDREW'S.

At the morning service at the above church, the Rev. Mr. Bell preached from the 2nd verse of the 11th chapter of St. Luke's Gospel, selecting the words "Thy Kingdom Come," contained in that verse, as his text. His very able discourse was a comparison between the rule of earthly kingdoms and that of a kingdom over which the Ruler of all was sovereignty. The reverend gentleman pointed out how much is contained in these words of the text. Our blessed Saviour came on earth to inaugurate that kingdom, and to teach his disciples to pray, knowing that the fulfilment of their prayer would fully satisfy the cravings of their hearts. How sorrowful is the contrast when we think of that blest Kingdom, where all is peace and harmony, and where all discord is utterly unknown, with the strifes and bickerings of the world in which we live. It was the prayer of Jesus, that this world might be changed and rendered more like Heaven. We now know something of the fulfilment of that prayer, and we are convinced that there is an ultimate accomplishment of it, as generation passes onward to generation, ever rising to higher matters, till the perfect standard of that Kingdom spoken of is attained.

Now what is meant by the coming of God's Kingdom? Does it mean that heretofore he had no rule in the world, or that His Kingdom was to be immediately established? Not a single day has passed from the time of Abraham until now, but that God has had some to bow down and glorify Him. From Abraham's time, through long years of Jewish degeneracy to the time of John, God has had a faithful people who worshipped Him, and for whose sake He spared the world from destruction at once terrible and sublime.

God ruled the Israelites very differently to any others. He personally spoke to them and sent them messages by the inspired prophets, and he could not have done more for them than was done, had he been their actual ruler and king. And yet that nation was not altogether one of righteous men, and was not what God wished it to be. We see the Israelites frequently rebelling against God, and being chastised.

The Kingdom of God is, as the Almighty wished, a Kingdom ruled by love. This is the rule which Jesus Christ established, and of which His spirit is the moving power, and this is the Kingdom and rule and power for which the disciples strove. Now look over the rule of the nations of the world and what do we see? Nothing but selfishness, injustice, and error; these are the three prominent features of world by rule. How different is this from the Kingdom of God, in which the very first principle is self-sacrifice. In the world it is selfishness. Another principle in the rule of the world is error, in that of Christ, truth; two direct opposites, and which show how entirely opposed to one another are the Kingdoms of Christ and of this world.

We need only study the history of world by kingdoms, to see that disolation and bloodshed are things which figure most conspicuously, and for what end. Simply self-aggrandisement, self-glory and their own advantage, and this is the rule and spirit of the world everywhere, though it is a lamentable fact to admit it, even our churches are not exempt from it. Selfishness is the ruling spirit of this world, and it is seen everywhere, but how different it is with God who rules by love, and by giving what was of more value than gold or silver or precious stones—namely, His dear Son, through whom this kingdom of love was to be established. The further man advances in his religious convictions, the less he thinks of himself and this world, and the more of those, his fellow-creatures, around him, and of Him who died that this world might be saved

The reverend speaker gave many illustrations of the selfishness of human nature, and showed how exactly opposite was the Kingdom of God, in which integrity, honor, rectitude and incorruptibility was found, a kingdom where nothing but brotherly love and unselfishness should reign. There is no grand display about the Kingdom of God, no ostentation, but silent merciful progress, drawing men onwards to works of love and mercy. Some, yes, many men do not believe in God's Kingdom because of the lack of stir, noise and ostentation, and because they are not able to point to certain things within a given circle, they imagine the Kingdom is a thing that is not. Such spirits cannot understand God's Kingdom and such men might as well and with as great a show of reason, argue that there is no tide in the ocean, because, looking on the broad bosom of the sea, they cannot perceive any change as to the depth in the water; but bring those men and point out some jutting rock upon which the water's rise and fall can be perceived, and by which its progress may be marked, and they will believe. Such men require a tangible proof before their deadened senses can believe anything.

How is this Kingdom of God to come to us? Not by force, as the world understands it. There is no coercion about it as in this world where men and nations go forth and compel others to submit to them by sheer force. In the kingdom spoken of there is no forcing against the will, for man can no more be forced to become a believer, than he can be forced to commit a crime. God's method, (having made man a rational, thinking, choosing being,) is by coming and inducing him to rise up to a higher nature, and by leaving him to freely choose a loving master and a loving service. But without the spirit of God man's eloquence is as naught, and no real salvation is enjoyed without it. All is in vain. Now the question is, do we want the Kingdom of God? We do. Then if such be the case, we should begin at once with hearts open, lusts cast out, unloving thoughts abandoned, and we must pray for the complete submission of our hearts and wills, no longer striving to serve ourselves, but Him who died for our transgressions.

What we Value

The reputation of keeping reliable goods.
The name of fair and honourable dealers.
The character of always doing what we profess.
And the paying patronage of a satisfied public.

WHAT THE PUBLIC VALUE

Is the supply of their wants at the very lowest cost. This is commendable and the endeavour to meet the demand is the mainspring of our business. From the inception of our trade we were THE FIRST who adopted the basis of selling for cash. The amount of our sales has shewn most decidedly that this line of dealing has been appreciated. Another lever in lifting our trade into prominence has been our buying our goods in LARGE LOTS, not by the piece. This in addition to our invariable practice of constantly receiving goods, instead of at two seasons of the year, gives the public a constant opportunity to get what is fresh, what is fashionable, and what must be the best value. Our standing in the markets has an effect in the direction of decent legitimate trade that the public value.

We believe in giving a good article, putting the price at a thoroughly reasonable living profit, and then stamping the article with our recommendation.

We have experience as to what goods to buy and where to procure them, both to our own and to our customers advantage.

We employ so many hands that orders are filled with a promptitude that is gratifying to customers.

We consider that our facilities for handling and showing goods are such as to distance all competitors. We have many assurances to this effect.

Our prices are invariably the same, one to all buyers. In the case of large buyers we shall be happy to allow a liberal discount in keeping with the extent of the order. This is what we have been doing and shall continue to do during the coming season.

All goods marked in plain selling figures and children can buy from our counters at the same prices as the keenest bargainer may look for.

Come and see us, examine our goods and prices, and be convinced of our merits.

The Contented Man, Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.60 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

MORE FACTS ABOUT THE N. P.

What Some of the Engine and Boiler Makers say on the Subject.

THE N.P. A DECIDED INJURY TO THEIR BUSINESS.

If any additional facts are needed to show the evil effects of the National Policy, the following statements made to the Globe commissioners in London, Brantford and Woodstock, should prove convincing:—

ENGINES AND BOILERS.

Mr. J. Leonard, of the well-known firm of E. Leonard & Son, engine and boiler makers, London, said:—The N.P. has been no benefit to our business so far as I can see, but on the contrary a decided injury. We never had any foreign competition to affect our market, so that protection has neither extended our sales, nor increase our prices. Home competition is active and has been so for many years, so that we have not been able to increas our prices. On the other hand the cost of production has largely increased. Our coal is taxed, pig-iron pays $2 a ton, and is chiefly imported; we get our bar-iron abroad, because we can do better than in Hamilton where I think the only Canadian bar-iron manufactory is found, and we pay a duty of 17½ per cent. on the importation. Boiler plates are not manufactured in Canada, for what reason I do not know, unless it be the expensiveness of the machinery required, and the rather limited market this country affords, yet we pay 12½ per cent. on this very heavy item in the cost of production. Boiler tubes have also to be imported iron—that is, of the lap welded kind, suitable for boilers being manufactured in Canada. The machinery required for this manufacture is expensive, the varieties of sizes in tubing are great, and the market is small. On tubing, which is another important item in our business, we pay a much heavier duty than under the old tariff. There are several other importations which we use, or which we buy at home, but whether we buy at home or abroad, the duty is added to the price, so that the margin between the cost of our raw material and the price of our manufactured article has been considerably diminished. We could unquestionably

MAKE MORE UNDER THE OLD 17½ PER CENT. TARIFF

than under the N.P. Times have improved of course, but I cannot trace any connection between improvement in our business and the N.P. The demand for engines and boilers created by protection to industries lately established has been a mere bagatelle compared with the general demand which springs up on the revival of trade, and if we have gained little or nothing from the operations of the new tariff, we still have losses from bad debts, though not so many as during the dull times. The revival of trade is due to good crops here, bad crops in Europe, and a general revival resulting from various causes outside of fiscal legislation. In our business this revival has been a benefit for another reason. During the dull times from '76 to '79 many large firms like Buck & Co., and various other firms in Toronto, Hamilton, and London, failed, or were practically driven out of the market. Money being scarce, people got along as long as they could with old engines and boilers. When times improved a demand for new engines and boilers sprang up, and we, in common with others, who had got through the depression, were prepared to meet this demand, and we share a greater extent in its profits than if the failures referred to had not taken place. Hence, notwithstanding the increased cost of production, we are enabled to do very well. There may be manufacturers who have not analysed the operation of the tariff, and therefore are not cognizant of the differances in cost consequent on the existence of the high tariff on raw materials. Bar-iron was $1.75 per cwt. just before the tariff was put on in 1879. Almost immediately on the tariff being raised, a rapid and great fall in the price of bar-iron ensued in outside markets. We did not share the full benefit of that fall owing to the duty we had to pay, but nevertheless, the price, duty and all, fell below the price which obtained before the duty had been raised, consequently the ill-effect of the tariff was not perceived, particularly by those who buy from importers, to whom they are bound by their credit accounts. Thus some were satisfied, who otherwise would not have been. Iron has since been advancing, though it has not attained the figures of 8 or 9 years ago. The fact is that we are taxed on everything, and

THE FULL AMOUNT OF THE DUTIES IMPOSED, whether we buy home production or foreign. We have not, owing to home competition, been able to raise our prices, but were it not for these duties on raw material we would be forced by competitors to sell to the public at lower prices than we now obtain, so that our customers pay the duties imposed, or nearly the whole of them. We have not gained the Manitoba or Eastern markets through the N. P., for under a 17½ per cent. tariff we could secure them quite well. We can manufacture engines and boilers cheaper than the prohibited American manufacturers. The difference in freight between Chicago and Winnipeg, and here and Winnipeg is not very important, and is counterbalanced by advantages we possess over Americans.

WAGES.

Wages have greatly added to the cost af production. Moulders are getting 30 per cent. more than in 1878, laborers 10 per cent. more, and on an average we pay 20 per cent. more now than then. We are forced to employ more unskilled workmen than formerly. The failures during the dull times sent iron workers to the United States and North-West, or into other occupations at home. Hence when demand for our manufactures revived, the supply of skilled workmen and apprentices had been decreased, so that we had to do the best we could for men. The higher wages paid in the United States have also taken away many of our men and forced wages up."

The Globe's enquirer, in conversation with employees of E. Leonard & Son, ascertained that the increase of cost of living from protection and other causes independent of it had left these mechanics no better off than in 1878. One was getting $1.25 a day then and $1.80 a day now, but did not think he was really able to save more than formerly.

STOVE-MAKING

Mr. Wm. Buck, stove manufacturer, Brantford, said, "I have gained nothing by the N.P., but have to pay a heavy tax on iron and coal. I get this, however, out of the public. We have never needed protection. The stove men held the market during the dull times the same as now, the only stoves imported being special ones, which still come in. Times in 1872-3 under the 15 per cent. tariff were better for us than now. In the dull times of 1878-9 we did a good business, though not growing work as at present. We can manufacture as cheaply as the Americans, I think even cheaper; for their iron is heavily protected, an costs more than our own. The Manitoba market could not be obtained by the Americans under a 15 per cent tariff, the advantage in freight which Chicago enjoys not amounting to much. Even the little advantage Chicago has in that respect is counterbalanced by the dearer iron, etc. People are buying freely now, owing to the good crops and good prices for grain; and to that and similar causes, and not in the least to the N.P., do we attribute our better times. Wages have risen considerably of late, owing to the American demand for labor.

A STOVE-FOUNDER INJURED.

Mr Watson, of Woodstock, engaged in the manufacture of stoves and other castings, said:—What I have to say about the N.P. is easily said, as its bearing on my business is readily understood. I am not in the stove ring. We never had foreign competition in stoves, and the duty does not benefit me. My raw material, however, is taxed much more heavily than under the old tariff, while I do not get any higher prices. Business is better than a few years ago, thanks to the good crops, and of course my losses are fewer if my profits are not so great. Wages have advanced, but not so much so here as in other places. They are now no higher than in 1872-3 under a 15 per cent tariff. Coal is taxed 50 and 60 cents a ton; pig-iron $2 per ton, and bar-iron 17½ per cent, whereas formerly coal was free, and pig and bar-iron only 5 per cent. My stoves are of a plain character, so that the raw material bears a greater proportion to the whole cost, than in the case of fancy stoves. I buy Scotch pig, and scrap entirely, and use no Londonderry. I certainly prefer the old tariff, under which I was able to do better than at present.

A WOODSTOCK ENGINE FOUNDER'S OPINION.

Mr. Whitlaw, manufacturer of mill machinery, engines, and boilers, Woodstock, said:—The N.P. has not benefitted the engine and boiler business, but has increased the cost of production without increasing the price of manufactures or providing a more extended market. I could make more money under the old tariff with the present revival of business, which I ascribe to good crops, etc., and other causes unconnected with the N.P. We were never troubled with foreign competition, so that we did not need protection. Our raw material is heavily taxed, the burden in my business lying on coal, iron, boiler plates and tubing. Under the old tariff our average duty on this material was under 5 per cent., now it is, I think, about 12½ per cent. We export to the United States. I have fitted up five mills there, and have at present orders from the other side, notwithstanding the high duties charged there. Wages have risen, owing to the American demand for labor, fully 25 per cent. above those of 1878. Most of this rise has taken place quite recently. Wages are now about the same as in 1872. Although they are lower here than across the lines, I do not think our mechanics can save more over there. A number of my men have gone over there to better their condition, but have nearly all come back. With a lower tariff on the necessaries of life, they could make more money even with lower wages than are paid at present. The number of our hands has of course increased. The cost of production is lower here than in the United States; at least iron is cheaper.

Change of Base.

The Lindsay Post of last week contains the following article dealing with the Review's sudden change of opinion on the tariff question. It also quotes an article from that paper, published on several occasions in the EXAMINER, which proves conclusively the contention that the Review sacrificed its previous opinions for party purposes, at the back of the leader of the Government. Our contemporary then asserted its belief that "the present Canadian tariff (15 per cent.) afforded all the protection required by any class of manufacturers for which the country is suited":—

THE PETERBOROUGH REVIEW'S OLD LOVE.

A delicate and distant reference in the Post to the Peterborough Review's performance some years ago in ridiculing protection, called forth from our contemporary an exceedingly vituperative rejoinder, in which the Post was solemnly charged with all the journalistic sins in the calendar. The Post's reference was especially styled the "policy of slander;" and it was declared that the opinions alluded to were expressed in the Review "under different management." Our reference was to the manner in which the Peterborough EXAMINER exposed our Tory contemporary in the same town a year or two ago, and we reprint from that paper the celebrated article it reprinted from the Review.

The Review cannot hide itself behind the "different management" plea, for it is perfectly well-known that our contemporary was then, and had been for years, as now, under the able editorial management of that popular journalist-politican, the erstwhile local representative of West Peterborough. The article is a literary curiosity in its way. The fiscal and economic situation now is not much different from what it comparatively was then; and if protection was bad then it cannot be good now. If there was danger then of greedy monopolists under a slight tariff increase, how much more greedy must not the monopolists be now under an extortionate and unfair tariff, framed for their special benefit? If an additional five per cent. increased the cost of living and enhanced the cost of an article to the consumer then, how can it be that an addition of from fifteen to twenty per cent. does not now increase the expense of living and enhance the cost of an article to the consumer, as the Review now declares boldly it does not. If the consumer, especially the farmer, would then have had the right to complain, how is it that the farmer now has no right? The principles and laws of trade were exactly the same then as they are now. They have not changed one jot or tittle. The Review is not so hopelessly idiotic as to maintain that they have changed; it will not assert that though two and two made four some years ago, they now under the N.P. make five. If it was then a great absurdity to "protect" the farmer of Ontario and the coal of Nova Scotia, how can it be wise and beneficent now? The Review saw through it then; how is it that it cannot see through it now? Then the Review said these protectionists had "a game to carry out; they not only scratched each other's backs," but they must try to make the farmers believe they are trying to protect him. Well, who has been scratching the Review's back now to encourage it in the "game" of humbugging the farmers? Then the Review doubted the sanity of any one who said a duty on flour would "put a single penny into any man's pocket." Now it baits Beaubier's Billingsgate at any one who affirms that the N.P. has not benefitted the farmer. Then it said the consumer or user of an article in Canada would have to pay the duty; now it maintains the opposite. But we give place to the text of this article in question, and it is not garbled either. It is curious and characteristic, and may entertain if it does not enlighten. We commend it to our Conservative friends in this county, especially when they meet in convention. We apply it to several of our Tory contemporaries between whose utterances then and now there was just as marked and peculiar a divergence."

GOOD THING FROM THE STATES.

(Montreal Canadian Post.)

In this age of quackery, it is consoling to discover that there is something solid in existence, and that, though there are vendors who lie most cheerfully about their wares, there are others who tell the truth and allow time to test the merits of what they offer for sale. As year after year rolls over, the frauds and the shams sink away out of sight in the pools and morasses of obscurity, while what is really good and true stands boldly forth all the grander for its age and solidity. Thus while within the present decade thousands of patent medicines, puffed at one time to inflation, have shrank before the test of analysis, St. Jacob's Oil has bravely borne the strain, and is to-day renowned all over the world for its famous curative powers. It is truly one of the phenomena of the age we live in. The sale of this article is incredible. It is to be found all over the civilized world and in a good many places which are not civilised—for, unfortunately, the bones of sorrowing man are racked and ache with pain no matter what region he inhabits—and we believe it is yet destined to be found in every house, and to supersede the many nostrums wich still remain abroad to rob and defraud humanity and its health. The firm of A. Vogeler & Co., Baltimore, spends half a million dollars yearly in advertising St. Jacob's Oil, and hence we may guess at the full extent of their enormous business. It is truly marvelous, or would be, did we not know the circulation of this inestimable blessing.

MY DEAR QUEEN,—My papa has just come home and said that some bad man had tried to shoot you. What a wicked man he must be to want to shoot such a good Queen. I hope he will be punished for it. Papa says he must be mad, and I think that he must be the maddest man that ever lived. I am so glad that you have not been hurt, and so is papa and mamma. Good night, and may God bless you.

An Irishman one day came running into a farm-yard and hurriedly cried for a spade. The farmer, coming out, demanded what he wanted with it, when Pat replied that his friend had stuck in a bog, and he wanted to dig him out.

"How far is he in?" inquired the farmer.

"Up to the ankles," said Pat.

"Is that all?" said the farmer. "Then he can pull himself out again. "You'll get no spade here."

Pat scratched his head, while his face bore evident signs of grief, blurting out, "Och, but by jabers, he's in head fist."

TRANSLATED FROM THE "PARIS OMNIBUS:" A boy sits with a cloth-covered hand cart at the foot of a hill. A walking-goer comes along, at whose approach the boy to weep begins. (Himself of the sweat drying.) Say once, thou, what hast thou, really upon thy cart?" Boy—"My big brother sleeps there upon."

SANDERSON'S

THE FIRST SPRING POEM.

DESCRIPTIVE OF WHAT OUR MINSTREL ALLUDES HE SAW.

The bard who is attached to the staff of this paper got nosing round amongst the fragrant back yards of this town, and an idea happening to come along, hit him a fearful thwack, the result being as follows: Happily the young man's inspired moments are few and far between.
He says the poem ought to be illustrated. Imagination must supply the pictures.

Here is a back yard in town.

This is the corpse of a cat, in the fall
She succumbed to old pallida Mors' urgent call,
And was chucked in this Peterboro' yard.

This is an oyster can battered and flat
That was hurled at the head of the now defunct cat
Who was forced to respond to the scythe bearer's call
And to give up the ghost some time late in the fall
And now sleeps in the back yard in town.

Potatoes decayed by their small I diskiver,
Breeding small-pox, diphtheria and bilious fever,
Lie close to the oyster can battered and flat
And the cause of the death of this mewsical cat
Who sleeps in this back yard in town.

Here's a set of false teeth which were dropped in the snow
And couldn't be found when they wanted them so,
Quite close to the 'taters all green and de-cayed
And a powerful cause of the medico's aid
Which lie close to the oyster can battered and flat,
The instrument chosen to finish the cat
Who sleeps in the back yard in town.

A pair of old corsets, now all grass to waste
One half of a scissors, and some mouldy old paste
Lie both cheek by jowl and would make it appear
That Conservative editors used to live here,
And perhaps owned these teeth which were dropped in the snow
And couldn't be found when they looked for
'em so.
Not far from the spade all badly decayed
And happening a medico's bill to be paid,
Near by is the oyster can, battered and flat
Used in place of Death's scythe on that villainous cat,
Who sleeps in this Peterboro' yard.

But here comes T. Beavis our nuisance detective.
In hunting out smells both concise and effective.
He'll soon spot these corsets which some fair one's embraced
And even in death are not far from the waste,
And close to the scissors and green mouldy
paste
Lying both cheek by jowl and would make it appear
That some Tory old editor used to live here.

He'll banish these "murphies" all badly de-
cayed
Which suggest a long bill to a "doc." to be paid,
He will kick out the oyster can battered and flat
The premature end of the poor pussy cat
Who peacefully here we perceive to be taking
That last long, long sleep which will know
no awaking,
And will clean up this back yard in town.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOVERS.

'Now,' in a Chill tone he said—
'I will be Frank. 'Tis true,
Although you Arab brilliant catch,
I do not Ouifre you?'
'Oh! lady Dane to hear my suit,
This heart is Scot by thee?'
'Nay, sir, I cannot head thy words,
For you Araunt to me!'
'Tis Welsh,' she added fleesingly,
'Since Mam pressed so far.
To Hindoo you no longer here;
And so, good sir, Tartar!'
'What Ottoman like me to do?'
Bewailed the stricken man,
'I'll Flemish up my mad career,
And wed the Gallicas.'

THE PRICE OF A BIG HAT.

All his life he had toiled and saved and scraped, and pulled every string that had a dollar at the end of it. And now all his hard earned wealth was gone, and a great, hateful, interest-eating mortgage spread its black wings over all that he owned and loved on earth. He sank into a chair, and, folding his arms upon the table before him, bowed his grey head upon them and groaned great groans from Groanville, Groan county. His heart seemed breaking.

"Did you mortgage the farm?" asked his wife anxiously, stealing softly to his side.

"Yes," he growled, "both farms, and sold the wood lot over on the island."

"And did you have to mortgage the town house, too?" she asked, with quivering lips and glistening eyes.

"Oh, yes," said the man in hollow tones. "Oh, yes, and sold all my stock in the Midland, and hypothecated what I had in the brickworks.

"And was it enough?" she asked trembling with eagerness. "Was it enough?"

"Not quite," he growled, and then as he saw the ghastly pallor of deathly disappointment spread over her face, he added, "but the milliner let me have it on ninety days' time for the balance at 8 per cent."

"And you've brought my new hat home, then?" she carolled joyously. "Oh, Philip, you dear old duck!"

"Well, no; not all of it," he said. "I brought the plume and one of the bows down with me in the express, but the hat itself is coming down from Toronto on a flat-car.—Swis.

A man was tried for stealing a pair of trowsers. The efforts of his counsel secured his acquittal, but he still lingered in the court room after his case had been disposed of. "Well, why don't you go?" asked the lawyer, "you are discharged." "That's all right," was the reply. "But I can't go yet." "Why not?" "Well, those witnesses there." "What of them?" asked the lawyer. "Why, about the trowsers, you know," said the man. "What the deuce do you mean? What about the trowsers?" "Why, you know I've—" "Well, what?" "Why, I've got them on," was the reply.

EFFECT OF STABLE AIR ON MILK.

The effect of stable air on milk is no exceptional case. It is in perfect accordance with the general effect of the inhalation of every other odor, and is an effect which may be avoided. There is no necessity for it. There is more difficulty, it is true, in curing for the stables of cows than of horses, owing to the peculiar nature of their offal and the greater quantity of urine, it being estimated thirteen times that of horses. But it can be got out of the way with. There is no good excuse for leaving it under them, or behind them, or any where within the stable, so that its fumes, or the malarious exhalations from its fermentation, can reach the cows. By having the manure frequently removed, and keeping the scant down with absorbents, some means like that described in another place being used for keeping what little scent there may be away from the cow's heads, as sweet and pure milk can be made in winter as can be got at any time in the year from the same material. Stagnant and impure water which cows drink while at pasture is one of the most prominent causes of bad odors in milk.

Use Of Celery.

Celery has two uses: one medicinal, the other as a luxurious article of diet. It usually accompanies roasted poultry, and its crispy stalks are certainly delicious, but it is usually costly in winter. So for economy's sake it is well to save every shred of celery which comes in the bunch, the middle, light-colored, crispy and tender parts to place in the celery glass; the bits of roots to dry; they can be grated into soups, and are excellent for flavoring, and the green tips tied into a bunch are very good to flavor soups with also. Celery can be cooked by cutting it into short bits, and boiling it in a little water until tender. When quite soft add a little milk, flavor with salt and butter, heat quickly and serve. Cooked in this way it is largely eaten by persons who have any kidney difficulty. In fact one of the principal ingredients in almost all of the advertised so-called "kidney cures" is celery. It is quite well to eat it in any case of kidney disease cooked in this manner, thus getting the benefit of it in a palatable and wholesome shape.

WEATHER WISDOM.

Under the title of "Old Probabilities" one of the most useful and valuable officers of the United States Government is most widely known. But quite as well is Prof. J. H. Tice, the meteorologist of the Mississippi Valley, whose contributions to his favorite study have given him an almost national reputation. On a recent lecture tour through the Northwest, the Professor had a narrow escape from the serious consequences of a sudden and very dangerous illness, the particulars of which he thus refers to: "The day after concluding my course of lectures at Burlington, Iowa, on the 21st of December last, I was seized with a sudden attack of neuralgia in the chest, giving me excruciating pain and almost preventing breathing; my pulse, usually 80, fell to 35; intense nausea of the stomach succeeded and a cold, clammy sweat covered my entire body. The attending physician could do nothing to relieve me. After suffering three hours I thought—as I had been using St. Jacobs Oil for good effect for rheumatic pains—I would try it. I saturated a piece of flannel large enough to cover my chest, with Oil, and applied it. The relief was almost instantaneous. In one hour I was entirely free from pain, and would have taken the train to fill an appointment that night in a neighboring town had my friends not dissuaded me. As it was, I took the night train for my home, in St. Louis, and have not been troubled since."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WHY PRINTERS ARE CYNICAL.

The other day I stood within the composing-room of a great daily newspaper. There was nothing to delight the eye—no pictures, statues, or sumptuous furniture. Serious-looking men were standing before their cases so fixedly that nothing less than the falling of the roof would have distracted their attention. Scarcely a sound was audible but the faint click of type falling into place. I never before realised so forcibly the cause why newspaper printers are, as it is said, naturally cynical. To-day they set up the type that tells the words of rejoicings and festivity, to-morrow the same is made to proclaim disaster and mourning; the same type which carries to 10,000 homes the inaugural message of the ruler of 50,000,000 of people has not time to lose its sharpness by use before it is employed to report the funeral oration in the Capitol in the memory of the same man. The momentary contraction of the forefinger of a despicable wretch levels exalted hopes and robes the whole civilised world in sable. If there be a spot on earth where the instability of human affairs is epitomised hourly, it is in the composing room of a daily newspaper.

SICKNESS AMONG FARMERS.—There is undoubtedly as much sickness among farmers and their families as among any class of people. We would hardly expect this, with their advantages of fresh air and good food, rarely obtained in a large city. Why are they sick? What are the causes? Among others a physican gives the following: 1. Farmers, as a rule, resume their labours too soon after meals. 2. Farmers generally do not pay enough attention to bathing. 3. Kitchen and other drainage is often disposed too near the house. 4. Unclean cellars and untrapped cellar-drains are often sources of disease in the farmer's family. 5. There is a disposition on the part of some farmers to plant too many trees around the house. 6. The location of a dwelling on a malarious site is often the cause of periodical fevers.

One of our prominent attorneys who is at the same time one of the leading fishermen of the valley, claims that the weather invariably repeats itself, and gives the following as the result of his observations, viz.:

All years ending in 9, 0 or 1 are extremely dry.

Those ending in 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 are extremely wet.

Those ending in 7 and 8 are ordinarily well balanced.

Those ending in 6 have extremely cold winters.

Those ending in 2 have an early spring.

Those ending in 1 have a late spring.

Those ending in 3 and 4 are subject to great floods.—Lebanon Times.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR acts is entirely new. It does not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separating it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the part, and at once effects a radical cure, without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet sceptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others.

VARIETIES.

A book with a loose leaf should be bound over to keep the piece.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM cures coughs, colds, asthma, croup, whooping cough, sore throat, bronchitis and all lung complaints that lead to consumption. Price, 25 cents. 13-2t

"Wine is a mocker," quoted an old toper, as he drank his fifteenth glass of the native article, and still remained as sober as a judge.

A trial of "Kaiser" Machine Oil will convince you that it is the best oil in the market. Sold by dealers. Manufactured by Clarke & Huggart, Woodstock, Ont. 5-26t

N. McRae, Wyebridge, writes:—"I have sold large quantities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; it is used for colds, sore throat, croup, &c., and in fact for any affection of the throat it works like magic. It is a sure cure for burns, wounds, and bruises."

"How did you sleep last night, Mike?" "Like a top, faith." "That was good." "Was it bedad? I was turnin' and turnin' round all night 'av that's good, I dunno."

HAVE HOPE.—Before you despair of curing a troublesome cough just verging on consumption, try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, it has cured others, why may it not cure you? All dealers sell it. 13-2t

"You may just pack up and get," said Bengough to a newly engaged contributor. "You're no good. Consider yourself bounced." And the young man sneaked away with his little grip-sack.

"Kaiser" Machine Oil is the standard for quality, warranted not to clog or gum. Ask your dealer for it. Manufactured by Clarke & Huggart, Woodstock, Ont. 5-26t.

The Chinese invented printing, the mariner's compass, gunpowder, &c., but the invention of Steel Pens was left to the nineteenth century. Esterbrook's Falcon, No. 048, being a universal favorite.

In the street car. Blond—"They say Carrie is engaged." Brunette—"Engaged! Why she was married a month ago, and has just sued for a divorce. Blonde—"How romantic! Isn't it splendid?"

SORE THROAT.—Apply Hagyard's Yellow Oil and take inwardly according to directions. Yellow Oil is the best remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Bruises, Burns, Frost Bites and all lameness, inflammation and pain. No household should be without it 13-2t

"My brodders," said a waggish colored man to a crowd, "in all infliction, in all ob your troubles dar is one place you can always find sympathy." "Whar? whar?" shouted several. "In de dictionary," he replied, rolling his eyes skyward.

A CURE FOR CROUP.—Apply flannel saturated with Hagyard's Yellow Oil and administer the Oil internally on a little sugar, as directed on the bottle. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Lameness, and flesh wounds. All dealers supply it, price 25 cts. 13-2t

Here's a positive fact that occurred in one of the public schools in this town recently. A small boy was asked to name some part of his own body. He thought a moment and then replied:—"Bowels, which are five in number—a, e, i, o, and u, and sometimes w and y."

INGENIOUS INVENTION.—Some shrewd Yankee has invented a key that will wind any watch; it is a neat attachment to a charm, and it is said to work like a charm. So does that grand Key to Health—Burdock Blood Bitters, the greatest discovery of the age. It unlocks all the secretions, and cleans and invigorates the entire system. Sample bottle, 10 cents; large size, $1, of all medicine dealers. 13-2t

Many thousands of people yearly are saved from dangerous fevers by the exercise of a little timely care in the matter of properly cleansing the system in the spring season, from the accumulated impurities. Ayers Sarsaparilla acts directly and promptly. A single bottle will prove its merits.

A Deadwood man saw another reach for his hip-pocket, thought the fellow meant to draw a revolver on him, and so shot him dead. Then he found that the man was about to draw a flask to treat him, and much regretted his hasty act; but he remarked that the last wishes of the deceased should be carried out, and took a drink from the flask. Such a touching example of respect for the last wishes of the dead is seldom seen.

WHO'S THE BEST PHYSICIAN.—The one that does most to relieve suffering humanity of the thousand and one ills that befall them, is certainly the best of all physicians. Electric Bitters are daily doing this, curing where all other remedies failed. As a spring tonic and blood purifier they have no equal. They positively cure liver and kidney complaints. In the strongest sense of the term, they are the best and cheapest physician known.—Daily Times. Sold by Taylor & McDonald at 50 cents.

IT IS WELL KNOWN to careful observers that the injudicious use of strychnine is as michievous in many of its ultimate effect as whiskey and opium. By protracted overstimulation of the nerve centres organic changes are induced which arrest the nutrition of the ganglia and excite a morbid irritability that becomes chronic and may be transmitted to offspring. Where increased functional activity is wanted WHEELER'S Phosphates and Calisaya supplies the elements of nerve nutrition.

THE ELEMENTS OF BONE, BRAIN AND MUSCLE, are derived from the blood, which is the grand natural source of vital energy, the motor of the bodily organs. When the circulation becomes impoverished in consequence of weak digestion and imperfect assimilation of the food, which should enrich it, every bodily function flags and the system grows feeble and disordered. When the blood becomes impure either from the development of inherited seeds of disease, its contamination by bile, or other causes, serious maladies surely follow. A highly accredited remedy for these evils is NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which eradicates impurities of the blood and fertilizes it by promoting digestion and assimilation. Moreover, this fine alterative and stomachic exerts a specific action upon the liver, healthfully stimulating that organ to a performance of its secretive duty when inactive, and expelling bile from the blood. It likewise possesses diuretic and depurient properties of a high order, rendering the kidneys active and healthy, and expelling from the system the acrid elements which produce rheumatic pains. Price $1.00. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN On the Loss of MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Munro & Alexander

Local News Record.

IT IS now in order for the rural correspondent to commence with his big egg items, with about fifty million "we's" in each paragraph. Drive ahead.

THE distinguished odors on George street these moonlight nights at about 9 o'clock, are hair oil, bad cigar smoke, patchouli and slang.

WAGES RAISED.—A deputation of section foremen of the Midland railway waited on Mr. Geo. A. Cox on Friday last, requesting an increase of ten per cent on their wages, which was granted.

IN ANOTHER column will be found a very interesting communication from a resident in Winnipeg. It contains a great deal of information about the place, and should be read by all, especially those intending to go west.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 48-tf.

MARKET TOLLS.—The market tolls for the year ending March 31st. 1883, have been let to Mr. John Doharty, who has had charge of the market for the past three years, for $750, or $350 less than last year.

RUNAWAY.—On Thursday last, a horse attached to a wagon took fright at a sheet of paper that was blown along the sidewalk in front of Ames' store, and started off in an immense hurry, snapping off a hitching post in his haste, and finally bringing up about a block away.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic of the Midland Railway for the week ending March 25th 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and Mails, $7,375.33; Freight, $12,868.05, Total, $20,233.38 as compared with $17,351.70 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an Increase of $2,881.68; and the aggregate traffic to date is $171,577.19, being an Increase of $59,110.59 over 1881.

YEAST.—Mr. G. C. Rogers has been appointed agent for Gaff, Fleischman & Co's Compressed Yeast, and will receive it at his mills, Ashburnham, fresh from the factory, every Tuesday morning. It will be given to anyone on trial and delivered to customers regularly every week. Read the advertisement in another column.

GOING AHEAD.—The Port Hope News announces the introduction into its establishment of an Otto Silent Gas engine, a fact which cannot but be looked upon as satisfactory evidence of the prosperity of the News, and of the perseverance, energy and pluck of its proprietor, three qualities which are bound, sooner or later, to advance their possessor in the world, and which are possessed in an eminent degree by the Port Hope News.

ANSWER TO CORRESPONDENT.—"Spoopendyke" writes as follows;—"Can you tell me the meaning of the word—an Indian one I presume—Winnipegoosis? There is a lake of that name in Manitoba." Certainly Spoop. Endowed with a prophetic turn of mind the baptiser of the lake mentioned called it Winnipegooses in honor of those whom he foresaw would get badly bitten at Winnipeg. There is a good many of these, but they keep mighty quiet about their being sold.

SCIENTIFIC.—Scientists assert that the rushing sound, heard when a person puts his finger into his ear, is caused by the blood circulating through the finger. When the ears are stopped with cotton or wool a similar noise is heard. Is it caused by the sap that at one time circulated through the plant and continues to do so in the cotton, or in the case of wool, by the careering of the sanguineous fluid through the veins of the departed ovine? Tell us not in mournful numbers, but speak one at a time, please.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A musical and literary entertainment will be given in aid of the Baptist Church Sunday School Library Fund, in the Baptist Church on Friday evening the 14th of April. The programme is an excellent one and a large attendance will no doubt award the committee who have the entertainment in hand. The Baptists so very seldom offer anything of the kind to the public, and as the proceeds are in aid of a worthy object a full house may be reasonably expected.

EXAGGERATED PEDESTALS.—The Lindsay Post feels hurt about something a Peterborough party had said respecting the muddiness of the streets of the former place, and says:—

"The streets in the South Ward of Peterborough are so wet seven months in the year that the citizens living in that part of the borough are actually becoming web-footed."

Web-footed, eh? Listen to this:

Mr. Postman: Two Port Hope citizens were speaking about a certain sickly Lindsayite: "Poor fellow," said one, "he's got one foot in the grave." "Ah! that's about all they could get in without enlarging the cemetery, I suppose," said the other, and the man spoken of was considered to have rather a little foot for a Lindsayite.

VETERINARY.—We are requested to state that Messrs. Crevier and Paquin, members of the Montreal Veterinary Association, will in a few weeks commence the practice of their profession in Peterborough.

WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement in another column of the sixth annual meeting of the above Society, and the interesting services in connection therewith.

BACHELOR'S BALL.—The bachelors of Peterborough have issued invitations for a ball to be held at "The Oriental" on Monday evening next, 10th instant. The names of the stewards are sufficient guarantee that the affair will be au fait.

HOME MISSION.—The summer Home Mission appointment of the Presbyterian Church for this district is as follows:—Peterborough—Thos. Davidson; Lindsay—John Carry, D. Bickle, J. B. McLaren, J. L. Hargrave, Jas. Ballantyne.

MR. MILLAR'S ENTERTAINMENT.—The benefit entertainment to Mr. Finch Millar, last Thursday evening, in the Orange Hall was largely attended, and the excellent programme offered, carried out very satisfactory to the audience, as well as creditably to those taking part.

TEMPLE ENTERTAINMENT.—An entertainment under the auspices of Friendship Temple, No. 148, I. O. G. T., will be held in the Temperance Hall, over Long Bros. store, on Thursday evening, 13th instant, when an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music, readings, &c., will be given. Proceeds in aid of funds for furnishing the hall. Admission 10 cents.

THE A. B. C. PATHFINDER and Railway Guide for April, has been received. From the amount of valuable information given, it must prove of great benefit to travellers, as the time tables and connections of the different railway and steamboat lines in the United States and Canada are given. It is published by the New England Railway Publishing Co'y of Boston.

RESUMED.—By particular request the entertainments under the auspices of St Lukes' Parochial Association are to be carried on for a few weeks after Easter. The next one will be held in the Schoolroom, on Thursday evening next, the 13th of April, at 7.30. The admission for these popular entertainments is still retained at five cents. The public are cordially invited to come again, as the programme will be as good as ever.

THE TOWNSEND FAMILY.—Mr. Harry Townsend and part of his family appeared at the Opera House on March 30th to very fair business. That Mr. Townsend is a good actor, no one can deny, and both he and Mrs. Townsend acquitted themselves admirably, but their support was poor, weak and amateurish. The farce "Deaf as a Post" was good as far as it went, but was sadly marred by only half of the characters necessary being on the boards.

HEIRS WANTED.—The individual whose name is given below, or his legal representatives, may hear of something to his or their advantage, by applying to the publishers of Gun's List of Next of Kin, in which the advertisement appears. These lists are supposed to be made up of people who have had money left to them in Great Britain or Ireland, and whose heirs cannot be found. In that list we find this name:—SLYFIELD JOHN ROUND, (otherwise John Round,) of Peterborough, Ont., Canada, about 1876.

FOR THE NORTH-WEST.—Almost every day more or less residents of the town and county leave for the goal of many bright expectations—the great North-West. On Tuesday evening, Messrs. T. Billington, S. Jameson, W. Brown, R. Adams, J. Rae, H. Brenton and others took their departure. A large number assembled at the station to bid them good bye. On the same day, one of the largest emigrant parties that has ever left a single locality in Ontario, left Millbrook for what is known as the Sowden Colony, in the neighborhood of Brandon.

LACROSSE.—The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held at the Oriental on Monday evening last, at which there was a very large attendance. After reading the minutes of the last meeting, the Secretary-Treasurer's report was read and adopted. The report was highly satisfactory, and the club commence the season of 1882 with a respectable cash balance on hand. Some twenty-five new members were proposed, balloted for and accepted. While several of last year's prominent players are lost this season to the club, through removal from town, yet we believe the "Peterboroughs" will be able to maintain their former reputation, as they have plenty of material yet remaining from which to select a team. After routine business the following were elected officers for the current year:—

Hon. President.....R. A. Morrow
President (re-elected).....H. Lebrun
1st Vice President.....Alex. Elliott
2nd Vice President.....John Hackett
Sec'y-Treas. (re-elected)..W. J. Morrow
Captain (re-elected)....W. A. Sanderson
COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.—W. Redkins, C. Rutherford and M. McDonald.

THE CARWORKS BY-LAW.

The necessary number to carry the By-law is 328. It will be seen there were 64 more votes polled than were required to carry the By-law.

Mr. T. B. Tate has left Peterborough for Midland where he has been appointed Station Master in the place of Mr. H. Nicholls, who, we understand, leaves for the Domains of Uncle Sam. Mr. Tate has been more or less connected with the Midland R. R. for years and is deserving of the confidence the management repose in him.

O. & Q. R. R.—The Norwood Register says:—"Quite a number of the surveyors engaged on the survey of the Ontario & Quebec Railway between Peterborough and this village, reached here on Wednesday evening of last week. It is stated that as soon as the survey is completed work will be commenced on the road in earnest."

RAILWAY MATTERS.

Mr. A. White is in Chicago on business in connection with the Midland Railway.

Messrs. Bazaalgette and Hilliard, M. P's., were in town on Monday.

Mr. Thos. Kelso, late of the G.J.R., was in town on Monday.

The acting Engineer of the Midland, Mr. Thos. Hay, was at Lindsay on Thursday, laying out the curve to connect the Whitby and Midland lines at the Junction.

At a meeting of the old Board of directors of the Grand Junction Railway, held on Saturday last, Mr. W. H. Biggar was appointed Solicitor to wind up the business of the old company, and Mr. E. Donald was appointed Secretary.

We had the pleasure of a call on Tuesday from Col. Deacon of Lindsay, who has been offered and has, we believe, accepted the position of travelling auditor for the Midland Railway of Canada.

A special engine with the Director's coach was in town on Friday last, having on board Messrs. H. S. Howland, President of the Imperial Bank, Toronto; T. Gilford Smith and George Beales, of the Union Iron Company, Buffalo, New York; N. Lillienberg, Metallurgist, New York, and W. Hamilton Merritt. Mining Engineer, Toronto, and Mr. R. Jaffray of Toronto. The party had been on a tour of inspection to the Snowden Iron Mine District.

The Guardian says that on Tuesday a new car arrived in Uxbridge from the car works at Cobourg, intended for through passage from Toronto to Midland City. It is a fine car, but, in our estimation the one built by Mr. Caron, at the Uxbridge car works is a much superior one, and will far outlast the Cobourg car. When completed the new train for Mr. Conductor Mitchell will be long and have a gay appearance, everything being newly painted—except the train hands.

The new coach and baggage express car to be used on the run between Lindsay and Toronto arrived at the Midland station on the 29th of March, and commenced running on the following Saturday. They are a bright yellow, with handsomely stincilled decorations outside, and very firmly upholstered and silverplated within. The automatic air brake is attached to supplement the ordinary brakes, and the trucks are of the most approved construction, with much larger wheels than those of the ordinary pattern.

PERSONAL.

Lewis Ross, Esq., of Port Hope, was in town on Tuesday last.

Dr. Arthur Allen, formerly a student of Dr. Kincaid, is in town visiting his friends.

Mr. J. W. Jenkins, of Peterboro', has been appointed express manager on the Canada Pacific R. R., between Brandon and Winnipeg.

The Winnipeg Times says:—The Rev. T. W. Jeffery, of Cobourg, Ont., has accepted a call from Zion Church, here, subject to approval of conference.

We are pleased to be able to announce that the Rev. Mr. Workman, who has been seriously ill for some time past is now in a fair way of recovery. Although it will be some time before he will be entirely convalescent.

THE NAPANEE MURDER.

On the 28th of March, a young girl named Maggie Howie employed at the Tichborne House, Napanee was struck on the head with an axe in the hands of Michael Lee, a young man who was employed at the same place and who professed to be her lover, and instantly killed. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause of the horrible deed. Lee was arrested and lodged in jail. The jury at the coroner's inquest returned a verdict of wilful murder against Lee.

The Hough murder trial at Guelph in which Thomas Kenny was charged with the murder of Mrs Hough on the 11th of January last, resulted in a verdict of manslaughter against the prisoner, who was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, April 5th, 1882.

Receipts of grain are not heavy, but are fair for the time of year. All grain continues to keep firm and advancing—spring selling freely at $1.27 to $1.28; offerings light. Fall wheat, $1.24 to $1.25; Arnecta $1.10 to $1.11. In barley there has been quite a spurt. In a few cases 68c was paid for extra bright, but as this was above its value, 65c to 66c may be taken as nearer the price, with poorer grades selling from 76c to 80c. Peas continue firm, although few offering, selling from 75c to 76c. Oats in light supply, selling from 40c to 41c. Rye, little offering, worth 72c to 75c. On the market things are quiet. Fresh butter has been in demand, 22c to 25c, not enough offering to supply demand. Eggs are firmer and scarce, selling from 12c to 14c. A good many potatoes have been offering, but the price has been maintained at 90c, with more asked and not obtained. Pork is still offering in the hog and by the quarter, selling by the quarter at 8c to 10c. Pork by the barrel worth from $17 to $20. A few barrels offering. Maple molasses selling at $1.20 per gallon. Other commodities unchanged.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THAT SURVEY.

The western surveying party of the Ontario & Quebec Railway have almost concluded their labors having about completed the survey of the line intersecting that made by the party coming from the East. The "bluff game" played by the Toronto & Ottawa Company apparently gave no trouble whatever to the former, further than causing a little deviation southwards of this line a few miles east of Norwood, but which makes very little difference to the direction of the route. The much talked of amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railway companies has rather unsettled the minds of our people, and revived the old complaint, "No Railway this way;" but the explicit statement made by Mr. Osler, President of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, that the road will be built within two years, no matter what may result from the negotiations of the other roads, will unquestionably convince the railway skeptics in our village, that the Ontario and Quebec Railway company, knowing that the construction of this road is a stern public necessity, is fully determined to allow no monopolies or rival companies to thwart the consummation of this great work.

THE FALL WHEAT.

The farmers generally in this community agree in the excellent condition of the fall wheat, notwithstanding the fact that it has passed through a most trying winter. The recent falls of snow and mild rain have done much to preserve both the roots and tender blades of the cereal, and at present the indications are that the fall wheat is in a healthy condition.

HOTEL LEASE.

Mr. Mack McGregor, of Peterboro', has, after considerable negotiations leased the fine Hotel belonging to Mr. Hugh Beckett, in Norwood, for a term of years, at $400 per annum. Mr. Beckett has for some time back received numerous liberal offers for the lease or purchase of this hotel, but being very desirous of having, as his successor a man possessing such qualities as will conduct the duties of "mine host" as it should be done, he has kept from finally closing with any person till he found that, in the person of Mr. McGregor, the business would fall into the right hands. He has had considerable experience in the hotel line and will not only retain the former patronage to this Hotel, but will succeed in increasing it.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SURGICAL.

Mr. A. Nichols, of Smith, who a couple of weeks ago met with an accident to his hand while attending his sawing machine, had to lose his thumb this week. His medical attendant, finding it impossible to save the injured member, (the injury being too great to hope for future usefullness) decided to remove it at the wrist, which was done; and now Mr. N. expects to be able to take his share of the spring work on the farm.

THE OLD TROUBLE.

The Government officials paid us a visit last week to inspect the famous "Lakefield Dam." We understand that our Local Government have notified Mr. Strickland that they will hold them free from all claim of damage, in allowing the dam to remain as at present until such time, as the questions will be decided by arbitrators or otherwise. Consequently the water will remain as usual, but the question is still unsettled.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ashburnham Council took place at the Town Hall on Wednesday evening.

Present, Mr. John Burnham, M. P., Reeve, in the chair, and Councillors Calcutt, Rogers, Wand and Mowry.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From John Ludgate and others asking for a sidewalk from the Norwood road to the Smith street bridge.—Received.

From T. O'Connell asking for a sidewalk from Elizabeth street on Concession street.—Received.

From John Erskine, for the McFarlane estate, complaining that property was overflowed and damaged by a defective culvert and threatening legal proceedings unless the difficulty was remedied.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.

T. Menzies $4.62
Lewis Glover 2.00

On motion of Councillor Rogers seconded by Councillor Calcutt the accounts were ordered to be payed.

AIDING THE INSTITUTE.

The Reeve stated that he had been called on by a deputation of the Peterboro' Board of Education in reference to aiding the Collegiate Institute, the same as had been done last year. Last year $150 had been granted but he thought $125 would be sufficient.

Councillor Calcutt asked if there were many pupils from the village and if they were admitted on the same terms as those from town.

The Reeve stated that quite a large number of Ashburnham pupils attended the Institute and Public Schools, and the pupils were regarded the same as if they came from town. No fault had been found with the grant last year

Moved by Councillor Calcutt, seconded by Councillor Mowry.—That a grant of $125 be made to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, for the current year, provided pupils from Ashburnham be admitted thereto on the same terms as Peterboro' pupils.—Carried.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Moved by councillor Rogers, seconded by Councillor Mowry—that Fred. Fisher's taxes be remitted as he is an indigent, and unable to earn money to pay them.

The street inspector was instructed to clean the streets as soon as possible.

The meeting then adjourned.

Dr. Holland once said that "the greatest blessing that a young man could enjoy is poverty." Still it is one of those blessings that brighten as they take their flight.

The most absent-minded man was not the man who hunted for his pipe when it was between his teeth, nor the man who threw his hat out of the window and tried to hang his cigar on a peg; no! but the man who put his umbrella to bed and went and stood behind the door.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

REPORTS OF THE EASTER MEETINGS.

The annual congregational meetings for the transaction of public business in connection with the anglican church take place on Easter Monday throughout the Dominion. At these gatherings reports are presented from the various officials bristling with interesting information and the officers are appointed for the ensuing twelve months. We have gleaned the following facts about meetings held in the town and vicinity on Monday last and herewith present them to our readers:

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The Easter Vestry meeting of St. John's Church, Peterborough, was held in the school room on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. The Rector, Rev. J. W. R. Beck, occupied the chair, and Mr. F. Bell acted as Secretary. A fair attendance of members of the congregation was present. Dr. G. Burnham, A. P. Poussette and R. J. Toker were elected lay delegates to the Synod. The Churchwarden's financial statement was read, and was referred to the auditors, Messrs. Sherwood and N. D. Beck.

Mr. Poussette was elected peoples Churchwarden, and the Rector appointed Mr. Eastland as his. The meeting then adjourned for two weeks to receive the auditors report.

ST. LUKE'S ASHBURNHAM.

The annual vestry meeting of this church took place in the school room on the 10th instant at 7.30 p.m. A goodly number of representations of the congregation met, and the chair was taken by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Incumbent, at the appointed hour. The proceedings were opened with prayer after which the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. R. A. Peck was appointed vestry clerk.

A report was presented from the churchwardens—Messrs. J. Burnham and H. T. Strickland which was subsequently adopted. Among other things it showed that the Sunday collections had considerably increased, the average for the last quarter being $21.37 and for the year $21.06, as against $16.50 in 1878. The report showed a surplus on hand of $80.75 besides a considerable sum due from envelopes in arrear. The total receipts on the current account of the church for the last twelve months were $1516.24 for the Parsonage Fund $1434.45, making the amount received for both Church and Parsonage Fund, during the year, $2950.69.

The Incumbent presented his annual Easter address which was ordered to be printed and circulated among the members of the congregation. Among other interesting particulars this report gave striking evidence of the growth of the Church. It stated that the number of Communicants on Easter Day in 1877 was 73; in 1878, 97; in 1879, 100; in 1880, 120; in 1881, 124; and in 1882, 148, being an increase of over one hundred per cent in 5 years. Mr. Bradshaw also informed the meeting that his official acts during the year were as follows. He had held from 18th of April 1881, 392 services, baptized 55 persons, celebrated Holy Communion on 52 occasions, paid 625 pastoral visits, delivered 208 sermons and lectures, married 11 couples and ministered at the graves of 14 persons, He closed his report by thanking the congregation for their hearty co-operation with him in the past and besought their sympathy and generous aid in future.

Mr. H. T. Strickland was re-elected peoples' Churchwarden, and the Incumbent nominated Mr. John Burnham as Warden for the seventh time.

Messrs. H. O. Canning and E. A. Peck, auditors testified to the correctness of the accounts.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rogers' family and to Mrs. C. B. Orde for their gifts of two memorial windows erected at Christmas; to the Church Wardens for their able management of the finances; to the Parochial Association for their large contributions to the parsonage fund, and to the choir and organist.

Messrs. G. C. Rogers, H. H. Smith, W. J. Hallett, J. Butcher and W. Crebbin were appointed as the music committee, and were instructed to take steps for holding another organ recital.

Moved by John Burnham, Esq., seconded by Dr. H. C. Burritt,—That the sum of seventy-five dollars be paid out of the surplus fund to the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, in recognition of his having devoted his services exclusively to St. Luke's Church during the past year.—Carried.

Messrs. H. C. Rogers and H. O. Canning were re-elected assistant Churchwardens, and Messrs. Chrowe, A. Ingram and J. Heap were appointed sidesmen.

Steps were taken to reduce the parsonage debt, and subscriptions amounting to $240 were promised at the meeting.

Messrs. H. C. Burritt, M. D., and G. C. Rogers were subsequently elected lay delegates to Synod.

The meeting adjourned at 10.20 p.m., after prayer and the benediction.

ST. MARK'S OTONABEE.

A vestry meeting was held at St. Mark's church on Monday last at 2.30 p.m. Very little interest was manifested in the proceedings, the attendance being much smaller than usual. The total receipts of the church from all sources for the year ending April the 9th, 1882, amounted to $242.11 of which about $45 were for Synod purposes, mission funds, etc., and $31 for church furnishings. The average attendance at the Bible class for the quarter ending 1st April was 24. Messrs. A. Taylor and R. Dickson acted as auditors and certified to the correctness of the accounts. Mr. M. Graystock was appointed Churchwarden, and the same gentleman was, at a subsequent meeting appointed lay delegate to Synod.

AQUATIC.

TWO MORE VICTORIES AND THEN "QUITS."

NEWCASTLE, March 6.—Hanlan states that if he wins his matches with Trickett and Ross he will retire from aquatics.

Hanlan's victory over Boyd on the Tyne was so complete as to destroy much of the interests in his coming match with Trickett on the Thames. Yet the Australian has the same chance that Boyd had, namely, that of catching Hanlan by accident on a day when he is not quite himself. This lack of condition happened to Hanlan on the Seekonk, and of course may happen again. It is a small margin on which to put up money, but it is about all there is for anybody outside of Canada.—N. Y. Sun.

The Bobcaygeon village council gives public notice that on or before the 10th of April next all dogs owned in the municipality must be decorated with tags or they will be liable to be killed according to law.

John Ford, wife and family of five, together with a son of David McKague's and Wm. Hamilton, better known as "Billie," left Omemee for Manitoba on last Tuesday. They took a carload of supplies with them.

Thomas Myers, Bracebridge, writes:—"Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best medicine I sell. It always gives satisfaction, and in cases of coughs, colds, sore throat, &c., immediate relief has been received by those who use it."

Two old residents of Seymour passed away from this life last week. Mrs. William Clark, aged 72 years and 11 month, and Mrs. William Nolan, in the 64th year of her age. Both the departed ones were loved and esteemed by a large circle of relatives and friends.

The jury in the Morton forgery case, at Belleville, brought in a verdict of guilty with a strong recommendation to mercy. The judge had charged strongly against the prisoner, and the verdict was a general surprise. Morton was admitted to bail on his own recognisances of $500 to appear for sentence when called upon.

A meeting of the Trenton Lacrosse Club was held on the evening of the 5th for the purpose of re-organising, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—George Graham, of Trent Valley, advocate, President; H. H. Hawley, Vice-President; C. W. Thompson, Secretary; C. Boulter, Treasurer; C. L. Hawley, Captain; A. MacAuley, A. J. M. Lovelace and F. Richardson, a committee of management.

The Bobcaygeon Independent's correspondent at Kinmount says:—We are only just beginning to realize the full extent of the disaster we sustained by the great fire of last week. The fire Inspector has been here, and with him was Mr. J. T. Robinson, of Bobcaygeon, and they estimated the value of the goods saved from Mr. Graham's store. Mr. Graham's loss will be very heavy, and great sympathy is extended to him. He will lose near upon $2,000. Mr. Graham is our most valued citizen, and we are fearful that this loss may result in his resigning business in our village. It seems very doubtful whether the destroyed building will be rebuilt.

The sad news reached Mount Pleasant about a week ago that Henry Porter, a boy about fifteen years of age, who left this place last spring for Dakota, was frozen to death on the 4th ult., in a blizzard and was not found till the 12th ult. It seems that he left his home to go on a journey of twenty-four miles with a yoke of oxen, on the 4th ult., and when he was about half way on his journey he called at a small place to get something to eat. It being about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and commencing to storm pretty hard, the people of the place endeavoured to prevail on him to stop where he was, but he would not, saying that he would go through to the end of his journey that night, but he never reached it, being overcome by the blizzard. He perished about two miles from his destination.

Mr. W. Eyres, of Mariposa, is going into farming extensively in Dakota, says the Cannington Gleaner. He has recently purchased 800 acres in that territory, and his son has 640 more. Mr. Eyres intends seeding this season 400 acres, and his son 200, making between them 600 acres in crop. For seed they have purchased 700 bushels of spring wheat, paying for the same $1.35 per bushel for 400 bushels, and $1.10 per bushel for 300 bushels, the above figures being the market price there at the time it was bought. The land is situated near Casselton, on the Northern Pacific Railway, and 275 miles from St. Paul. There are two or three other railways running to or near Castleton, making a keen competition in the markets, which is a great benefit to the farmers of that section. Mr. Eyres has recently been over there, taking a carload of goods for the farm. He says the emigration to Manitoba is almost beyond conception, and all the railway lines are crowded with passengers and freight bound for the far west.

Mr. P. Kellen and Mr. J. N. Telford have been appointed by the Council collector and treasurer respectively.

Owing to the efforts of Mr. J. N. Telford, the floating bridge is again passable. It has been the scene of several hair breadth escapes. Something should be done to make it more secure.

The probability that Sir John Macdonald will dissolve Parliament and have a general election early next summer is beyond question. This will afford the country a chance to rid itself of that destructive monster, the N. P.—destructive at least to the farmers who have gained and lost much by it. The golden days of Conservatism in this township have gone by—the days of bullyism, coercion and bribery, when a man who supported a Reform candidate dare not approach the poll unless protected by a revolver or some other weapon. But times have changed, thanks, among other things to the Liberals. When the next general election takes place the Tory candidate for West Peterborough will be astonished at how badly he was beaten in the Gore, notwithstanding the fact that he has still some faithful delegates here.

The Channel Tunnel.

The construction of a submarine tunnel between England and France has occupied the thoughts and energy of many scientific and practical men in both these countries for a long time past. Its realization is now one of the most warmly discussed problems of the day. Jumbo having been disposed of at last, there remains only this question of the tunnel—"to be or not to be," on which to expend both talk and time. There has been such an amount of work accomplished already that Sir Edward Watkin, the Chairman of the South-eastern railway, has organized several parties to inspect the works and report progress. The advantages and the drawbacks of such a stupendous undertaking are pointed out at present in almost every newspaper and magazine, and not a few timid souls among the bold English are startled at the thought of such a point d'appui for invading their "right little, tight little Island." It seems perfectly absurd that there should be such fears. Von Moltke says with truth he does not require the channel tunnel to get into England. The great general declares that he has five different plans for invading the island, but none for getting out of it. Instead of this projected tunnel affording a safe and ready means of access in case of war, it would prove to be the grave of any fool-hardy general or army that attempted to enter England by means of it. Worse than Pharoah's fate would their's be in such a case. Safe-guards against such expeditions could easily be devised, and efforts taken to render the English end of the tunnel perfectly impregnable. Besides is it not better to assume that international distrust and animosity would be greatly lessened, if not completely extinguished, by such means of intercourse between the French and English? There is a better safeguard than costly fortifications; a better security than munitions of war. One of the best means to procure these blessings—this "peace and good will towards men is to further all means that would tend to bring them closer together, to cultivate that unity, contentment, and good-fellowship, which generally flow from closer acquaintanceship.

Successive governments have, in a certain way and to a limited extent, sanctioned this proposed tunnel, which, if ever completed, will certainly be a triumph of engineering. Those in power may well be expected to consider the best interests of England from every standpoint. It appears the Government claim the bed of the sea for three miles below low water mark, and hold themselves free to use any power at their disposal that Parliament may direct, or national interests require as regards the tunnel. A commission of experts are now engaged by the Government to consider the whole question respecting this international tunnel, and on presentation of their report, doubtless, we will be better enabled to understand and pronounce upon the feasibility or advisability of its construction. At present we can see nothing to fear. The total distance across the English channel is 21 miles, and the English and French excavators have arranged to work simultaneously, so as to meet and shake hands half way from shore. The English end is to be at Shakespeare's cliff, near Dover, where a shaft a hundred and sixty feet deep has been sunk, and where operations are now in progress. The present tunnel, as far as constructed, is only about seven feet across, but it is to be doubled in size whenever required. The excavation is effected by means of a dix of iron, which is seven feet in diameter, and which cuts into the chalk at the rate of fifteen or sixteen yards in twenty-four hours. An underground tramway is employed to remove the excavations, and the same engine which cuts out the subway, supplies the workmen with fresh air. The tunnel is to be lined with cement made from the excavated material, and the spot where the work has been begun is said to be the only suitable place on the Straits where such a tunnel is practicable. As it will take many years to complete the work, England may, in the meantime keep cool and endeavour to possess her soul in patience.

Since writing the above a cablegram containing the somewhat strange announcement that the Board of Trade had given notice to the promoters to cease boring, has reached us, so that this great undertaking is not likely to be effected after all. Popular clamour and military squeamishness have doubtless contributed to this result, and caused Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues to order the stoppage of the project for the present. For our part we confess the objections made to the tunnel are much too farcial and ridiculous to have been so seriously entertained.

THE BOUNDARY AWARD.

A Plot Against Provincial Rights.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in discussing the boundary dispute, whereby Ontario is deprived of one hundred and twenty million dollars, through the action of the Dominion Government in refusing to ratify the award, which in all honesty they should have done, said, during the debate in the House, on Thursday night, that the fact that the Government had put forward one of its supporters to move a resolution on this subject, was an indication that it was regarded by the Government as a much more serious question than was pretended. There was something peculiarly fitting in putting forward a gentleman who was an alien by birth, by breeding, and by instinct, to move this resolution, and he trusted that no native-born Canadian could have been found to lead off in an attack on Provincial rights. The resolution sought directly to commit the House to a conflict with the Legislature of the largest Province in the Dominion, which had within a few weeks declared its purpose on this question. There were a few plain facts stripped of all technicalities, which would strike the minds of the electors. After the district had been for a long time under the jurisdiction of Ontario it was finally awarded to the Province by arbitration. What had the Government done in regard to this award? They had deliberately usurped the cession of that disputed territory, taking possession of the valuable timber property and land, which was awarded to Ontario, and had been for years in possession of Ontario, and all the while they refused to come to an amicable settlement with the Local Government. What would have been done had this case been that of the Province of Quebec? He had no doubt that within twenty-four hours of the usurpation of Quebec territory by the Government not one Quebec member of the Government would have remained in the Cabinet. He commended the Province of Quebec for the attitude which they had always maintained when their rights were being trenched upon, and only wished that Ontario was so fully alive to her interests. But there were limits to the patience of even that Province. He remembered when twenty years ago public feeling in Ontario was so roused at an attempt to deprive that Province of her just rights, that violence was imminent. It was in the highest degree in the interests of Confederation, that Provincial rights should be respected. The Province of Ontario asked only its bare legal rights. Was the House prepared, at the bidding of the member for Niagara, for he said he was not the mere mouthpiece of the Government in this case, to thus interfere with the rights of the Province? If the present Government did not wish to bear the onus of submitting this matter to arbitration, let them throw the responsibility upon the late Government; they were quite willing to bear it. But let them at the same time not prevent Ontario having the lands. If they wished let them allow Ontario to govern the lands, but appeal against the award. The Courts were open, and if there was anything wrong with the award it could be annulled. This proposition to allow the lands to be governed by a joint commission was a delusion and a snare. This rant of appealing to the generosity of Ontario was worth nothing. They had no right to depend upon the generosity of Ontario, and the people of that Province would be wrong if they tamely allowed themselves to be trampled on by this or any other power. As a mere matter of party policy he would urge hon. gentlemen opposite to vote for the course of action proposed. Then they would find whether or not they had miscalculated their position and the feeling of the people of Ontario as to the practical importance of the question involved. There was too much reason to fear the resistance of this award was but part of a plot, perhaps not thoroughly matured—a plot against Provincial rights. (Oh! oh! from the Government benches, and cheers.) It was well known that many of those who now stood high among the party in power had gone into Confederation very grudgingly. As one who had always favoured Confederation, he strongly urged upon the House that one of the main props of union was the thorough acknowledgement of Provincial rights, and this proposition as contravening that principle should not be adopted by the House.

Ontario, as limited by the contention of the Dominion Government, would contain only 100,000 square miles, or 64,000,000 acres; Ontario, as defined by the award of the arbitrators, would contain 197,000, or 126,000,000 acres. Senator Skead, in 1866, stated at the Detroit Trade Convention that there were 60,800 square miles of pine timber in the basins of Lakes Huron and Superior, a considerable portion of it being within the disputed territory.

SAVED FROM THE POORHOUSE.

For years David Allingsworth suffered with rheumatism, and notwithstanding the best medical attendance, could not find relief. He came to the Sciota County Poorhouse, and had to be carried into and out of bed on account of his helpless condition. After the failure of all the remedies which had been applied, the directors of the Poorhouse resolved to use the celebrated German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, and this was a fortunate resolution; for, with the trial of one bottle, the patient was already better, and when four bottles had been used upon him he could again walk about without the use of a cane. The facts, as above stated, will be verified by the editor of the Portsmouth (Ohio) Correspondent.

THE GENERAL ELECTIONS.

THE NEW YORK "HERALD" ON DOMINION AFFAIRS.

New York, April 4.—The Herald to-day quotes the Globe as authority for the statement that a Canadian general election will take place next June. It says Sir John Macdonald's course, it is believed, has alienated a large number of his supporters. The article concludes as follows:—"The popular opinion in the Dominion appears to be that the railway subsidy business has been overdone, and that protection has increased all the expenses of living without producing the great industrial development that was predicted for it. The emigration to the United States is as large as ever, wages have not improved, and the farmer and the day labourers are being bled to sustain a brood of infant industries, which, following the vicious example set on this side of the St. Lawrence, have been called into a sickly existence."

INDUSTRIES CRUSHED OR CHECKED.

Outspoken Opinions on the Tariff—A Marble Mill Crushed—Another Hamilton Industry Checked—The N. P. and Stoves—A Boiler and Engine, and Refrigerator Business Damaged—The tax on Breadstuffs. —A Stove Founder Injured.

Mr. Dennis Moore, of Moore, Robinson & Co., stove founders and manufacturers of tinware, Hamilton, said:—I am decidedly opposed to the present tariff. It has not, so far as I can perceive, benefitted the country in the least, and almost invariably where it has helped the manufacturers it has taken money out of the pockets of the people, and tended to create greater distinctions in wealth than are desirable for the general prosperity and happiness of the public. There is something radically wrong when manufacturers cannot compete with foreigners under a protection of say 17½ per cent., and industries which require more can evidently not be carried on to the advantage of the public in this country, and should be allowed to go to the wall instead of being bolstered up. That at any rate is a sound general principle. As to the good times, they have no connection with the N. P., and would have come from well-known natural causes, as fully and as certainly under the old tariff as under the new one, and the people generally would have been more benefitted by them. As to our own business it has suffered instead of having been benefitted by the tariff. Our protection has been increased from 17½ to 25 per cent., but it really has not given us more protection. We had our own markets under the old tariff, and under that tariff could hold the trade of the opening North-West. We can manufacture as cheap as the Americans, and the freight to Manitoba is not so much in favour of Chicago stove men as might be imagined from looking at the map. The freight from Chicago to Winnipeg is about five sixths as much as from here to Winnipeg. American competition has not troubled us, almost the only stoves that have come into our market having been fancy ones such as are not made here, and there have been but few even of these. They will be bought at times, notwithstanding the tariff, the same as Canadian manufactures are sometimes bought by Americans, in spite of the still higher American tariff. Our prices have risen but little, but our cost of production has advanced considerably in consequence of the duties. Coal and pig iron, once free, are now heavily taxtaxed. Sheet iron, bar iron, and various other materials have advanced in price by the amount of the duty. In fact nearly everything we buy, either at home or abroad pays the whole, or nearly the whole amount of the new taxes to either the Government or the manufacturer. We use a small per centage of Londonderry iron. I do not know that the iron comes into competition with the Scotch for stove purposes. We would get it anyway, though at a lower price, were it not for the duty on the Scotch. There is a Rochester iron which answers the same purpose as Nova Scotia product, but with the demand now existing in the United States for iron the Americans could not afford to ship it in here. The duty on importations of iron into the United States is $7 per ton, while our duty is $2, and the price of American iron is therefore higher than ours. Were these duties not levied stoves would be cheaper than they are, notwithstanding the stove combination, as we could not keep up rates fully against the stove makers not in the combination were the latter also unhampered by the duties on material. Our customers pay the duties and we intend that they shall.

MONUMENTS AND MANTEL-PIECES.

Mr. Roberts, of Messrs. Hurd and Roberts, monument and mantel-piece makers, Hamilton, said:—We keep one of the largest stocks of marble and granite on the continent. We have never been troubled much with foreign competition and we did not need protection. On the other hand, we have been hampered by duties on our raw material. We buy most of our granite and all our marble abroad. Our marbles are mostly American and Italian, and our granites are Aberdeen and New England granites chiefly. Our sandstones come from New England. There are some excellent Canadian stones, but they are not yet in much demand, and some are difficult to work to advantage. There is an excellent Lower Canadian stone, but it does not come sawn in shape to be utilized to advantage. Under the old tariff our unwrought or very partially wrought stone was free of duty. Now we pay $1 a ton on granite, 10 per cent. on marble block in the rough or sawn on two sides only and containing 15 cubic feet or over; on marble slabs sawn on not more than two sides we pay 15 per cent., and in blocks or slabs sawn on more than two sides 20 per cent.; so we have a very considerable tax on our raw material. On stones for mantel-pieces the tax is alike heavy. We have also to pay taxes on some of the iron-work for our mantel-pieces, and on some of our oils and colors, but these taxes are only trifling compared with the duty on stone. Before the introduction of the new tariff we had invested about $25,000 capital in a mill for sawing up marble. We imported Italian marble in slabs, but the duty put on this forced the buying of slabs already cut up, as it did not pay to bring any waste stone to the country.

THE N. P. KILLS AN INDUSTRY.

The result of this was the shutting down of our mill. We couldn't make it pay under the new tariff, and therefore had to leave this marble sawing business and the profits on it to foreigners. Otherwise than in crushing this industry the duties are not injuring us very much, as we make our customers pay them now, but of course the cheaper monuments and mantels are the more people will buy them, and hence we lose the difference between profits on the larger business we would have done in these good times under the old tariff, and the smaller business we can do now under the present prices which do not give us any greater profits. Our business, of course, felt the dull times as it felt the very good times of ten years ago under a 15 per cent. tariff. The good times at present are the result of natural causes. As for the N. P. it has simply hampered our business.

LANTERNS AND BIRD CAGES.

Mr. J. H. Stone, of J. H. Stone & Co., extensive manufacturers, of lanterns, bird cages, &c., Hamilton, said:—The N. P. has been a decided injury to our business. We are perfectly able to compete with the Americans as we keep up with every improvement in machinery so as to reduce the cost of production to its very lowest point. But the tariff by its higher duties on material has retarded us considerably. We pay ten per cent duty on zinc, which used to be free; 10 per cent on copper and brass wire, which was also free, and 15 per cent on iron and steel wire, which formerly paid only 5 per cent; on sheeting 12½, against five per cent; on brass tubes and distributors for lamps 30 per cent, and 30 per cent on brass manufactures generally, besides a very large number of other articles which formerly came in at 17½ per cent or under. Averaging our material all round we pay 20 per cent duty. We would employ 30 per cent more hands were it not for the tariff. We are hampered, too, by the method the Government adopts to collect their high duties on certain brass fixings, of which we owned several thousand dollars' worth last fall, and the material of which cost 17 cents a lb. with 4 cents per lb for cost of manufacture. The Government insists on valuating at 60 cents a lb., and charging us 30 per cent on it. Hence a part of our factory is lying idle, where we would employ about forty hands. The sheeting we require is not made in Canada. On articles we import the cost is raised the amount of the duties, and on much of our home-made material the cost is nearly the amount of the duty above what we could import it for without the duty. As we keep up to the times in machinery, we have to pay heavy duties on this machinery, as it is not made in Canada. The lack of improved machinery in England is the cause of the Americans being able to sell there articles such as we manufacture and other fancy articles. Were it not for that, the Americans with their higher cost of material would lose the little export trade they have to England. I know this because I am personally acquainted with American and British shops. I did well in my business under the 15 and 17½ per cent tariffs, and made money. I would give $150 for all I made last year under the N. P., were it not for which I could be taking advantage of the present good times, which have no connection with the tariff, and would have come anyway, regardless of what the tariff might be. I would prefer the old tariff to the present one, although I am not a free trader. Wages have fallen since the N. P. was introduced; we cannot afford to pay as much as before. In some instances the reduction in wages amounts to about 44 per cent.

WERE IT NOT FOR THIS,

REFRIGERATORS AND THE N.P.

Mr. James McKelvey, St. Catharines, manufacturer of refrigerators, said:—My refrigerators have taken medals at Paris and at the Centennial, besides at a number of other leading shows, and before the N. P. was introduced I sold $20,000 worth in the United States. Since then my export has been almost entirely cut off. I did not need the increased protection I am getting, and it has failed to bring prices up to anything like a compensation for the increased duties on my materials. The dutiable material entering into the manufacture of my refrigerators makes up one-third of the total price, and hence I feel an increase of duty on galvanized iron from the free list to 12½ per cent; on castors and certain other hardware from 17½ to 25 per cent.; and brass buttons, knobs, hinges, and other brass work to 30 per cent., and on some things even to 35 per cent. On much of what I buy at home prices are about the amount of the duties higher than what I could import the same material for, or at which I could get it from home manufacturers were there no duty. My profits have been greatly reduced by the N.P., and I employ fewer hands and pay smaller wages to those I do employ than in 1878.

ENGINE AND BOILER TRADE INJURED.

Mr. Wm. Gille, St. Catharines, manufacturer of boilers and engines, chiefly for steamboats and barges, said:—We are not doing so much business as in 1872-3, nor do we employ so many hands. This is not wholly owing to the tariff, as shipping has been duller of late years than it was ten years ago. Wages are a trifle higher, I think, than in 1872-3, and about $1.50 a week higher than in 1878. The N.P. is not as favorable to our business as the old tariff. Coal is taxed, but that is comparatively nothing beside the tax on other materials. The duty on tubing, boiler plate, bolts and screws have all been raised, although tubing and plate are not made in Canada. On bolts and screws bought at home or abroad, and in fact on nearly everything else, we pay more in consequence of the increase of the tariff. Pig and bar-iron are raised to the full amount of the duty, and nearly all is imported. Light forgings, which are made in Canada, are subject to duty of 25 per cent. Heavy forgings, such as enter largely into steamboat machinery, are not made here, nor likely to be, and on these we pay 20 per cent. Belting is taxed 25 per cent. We are, therefore, taxed more heavily than before on our raw material without getting sufficiently higher prices than formerly to compensate us for the increased cost. The tariff has latterly been changed in regard to importations of foreign steamboats, the machinery being separated from the general value of the craft and taxed 25 per cent. instead of 10 per cent. This is an improvement. Generally speaking, however, we did not suffer much from foreign competition, and the tariff has on the whole done us injury instead of good.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The light in the harbor lighthouse, Port Hope, was lit on Wednesday (29th March) for the first time this season.

Hanlan achieved an easy victory over Boyd on Monday last, defeating him by four lengths.

Mr. Robert Prescott, a former resident of this place, died recently in Michigan at the advanced age of 102 years.

Cornelius J. Vanderbilt, son of the late Commodore, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head in New York on the 2nd inst.

James Haskill, 15th con., Hope, mistook his finger for a piece of straw, and, putting it into his cutting machine, chopped off half of it.

William Reid, a newly arrived emigrant, was fatally kicked by a horse at Millbrook, on Saturday the 1st inst. Deceased had no friends, as far as is known, in this country.

Despatches from Ireland report that a disguised band cut off the nose of a man, because in a poor law guardian contest he canvassed in opposition to the candidate of the Land League.

The czar of Russia is said to be infatuated with a beautiful circus rider, named Domichetsky. The Empress is highly indignant, and begs her parents to permit her to return home.

Secretary Lincoln has recommended to President Arthur a mitigation of the court-martial sentence passed on Mason, who fired at Guiteau, and it is probable that this will be ordered.

It is thought that A. F. Bartlett, whose trial for perjury was to have come off on Wednesday, March 29th, has "jumped his bail," as he did not appear for trial, and Messrs. Wm. Severs of Belleville, and Wm. Heagh of Stirling, his bondsmen, are victimized to the extent of $500.

At Toronto, John Oliver & Co's planing mill, Morrison Bros.' foundry, the Toronto Consolidated Purifying Co's works, and the Toronto wagon and wheel Co's works were destroyed by fire on the 29th March. The buildings were situated on the corner of Esplande and Lorne streets.

It is evidently the Mormon leaders fear trouble from the Edwards Bill when it goes into operation. Jno. Taylor, Apostle Joseph Smith and others quietly removed their wives to separate houses, thinking thereby to avoid arrest under the clause which makes cohabitation with more than one woman a misdemeanor. It is said no polygamous marriages have been celebrated since the bill passed.

Prices at Winnipeg are:—For one room, 12 x 14 ft., you must pay from $15 to $25. Potatoes are $2 per bushel, and frozen at that; eggs, 35 to 45c; beefsteak, 20 to 25c per lb; wood, $8 to $10 per cord, and, and only poplar; coal, $18 per ton, mechanic's tools, $3 to $5 for common handsaws, and other things similarly high. It would seem that the poor man is likely to get left on that "cheap breakfast table."

The Port Hope News says:—A Mr. Ellis, C. E., is prepared to negotiate for the erection of smelting works here. He owns a lead mine six miles from Kinmount, which has been assayed to contain eighty per cent of lead, and sixteen ounces of silver to the ton. Mr Ellis arrived in town last evening, and has brought a rough sample of the ore with him. He says that Mr. Geo. A. Cox has taken an interest in the mine.

Under the name of the British North American General Farming and Colonizing Company, with the chief place of business at Lindsay and a capital stock of $500,000, the following persons apply for incorporation:—Mossom Boyd, of Bobcaygeon; Mossom M. Boyd, of the same place; John Macdonald, of Albany, N.Y.; Alexander Niven, of the village of Haliburton; William T. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon; and John A. Barron, of Lindsay,

The Cincinnati & Orleans packet steamer "Golden City," en route from New Orleans to Cincinnati, was burnt at her wharf, at Memphis, on the 30th ult. The loss of life is reported to be between twenty and thirty. Six cages of animals and birds, belonging to Stowe's circus, were destroyed. All the officers escaped with the exception of Robert Kelly, second engineer. The fire originated in a lot of jute which made up part of the cargo.

A prize fight took place on April 2nd, in what was formerly "Archdeacon" Dunbar's chapel, London. The altar rails were utilized for a ring, and the communion table was a seat for the referee. A crowd of the worst characters thronged the floor, and gazed with curiosity and surprise at the ten commandments over the altar, but on the arrival of the seconds with brandy, ice and sponges a desperate fight began, when the police arrived and cleared the place and arrested one of the principals and several other.

On Friday evening last, two young men named Connors and Horne broke into the house of Mrs. Connolly, a lone widow, aged 60 years, of Marysville, Wolfe Island, and while one held the aged woman the other committed the heinous crime of rape. They then fled. An alarm was raised, and the woman laid information before a magistrate, who issued warrants for the arrest of the ravishers. They escaped, and are believed to have cleared for the states. Great indignation is felt toward the fiends.

It is pointed out that much of the speculation in paper towns in Manitoba has been blind folly, and that the rates paid for town plots by the last buyers are out of all sane proportion to the value of the land. In Winnipeg it is shown the average price per frontage foot on Main-street is $300, but this in view of the city's rapid growth is not considered extravagant; and that the folly lies in giving almost similar prices for town plots upon which towns may be never built.

Some interesting cases were up before the Assize Courts on Monday. In Dufferin the Mulmur tragedy was again up before public notice, when McCormack was brought up for sentence, having been previously convicted of manslaughter. He was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, but as the nine months he has already put in, are included in the sentence, he will not have long to serve. In the Lennox Assizes the Grand Jury returned a true bill against Michael Lee, the Napanee murderer. At the Middlesex Assizes the plaintiff in a breach of promise case obtained a verdict for $250.

Messrs. Pullatt & Osler's offices in Toronto, were the scene of an extraordinary exhibition on Thursday last, on the occasion of the opening of the stock books of the Qu' Appelle Land Company to the public. An eager crowd was in attendance long before the doors were open, and when the would-be investors were admitted an almost unparalleled scene of riot and confusion ensued, every man striving to get to the counter at the same time, smashing the glass partitions, breaking pictures and turning the place into a perfect bear-garden. So great was the disorder that no business could be transacted, and the offices had to be closed.
